MISSION STATEMENT
In pursuit of the development of the whole person, Lenoir-Rhyne University seeks to liberate mind and spirit, clarify personal faith, foster physical wholeness, build a sense of community, and promote responsible leadership for service in the world.

As an institution of the North Carolina Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the University holds the conviction that wholeness of personality, true vocation, and the most useful service to God and the world are best discerned from the perspective of Christian faith.

As a community of learning, the University provides programs of undergraduate, graduate, and continuing study committed to the liberal arts and sciences as a foundation for a wide variety of careers and as guidance for a meaningful life.

VISION STATEMENT
Our goal is to be a nationally recognized liberal arts institution of choice - known for our excellence in building leaders for tomorrow, developing patterns of lifelong learning, positioning our graduates for success in their professional, personal, and spiritual lives and providing an unparalleled quality of caring within our university community.

VALUES STATEMENT
Lenoir-Rhyne University espouses a set of values designed to inform us, as members of this educational community, in our personal development and our interactions with others. These values establish our principles of operation as an organization. They furnish guidance and assurance to each member of our community, and they help us to see how everyone’s contributions improve the life of our university.

These principles are made manifest through our daily actions, and they are fully realized only when embraced by everyone in our community. Constant and consistent attention to these core values will cultivate the continuous improvement of our institution, will assist us in the achievement of our mission, and will direct us toward realizing our vision as a university.

- Excellence-We will strive for excellence in everything we do. We will continuously cultivate our intellectual, physical, and spiritual growth. We will develop our talents and abilities to their fullest extents.
- Integrity-We will act with integrity at all times. We will respect and be honest with each other. We will take personal responsibility for our words and our actions.
- Care-We will care about others in our learning and working relationships.
- We will be responsible stewards of our resources. We will support each other and work together toward the common good.
- Curiosity-We will learn from our community, past and present. We will confront important issues with humility and open minds. We will embrace the gains attained from the diversity of people and perspectives.

ACCREDITATION

HISTORY

The Reverends William P. Cline, Andrew L. Crouse, Jason Moser, and Robert A. Yoder shared the desire of other Lutheran leaders that the church establish an institution in Hickory to train teachers and ministers and offer a religious-oriented education to all youth.

Their desire for a school did not take form until property became available through a Hickory businessman, Colonel J.G. Hall. The property, a 56-acre tract one mile north of the Hickory business district, was part of the estate of a Watauga County lawyer, Captain Walter Lenoir. Before he died in 1890, Captain Lenoir surveyed the area and deeded it to Colonel Hall with the request that it be used only as a campus for a church-sponsored college. Colonel Hall, acting as Lenoir’s trustee, turned the property over to the ministers after they had signed personal notes assuring that $10,000 would be invested in buildings and equipment.

The school opened September 1, 1891. It carried the name “Highland College,” but four months later it was chartered under the name of Lenoir College in memory of the donor of the land. The 149 students and eight teachers met for classes the first year in a modest two-door frame structure which had originally housed a private academy. During its second year, the College moved into a new brick main building which housed the academic, administrative, social, and religious life of the campus until it was destroyed by fire in 1927.

Even though Lutheran ministers founded the College, taught its classes, and Lutheran congregations sent young people to its doors, it was not until 1895 that the College established a formal relationship with the church. That year, the Evangelical Lutheran Tennessee Synod, which included a large number of North Carolina congregations, assumed official sponsorship and support of the institution and, through its successor bodies, has maintained the church relationship to the present day.

For almost three decades Lenoir College served as a combination college, business school, and academy under the leadership of President R.A. Yoder (1891–1901) and President R.L. Fritz (1901–1920). By the time Dr. J.C. Peery (1920–1925) became president, the emergence of public schools in North Carolina had squeezed the academy division out of the college structure. The institution made another major change in its academic program by abandoning its traditional program of a single liberal arts curriculum and offering students a choice of varied major fields.

In 1923 the College changed its name to honor Daniel E. Rhyne, a Lincoln County industrialist who boosted the endowment and other assets of the institution with his frequent gifts. In recognition of his support, the institution’s name became Lenoir-Rhyne College.

Approval of Lenoir-Rhyne College’s academic program was earned during the Fritz administration when the North Carolina State Board of Education awarded A-grade ratings to Lenoir and nine other colleges. It was during the administration of President H. Brent Schaeffer (1926–1934) that regional accreditation was earned. Lenoir-Rhyne College was admitted to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1928.

Dramatic growth in student enrollment marked the closing years of the administration of Dr. P.E. Monroe (1934-1949). Boosted by the influx of returning veterans following World War II, enrollment rose from 407 in 1945 to 843 two years later.

LENOIR-RHYNE UNIVERSITY’S GROWTH

The trend toward rising enrollments carried over into the administration of Dr. Voigt R. Cromer (1949-1967). Gradual enlargement of the student body continued until 1,300 students were enrolled. The faculty increased to 96 members, the endowment grew to $1.8 million, and 13 major buildings were constructed.

During the administration of Dr. Raymond M. Bost (1967–1976), Lenoir-Rhyne College initiated long-range plans to enrich the quality of its curriculum. Major improvements in the academic calendar and program were implemented, and joint-degree programs with other institutions of higher education were increased. Student personnel services expanded, the campus enlarged to 100 acres, and the endowment grew to $3.9 million.

Dr. Albert B. Anderson served as the eighth president from 1976-1982. His administration was marked by a refinement of the College’s role as a church-related institution, the restructuring of the academic calendar and core curriculum, and the addition of majors in psychology and accounting. Capital campaigns conducted by the church, the local community, and alumni resulted in the construction of a physical education center, new instructional facilities, the renovation of an existing classroom building, and a new mini-auditorium. With the 1980-1981 academic year, the College established a graduate program in education. In addition, two significant programs—the Lineberger Center for Cultural and Educational Renewal and the Broyhill Institute for Business Leadership—were established under Dr. Anderson’s leadership and the endowment grew to $8.8 million.

Lenoir-Rhyne College graduate and member of the College’s Board of Trustees, Albert M. Allran, guided the College as interim president for approximately 20 months before the appointment of Dr. John E. Trainer, Jr.

Dr. Trainer’s administration as ninth president began in August 1984 and closed in May 1994. In recognition of the College’s centennial anniversary in 1991, supporters contributed more than $27 million for endowment, building, and operational purposes. The endowment increased to $19 million and the annual operational budget advanced to $20 million. During the decade, the College also added a major field of study in occupational therapy, gained institutional recognition among top-ranked colleges in the nation, and initiated special renewed efforts to encourage academic excellence and student leadership development.

The tenth president, Dr. Ryan A. Lahurd, was called to Lenoir-Rhyne College in 1994, following nine years of service at Augsburg College (Minneapolis, MN), where he served as Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dean of the College. He helped the College achieve a vision to embrace multi-culturalism, celebrate Lutheran heritage, and strengthen Lenoir-Rhyne College’s leadership as a comprehensive regional college of the liberal arts. He resigned in June 2002.

Dr. Wayne B. Powell became Lenoir-Rhyne’s 11th President on December 1, 2002, following two years of service as Vice President and Dean for Academic Affairs at the College. He previously served other institutions as a Dean and Professor of Mathematics. Dr. Powell has articulated an aggressive vision for Lenoir-Rhyne centered around excellence and founded in the College’s heritage as a nationally recognized comprehensive, liberal arts college operating under the Lutheran traditions of inquiry and free exchange of ideas.

In 2008 Lenoir-Rhyne College officially changed its name to Lenoir-Rhyne University. The University is governed by a 31-member Board of Trustees and is affiliated with the NC Synod of the ECLA.

THE CAMPUS
The campus of Lenoir-Rhyne University includes approximately 100 acres, bounded by Fourth and Eighth Streets, N.E., and extending northeast of Seventh Avenue, N.E., in Hickory. Hickory is a city of about 40,000, and is the nucleus of North Carolina’s fourth largest metropolitan area. The campus includes the following major structures:

Cloninger Alumni House (acquired 1996): Facing Seventh Ave. N.E., this structure was originally constructed in 1905 by the Rev. Robert Cline, brother of the Rev. William P. Cline, one of the College’s founders. It houses offices and meeting facilities for the Office of Alumni Relations and Office of Marketing and Communications.

Conrad Hall (1963): This residence hall, facing College Drive, accommodates 108 students. It was completed at a cost of $520,000 and named for Dr. Flavius L. Conrad, president of the United Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina from 1949 to 1962. Conrad Hall was totally renovated in 2008. It houses the Cub’s Pub.

Cromer Center (1963): Facing Sixth Street, N.E., the Cromer Center includes lounges, meeting rooms, a meditation chapel, offices and rooms for student services, bookstore, post office, and Bears’ Lair (snack bar). It was completed at cost of $1 million and named for Dr. Voigt R. Cromer, sixth president of Lenoir-Rhyne College.

Fritz Hall (1950): This residence hall faces College Drive and accommodates 80 students. It was constructed originally as a men’s residence hall and renovated in 1958 and again in 2008. It is named for Dr. R.L. Fritz, Sr., member of the first graduating class, second president of Lenoir-Rhyne College, and member of the faculty for 52 years.

Isenhour Hall (1968): A residence hall for first year students faces Eighth Avenue, N.E., Isenhour accommodates 145 students. It is named for Dr. Harry E. Isenhour, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Lenoir-Rhyne College from 1950 until 1971.

Lineberger Administration Building (1965): This office building faces the quadrangle, and it houses administrative offices, including the President, Provost, and Development. It was completed at the cost of $310,000, given by the Lineberger Foundation, Belmont, N.C. It was named for Archibald Caleb Lineberger, a Belmont industrialist.

Living-Learning Center (2001): Facing Sixth Street, N.E., the Living-Learning Center provides residence hall facilities, a faculty apartment, and a seminar space.

Lohr Hall (constructed 1997): Facing Seventh Avenue, N.E., the Lawrence L. and Frances Mauney Lohr Hall was constructed by joining two existing brick homes which had been acquired earlier by the University. One of these homes was built in 1938 for Professor Victor Aderholt, a member of the Class of 1915; the other in 1950 for Dr. Robert L. Fritz, an 1892 alumnus of Lenoir-Rhyne College. Both were acquired by the University in the 1980s. The facility now houses the Division of Enrollment Management, including offices and meeting rooms for Academic Records, Admissions, Financial Aid, and Student Success and Retention.

Mauney Hall (1928): This building was named for donors Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Mauney and Mr. and Mrs. J.S. Mauney and their families. A major renovation project was completed in 2004 converting the building into an academic facility housing three academic schools and the career center.

Mauney Music Building (1960): A classroom-rehearsal building facing Sixth Street, N.E., this structure also contains studios, practice rooms, offices, band room, choral room, and recording and broadcasting equipment. It was completed at cost of $352,000 and named for the donors, Dr. and Mrs. William K. Mauney, Kings Mountain, N.C., and their sons. The pipe organ, given in memory of Ernest Jacob Mauney, was replaced in 1994 through a contribution by Thomas W. Reese; it was given in memory of his mother, Myrtle Suttlemyre Reese.
McCrorie Center (2002): On Stasa vich Place, McCrorie Center is a facility designed to offer the most technologically advanced learning environment for students in the health sciences, including Nursing, Occupational Therapy, Health and Exercise Science, Community Health, Dietetics, and Athletic Training. The Center includes health program instruction areas such as classrooms, offices, and laboratory space, clinical areas encompassing athletic training offices, private exam rooms, rehabilitation, hydrotherapy, and training facilities, as well as athletic facilities such as coaches’ offices, locker rooms, and weight training rooms. One of the essential features of the building is its incorporation of the three health education programs and their connection to the university athletics program. Shared classrooms, labs, and computer technology provide efficiencies for the University among these programs. Additionally, the building houses the Solmaz Institute for Childhood Obesity.

Minges Science Building (1959): A classroom-laboratory building facing the quadrangle, Minges was completed at a cost of $560,000 and named for the donors, Dr. and Mrs. Luther L. Minges, Rocky Mount, N.C., and their family.

Moretz Stadium (1923): Situated between Fourth and Fifth Streets, N.E., this impressive stadium was constructed as a combination football-baseball field and renovated in 1964 into a larger football stadium accommodating 8,500 spectators. Originally called College Field, it was renamed in honor of Helen S. and Leonard Moretz, the donors for its major renovations.

Morgan Hall (1958): This residence hall for first year students, faces Eighth Avenue, N.E., accommodates 150 students, and was completed at a cost of $600,000. It was named for Dr. Jacob L. Morgan, president of the United Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina from 1921 to 1947.

P.E. Monroe Auditorium (1957): Facing Sixth Street, N.E., this structure contains an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,556, as well as conference rooms and offices. It was completed at the cost of $625,000, funded in part through the Hickory Chamber of Commerce and supported by the citizens of the Hickory area. It was named for Dr. P.E. Monroe, fifth president of Lenoir-Rhyne College.

President’s Home (1952): Facing Fourth Street, N.E., this home was completed at a cost of $60,000 and made possible through a designated gift of $35,000 given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Eckard of Hickory and their son, R. Neil Eckard.

Price Village (1973): Facing Ninth Avenue, N.E., this residence area accommodates 180 students in 6 and 14 student units. It was named for Dr. K.A. Price, class of 1902, a benefactor of Lenoir-Rhyne.

Rhyne Building Addition and Belk Centrum (1983): Attached to Rhyne Memorial Building, this added space contains faculty offices, seminar and classroom areas, and a 180-seat auditorium.

Rhyne Memorial Building (1927): A classroom building facing the quadrangle, the Rhyne building was constructed as the Daniel Efird Rhyne Administration Building and converted to classroom-faculty office use exclusively in 1965. It was fully renovated for classroom use in 1982. It was named for the donor, Daniel E. Rhyne, a Lincoln County industrialist.

Rudisill Library (1943): Facing the quadrangle, the Library building was enlarged and remodeled in 1967, and again in 1983, when a television studio, curriculum laboratory, media classrooms, and other features were added. It was erected with money given by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Augustus Rudisill, Cherryville, NC, and their children, Mr. and Mrs. T.W. Borland and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Richard Rudisill. Recent improvements include the installation of wireless access throughout the building and updating computers. In 2009, the Lohr Learning Commons was opened on the second floor of the facility providing students, faculty, and staff access to a number of general academic supports in one central location.

Schaeffer Hall (1941): Named for Dr. H. Brent Schaeffer, fourth president of Lenoir- Rhyne College, a major renovation project was completed in 2005 converting the building into a conference hall to serve the local business community.

Shuford Memorial Gymnasium (1957): The gymnasium facing Stasa vich Place, contains a playing court with a spectator capacity of 3,600, classrooms, offices and dressing rooms. It was completed at a cost of $525,000, given by Shuford Mills, Inc., of Hickory and named for A. Alex Shuford Sr., Hickory industrialist.

Shuford Physical Education Center (1979): Facing Stasavich Place, this structure contains a playing court, natatorium, dance studio, handball courts, weight room, classrooms, and offices. It was completed at a cost of $1.9 million and funded by gifts of Hickory area citizens in response to a $500,000 challenge gift by the late A. Alex Shuford Jr., of Hickory.

St. Andrew’s Lutheran Church (1951): Facing Eighth Street, N.E., and used by the University and St. Andrew’s congregation (organized on the campus in 1894), St. Andrew’s was completed at a cost of $400,000, given by the congregation, the United Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina, alumni, and other friends of Lenoir-Rhyne University.
ADMISSION POLICIES

ENROLLMENT MANAGEMENT

The Division of Enrollment Management partners with the University community to attract, admit, enroll, retain, and graduate qualified students through a comprehensive enrollment management strategy with commitment to exceptional service.

THE OFFICE OF ADMISSIONS

The mission of the Office of Admissions is to identify, admit, and enroll motivated and qualified students who are committed to academic excellence, leadership, and a desire to develop as a whole person. This office coordinates the recruitment and selection of undergraduate and graduate students, and provides information that will help make prospective students and their support groups aware of Lenoir-Rhyne and its offerings.

Lenoir-Rhyne University admits students in all programs regardless of gender, race, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation or veteran status. In order to be considered for admission to Lenoir-Rhyne University, application must be made through the Division of Enrollment Management. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis, but priority deadlines are August 1 for Fall, December 1 for Spring, and May 1 for Summer. Applications are available from the Office of Admissions, Lenoir-Rhyne University, Box 7227, Hickory, N.C., 28603, or on the University website at www.lr.edu. Please refer to the graduate section of this catalog for information regarding admission to the Graduate School.

FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS

The Office of Admissions of Lenoir-Rhyne University reviews the secondary record in order to evaluate applicants who will be successful here. The secondary record includes the high school transcript and standardized test scores. Of importance to selection is the number and level of academic courses taken in high school, as well as the performance in these classes. We are also interested in service, leadership, and other extracurricular activities in which students have participated. Students who are home schooled are welcome to apply. Applicants will be considered for admission to the first-year upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following information:

1. A completed, accurate application for undergraduate admission and a non-refundable $35 application fee
2. High school diploma or equivalent
3. Official high school transcript
4. Official SAT/ACT score report (if score is not included on official transcript).
   Lenoir-Rhyne University’s CEEB (SAT) code is 5365; ACT code is 3118.
5. Satisfactory completion of required coursework (see below)
6. Official college transcript(s) if any college work has been attempted, even if course(s) are listed on high school transcript

Minimum Course Requirements
*Four Units of English
*Two Units of a Language other than English
*Three Units of Mathematics including Algebra I, Algebra II and Geometry
*One Unit of a Laboratory Science
*One Unit of American History
*One Unit of Chemistry preferred for students planning to major in Nursing Upon receipt of the items above, an application will be reviewed and an admissions decision made. Neither high school grade point average nor test score has an absolute minimum requirement. It is the combination of factors that is important. Any offer of admission is contingent upon receipt of final high school transcripts showing satisfactory completion of the senior year’s work.

The University may grant admission to outstanding students who have not completed four years of high school work. Students should apply for early admission only if they have an excellent high school record, supportive SAT or ACT scores, and the endorsement of their parents and their high school. An interview may be required for early admission applicants.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

A transfer is a student who has obtained a high school diploma (or equivalent) and has been enrolled at any college/university for one or more semesters following high school graduation. The Office of Admissions reviews the college record in order to evaluate transfer applicants who will be successful here. Of importance to selection is the number and level of academic courses taken in college, as well as the performance in these classes. The University is also interested in service, leadership, and other extracurricular activities in which students have participated. Applicants must be in good social and academic standing at their previous institution(s).

Transfer applicants will be considered for admission upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed, accurate application for undergraduate admission and a non-refundable $35 application fee
2. Official transcripts from each college or university attended
3. Dean’s reference form from each college or university attended
4. An official high school transcript and official SAT or ACT scores if less than 30 semester or 45 quarter hours have been attempted

*Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree and wish to pursue a second one are welcome to apply to Lenoir-Rhyne University.

TRANSFER OF CREDIT

An official evaluation of credit, completed by the University Registrar, will follow admission to Lenoir-Rhyne University. College courses in which a grade of “C” or better has been earned may be transferred to Lenoir-Rhyne for credit provided the credit was earned at a regionally accredited institution. Course requirements may be fulfilled, but no credit will be awarded, with a grade of “D” in the first of sequential course offerings, provided the student earned a grade of “C” or higher in the following course and the first course is a prerequisite for the following course.

A student may transfer as general elective credits up to 6 hours of passing grades below the grade of “C” from another regionally accredited institution. These hours may be used only as general elective credits and will not satisfy any program or core curriculum requirements at Lenoir-Rhyne. Once a student matriculates and continues uninterrupted, no subsequent grade below a “C” completed at another institution may be transferred for credit.

Credit from an accredited junior or community college is limited to a maximum of 64 semester or 96 quarter hours. A maximum of 96 semester hours may be transferred from all institutions. The last 25% or 32 semester hours of course work must be completed at Lenoir-Rhyne. Exceptions to this rule may be granted by the Provost or designee.

During the evaluation of transcripts from other institutions, special scrutiny will be given to credits earned more than ten years preceding the applicant’s transfer. The University reserves the right to reject such credit when, in the judgment of the University Registrar and the appropriate program faculty, the coverage and content of the particular course(s) has undergone substantive change. After a student has transferred, the grade point average is computed only on work attempted at Lenoir-Rhyne. Any transfer student may elect to transfer no credits from former institutions and take the total number of hours required for graduation at Lenoir-Rhyne University. A student who takes the total number of hours required for graduation at Lenoir-Rhyne University may elect to delete all credits from former institutions at any time prior to graduation.

Students who have earned an Associate of Arts degree from a North Carolina Community College may transfer the AA degree to Lenoir-Rhyne to be used in place of the University’s core courses with the exception of REL 100, foreign language or an equivalency, any core courses that are part of the student’s major, and the core’s level two courses and capstone. The same rules apply to any student who transfers to Lenoir-Rhyne having previously earned a baccalaureate degree.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

International applicants will be considered for admission upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following information:

1. A completed, accurate International Student Application for undergraduate admission and a non-refundable $35 (U.S.) application fee
2. Official transcripts that have been evaluated (by WES or another similar organization) and translated into English
3. Official score report from the SAT (LR’s code is 5365), ACT (3118), TOEFL (5365), or the IELTS. Lenoir-Rhyne University requires that students whose native language is not English demonstrate their English proficiency on the TOEFL or IELTS. It is expected that applicants have a score of at least 550 paper, 213 computer, or 79 internet based TOEFL or 6.5 IELTS
4. A completed Certificate of Finance certified by a bank official, attorney, or notary public

An I-20 Form will be forwarded to the accepted student upon receipt of the $200 enrollment fee (see Confirmation of Enrollment).

LIFELONG LEARNERS

The Lifelong Learning (LLL) program at Lenoir-Rhyne University is designed to serve the needs of area adult and/or non-traditional students who because of other life responsibilities need to progress at a pace consistent with these obligations. LLL students at Lenoir-Rhyne are students who require evening or more conveniently scheduled courses, although they may select classes at any time during the day.

Lifelong Learners will be considered for admission upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed, accurate application for undergraduate admission and a non-refundable $35 application fee
2. Official transcripts from each college or university attended
3. An official high school transcript and official SAT or ACT scores if less than 30 semester or 45 quarter hours have been attempted
4. Proof of eligibility to be considered for the LLL program. Candidates must be at least six years removed from high school graduation AND meet at least one of the following criteria:
   • At least two years of full time professional employment in which one does not attend college
   • At least two years of living independently, e.g. not living with parents/guardians or in any college residence
   • At least two years of full-time military service
   • Have a family and children of one’s own

Students who begin at Lenoir-Rhyne classified as traditional students and continue uninterrupted may not change their classification to Lifelong Learning. LifeLong Learning students are charged tuition at a discounted rate provided they remain registered for less than 13 credit hours. If the student enrolls in more than 12 credit hours, standard tuition charges will apply (see tuition rates for applicable charges).
RE-ENTRIES

Students in good standing who are re-entering after a one semester absence do not have to reapply for admission provided they have not attended another college or university during that time. Inquiries regarding re-entering after one semester should be addressed to the Registrar's Office.

Re-entering students in good standing, absent from the University for two or more semesters, must reapply and meet the requirements as outlined in the catalog at the time of their readmission. All transcripts of work completed at other institutions must be submitted with the application.

After satisfactory completion of the requirements outlined in the official letter of Suspension, students desiring to continue study following a period of academic or judicial suspension will be considered for admission upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed, accurate application for undergraduate admission
2. If courses were taken at another college or university during the time of suspension, official transcripts from each college or university attended must be provided
3. A personal statement detailing what they have done during their time away and describing how they plan to be successful at Lenoir-Rhyne if they are allowed to return.

CONFIRMATION OF ENROLLMENT FOR ALL STUDENTS

Payment of a $200 enrollment fee confirms the acceptance of an offer of admission. Enrollment fees for the fall term are refundable only if requests are received in writing before May 1. For the spring term, enrollment fees are refundable if written requests are received before January 1. Lifelong Learning students pay an enrollment fee of $50 and follow the same guidelines as above.

DEFERRED ENROLLMENT

Students who have been accepted in one of the above classifications may defer enrollment for one year. The Division of Enrollment Management must be notified of the student’s wish to defer prior to the start of the original term for which the student applied.

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS ACADEMY

The Lenoir-Rhyne University High School Scholars Academy (HSSA) is a one-year program designed for high school students who seek an alternative opportunity for a full-time on-campus experience. Students will enroll in English IV Honors plus three college courses in the fall, and AP English plus three more college courses in the spring. Students are expected to attend for the full year.

The High School Scholars Academy is limited to 30 spaces for each school year. First preference for admission will be given to students enrolled in the Catawba County, Hickory Public, or Newton-Conover school systems. If there are still spaces remaining, applicants from private schools, home schools and other school systems will be considered. A waiting list will be established once the first 30 slots are filled.

High school students will be considered for admission to the High School Scholars Academy upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed, accurate HSSA application
2. Official high school transcript
3. Official SAT/ACT score report (if score is not included on official transcript)
   Lenoir-Rhyne University’s CEEB (SAT) code is 5365; ACT code is 3118
4. Satisfactory completion of required coursework through the junior year
5. Official college transcript(s) if any college work has been attempted, even if course(s) are listed on high school transcript
HIGH SCHOOL ENRICHMENT

Outstanding high school students may enroll in courses at Lenoir-Rhyne University while still in high school. The University permits this arrangement for students who will be at least 16 years old on or before August 31 of the year in which enrollment is desired, and classified as a junior at their high school. High School Enrichment students may take two undergraduate courses per term at Lenoir-Rhyne.

High school students will be considered for admission to the High School Enrichment program upon meeting the requirements specified below. It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed, accurate High School Enrichment application
2. Official high school transcript with proof of a minimum GPA of 3.0
3. Official SAT/ACT/PSAT/PLAN score report (if score is not included on official transcript).
   Lenoir-Rhyne University’s CEEB (SAT) code is 5365; ACT code is 3118
4. Completed high school enrichment contract
5. Approval of participation by the administration of the student’s high school

NON-DEGREE STUDENTS

This classification is for individuals who generally never plan to obtain a degree from Lenoir-Rhyne University. Non-degree students may take a maximum of 12 undergraduate-level credit hours per semester. Admission as a non-degree student is granted on a semester-by-semester basis and is only permissible when space is available. While a student may not be required to submit an additional application for subsequent semesters (depending on the length of time between enrollment), permission to enroll in more than one semester under this status must be pre-approved. Students seeking enrollment for multiple semesters should contact the Division of Enrollment Management for current policies and procedures. Non-degree students will be considered for admission upon meeting the requirements listed below.

It is the student’s responsibility to submit the following:

1. A completed Non-Degree Seeking student application (currently not available online)
2. $35 non-refundable application fee
3. Unofficial transcripts for students taking courses with prerequisites

Because this classification is designed for students taking courses purely for their edification, academic advisors are not assigned. Applicants who are under current suspension from Lenoir-Rhyne, or who were denied admission as degree-seeking first year, transfer, or graduate students are not eligible for non-degree status.
FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS

Lenoir-Rhyne University administers a wide array of federal, state and institutional resources to help students. With limited funds available to meet the needs of hundreds of students qualifying for assistance each year, the program must operate on the following assumptions: (1) students will rely on their own resources where possible; (2) student expenses will be held to the minimum that is reasonable under the circumstances; and, (3) parents will contribute in proportion to their means. Students who apply are considered for an aid package composed of scholarship, grant, loan, and part-time campus employment resources to help them meet the costs of their education.

The operation of the financial aid program depends upon each applicant, parent, and spouse providing all requested information as promptly and accurately as possible and notifying the financial aid office of the details of any significant changes in their financial circumstances during the year. Students who wish to receive federal, state, or Lenoir-Rhyne University institutional aid are required to file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year.

Most awards are based on need, and because a student’s need may vary from year to year, an award for one year is no assurance that an equal amount of assistance will be provided in a succeeding year. There may be variations in the amount of assistance from year to year because of changes in student resources, family financial circumstances, cost of education, changes in aid policies, and/or changes in federal and state funding.

State and Federals funds are based on specific appropriations and may change based on state or federal budget legislation. Students will be notified as soon as possible should any of these funds change.

Total assistance to a student for one year is normally limited to the student’s tuition, fees, and if the student lives on campus, room and board charges. Books and supplies are an out-of-pocket expense. Students should be prepared to pay for their books and supplies when they arrive on campus.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The financial aid application process must be completed each year. The Priority Deadline for filing is March 1. Students who complete their Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) after March 1 may receive less institutional aid and limit their eligibility for state aid (NC residents only). The Final Deadline for all financial aid paperwork is October 1.

1. Complete and submit the FAFSA. Previous applicants will complete a renewal form. The FAFSA is available online at www.fafsa.gov. Although the FAFSA cannot be completed prior to January 1, we recommend completion of it as soon as possible. Be sure to enter the Lenoir-Rhyne school code 002941 in Step Six. It takes approximately one week to process this form.

2. Applicants should keep copies of the FAFSA and the resulting Student Aid Report (SAR) and all Federal Income Tax Return forms (including all pages, schedules, and W2 forms) readily available. If the student is selected for verification, the Office of Financial Aid is required to collect copies of these documents for the student’s financial aid file. If we request these and/or other forms, please submit them within a timely manner. Failure to respond to communication requesting additional information may jeopardize eligibility for aid.

3. Visit the local library, chamber of commerce, high school guidance office, and the Internet to explore outside scholarships. A reference librarian can provide books that list a host of possible resources beyond those awarded by Lenoir-Rhyne. We do not endorse using any scholarship search services that require a fee. Research for outside scholarships should begin in the fall as many have early deadlines.
4. Once a student is admitted and the results of the FAFSA, (your Student Aid Report / SAR) are received, the applicant will be considered for all types of federal, state, and university financial aid. Students will receive an award letter from the Office of Financial Aid detailing the awards and notifying them of any missing items needed to complete the student’s file.

5. Students can choose to accept all the aid resources or a portion of the aid and pay the Business Office the remainder. Students accepting loans must complete necessary promissory notes and other requirements. The offer of a PLUS loan is not a guarantee of eligibility; the parent must complete the application and promissory note to be considered.

LIFELONG LEARNERS
The Lifelong Learning (LLL) program at Lenoir-Rhyne University is designed to serve the needs of area adult and/or non-traditional students who because of other life responsibilities need to progress at a pace consistent with these obligations. LLL students at Lenoir-Rhyne are students who require evening or more conveniently scheduled courses, although they may select classes at any time during the day. Students who begin at Lenoir-Rhyne classified as traditional students and continue uninterrupted may not change their classification to Lifelong Learning. LifeLong Learning students are charged tuition at a discounted rate provided they remain registered for less than 13 credit hours. If the student enrolls in more than 12 credit hours, standard tuition charges will apply (see tuition rates for applicable charges). If a student wishes to be considered for institutional aid, they must complete a change of status form with the Enrollment Services Center.

REFUND AND WITHDRAWAL PROCESS
See Lenoir-Rhyne University refund policies in the previous section of this catalog.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS
Students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward a degree to remain eligible for Federal, State, and some forms of Institutional financial aid. Please note that SAP standards for financial aid are different from the SAP standards reviewed by the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee; students are responsible for understanding and adhering to both policies.

In order to maintain aid eligibility, students must complete and pass 66.7% of courses for which they receive aid, keeping them on pace to complete their program within 150% of the minimum timeframe required. Additionally, students must maintain a cumulative GPA consistent with the below chart.

*S satisfactory Academic Progress is reviewed each session by the Office of Financial Aid and students who fail to meet the minimum standards are terminated for aid. These students have the option to appeal this decision by following the instructions given in their notification letter. Appealing this decision will result in:
- Denial; student must return to minimum SAP standards before receiving further aid
- Approval; student can receive aid for one semester while attempting to return to minimum SAP standards
- Academic Plan; student can receive aid contingent upon the successful drafting and completion of an academic plan, built in conjunction with their advisor and approved by the Office of Financial Aid, that is designed to get the student back to minimum SAP standards in a reasonable timeframe.

STUDENTS’ RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Students have the right to:
- Obtain information about the available student aid programs and to apply and be considered for assistance;
- Request an explanation of any phase of the financial aid process;
- Request special consideration if family financial circumstances change significantly. (Students must provide a letter of explanation and supporting documentation to the Division of Enrollment Management.);
- Request an appointment with a financial aid administrator;
- Appeal financial aid awards or denials based upon academic progress or enrollment requirements. (All appeals must be submitted in writing in a timely manner to the Director of Enrollment Services.)

In summary, the student has the right to seek and receive necessary information and counseling from the Division of Enrollment Management and other Lenoir-Rhyne sources.

Students have the responsibility to:
- Apply for admission;
- Inform the Division of Enrollment Management of the names of any other institution attended after high school and dates of attendance (this is a federal regulation);
- Maintain a Lenoir-Rhyne University financial aid folder and keep a copy of all paperwork sent to and received from the Division of Enrollment Management, in the event a document is lost in the mail or for the completion of next year’s application.
- Read the description of the financial aid program carefully;
- Read all correspondence from the Division of Enrollment Management and any other campus office;
- Complete all forms accurately and submit them according to the scheduled deadline dates;
- Provide any additional information as requested by the Division of Enrollment Management or any other campus office;
- Inform the Division of Enrollment Management of any personal changes (increase or decrease in your financial resources, change in name and/or withdrawal or transfer from Lenoir-Rhyne);
- Report any outside sources of assistance received, such as scholarships, etc;
- Request necessary information;
- Enroll in the necessary number of credit hours;
- Honor the policies and procedures set forth in the Lenoir-Rhyne University General Catalog and the Student Handbook (The Cub);
- Perform the work that is agreed upon in accepting Federal Work Study;
- Reapply for aid each academic year;
- Officially withdraw with the Office of Student Success and Retention to terminate program of study;
- Repay loans in accordance with repayment schedules.
- Frequently check campus mailbox (if they have one), email, and home mail for correspondence from the Division of Enrollment Management.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

In compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Lenoir- Rhyne University regards student records as private. Personally identifiable information and educational records will be released according to FERPA guidelines. Unless a student requests in writing to the contrary, the University is permitted to release the following types of information without consent: Name, address and telephone number of the student, name and address of the parent(s), date and place of birth, major and degree, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, dates of attendance, honors and awards, and previous educational institutions.

TYPES OF AID

The Division of Enrollment Management at Lenoir-Rhyne administers a variety of financial aid sources. These sources include institutional and state scholarships; federal, state, and institutional grants; federal student and parent loans; and, institutional and federal work opportunities. Students will automatically be considered for these sources upon acceptance to the University provided a valid and current FAFSA has been received by the University. Federal, state, and institutional grants and scholarships are awarded on a semester basis and may not be reallocated to previous or future semesters.

UNIVERSITY GRANTS & SCHOLARSHIPS

Lenoir-Rhyne University grants and scholarships are awarded to students pursuing their first Baccalaureate degree enrolling full time in the traditional day undergraduate program (fall and spring) in amounts varying with the student’s financial need, academic achievement and program criteria. Lenoir-Rhyne grants and scholarships are applied only against tuition charges and cannot be combined to exceed tuition. These grants and scholarships are renewable for up to four years, inclusive of all transfer credits, for students who meet satisfactory academic progress.

Lenoir-Rhyne University grants and scholarships may not be used to pay for off-campus programs, including study abroad programs that are not student exchange based programs. Students who participate in Lenoir-Rhyne’s exchange based programs will be charged tuition as if they were studying on campus. These students may use their federal, state and institutional grants and scholarships towards payment of these tuition charges. Students who wish to study in Lenoir-Rhyne Partner Programs that are not based on student exchange will be charged Lenoir-Rhyne tuition, or the total cost of their chosen international program, whichever is greater. These students would be able to use all federal and state sources of financial aid towards payments of these charges, but would not be able to use institutional grants and scholarships.

Athletic Scholarships - awarded at the discretion of the head coach of each individual sport. The annual amount of the scholarship varies and may exceed the cost of tuition, but not the direct cost of attendance.

Child of a Lutheran Minister Scholarship - awarded to dependent children of ordained Lutheran ministers and ELCA rostered lay personnel, including Associates in Ministry, Deaconesses, and Diaconal Ministers.

Diversity Leadership Grant - awarded in amounts varying with students’ needs and contributions to school and community.

Endowed & Gift Scholarships - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need. Preference is given to students who have achieved superior academic records in high school or at the University. More information follows.

Friends In Faith Program - Lenoir-Rhyne matches awards from Lutheran congregations up to $500 per academic year. This program has a July 1st deadline.

Honors Scholarships - Cromer (full tuition), Lineberger (three-quarter-tuition), Engaged Learning ($2000), and Trustee ($1000) scholarships will be awarded from the recipients of the Lenoir-Rhyne Scholars Awards. These students will be chosen through a combination of academic achievement, school and community involvement, and an interview competition at Scholarship Day.

Legacy Scholarship - awarded to students whose parents or grandparents are Lenoir-Rhyne graduates. The annual amount of this award is $1,000.
Lenoir-Rhyne Grant In Aid - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need and academic performance.

Lenoir-Rhyne Incentive Grant - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need and contributions to school and community.

Lenoir-Rhyne Scholars Program - awarded to first-year students in recognition of academic achievement during the student’s high school career and based on the student’s high school grade point average and SAT or ACT scores at the time of admission into Lenoir-Rhyne. The annual amount of this award for a first year student is up to $15,000. Awarded to transfers in recognition of academic achievement during the student’s attendance at a previous college(s) and based on the student’s grade point average at the time of admission into Lenoir-Rhyne. The annual amount of this award for transfers is up to $7,000.

Martin Luther Fellows Program - awarded to students who are members of Lutheran Churches within the North Carolina Synod of the ELCA and who are nominated by their congregation by the July 1st deadline. The annual amount of this award is $1,000.

Phi Theta Kappa Honors Scholarship - awarded to students who hold a 3.0 grade point average at a two-year college and hold membership in Phi Theta Kappa. The annual amount of this award is $1,500.

FEDERAL GRANTS
Federal Grants are available to undergraduates with significant financial need, as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, who meet satisfactory academic progress and are subject to federal funding levels.

Federal Pell Grant - awarded to students with significant financial need. The amount of this grant varies based on Expected Family Contribution (as determined by the FAFSA) and is determined by the federal government.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) - awarded to students with significant financial need in combination with the Federal Pell Grant. The annual amount of this award varies.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE GRANTS & SCHOLARSHIPS
North Carolina State Grants and Scholarships are funded by the State to provide financial assistance to legal residents of NC who meet program criteria and satisfactory academic progress, and are subject to state funding levels.

NC Need Based Scholarship - awarded to students by the state of North Carolina and certified by the institution. The annual award amount varies based on student’s Expected Family Contribution as determined by the FAFSA.

FEDERAL LOANS
Lenoir-Rhyne participates in the Federal Direct Loan Program. The benefits for borrowers include less paperwork, faster delivery of funds, more flexible repayment options, and possible loan cancellation through service.

Federal Direct Loan - there are two types of Direct Loans: 1) the subsidized loan (the government pays the interest while students are in school as a half-time to full-time student - with a fixed rate determined by Federal legislation) and 2) the unsubsidized loan (students are responsible for the interest costs during school - with a fixed rate determined by Federal legislation). Repayment begins six months after graduation or when attendance drops to less than half-time.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan - Parents can borrow up to the cost of education, less all student aid. Parent loans are not based on financial need, however; borrowers do have to go through a credit check. The interest rate is fixed at 7.9%.

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan – Graduate students can borrow up to the cost of education, less all student aid. These loans are not based on financial need, however; borrowers do have to go through a credit check. The interest rate is fixed at 7.9%.
Federal Perkins Loan - a low interest loan for students with financial need. The loan is made with government funds with a share contributed by the University. The government pays the interest while students are in school as a half-time to full-time student. Repayment of this loan to Lenoir-Rhyne begins nine months after graduation or when attendance drops to less than half-time.

Depending on time of application, level of need, and the funding level available, students may borrow up to $5,500 for each year of undergraduate study. The total amount a student can borrow as an undergraduate is $27,500.

WORK OPPORTUNITIES

Lenoir-Rhyne University views earning from campus employment as a vital part of the financial aid program that supplements the student’s resources for incidental expenses and are not a deferrable resource for the payment of direct charges. All students have the opportunity to work on campus as part of the Campus Employment Program. An employment fair is held at the beginning of each academic year and current job positions are posted on-line at http://cpdc.jobs.lr.edu/jobs/on-campus. There are three areas of funding for the Campus Employment Program.

Federal Work Study - awarded to students with financial need, this on-campus work program provides students the opportunity to work with one of the departments or offices at Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students typically work between five and 20 hours per week. The offer of Federal Work Study on a financial aid award letter is not a promise of work.

Federal Community Service - also a form of Federal Work Study and awarded to students with financial need, this off-campus program places students in under-represented populations of the community in a variety of service-oriented jobs such as tutoring in the No Child Left Behind Project. Students typically work between four and 10 hours per week.

Campus Employment Program - if a student is not awarded Federal Work Study, he or she may be eligible to work on-campus through this program with one of the departments or offices at Lenoir-Rhyne University. These funds are available on a first-come basis. Students typically work between five and 20 hours per week.

ENDOWED AND GIFT SCHOLARSHIPS

The University serves as custodian and administrator for endowed and gift scholarships which are awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need. These funds are limited to students enrolling in full-time, traditional day, undergraduate programs during fall and spring semesters. Preference is given to students who have achieved superior academic records in high school or at the University. Students do not need to write to request specific endowed or gift scholarships. Awarding of these scholarships is based upon the completion of the steps outlined in the Application Process. These sources underwrite a portion of the total tuition cost.

OTHER FEES

Students will be assessed other fees for the services indicated below:
- Application Fee: A non-refundable fee of $35 is charged to all individuals making application for admission.
- Auditing Fee: Students who audit a course must receive permission from their advisor and the instructor of the course. Students who audit courses do not take examinations or participate actively in class sessions. Audits are recorded on the student’s permanent record as a grade of AU. The fee for auditing a course is $200 per credit hour. Students who audit a course and then... elect to test out of that course must pay the full tuition for the academic credit earned. Normally, only lecture courses may be audited. Certain courses (lab classes, language classes, physical education activity classes, etc.) are not eligible for audit.

Credit by Examination Fee: $200 per examination.

Graduation Fee: Candidates for graduation pay a graduation fee of $25. Cap, gown, hood, and tassel are a separate purchase through the Bookstore.

Summer School Charges: See the Summer Session section of this catalog.

Special Course Fees: Students registering for the courses indicated below will be charged an additional fee to help cover the additional cost of laboratory and other materials in these courses. The fees listed are approximate and subject to change at any time. Also, a number of healthful living courses include fees for equipment and services.

Please see your instructor for updated information on these fees:

ROOM (HOUSING)

Lenoir-Rhyne provides semi-private rooms for all interested students at a rate of $4,685 per semester (which includes room and board). Additional room charges are as follows:

SINGLE ROOM RATE

The opportunity exists for upper-class students to obtain a single for the additional cost of $1,258 per semester in addition to regular shared room rate. This opportunity exists only on a space-available basis.
RESIDENCE HALL DAMAGE DEPOSIT

Rental of a residential area is a contractual agreement, and rooms will be rented only to full-time students. A signed housing agreement is required before students are allowed to occupy a room. A one-time residence hall damage deposit of $150 will be assessed with the fall semester billing. This deposit is refundable after a student ceases to rent a residence hall room.

BOARD (FOOD SERVICE)

The University offers food service to students in four locations: the Cromer Center Dining Hall, the Bears’ Lair food court, the POD Express, and the Cub’s Pub in Fritz/Conrad residence hall. The Dining Hall offers all-you-care-to-eat dining at every meal. Meals are served in the Dining Hall only during times when the University is in session. The Bears’ Lair features made to order grill and deli items, Subway, grab and go sandwiches and salads, and assorted beverages. The POD Express offers convenience store items, frozen foods, assorted beverages, and grab and go sandwiches and salads. The Cub’s Pub offers Java City coffee and espresso drinks, freshly baked items, and grab and go sandwiches and salads.

The University offers the following meal plan options for residential students:

21 Meal Plan:
- 21 all-you-care-to-eat meals per week per semester
- $100 Bear Bucks per semester*
- 5 guest meals per semester
- Meal plan equivalency in Bear’s Lair Monday-Thursday 7-9 pm
- Super Value - add $200 declining balance to the plan and receive $20 extra

14 Meal Plan:
- 14 all-you-care-to-eat meals per week per semester
- $150 Bear Bucks per semester*
- 3 guest meals per semester
- Meal plan equivalency in Bear’s Lair Monday-Thursday 7-9 pm
- Super Value - add $200 declining balance to the plan and receive $20 extra

9 Meal Plan:
- 9-all-you-care-to-eat meals per week per semester
- $200 Bear Bucks per semester*
- Meal plan equivalency in Bear’s Lair Monday-Thursday 7-9 pm
- Super Value - add $200 declining balance to the plan and receive $20 extra

*Bear Bucks can be transferred from fall to spring, but expire at the end of spring semester.

The University offers the following meal plans for commuter students, faculty and staff:

Option 1:
- 75 meals plus $75
  $490.00

Option 2:
- 50 meals plus $50
  $330.00

Option 3:
- 10 meals
  $57.00

The declining balance can be added at any time and for any amount.

PAYMENTS AND REFUNDS

Statements provided to students and/or parents prior to the beginning of the semester will reflect charges, credits, deposits, and a pro-rated portion of financial aid known at the time the statement was generated. Balances on accounts unpaid after the due dates listed on the statements are subject to finance charges that accrue every 30 days at a rate of 1.5% per month. Accounts that are past due may be turned over to a collection agency at which time additional fees may be incurred. The charge for returned checks is $25.
Any students who have a prior unpaid balance on their account at the time of registration will not be permitted to register for new courses, receive copies of transcripts or their diplomas, live in a residence hall, or receive meals in the university cafeteria.

Deposits are credited to the first payment in a session. Students who do not matriculate or who withdraw within the first two weeks of a semester forfeit their deposit. Room charges are not refunded and board charge refunds are pro-rated on a weekly basis. Tuition charges are refunded based on the following:

Withdrawal from classes: Course charges are based on the student’s registration as of the end of the Add/Drop period. No refunds will be given for course withdrawals after the end of the Add/Drop period except in the case where the student officially withdraws from the University.

Withdrawal from University: Students who withdraw from the University must drop all courses by completing forms with the Office of Student Success and Retention. The refund percentage is based on the official withdrawal date - the date in which the student initiated withdrawal from the university with the Office of Student Success and Retention. A fair and equitable refund will be calculated according to the University Refund Policy as follows:

For 16 Week Courses:
- 100% During the Drop/Add period (the first week of classes in the semester)
- 85% During second week of classes
- 75% During third week of classes
- 60% During fourth week of classes
- 25% During weeks five through eight
- 0% After eighth week of classes

For 8 Week Courses:
- 100% During the Drop/Add period (the first week of classes in the semester)
- 60% During second week of classes
- 25% During weeks three and four
- 0% After fourth week of classes

Prior to a refund check being issued to a student who withdraws, the University must first determine if any of the refund is due back to the Title IV Financial Aid Programs. According to federal guidelines, the amount of refund due to the financial aid programs must be repaid before a refund check will be given to the student. Lenoir-Rhyne reserves the right to modify the refund policy to comply with federal, state, and other regulatory bodies.

Refunds to Title IV Financial Aid Programs are distributed in the following order:
1. Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan
2. Subsidized Federal Stafford Loan
3. Other federal aid programs.

Withdrawal after the mid-point of the semester is granted only under extraordinary circumstances. Extraordinary circumstances may include death in the immediate family, severe illness of student, severe financial hardship due to loss of employment, or unforeseen major property loss. Supporting documentation will be required.

PAYMENT PLANS
The University recognizes the substantial burden of paying for and financing higher education. In order to assist students and parents with this issue, the University offers a variety of payment plans that will assist students and parents in paying for tuition over the number of weeks within a particular semester. If you are interested in this service you can learn more by contacting (828) 328-7105.

OTHER EXPENSES
Students should expect to incur other costs not listed above. These costs include books, supplies and other services not described above. The estimated cost for books and other instructional supplies is approximately $1160 per year. Students should be prepared to purchase books at the beginning of each semester. Charges for books are not included on the student’s billing.

ADJUSTMENTS TO CHARGES

Lenoir-Rhyne University reserves the right to adjust any and all charges at anytime and to modify refund policies in order to maintain compliance with federal, state, and other regulatory bodies. In general, the university adjusts tuition and fees on an annual basis.

FINANCIAL AID PROGRAMS

Lenoir-Rhyne University administers a wide array of federal, state and institutional resources to help students. With limited funds available to meet the needs of hundreds of students qualifying for assistance each year, the program must operate on the following assumptions: (1) students will rely on their own resources where possible; (2) student expenses will be held to the minimum that is reasonable under the circumstances; and, (3) parents will contribute in proportion to their means. Students who apply are considered for an aid package composed of scholarship, grant, loan, and part-time campus employment resources to help them meet the costs of their education.

The operation of the financial aid program depends upon each applicant, parent, and spouse providing all requested information as promptly and accurately as possible and notifying the financial aid office of the details of any significant changes in their financial circumstances during the year. Students who wish to receive federal, state, or Lenoir-Rhyne University institutional aid are required to file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year.

Most awards are based on need, and because a student’s need may vary from year to year, an award for one year is no assurance that an equal amount of assistance will be provided in a succeeding year. There may be variations in the amount of assistance from year to year because of changes in student resources, family financial circumstances, cost of education, changes in aid policies, and/or changes in federal and state funding.

State and Federals funds are based on specific appropriations and may change based on state or federal budget legislation. Students will be notified as soon as possible should any of these funds change.

Total assistance to a student for one year is normally limited to the student’s tuition, fees, and if the student lives on campus, room and board charges. Books and supplies are an out-of-pocket expense. Students should be prepared to pay for their books and supplies when they arrive on campus.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The financial aid application process must be completed each year. The Priority Deadline for filing is March 1. Students who complete their Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) after March 1 may receive less institutional aid and limit their eligibility for state aid (NC residents only). The Final Deadline for all financial aid paperwork is October 1.

1. Complete and submit the FAFSA. Previous applicants will complete a renewal form. The FAFSA is available online at www.fafsa.gov. Although the FAFSA cannot be completed prior to January 1, we recommend completion of it as soon as possible. Be sure to enter the Lenoir-Rhyne school code 002941 in Step Six. It takes approximately one week to process this form.

2. Applicants should keep copies of the FAFSA and the resulting Student Aid Report (SAR) and all Federal Income Tax Return forms (including all pages, schedules, and W2 forms) readily available. If the student is selected for verification, the Office of Financial Aid is required to collect copies of these documents for the student’s financial aid file. If we request these and/or other forms, please submit them within a timely
Students have the responsibility to:

3. Visit the local library, chamber of commerce, high school guidance office, and the Internet to explore outside scholarships. A reference librarian can provide books that list a host of possible resources beyond those awarded by Lenoir-Rhyne. We do not endorse using any scholarship search services that require a fee. Research for outside scholarships should begin in the fall as many have early deadlines.

4. Once a student is admitted and the results of the FAFSA, (your Student Aid Report / SAR) are received, the applicant will be considered for all types of federal, state, and university financial aid. Students will receive an award letter from the Office of Financial Aid detailing the awards and notifying them of any missing items needed to complete the student’s file.

5. Students can choose to accept all the aid resources or a portion of the aid and pay the Business Office the remainder. Students accepting loans must complete necessary promissory notes and other requirements. The offer of a PLUS loan is not a guarantee of eligibility; the parent must complete the application and promissory note to be considered.

REFUND AND WITHDRAWAL PROCESS
See Lenoir-Rhyne University refund policies in the previous section of this catalog.

STUDENTS’ RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES
Students have the right to:

- Obtain information about the available student aid programs and to apply and be considered for assistance;
- Request an explanation of any phase of the financial aid process;
- Request special consideration if family financial circumstances change significantly. (Students must provide a letter of explanation and supporting documentation to the Division of Enrollment Management.);
- Request an appointment with a financial aid administrator;
- Appeal financial aid awards or denials based upon academic progress or enrollment requirements. (All appeals must be submitted in writing in a timely manner to the Director of Enrollment Services.)

In summary, the student has the right to seek and receive necessary information and counseling from the Division of Enrollment Management and other Lenoir-Rhyne sources.

Students have the responsibility to:

- Apply for admission;
- Inform the Division of Enrollment Management of the names of any other institution attended after high school and dates of attendance (this is a federal regulation);
- Maintain a Lenoir-Rhyne University financial aid folder and keep a copy of all paperwork sent to and received from the Division of Enrollment Management, in the event a document is lost in the mail or for the completion of next year’s application.
- Read the description of the financial aid program carefully;
- Read all correspondence from the Division of Enrollment Management and any other campus office;
- Complete all forms accurately and submit them according to the scheduled deadline dates;
- Provide any additional information as requested by the Division of Enrollment Management or any other campus office;
- Inform the Division of Enrollment Management of any personal changes (increase or decrease in your financial resources, change in name and/or withdrawal or transfer from Lenoir-Rhyne);
- Report any outside sources of assistance received, such as scholarships, etc;
- Request necessary information;
- Enroll in the necessary number of credit hours;
- Honor the policies and procedures set forth in the Lenoir-Rhyne University General Catalog and the Student Handbook (The Cub);
- Perform the work that is agreed upon in accepting Federal Work Study;
- Reapply for aid each academic year;
- Officially withdraw with the Office of Student Success and Retention to terminate program of study;
- Repay loans in accordance with repayment schedules.
- Frequently check campus mailbox (if they have one), email, and home mail for correspondence from the Division of Enrollment Management.

TYPES OF AID

The Division of Enrollment Management at Lenoir-Rhyne administers a variety of financial aid sources. These sources include institutional and state scholarships; federal, state, and institutional grants; federal student and parent loans; and, institutional and federal work opportunities. Students will automatically be considered for these sources upon acceptance to the University provided a valid and current FAFSA has been received by the University. Federal, state, and institutional grants and scholarships are awarded on a semester basis and may not be reallocated to previous or future semesters.

UNIVERSITY GRANTS & SCHOLARSHIPS

Lenoir-Rhyne University grants and scholarships are awarded to students pursuing their first Baccalaureate degree enrolling full time in the traditional day undergraduate program (fall and spring) in amounts varying with the student’s financial need, academic achievement and program criteria. Lenoir-Rhyne grants and scholarships are applied only against tuition charges and cannot be combined to exceed tuition. These grants and scholarships are renewable for up to four years, inclusive of all transfer credits, for students who meet satisfactory academic progress.

Lenoir-Rhyne University grants and scholarships may not be used to pay for off-campus programs, including study abroad programs that are not student exchange based programs. Students who participate in Lenoir-Rhyne’s exchange based programs will be charged tuition as if they were studying on campus. These students may use their federal, state and institutional grants and scholarships towards payment of these tuition charges. Students who wish to study in Lenoir-Rhyne Partner Programs that are not based on student exchange will be charged Lenoir-Rhyne tuition, or the total cost of their chosen international program, whichever is greater. These students would be able to use all federal and state sources of financial aid towards payments of these charges, but would not be able to use institutional grants and scholarships.

Athletic Scholarships - awarded at the discretion of the head coach of each individual sport. The annual amount of the scholarship varies and may exceed the cost of tuition, but not the direct cost of attendance.

Child of a Lutheran Minister Scholarship - awarded to dependent children of ordained Lutheran ministers and ELCA rostered lay personnel, including Associates in Ministry, Deaconesses, and Diaconal Ministers.

Diversity Leadership Grant - awarded in amounts varying with students’ needs and contributions to school and community.

Endowed & Gift Scholarships - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need. Preference is given to students who have achieved superior academic records in high school or at the University. More information follows.
Family Tuition Grant - available to families with more than one member simultaneously enrolled full-time in the traditional day undergraduate program at Lenoir-Rhyne and who are living on campus. Each family member will receive an annual award of $1,000.

Friends In Faith Program - Lenoir-Rhyne matches awards from Lutheran congregations up to $500 per academic year. This program has a July 1st deadline.

Honors Scholarships - Cromer (full tuition), Lineberger (three-quarter-tuition), Engaged Learning ($2000), and Trustee ($1000) scholarships will be awarded from the recipients of the Lenoir-Rhyne Scholars Awards. These students will be chosen through a combination of academic achievement, school and community involvement, and an interview competition at Scholarship Day.

Legacy Scholarship - awarded to students whose parents or grandparents are Lenoir-Rhyne graduates. The annual amount of this award is $1,000.

Lenoir-Rhyne Grant In Aid - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need and academic performance.

Lenoir-Rhyne Incentive Grant - awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need and contributions to school and community.

Lenoir-Rhyne Scholars Program - awarded to first-year students in recognition of academic achievement during the student’s high school career and based on the student’s high school grade point average and SAT or ACT scores at the time of admission into Lenoir-Rhyne. The annual amount of this award for a first year student is up to $12,500. Awarded to transfers in recognition of academic achievement during the student’s attendance at a previous college(s) and based on the student’s grade point average at the time of admission into Lenoir-Rhyne. The annual amount of this award for transfers is up to $7,000.

Martin Luther Fellows Program - awarded to students who are members of Lutheran Churches within the North Carolina Synod of the ELCA and who are nominated by their congregation by the July 1st deadline. The annual amount of this award is $1,000.

Phi Theta Kappa Honors Scholarship - awarded to students who hold a 3.0 grade point average at a two-year college and hold membership in Phi Theta Kappa. The annual amount of this award is $1,500.

FEDERAL GRANTS

Federal Grants are available to undergraduates with significant financial need, as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, who meet satisfactory academic progress and are subject to federal funding levels.

Federal Pell Grant - awarded to students with significant financial need. The amount of this grant in 2011-2012 ranges from $555 to $5,550 and is determined by the federal government.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG) - awarded to students with significant financial need in combination with the Federal Pell Grant. The annual amount of this award varies.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE GRANTS & SCHOLARSHIPS

North Carolina State Grants and Scholarships are funded by the State to provide financial assistance to legal residents of NC who meet program criteria and satisfactory academic progress, and are subject to state funding levels.

NC Legislative Tuition Grant - awarded to students enrolled full-time, working on their first Baccalaureate degree in a non-religious major. The estimated amount for 2011-2012 is $1,850.

NC Contractual Scholarship Fund - awarded to students with substantial financial need who are enrolled full-time, working on their first Baccalaureate degree in a non-religious major. The annual award amount varies.

Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship - students are nominated by the University to compete in this competitive State award.
FEDERAL LOANS
Lenoir-Rhyne participates in the Federal Direct Loan Program. The benefits for borrowers include less paperwork, faster delivery of funds, more flexible repayment options, and possible loan cancellation through service.

Federal Direct Loan - there are two types of Direct Loans: 1) the subsidized loan (the government pays the interest while students are in school as a half-time to full-time student - with a fixed rate of 3.4%), and 2) the unsubsidized loan (students are responsible for the interest costs during school - with a fixed rate of 6.8%). Repayment begins six months after graduation or when attendance drops to less than half-time.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan - Parents can borrow up to the cost of education, less all student aid. Parent loans are not based on financial need, however; borrowers do have to go through a credit check. The interest rate is fixed at 7.9%.

Federal Perkins Loan - a low interest loan for students with financial need. The loan is made with government funds with a share contributed by the University. The government pays the interest while students are in school as a half-time to full-time student. Repayment of this loan to Lenoir-Rhyne begins nine months after graduation or when attendance drops to less than half-time.

Depending on time of application, level of need, and the funding level available, students may borrow up to $5,500 for each year of undergraduate study. The total amount a student can borrow as an undergraduate is $27,000.

WORK OPPORTUNITIES
Lenoir-Rhyne University views earning from campus employment as a vital part of the financial aid program that supplements the student’s resources for incidental expenses and are not a deferrable resource for the payment of direct charges. All students have the opportunity to work on campus as part of the Campus Employment Program. An employment fair is held at the beginning of each academic year and current job positions are posted on-line at http://cpdc.jobs.lr.edu/jobs/on-campus. There are three areas of funding for the Campus Employment Program.

Federal Work Study - awarded to students with financial need, this on-campus work program provides students the opportunity to work with one of the departments or offices at Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students typically work between five and 20 hours per week. The offer of Federal Work Study on a financial aid award letter is not a promise of work.

Federal Community Service - also a form of Federal Work Study and awarded to students with financial need, this off-campus program places students in under-represented populations of the community in a variety of service-oriented jobs such as tutoring in the No Child Left Behind Project. Students typically work between four and 10 hours per week.

Campus Employment Program - if a student is not awarded Federal Work Study, he or she may be eligible to work on-campus through this program with one of the departments or offices at Lenoir-Rhyne University. These funds are available on a first-come basis. Students typically work between five and 20 hours per week.

ENDOWED AND GIFT SCHOLARSHIPS
The University serves as custodian and administrator for endowed and gift scholarships which are awarded in amounts varying with the student’s need. These funds are limited to students enrolling in full-time, traditional day, undergraduate programs during fall and spring semesters. Preference is given to students who have achieved superior academic records in high school or at the University. Students do not need to write to request specific endowed or gift scholarships. Awarding of these scholarships is based upon the completion of the steps outlined in the Application Process. These sources underwrite a portion of the total tuition cost.
STUDENT LIFE AND SERVICES

Lenoir-Rhyne University offers students a wide variety of curricular and co-curricular opportunities for realizing their personal growth and learning goals. Students are encouraged to view their college years as a time to develop their unique talents through a holistic approach which includes an appropriate balance of curricular and co-curricular activities. The Office of Student Life assists students in their personal development through a number of services that help them make better use of their decision making skills and foster growth and self-understanding. Offices found within Student Life include Residence Life, Intramurals, Co-curricular Programs, The Lohr Learning Commons, Career and Professional Development, Personal Counseling, Disability Services, Deaf and Hard of Hearing Support Services, and the Student Health Center.

Through the Office of Student Life, a conscious effort is made to provide every type of academic, social and spiritual opportunity necessary to meet the individual needs that exist among all facets the student body. Lenoir-Rhyne University seeks to maintain an environment in which students may experience acceptance as unique individuals and an environment consistent with the educational, moral, cultural, and social values of the University.

STUDENT LIFE

CROMER CENTER

The purpose of the Voigt R. Cromer Student Center is to offer extra- and co-curricular education facilities designed to unify the campus community and to provide for the personal, social, and cultural development of the student body. The Center houses several lounges, a meditation chapel, the bookstore, a post office, and dining facilities as well as offices and rooms for student services and student government.

CAREER AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT CENTER

The Alex Lee Career and Professional Development Center is located on the second floor of the Rudisill Library. The services provided here are designed to help Lenoir-Rhyne students grow in self-understanding, explore personal values, identify career interests, discover their true vocations, develop their unique identities, and make effective use of their personal and interpersonal recourses. Services include individualized career counseling, career exploration and guidance, and assessment of personality traits, interests and abilities in relation to career choices and personal growth.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The University encourages and recognizes students who become involved in volunteerism and service to the community outside of Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students interested in participating in volunteer programs and activities should contact the Americorps/VISTA Office in the Learning Commons (2nd floor Rudisill Library) or contact the Office of Student Life.

DEAF AND HARD-OF-HEARING STUDENT SERVICES

In 1977 Lenoir-Rhyne University established a program of support services for deaf and hard-of-hearing students. The goal of this program is to fully integrate deaf and hard-of-hearing students into academic, co-curricular, social, and residential life activities.

Applications from prospective deaf and hard-of-hearing students are evaluated by the University’s standard entrance requirements. Within the first semester of enrollment, deaf and hard-of-hearing students requesting services must provide documentation of hearing loss by submitting to the Director an audiological evaluation completed in the last three years.

The staff consists of sign language interpreters licensed by the State of North Carolina.
The support services provided for deaf and hard-of-hearing students are:

- Sign language interpreting (for any college related class)
- Two sets of notes per class
- Academic advising
- Portable FM Systems
- Interpreting for University related extra-curricular/co-curricular activities
- Organizations sponsored by the department:
  - Sign Troupe – performing organization
  - H.A.N.D.S. (Hearing and Deaf Signers) – service deaf awareness organization

Lenoir-Rhyne University offers students who are deaf or hard-of-hearing residence hall rooms that are equipped with flashing doorbell lights and visual fire/smoke alarms. A limited number of portable equipment is available for residential rooms as needed. The Office is located in the Corner Stone House.

DINING FACILITIES

Lenoir-Rhyne offers food service to students in three locations:

- The Dining Hall, located in Cromer Center, features a variety of delicious and healthy dining options with all-you-care-to-eat dining at every meal. Hot entrees, deli sandwiches, pizza, pasta, grill items, salad bar, homemade desserts, and assorted beverages are available. A variety of meal plans are available for residents and commuter students.
- Provisions on Demand (POD Express), located in the Cromer Center lobby, offers convenience store items, frozen foods, assorted beverages, and grab and go sandwiches and salads.
- The Bear’s Lair snack bar, located on the lower level of Cromer Center, features Subway sandwiches, grill items, snacks, smoothies, coffee, bagels, and pastries.
- The Cub’s Pub is located in the lower lobby of Fritz-Conrad Hall. Enjoy Java City coffees, hot and cold specialty beverages, baked goods, fresh made salads, and more. This cozy lounge area includes pool tables, games, and other entertainment.

DISABILITY SERVICES

Students with disabilities may request disability related accommodations in classes, and other University programs, from the Disability Services Office (located in the Corner Stone House). It is the responsibility of the student with a disability to request accommodations and to provide appropriate documentation of the impairment to the Coordinator of Disability Services. After a request for an accommodation has been made, the documentation and the request will be carefully reviewed. If there is insufficient information within the student’s documentation to support the request, the Coordinator will request the additional material. All decisions regarding disability-related accommodations are made on a case-by-case basis, after taking into consideration the type and severity of the individual’s disability and the impact of the accommodation on the institution’s policies and programs.

All disability-related documentation must be from a qualified professional, clearly state a diagnosis and illustrate the current functional limitations of the disabling condition and how the limitation will affect the individual in an educational setting. Complete documentation guidelines are available on the Disability Services Office website at http://disabilities.lr.edu/.

The purpose of providing disability related accommodations is to ensure qualified students with disabilities have equal access to University programs and are afforded an equal educational opportunity. Provision of disability-related services is not a guarantee of success, and the University cannot guarantee that accommodations will result in the same outcome that is obtained by any other student or participant in a University program.

Disability-related documentation is maintained in a confidential manner. If specific information about a student’s disability needs to be revealed to coordinate a service or accommodation, the Coordinator will obtain the student’s permission prior to divulging any confidential information.
Depending on the nature and type of disability, examples of accommodations include:

- Extended testing time
- Assistance in coordinating note takers for classes
- Assistance in obtaining textbooks on audiocassette/CD
- Relocation of classes/activities for students with physical disabilities

For students with physical disabilities who wish to reside on campus, there are accessible residence hall rooms available. For more information about disability related housing accommodations, please contact the Coordinator or the Residence Life Office at 828-328-7288.

While Lenoir-Rhyne will make reasonable accommodations in policies, procedures and programs for students with disabilities, the University does not provide personal assistance services (such as personal attendants), personal devices (such as wheelchairs or shower stools) or prescriptive devices (such as eye glasses or hearing aids). Additionally, class attendance is not determined by the Disability Services Office. The course instructor determines the attendance policy for each course and it is listed in the course syllabus. Should issues regarding class attendance arise, students are encouraged to make an appointment with the instructor as quickly as possible to address the issues.

Contact the Disability Services Office at campus 828-328-7296 for additional information or to establish services.

GRIEVANCE POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Lenoir-Rhyne University takes seriously the concerns and grievances of its students. LRU will provide a prompt response to all written complaints, including those complaints alleging discrimination or harassment based on race, age, religion, physical or emotional disability, or sex (which includes gender discrimination, sexual orientation, sexual harassment and sexual violence). LRU will work to resolve student grievances as quickly as possible; however, the time period for resolution will depend largely on the nature of the grievance and the response required. It is the goal of LRU that written grievances will be resolved within a period not to exceed 60 days; however, the time period for resolving grievances will depend largely on the facts and circumstances at issue and may be expanded where necessary and appropriate to reach a resolution.

LRU defines a “Grievance” as any claim raised by a student (“Complainant”) alleging violations of LRU’s policies or procedures, including but not limited to improper, inappropriate, arbitrary, discriminatory, harassing or violent conduct by a faculty member, staff member, student or any other individual present on campus (“Respondent”). LRU’s Grievance Policy is not intended to replace those policies and procedures pertaining to grade appeals or academic integrity violations. For more information on academic integrity policies and procedures, please refer to The Cub, online at http://student.lr.edu/cub/home or the University Catalog, online at http://registrar.lr.edu/catalog_2013. All such matters will be handled in accordance with those policies and procedures.

HEALTH SERVICES

The Student Health Center (SHC), located in the Corner Stone House, provides services to help students reach optimum wellness. This is done through two modes:

- Wellness Management focuses on healthy lifestyle choices, and
- Illness and Injury Management focuses on acute illnesses and injury.

A registered nurse is available Monday through Thursday for consultation to promote healthy lifestyle choices and evaluation of illnesses or injury. Services through the SHC are available to all students.

NOTE: Students are financially responsible for medical treatments that are received off campus. Lenoir-Rhyne University has many healthcare treatment partners in the community. The Nurse at the SHC will make referrals to off-campus healthcare services as needed.

All students who plan to use the student health center are required to have a medical health record on file at the center. Failure to comply may void use of services.
The SHC is open during posted hours only (http://student.lr.edu/student-health-center). The SHC is closed on weekends, school breaks, holidays and summer break.

IMMUNIZATIONS

All residential students and full-time or part-time commuter day students must have the required immunizations on file at the Lenoir-Rhyne University Student Health Service (SHC). Records must be on file before registration takes place OR according to NC Law (G.S. 130A-155.1) you will be withdrawn from classes without credit. Registration for classes will be delayed if immunization records are not current.

Required immunizations are listed on the Lenoir-Rhyne University Student Health Record, which is available online at http://student.lr.edu/student-health-center or in the Student Health Center. Additional vaccines or titers may be required by particular health related majors. Please consult the specific academic schools for their requirements.

Acceptable record of your immunizations may be requested and obtained from: high school transcripts, family physician, personal immunization records, military records or World Health Organization documents, or previous college or university. Immunization records do not automatically transfer from previous educational institutions and must be requested by the student. All immunization records must include dates of vaccine administration, be in black ink, and include clinician signature or clinic stamp. Records will be questioned if dates do not meet NC Law (G.S. 130A-155.1) or FDA License Approval.

Questions regarding immunization requirements may be directed to the Director of Student Health Services at 828-328-7181.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Lenoir-Rhyne University has a strong, broadly based intercollegiate athletic program. Lenoir-Rhyne University teams are members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the South Atlantic Conference (SAC).

The University fields intercollegiate teams in football, men’s and women’s cross country, men’s and women’s soccer, volleyball, men’s and women’s basketball, men’s and women’s lacrosse, softball, baseball, men’s and women’s track and field, men’s and women’s tennis, men’s and women’s swimming, and men’s and women’s golf. Scholarship aid for deserving student-athletes is available in all sports.

JUDICIAL SYSTEM

Policies and regulations have been established at Lenoir-Rhyne University to support and encourage its educational mission. As elsewhere in society, these policies and regulations are founded on the mutually accepted concepts of freedom and responsibility and are based on the assumption that members of the Lenoir-Rhyne community are interdependent. It is each student’s duty to protect the rights of other students, to fulfill their educational objectives, and to maintain high standards of personal conduct. However, when a student’s conduct does not meet these standards, the University employs the Judicial System to redirect the behavior into acceptable patterns. The Judicial System seeks to protect the rights of the student while maintaining conduct which is acceptable for an academic community. Please see The Cub for more specifics at http://student.lr.edu/cub/home.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The University recognizes that leadership development is an important component in the overall development of individuals. Programs are specially designed to enhance the discovery and utilization of students’ leadership styles. There are multiple opportunities for students to exercise leadership ability through campus organizations, classroom and volunteer experiences, spiritual settings, and clubs. Lenoir-Rhyne University endeavors to provide an enriching environment in which students may explore, discover, and develop their own potential for leadership and service within their communities.
LIBRARY
The Carl A. Rudisill Library, with satellite collections in the Music Library and Career Center, provides a wealth of information resources and services to support student learning and development. Physical collections include more than 150,000 books, 38,000 audiovisual materials, periodicals, newspapers, and special collections. Electronic resources, available both on campus and remotely, comprise a growing portion of the collection, representing over 30,000 periodical titles, over 100,000 electronic books, and over 80 research databases. The library provides spaces for quiet study, relaxed group collaboration, formal classroom instruction, accommodated testing, and focused research. Wireless network access is available throughout the building. Librarians work with students and faculty to assist in the development of information seeking and management skills that support academic success and lifelong learning.

LOHR LEARNING COMMONS
The Lohr Learning Commons includes a variety of academic services, offices and resources that help students reach their educational and academic goals. Conveniently located on the 2nd floor of the Carl A. Rudisill Library, the learning space includes: an open collaborative study area, individual study nooks, computer labs, writing center, math lab, speech preparation lab, peer tutoring, community service and service learning office, the Office of International Education, the Career Center and the Teaching and Learning Resource Center.

ORGANIZATIONS
More than 40 clubs, societies, and other organizations invite students, faculty, and staff to become involved in a variety of co-curricular activities. Lenoir-Rhyne has eight nationally-affiliated fraternities and sororities. Additionally, fifteen honor societies recognize excellence in scholarship and curricular areas.

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national sociology honorary society that seeks to acknowledge and promote excellence in scholarship in the study of sociology, the research of social problems, and such other social and intellectual activities as will lead to the improvement of the human condition.

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary dramatic fraternity whose membership includes those who demonstrate a certain level of competency in the dramatic arts.

Chi Beta Phi is a national honorary science society designed to promote continued interest in the field and to honor those who achieve a certain level of academic competency in general and in the sciences in particular.

Delta Mu Delta is a national business honor society to promote higher scholarship in training for business and to recognize and reward scholastic attainment in business subjects.

Kappa Delta Pi, an International Honor Society in Education, is committed to recognizing excellence and fostering mutual cooperation, support, and professional growth for educational professionals.

Mortar Board is the premier national honor society recognizing college seniors for superior achievement in scholarship, leadership and service.

Omicron Delta Epsilon is the international economics honorary society. The society recognizes scholastic attainment in economics and promotes the professional aspects of economics for service in the academic world, business, government and international organizations.

Phi Alpha Theta’s purpose is to acknowledge those individuals who have a deep interest in the study of history as a discipline with either a major or minor in the subject.

Pi Gamma Mu is the international honor society in social science with a mission to encourage and recognize superior scholarship in social science disciplines.

Pi Sigma Alpha is the national political science honor society, and includes pre-law and international relations majors. The society stimulates productive scholarship and intellectual interest in the subject of government.
Psi Chi/Alpha Kappa Delta are the national honor societies in psychology (Psi Chi) and sociology (AKD). They are designed to honor students majoring in psychology or sociology who demonstrate a high level of scholastic achievement as an undergraduate or graduate in the study of psychology or sociology.

Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society, recognizes students in the field of English language and literature. The society inducts English majors and minors, as well as associate members, who demonstrate excellence and dedication in their written and oral coursework.

Sigma Theta Tau recognizes achievement and leadership in the field of nursing and is composed of junior and senior nursing majors selected because of scholastic achievement and leadership potential.

Theta Alpha Kappa is the only national honor society dedicated to recognizing the academic excellence in students and scholars in the fields of religious studies and theology.

Upsilon Chi, a chapter of Lambda Pi Eta, is the undergraduate national communication honor society of the National Communication Association (NCA) that recognizes achievement and leadership in the field of communication.

ORIENTATION

Lenoir-Rhyne University offers orientation programs for all incoming first year and transfer students in both the fall and spring semesters. These programs are designed to introduce new students to the University’s services, policies, key personnel, and to facilitate students’ transition into the Lenoir-Rhyne University community.

The Red and Black Day Programs are one-day events that take place in the summer. First-Year students register for Fall semester classes during Red and Black Days. All first-year students also participate in The Rising, a three-day orientation program scheduled for the August weekend before fall classes begin. Red and Black Days and The Rising are also available for new transfer students. All students should receive information regarding their orientation session well before their first semester at Lenoir-Rhyne.

PERSONAL COUNSELING

While students are in college they are continuing the developmental process of moving from adolescence into young adulthood. This can be a challenging and constantly changing time for a student, and as a result the counseling services strive to provide quality mental health treatment and support to students, in times of need. All full and part time students enrolled in the university are eligible for counseling services. Services provided include individual, couples, and group counseling. Resource information regarding services provided in the community are also available through counseling services, as well as referrals to area psychiatrists and specialized mental health providers.

Counselors as well as other appropriate staff or community resources assist students in times of crisis or other emotional difficulties. If you are in need of an appointment, contact the office during regular office hours at (828) 328-7252. If you are in crisis and unable to reach the campus counselor, contact Catawba County Mental Health's Mobile Crisis Unit at 1-877-327-2593.

All counseling services are confidential. State laws and professional ethical codes dictate that the information discussed during the counseling session will be strictly confidential, if you are 18 years of age or older. The counseling records are not kept as part of your academic or administrative records. Furthermore, the fact that you have used our services, and the information that you share in counseling will not be disclosed to university officials, faculty, staff, parents, outside agencies, or anyone else without your written permission.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS AND RELATED ACTIVITIES

Lenoir-Rhyne University hosts for the sake of our students a variety of religious and other activities which are recognized by and operate under the auspices of the University Pastor.
These organizations include the Baptist Student Union, Campus Crusade for Christ, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, Lutheran Student Movement, Methodist-Wesley Fellowship, Ratio Christi, and the Roman Catholic Newman Club. These organizations, Bible study groups, service projects, and spiritual retreats provide opportunity for deeper insight into the Christian faith and a strengthened religious commitment through worship, study, fellowship, and service.

RESIDENCE LIFE

With a commitment to the total development of its students, Lenoir-Rhyne University provides a structured, growth-directed, and community-oriented residential housing program. Emphasizing personal maturity and development in a much valued group living environment, the Residence Life program complements the academic experience of the undergraduate student.

Each residence area is supervised by a highly qualified staff of professionals and paraprofessionals. Residence area staff assists students through promoting student involvement in campus issues, personal crisis intervention and counseling, event planning, and acting as a general campus resource.

There are several living options for undergraduate students. First-year students have the opportunity to live in a traditional residential hall to take full advantage of the shared first-year experience. Upper-class students choose their own housing assignments based on class seniority and space availability. Both traditional residence halls and the suite-style rooms and apartments, are available on campus. Basic furniture is provided by the University, with provisions for individual room personalization and decorating. If space permits, other non-traditional and graduate students may be provided housing.

Student housing at Lenoir-Rhyne University is more than allotting space and providing the basic living environment. It is a valuable out-of-class experience which is essential to the total development of the student.

Lenoir-Rhyne University offers residence hall rooms that are accessible both to deaf and hard-of-hearing students as well as students with physical disabilities. For more information, please contact the Residence Life office.

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT:

Lenoir-Rhyne University requires all full-time first, second, and third year students to live in campus housing unless they are:

- 22 years of age or older
- Living with parents/legal guardians within 25 miles of the campus (proof of residency required)
- Married
- Independent of all parental financial support for tax purposes
- Parents

Lenoir-Rhyne reserves the right to require any student not meeting at least one of the above criteria to live in campus housing. All students residing on campus are required to purchase a board plan.

UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS

Two official publications of Lenoir-Rhyne University contain the conditions and terms to which students agree when they enroll. These are the General Catalog and The Cub, the student handbook. All students can access the publications on the University website at www.lr.edu. The General Catalog contains academic information. The Cub Handbook contains guidelines for campus citizenship and gives important information concerning campus resources and activities. Other special publications are developed by various groups and provide information specifically related to the activities of these groups. New commuter students should pick up a copy of The Activities Calendar from the Student Life Office in The Cromer Center. All students can access The Cub Handbook on the Lenoir-Rhyne website at http://student.lr.edu/cub/home.
VEHICLES
All students, faculty, and staff of the University who operate a motor vehicle on the campus are required to register the vehicle with the Security Office. Parking an unregistered vehicle on campus will result in a $50 fine. All motor vehicles parked on Lenoir-Rhyne property must be kept in working condition. Disabled vehicles will be towed at the owner’s expense. The Security Staff publishes a brochure that outlines the regulations pertaining to use of vehicles on campus. This information is also on Lenoir-Rhyne’s website, http://security.lr.edu.
Students may also keep bicycles on campus as long as they are properly registered and stored in appropriate areas. There is a fee for registering automobiles and motorcycles; however, bicycles and mopeds are free to register.

WORSHIP SERVICES AND DEVOTIONAL LIFE
Six worship services are held regularly on campus each week: Wednesday Chapel at 10 a.m., and the daily celebration of the Eucharist (Holy Communion), Monday through Friday at 3 p.m. in Koinonia House. A Bible study, led by the University Pastor, is offered Thursday evenings at 10 p.m. Additional devotional, faith-sharing and Bible study opportunities are offered by religious organizations and the University’s Pastor’s office.
The Meditation Chapel in the Cromer Center lobby is open for personal prayer and meditation during regular Cromer Center hours. The Chapel of St. Monica, in Koinonia House, is open throughout the day and evening for prayer and meditation.
The University Pastor’s Office provides information regarding worship opportunities in Hickory area congregations.

WRITING CENTER
The Writing Center fosters the development of writing and critical thinking by providing trained, supportive readers and listeners for students’ ideas. Peer or faculty consultants work one-on-one with student writers on a wide range of areas, such as helping them understand a written assignment, develop and organize their ideas, revise for wordiness or appropriate voice or style, improve their ability to edit, or address a professor’s written feedback.
The Writing Center is located on the second floor of the Rudisill Library in the Learning Commons. Students may sign up for an appointment (strongly encouraged) or walk in if a consultant is available. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Director at 828-328-7318 or by visiting the Center’s web page at http://writing.lr.edu/.
SPECIAL PROGRAMS AND OPPORTUNITIES

BROYHILL CENTER
The Broyhill Center for Business Leadership was created by a grant from the Broyhill Family Foundation in Lenoir, NC, to:

1. Encourage greater understanding of the workings of the American economic system, the values of private enterprise, and business leadership in a free society.
2. Develop the business, economic and leadership skills of future and current business persons.
3. Stimulate a values-centered study of business leadership and economic issues.

To accomplish these purposes, the Institute engages in a variety of activities directed at both the University and the community. The Institute develops and supports forums, lectures, and seminars for the University and the Catawba Valley area. Each year the Institute, in cooperation with the Dean of Students, sponsors the Broyhill Leadership Program. The Program provides individual and group activities designed to develop and strengthen the leadership skills and attitudes of an invited group of Lenoir-Rhyne University sophomores. Leadership development grants support both faculty and student participation in a variety of conferences and seminars including an annual international travel course. The Institute provides support for curriculum development in the business administration, economics and other academic departments as well as program support for Phi Beta Lambda, the university business fraternity and Omicron Delta Epsilon, the Economics Honorary Society.

Further information on the program for the Institute may be obtained from the Director at 828-328-7933.

INSTITUTE FOR FAITH AND LEARNING
The Institute for Faith and Learning of Lenoir-Rhyne University was created in the Centennial Year of the University as a reaffirmation of the intention of the school’s founders to establish and maintain a Christian college. By engaging not only the campus community but also concerned clergy and laity of all denominations in theological study, discussion, and decision-making, the Institute is a significant regional and national resource whose purpose is to:

1. Foster the orthodox theology of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, centered upon the evangelical dogma of justification by grace through faith alone;
2. Strengthen the proclamation of the Gospel; and,
3. Assist in the provision of enlightened leadership that will shape the future of the Church in faithfulness to the Word of God.

To accomplish these purposes, the Institute (a) conducts research on topics perceived to be of most crucial significance (e.g., how to understand the Bible in an age of science, the basic beliefs of Christians, how Christians live and treat other people, etc.); (b) holds public events for the presentation and discussion of such work, often including visiting scholars and outstanding religious leaders; (c) offers seminars on such topics in the University’s day and evening programs at times convenient for clergy and laity; (d) sponsors an annual “Aquinas/Luther Conference,” bringing together world-famous Catholic and Lutheran scholars; and (e) provides workshops for congregations and communities upon request.

The Institute is open to all members of the campus community and to ministers and lay people generally whose demonstrated interest and theological competence entitle them to a high degree of participation in the life and activities of the Institute. Further information on the Center’s activities may be obtained from its Director at 828-328-7183.
THE HONORS PROGRAM

The Lenoir-Rhyne Honors Academy Program fosters personal growth and development of highly motivated students through exceptional individual attention. Program students work with their intellectual peers in an enhanced learning environment. The challenging ethos of the program prepares students for success in their post-graduate experiences. The Honors Program cultivates responsible citizenship through leadership opportunities on campus and the larger community.

Two separate Honors Programs are available. The Honors Academy Program is open to students at the beginning of their first year, to transfer students, and to current Lenoir-Rhyne University students, under the criteria listed below. A student’s status in the program is renewed on a yearly basis. Program Honors, on the other hand, are offered in all academic programs to selected students in their junior and/or senior year. Further information may be obtained from the Honors Director at 828-328-7927.

HONORS ACADEMY PROGRAM

Admission to the Honors Academy Program is by invitation of the University. Students are selected on the basis of scholastic excellence. Honors Academy Program students maintain Honors designation by continuing an overall grade point average of 3.25 although they must attain a 3.5 GPA in order to graduate from the Honors Academy Program. In addition they must meet the following requirements in order to graduate from the Program:

1. Successfully complete FYE 191H and FYE 192H -- First Year Experience.
2. Successfully complete one honors LAS I course, one honors LAS II course, and two core capstone experience courses (one would be met in the honors LAS II course and the second would be met in either the second LAS II course or in program honors).
4. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 upon graduation.
5. Complete 15 hours community service per year (recorded in the “Community Service Log”).
6. Take HON 301 and maintain a portfolio (includes first-year reflective essay and junior year evaluation of learning with plan for the future).
7. Successfully complete program honors in (at least one of) their major field(s).
8. Honors students are expected to be persons of upstanding moral and ethical character. Any violation of campus policy will result in a review of your Honors status and scholarship.

PROGRAM HONORS

The specific requirements of Program Honors vary according to the Program offering honors, but all Program Honors guidelines will conform according to the published Program Honors guidelines below.

In addition, the following five policies apply to all programs offering Program Honors:

1. no comprehensive examination above and beyond normal program requirements;
2. any student in the major who can meet the GPA requirements described below shall be able to take any Program Honors course except the Senior Research and Thesis courses;
3. a student who completes Program Honors graduates with honors in that program and it is acknowledged at commencement;
4. Program Honors are directed by the school involved under the general guidance and coordination of the Director of the Honors Program;
5. only the academic Program Committee shall have the authority to allow exceptions or to modify the guidelines pertaining to Program Honors. Appeals and/or waivers shall be made to the committee, in writing, and endorsed by the school chair;
6. students shall make a public presentation of their Program Honors work.

A student may, upon invitation of the faculty within a discipline, complete Program Honors within their specific program of study. At a minimum, students invited into Program Honors must have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a major GPA of 3.2. Some programs may have higher GPA requirements. Completing Program Honors involves close work with a faculty member involving research within the field of study, culminating in a thesis or significant research-based project appropriate to the field. Students must enroll in a major-specific 499 Senior Honors Thesis course in the semester in which the thesis or significant research-grounded product, whether applied or theoretical, is completed. Some programs also require additional coursework with an honors designation prior to enrollment in 499 Senior Honors Thesis, including a readings course, 498 Senior Honors Research, which may be taken the semester immediately prior to 499 Senior Honors Thesis. A permanent record of the student’s Program Honors work will be bound and maintained in the Library.

The culminating work for graduation with Program Honors, completed in the courses numbered 498 and/or 499, should be significant, beyond that which a student would complete for graduation without honors. In particular, the work should engage the student in deeper thinking and analysis beyond the capstone product or other senior-level work required of all students in the same major.

As such, completing Program Honors requires advanced critical thinking and analysis, demonstrated by written analysis of accepted professional literature in the field of study. Most students will complete theses and will include a research component. Students are expected to leave a permanent copy of their culminating honors work in the library collection. While this culminating work may include a DVD of a recital or student teaching, it should be accompanied by a written undergirding analysis of the support for the work/performance in the existing literature.

In general, the final piece of work for Program Honors (no matter the field) should include the following:

- Statement of the problem/question under investigation
- Critical analysis of the literature in the field of study, pertaining to the question
- Materials and methods employed to explore question under investigation
- Analysis of findings/results
- Conclusion/discussion/implications of the findings and suggestions for further investigations of the question
- Oral presentation/defense of the work before a panel of faculty

Completing the final honors activity for graduation in Program Honors requires careful planning. Students invited into Program Honors will, in consultation with the primary advisor, select a committee of reviewers to guide the work undertaken. The committee shall include at least three members. Two faculty members shall be from the program/School in which the student’s major is housed. The third faculty member must be from outside the School. Students may also invite a professional from the local community as a fourth member, if appropriate. Students should identify their committee at the proposal stage in order to receive feedback throughout the process, not just at the end. Students are expected to complete their work in a timely fashion, as follows:

- Generally, complete the draft proposal and have all approvals not later than the fourth week of the semester in which the culminating work is to be completed.
- Generally, submit the completed work not later than three weeks prior to the last day of class.
- Generally, hold the oral presentation/defense no later than one week prior to the last day of classes.

LINEBERGER CENTER
The Lineberger Center for Cultural and Educational Renewal was created through a generous gift of the Lineberger Foundation in Belmont, NC, to:

1. Affirm the existence of a moral order and the renewal of that sensitivity in ourselves and our society;
2. Promote the study of values and their importance to us and our society;
3. Develop a capacity for making well-ordered, ethical judgments;
4. Instill the means of making critical choices through patterns of inquiry and habits of thought;
5. Stimulate and promote challenge, the courage to meet it, and the skills to deal with it creatively.

To accomplish these purposes, the Center engages in a wide array of activities designed for both the campus and the community. The Center supports and contributes to the University general education program; sponsors seminars, conferences and retreats on a variety of topics; sponsors Great Books sections locally; hosts the Hickory Humanities Forum; and seeks to promote integrative, interdisciplinary inquiry.

Further information on the Center’s programs for this year may be obtained from its Director at 828-328-7077.

THE LUTHERAN COLLEGE WASHINGTON SEMESTER
Lenoir-Rhyne University is a member of the Lutheran College Washington Consortium which conducts a work/study program in Washington, D.C. Under this program, students spend the semester in Washington and are required to complete two seminars (eight credits) and a 25-30 hour internship and public service component (eight credits). Students enroll at Lenoir-Rhyne and pay tuition at the rate charged by Lenoir-Rhyne University. The program emphasizes the ethical dimension of important questions of public affairs. A separate summer residential housing program is also available.

Further information about this program may be obtained by calling 828-328-7216.

OBSERVATORY
The observatory, located atop the Minges Science Building, houses a 12 1/2-inch reflecting telescope that can be operated in the Cassegrain or Newtonian mode. The observatory is equipped for UBV and UBVY photoelectric photometry and for astrophotography. Additional equipment includes two four-inch refractors, two eight-inch Meade Schmidt-Cassegrainian reflectors, and various special cameras, including a CCD camera. The possibility exists for the addition to the facilities of a 20-inch Ritchey-Chretien reflector. The observatory is utilized at all levels of college instruction. Future plans include the addition of a computer and telescope control for the CCD camera and photography.

OFFICE FOR INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION
The mission of the Office for International Education (OIE) is to stimulate, coordinate and support initiatives and programs that internationalize Lenoir-Rhyne University. The OIE promotes semester study abroad programs, short-term, faculty-led study abroad programs, and services for international students who study at Lenoir-Rhyne. The OIE also provides programming for faculty to assist them in their efforts to foster global perspectives and cross cultural understanding.
Lenoir-Rhyne University, through the Office for International Education, is a member of NAFSA: Association of International Education; the Institute for International Education (IIE); The Forum on Education Abroad; International Student Exchange Programs (ISEP); and the Consortium for North American Higher Education Collaboration (CONAHEC).

Study Abroad Programs

Lenoir-Rhyne University sponsors study abroad student exchange programs at more than 150 institutions in over 40 countries around the globe. Through Lenoir-Rhyne’s agreements with partner organizations and schools; students are registered for classes at Lenoir-Rhyne and receive credit for the course work they complete while abroad. Students may use their Lenoir-Rhyne financial aid for any of these exchange programs. Students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5, and in some cases, 2.75, to be approved for study abroad.

Lenoir-Rhyne faculty also lead short term study abroad programs during spring break or during May, June, or July. Usually these short term programs are offered in conjunction with a course that is taught during the spring semester. The costs of these study programs vary from year-to-year and program-to-program. In recent years these study programs have gone to the British Virgin Islands for marine research, China to study business practices, Germany for comparative studies in education, and Mexico for language immersion and a nursing field study. Lenoir-Rhyne sponsored programs may not meet the individual academic, social, and cultural preferences of all students. Consequently, Lenoir-Rhyne does permit students to participate in approved Partner programs that have been reviewed and approved with transfer credit. Lenoir-Rhyne institutional financial aid may not be used for these programs.

Contact the Director of the Office of International Education at 828-328-7028, for more information on study abroad programs.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICES

The Office for International Education (OIE) serves as an information center for international students. The OIE staff will assist with information about:

- Immigration regulations for students
- Passports and visas
- Health insurance
- Employment on campus
- Academic matters
- Cultural adjustment
- Optional Practical Training

International students should contact the Division of Enrollment Management at 828-328-7279 for more information.

REESE INSTITUTE FOR CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Thomas W. Reese Institute for the Conservation of Natural Resources was established through an endowment gift from Lenoir-Rhyne graduate Thomas W. Reese, a nationally recognized conservationist. It promotes leadership for service through a program that emphasizes regional environmental issues, economic development, and the conservation and use of natural resources. The goal of the Institute is to become a nationally recognized conservation program that works closely with regional government, industry, and community groups to clarify environmental problems and identify practical solutions. Students and community members will be able to participate in a variety of educational experiences, including field work and internships. For further information contact the Director of Reese Institute at 828-328-7606.

ROTC PROGRAM

Lenoir-Rhyne University offers Air Force ROTC opportunities through a cooperative arrangement with the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. Students achieve their goal of serving their country by becoming a commissioned officer in the US Air Force, while maintaining full time student status. The Air Force offers scholarship opportunities to help students meet their financial needs. Please see the University Registrar for additional details.
SPECIAL PROGRAMS AND OPPORTUNITIES

BROYHILL CENTER
The Broyhill Center for Business Leadership was created by a grant from the Broyhill Family Foundation in Lenoir, NC, to:

1. Encourage greater understanding of the workings of the American economic system, the values of private enterprise, and business leadership in a free society.
2. Develop the business, economic and leadership skills of future and current business persons.
3. Stimulate a values-centered study of business leadership and economic issues.

To accomplish these purposes, the Institute engages in a variety of activities directed at both the University and the community. The Institute develops and supports forums, lectures, and seminars for the University and the Catawba Valley area. Each year the Institute, in cooperation with the Dean of Students, sponsors the Broyhill Leadership Program. The Program provides individual and group activities designed to develop and strengthen the leadership skills and attitudes of an invited group of Lenoir-Rhyne University sophomores. Leadership development grants support both faculty and student participation in a variety of conferences and seminars including an annual international travel course. The Institute provides support for curriculum development in the business administration, economics and other academic departments as well as program support for Phi Beta Lambda, the university business fraternity and Omicron Delta Epsilon, the Economics Honorary Society.

Further information on the program for the Institute may be obtained from the Director at 828-328-7933.

INSTITUTE FOR FAITH AND LEARNING
The Institute for Faith and Learning of Lenoir-Rhyne University was created in the Centennial Year of the University as a reaffirmation of the intention of the school’s founders to establish and maintain a Christian college. By engaging not only the campus community but also concerned clergy and laity of all denominations in theological study, discussion, and decision-making, the Institute is a significant regional and national resource whose purpose is to:

1. Foster the orthodox theology of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, centered upon the evangelical dogma of justification by grace through faith alone;
2. Strengthen the proclamation of the Gospel; and,
3. Assist in the provision of enlightened leadership that will shape the future of the Church in faithfulness to the Word of God.

To accomplish these purposes, the Institute (a) conducts research on topics perceived to be of most crucial significance (e.g., how to understand the Bible in an age of science, the basic beliefs of Christians, how Christians live and treat other people, etc.); (b) holds public events for the presentation and discussion of such work, often including visiting scholars and outstanding religious leaders; (c) offers seminars on such topics in the University’s day and evening programs at times convenient for clergy and laity; (d) sponsors an annual “Aquinas/Luther Conference,” bringing together world-famous Catholic and Lutheran scholars; and (e) provides workshops for congregations and communities upon request.

The Institute is open to all members of the campus community and to ministers and lay people generally whose demonstrated interest and theological competence entitle them to a high degree of participation in the life and activities of the Institute. Further information on the Center’s activities may be obtained from its Director at 828-328-7183.
THE HONORS PROGRAM

The Lenoir-Rhyne Honors Academy Program fosters personal growth and development of highly motivated students through exceptional individual attention. Program students work with their intellectual peers in an enhanced learning environment. The challenging ethos of the program prepares students for success in their post-graduate experiences. The Honors Program cultivates responsible citizenship through leadership opportunities on campus and the larger community.

Two separate Honors Programs are available. The Honors Academy Program is open to students at the beginning of their first year, to transfer students, and to current Lenoir-Rhyne University students, under the criteria listed below. A student’s status in the program is renewed on a yearly basis. Program Honors, on the other hand, are offered in all academic programs to selected students in their junior and/or senior year. Further information may be obtained from the Honors Director at 828-328-7927.

HONORS ACADEMY PROGRAM

Admission to the Honors Academy Program is by invitation of the University. Students are selected on the basis of scholastic excellence. Honors Academy Program students maintain Honors designation by continuing an overall grade point average of 3.25 although they must attain a 3.5 GPA in order to graduate from the Honors Academy Program. In addition they must meet the following requirements in order to graduate from the Program:

1. Successfully complete FYE 191H and FYE 192H -- First Year Experience.
2. Successfully complete one honors LAS I course, one honors LAS II course, and two core capstone experience courses (one would be met in the honors LAS II course and the second would be met in either the second LAS II course or in program honors).
4. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.5 upon graduation.
5. Complete 15 hours community service per year (recorded in the “Community Service Log”).
6. Take HON 301 and maintain a portfolio (includes first-year reflective essay and junior year evaluation of learning with plan for the future).
7. Successfully complete program honors in (at least one of) their major field(s).
8. Honors students are expected to be persons of upstanding moral and ethical character. Any violation of campus policy will result in a review of your Honors status and scholarship.

PROGRAM HONORS

The specific requirements of Program Honors vary according to the Program offering honors, but all Program Honors guidelines will conform according to the published Program Honors guidelines below.

In addition, the following five policies apply to all programs offering Program Honors:

1. no comprehensive examination above and beyond normal program requirements;
2. any student in the major who can meet the GPA requirements described below shall be able to take any Program Honors course except the Senior Research and Thesis courses;
3. a student who completes Program Honors graduates with honors in that program and it is acknowledged at commencement;
4. Program Honors are directed by the school involved under the general guidance and coordination of the Director of the Honors Program;
5. only the academic Program Committee shall have the authority to allow exceptions or to modify the guidelines pertaining to Program Honors. Appeals and/or waivers shall be made to the committee, in writing, and endorsed by the school chair;
6. Students shall make a public presentation of their Program Honors work.

A student may, upon invitation of the faculty within a discipline, complete Program Honors within their specific program of study. At a minimum, students invited into Program Honors must have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a major GPA of 3.2. Some programs may have higher GPA requirements. Completing Program Honors involves close work with a faculty member involving research within the field of study, culminating in a thesis or significant research-based project appropriate to the field. Students must enroll in a major-specific 499 Senior Honors Thesis course in the semester in which the thesis or significant research-grounded product, whether applied or theoretical, is completed. Some programs also require additional coursework with an honors designation prior to enrollment in 499 Senior Honors Thesis, including a readings course, 498 Senior Honors Research, which may be taken the semester immediately prior to 499 Senior Honors Thesis. A permanent record of the student’s Program Honors work will be bound and maintained in the Library.

The culminating work for graduation with Program Honors, completed in the courses numbered 498 and/or 499, should be significant, beyond that which a student would complete for graduation without honors. In particular, the work should engage the student in deeper thinking and analysis beyond the capstone product or other senior-level work required of all students in the same major.

As such, completing Program Honors requires advanced critical thinking and analysis, demonstrated by written analysis of accepted professional literature in the field of study. Most students will complete theses and will include a research component. Students are expected to leave a permanent copy of their culminating honors work in the library collection. While this culminating work may include a DVD of a recital or student teaching, it should be accompanied by a written undergirding analysis of the support for the work/performance in the existing literature.

In general, the final piece of work for Program Honors (no matter the field) should include the following:

- Statement of the problem/question under investigation
- Critical analysis of the literature in the field of study, pertaining to the question
- Materials and methods employed to explore question under investigation
- Analysis of findings/results
- Conclusion/discussion/implications of the findings and suggestions for further investigations of the question
- Oral presentation/defense of the work before a panel of faculty

Completing the final honors activity for graduation in Program Honors requires careful planning. Students invited into Program Honors will, in consultation with the primary advisor, select a committee of reviewers to guide the work undertaken. The committee shall include at least three members. Two faculty members shall be from the program/School in which the student’s major is housed. The third faculty member must be from outside the School. Students may also invite a professional from the local community as a fourth member, if appropriate. Students should identify their committee at the proposal stage in order to receive feedback throughout the process, not just at the end. Students are expected to complete their work in a timely fashion, as follows:

- Generally, complete the draft proposal and have all approvals not later than the fourth week of the semester in which the culminating work is to be completed.
- Generally, submit the completed work not later than three weeks prior to the last day of class.
- Generally, hold the oral presentation/defense no later than one week prior to the last day of classes.

The observatory is equipped for UBV and UBVY photoelectric photometry and for astrophotography. Additional equipment includes two four-inch refractors, two eight-inch Meade Schmidt-Cassegrainian reflectors, and various special cameras, including a CCD camera. The possibility exists for the addition to the facilities of a 20-inch Ritchey-Chretien reflector. The observatory is utilized at all levels of college instruction. Future plans include the addition of a computer and telescope control for the CCD camera and photography.

OFFICE FOR INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

The mission of the Office for International Education (OIE) is to stimulate, coordinate and support initiatives and programs that internationalize Lenoir-Rhyne University. The OIE promotes semester study abroad programs, short-term, faculty-led study abroad programs, and services for international students who study at Lenoir-Rhyne. The OIE also provides programming for faculty to assist them in their efforts to foster global perspectives and cross cultural understanding.
Lenoir-Rhyne University, through the Office for International Education, is a member of NAFSA: Association of International Education; the Institute for International Education (IIE); The Forum on Education Abroad; International Student Exchange Programs (ISEP); and the Consortium for North American Higher Education Collaboration (CONAHEC).

Study Abroad Programs
Lenoir-Rhyne University sponsors study abroad student exchange programs at more than 150 institutions in over 40 countries around the globe. Through Lenoir-Rhyne’s agreements with partner organizations and schools; students are registered for classes at Lenoir-Rhyne and receive credit for the course work they complete while abroad. Students may use their Lenoir-Rhyne financial aid for any of these exchange programs. Students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5, and in some cases, 2.75, to be approved for study abroad.

Lenoir-Rhyne faculty also lead short term study abroad programs during spring break or during May, June, or July. Usually these short term programs are offered in conjunction with a course that is taught during the spring semester. The costs of these study programs vary from year-to-year and program-to-program. In recent years these study programs have gone to the British Virgin Islands for marine research, China to study business practices, Germany for comparative studies in education, and Mexico for language immersion and a nursing field study. Lenoir-Rhyne sponsored programs may not meet the individual academic, social, and cultural preferences of all students. Consequently, Lenoir-Rhyne does permit students to participate in approved Partner programs that have been reviewed and approved with transfer credit. Lenoir-Rhyne institutional financial aid may not be used for these programs.

Contact the Director of the Office of International Education at 828-328-7028, for more information on study abroad programs.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICES
The Office for International Education (OIE) serves as an information center for international students. The OIE staff will assist with information about:

- Immigration regulations for students
- Passports and visas
- Health insurance
- Employment on campus
- Academic matters
- Cultural adjustment
- Optional Practical Training

International students should contact the Division of Enrollment Management at 828-328-7279 for more information.

REESE INSTITUTE FOR CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES
The Thomas W. Reese Institute for the Conservation of Natural Resources was established through an endowment gift from Lenoir-Rhyne graduate Thomas W. Reese, a nationally recognized conservationist. It promotes leadership for service through a program that emphasizes regional environmental issues, economic development, and the conservation and use of natural resources. The goal of the Institute is to become a nationally recognized conservation program that works closely with regional government, industry, and community groups to clarify environmental problems and identify practical solutions. Students and community members will be able to participate in a variety of educational experiences, including field work and internships. For further information contact the Director of Reese Institute at 828-328-7606.

ROTC PROGRAM
Lenoir-Rhyne University offers Air Force ROTC opportunities through a cooperative arrangement with the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. Students achieve their goal of serving their country by becoming a commissioned officer in the US Air Force, while maintaining full time student status. The Air Force offers scholarship opportunities to help students meet their financial needs. Please see the University Registrar for additional details.
GENERAL INFORMATION AND POLICIES

The particular nature and goals of Lenoir-Rhyne University presuppose that everything done has some religious dimension. Standards of moral and ethical value form the University’s value-based education. The University holds as sources for value the Scriptures and the traditions of the Christian Church, as well as the insights of the arts and culture. It affirms and cherishes its relationship to the Lutheran Church, yet takes a broad and sympathetic approach to religious diversity. Religious activities designed to engage Christian principles and culture include regular worship services, student group programs, forums, convocations, and regular interaction with the larger religious communities in which the University resides.

LENOIR-RHYNE CAMPUS COMPUTING POLICIES

PURPOSE
Lenoir-Rhyne University strives to maintain access for its students, faculty, and staff to local, national, and international sources of information and to provide an atmosphere that encourages the sharing of knowledge, the creative process and collaborative efforts within the University’s educational, research and public service programs.

POLICY
Access to electronic information systems at Lenoir-Rhyne University is a privilege, not a right, and must be treated as such by all users of these systems. With this privilege come the following responsibilities:

- All users must act honestly and responsibly.
- Every user is responsible for the integrity of these information resources.
- Users are responsible for protecting their accounts from access by others and shall keep private their passwords and ID’s.
- All users must respect the rights of other computer users.
- All users must respect the integrity of the physical facilities and controls.
- All users must respect the pertinent license and contractual agreements related to University information systems.
- Users who incur access or user charges for services provided by off-campus services (such as commercial databases, processing time, etc.) are responsible for full payment of such charges.
- All users must act in accordance with relevant local, state, and federal laws and regulations.
- All users must abide by all federal copyright laws and the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA).

Lenoir-Rhyne University is a provider of a means to access the vast and growing amount of information available through electronic information resources. Lenoir-Rhyne University is not a regulator of the content of that information and takes no responsibility for the content of information, except for that information the University itself, and those authorized to act on its behalf, create. Any person accessing information through Lenoir-Rhyne University information systems must determine for him/herself whether any source is appropriate for viewing and use.

SCOPE OF POLICY
Any person accepting an account and/or using Lenoir-Rhyne University’s information systems shall constitute an agreement on behalf of the user to abide and be bound by the provisions of this policy. This includes any person using a privately owned machine on the University’s network. This policy shall not impinge upon academic freedom with regards to research.

Definitions
- "University" shall mean Lenoir-Rhyne University.
- "Electronic communications" shall mean and include the use of information systems in the communicating or posting of information or material by way of electronic mail, bulletin boards, World Wide Web (Internet), or other such electronic tools.
- "Information Systems" shall mean and include computers, networks, servers and other similar devices that are administered by the University and for which the University is responsible.
- "Networks" shall mean and include video, voice and data networks, routers and storage devices.
- "Obscene" with respect to obscene material shall mean (1) an average person applying contemporary community standards would find that the material taken as a whole predominantly appeals to the prurient interest, (2) the material taken as a whole lacks serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value.
- “Phishing” is attempting to acquire sensitive information such as usernames, passwords and credit card details by masquerading as a trustworthy entity in an electronic communication.

RESTRICTION OF USE
The University may restrict or prohibit the use of its information systems in response to complaints presenting evidence of violations of University policies and/or local, state or federal laws. Such complaints shall be addressed through established investigative and disciplinary procedures. Should it be determined that a violation has occurred, the University may restrict or prohibit access to its information systems, as well as any other disciplinary sanction deemed appropriate.

PERMITTED USE BY EMPLOYEES
University information systems are to be used predominantly for University-related business. Limited personal use by employees is permitted as long as:
- It conforms to this policy.
- It does not interfere with University operations or performance of one’s duties as an employee.
- It does not result in additional costs to the University.
- It does not require an inordinate amount of information systems resources.

OBSCENE MATERIAL
University information systems may not be used to access, download, print, store, forward, transmit or distribute obscene material.
UNAUTHORIZED ACCESS
Unauthorized access to information systems is prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to:
- Use of another’s password or ID.
- Trying to guess another’s password or ID.
- Any attempt to circumvent system security.
- When any user terminates his/her relationship with the University, his/her password and ID shall be denied further access to University computing resources.

MISUSE OF INFORMATION SYSTEMS
Misuse of University information systems are prohibited and shall include, but not be limited to:
- Attempting to modify or remove computer equipment, software, or peripherals without proper authorization.
- Accessing without proper authorization computers, software, information or networks to which the University belongs, regardless of whether the resource accessed is owned by the University or the abuse takes place from a non-University site.
- Taking actions, without authorization, which interfere with the access of others to information systems.
- Circumventing, or attempting to circumvent, logon or other security measures.
- Using information systems for any illegal or unauthorized purpose.
- Personal use of information systems or electronic communications for non-University consulting, business or employment. Any exception must be approved by the appropriate division Vice President or Dean and notification sent to the Chief Information Officer.
- Sending any fraudulent, harassing, threatening, or obscene electronic communication.
- Violating any software license or copyright, including copying or redistributing copyrighted software, without the written authorization of the copyright owner.
- Using electronic communications to violate the property rights of authors and copyright owners. Users should be especially aware of potential copyright infringement through the use of email.
- Using electronic communications to disclose proprietary information without the explicit permission of the owner.
- Using electronic communications to send chain letters or to initiate or perpetuate Phishing.
- Reading or accessing other users’ information or files without permission.
- Academic dishonesty, including but not limited to plagiarism (see Student Handbook).
- Forging, fraudulently altering or falsifying, or otherwise misusing University or non-University records (including computerized records, permits, identification cards, or other documents or property).
Using electronic communications to hoard, damage, or otherwise interfere with academic resources available electronically.

Launching a computer worm, computer virus, or other rogue program.

Downloading or posting illegal, obscene, proprietary or damaging material to a University computer or network.

Transporting illegal, obscene, proprietary or damaging material across a University network.

Use of any University information system to access, download, print, store, forward, transmit, or distribute obscene material.

Violating any local, state or federal law or regulation in connection with use of any information system.

Installing software not approved for use by the University on any University computer, network, or server.

USE OF PRIVATE MACHINES
Use of privately owned equipment is the responsibility of the owner of the equipment. The University will provide support for such equipment based on the standard support policies. Use of the University network is subject to all of the University policies herein. The University is not responsible for any access to or damage of privately owned equipment, its software, or its files connected to the University’s network. The owner is also responsible for any damage or compromise to the University’s systems and/or equipment.

SUPPORT POLICIES
There are multitudes of hardware and software choices on the market, and people naturally prefer to use those that suit their individual preferences. Many computer users rely on the Office of Information Technology (OIT) staff for support and it is impossible for the available staff to become experts on all hardware and software products. Therefore, hardware and software campus standards are necessary to make support activities as efficient as possible. Standards allow staff expertise and effort to concentrate on a limited set of essential applications and hardware systems that are widely used on campus. Concentration on standards allows support staff to build expertise in a manageable number of areas. It also focuses support services such as the Help Desk to benefit the greatest number of clients.

Standards also help clients make decisions about hardware and software that are consistent with OIT staff expertise and support programs. Standards, however, are not available for all possible applications that individuals or departments may need to use. In addition, some clients have needs for which the standard hardware or software is not ideal. In cases where non-standard hardware or software for desktop applications are selected, OIT must limit the resources available to solve problems in order to meet our obligations for support of standards. Therefore, clients using non-standard products must assume a greater burden for self-reliance and independence. The following policy explains the support that OIT will provide for various combinations of hardware and software.

Whenever standards have been set for hardware or software products, University policy requires purchase of the standard hardware and software be directed to the Chief Information Officer.

Definitions:

- Campus Standard Hardware - Brands and models of hardware that have been tested and found to be reliable and compatible with existing standards. All other hardware is non-standard. Examples of hardware include CPUs, external drives, input devices, network cards, modems, printers, etc. Please see the University OIT website for the list of current hardware standards for more information. Network connectivity is assured for systems where both hardware and software meet University standards.

- Campus Standard Software - The University direction for particular types of software in wide campus use that have been tested and found to be reliable and compatible with existing standards. Examples of software include operating systems, networking software, word processors.

The University may announce the direction the campus will take for a particular application prior to the application becoming a standard. Support for the software will begin when the software is designated as a Campus Standard.

OIT provides all standard computer hardware and software. Additional hardware and software for the standard office computer may be purchased by the department with approval from the Chief Information Officer. Any non-standard computer hardware or software purchased with university funds must abide by this policy and will be classified as a Support Level 3. (See below)

Support Levels:

- Level 1 - Full Support (Provided for all University owned equipment using Campus Standard hardware and software)

  OIT provides support (including Help Desk, troubleshooting, and when appropriate, training and documentation) for standard software and guarantees to the extent possible that the various standards will operate correctly together. OIT will make every effort to get standard hardware or software working and bring in expertise as needed until the problem is solved or is found to be unsolvable. In such a case, OIT will work to provide an alternate solution. However, if a software or hardware problem appears to be related to a conflict with non-standard or unapproved component(s), support will drop to Level 3 (see below). Please see the list of Campus Standard hardware and software that receives Level 1 support.

  Some combinations of standard hardware and software will not be supported because these combinations do not operate well together.

- Level 2 – Partial Support for University Owned Equipment

  OIT support for Approved Software may include making it work with standard hardware and software and/or making it available in our facilities. For example, academic departments may wish to have software available in Lab facilities for their students. In such cases, the professors are responsible for supporting the actual use of the program ("how do I use the quiz feature of the program?"). In conjunction with the manufacturer, OIT support is limited to attempting to make the program run and print on the network. OIT will devote up to one hour attempting to connect non-standard hardware to the network. If the problem cannot be resolved during that time, OIT will not research or refer the problem. If campus standard network software and configuration settings or variations compatible with the network do not work, the hardware will not be connected to the network.

- Level 3 – No Support (applies to software and hardware that is not standard or has not been approved for use on the campus network or is not University owned)
When time permits, a best-guess effort will be made to troubleshoot and correct problems that involve non-standard hardware or non-standard software. "Best guess" means that the OIT Help Desk will suggest solutions or steps toward resolution of problems based on their expertise and experience. In such a case, there will be no research on the problem, office visits or referral of the problem beyond the Help Desk for work by other OIT staff. Clients who purchase non-standard hardware and unsupported software assume an obligation for self-support. They should learn what support and assistance the vendor or manufacturer provides before making a decision to purchase.

USE OF COMPUTER LABS/FACILITIES
Users of computer labs are obligated to all policies herein and to any supplemental policies posted in that lab. Further regulations include but are not limited to:
- Food, drink, or tobacco use is not permitted in computer labs.
- Priority of use and hours of use is as posted in the specific lab.
- Users must exercise proper care of the equipment in the lab.
- Users shall not attempt to remove, repair, reconfigure, move, modify or attach any external device to the computer(s) or system other than usb drives.
- Users shall not attempt to add, delete, or modify data, files, or programs.
- Users shall not attempt to circumvent security measures of the University or other users.
- Primary use of all labs is for academic and educational purposes. Users must be respectful of this in behavior.
- Users shall report any malfunction, or concern to the Help Desk as posted in the lab.
- Users shall report any violation of policy to the Chief Information Officer.

PRIVACY
When University information systems are functioning properly, a user can expect the files and data he/she generates to be private information, unless the creator of the file or data takes action to reveal it to others. However, users should be aware that no information system is 100% secure. Persons within and outside of the University may find ways to access files. ACCORDINGLY, THE UNIVERSITY CANNOT AND DOES NOT GUARANTEE USER PRIVACY, and users should be continuously aware of this fact.

Users should be aware that on occasion duly authorized Information Technology personnel have authority to access individual user files or data in the process of performing repair or maintenance of computing equipment and systems. This may include the testing of systems in order to ensure adequate storage capacity and performance for University needs. Information Technology personnel performing repair or maintenance of computing equipment are prohibited by law from exceeding their authority of access for repair and maintenance purposes or from making any use of individual user files or data for any purpose other than repair or maintenance services performed by them.

EMAIL
All policies stated herein are applicable to email. Users should never assume that no one other than the addressee would read the message(s). Users should also be cautious about attachments and broad publication of messages. Copyright laws and license agreements also apply to email.
WEB PAGES

All University web pages shall be designed in accordance with established regulations and guidelines as maintained by the Marketing Department. Creators of all web pages using University information systems shall comply with University policies and are responsible for complying with all local, state and federal laws and regulations, including but not limited to, copyright, obscenity, libel, slander and defamation laws.

Creators of a web page are responsible for the content of the page, including but not limited to accuracy of the information. Content should be reviewed on a timely basis to assure continued accuracy. Web pages should include a contact (phone number, address, or email) of the person to whom questions/comments may be addressed, as well as the most recent revision date. For further details, please contact the Marketing Department.

INSTITUTIONAL DATA

Institutional data is information that supports the mission of Lenoir Rhyne University. Institutional data is considered a vital asset and is owned by the University. Due to the essential nature of institutional data, its quality and security must be ensured to comply with legal, regulatory, and administrative requirements. Authorization to access institutional data varies according to its sensitivity. This policy sets forth the university’s standards with regard to the handling and storing institutional data.

DEFINITIONS:

Archival/Storage: The act of physically or electronically moving inactive or other records to a storage location until the record retention requirements are met or until the records are needed again.

Institutional Data: Information that supports the mission of Lenoir Rhyne University.

Personally Identifiable Information (PII) or Sensitive Data: Data requiring the highest level of protection including, but not limited to, data protected by law, data protected by legal contracts, or security related data. It also includes data that is not open to public examination because it contains information which, if disclosed, could cause severe reputation, monetary or legal damage to individuals or the college or compromise public activities. Examples include: passwords, intellectual property, ongoing legal investigations, medical or grades information protected by FERPA or HIPAA, social security numbers, people code ID’s, birth dates, professional research, graduate student work, bank or credit card account numbers, income and credit history.

Restricted Data: Data whose access is restricted by federal or state statute (i.e. HIPPA, FERPA). For purposes of this policy, restricted data is a subset of PII data.

ARCHIVAL/STORAGE PROCEDURES:

Enterprise Resource Programs (ERP): The system(s) that maintain enterprise-wide institutional data that is considered PII and requires the greatest security. At all times, personnel should use internal identifiers in lieu of social security numbers. These systems include but are not limited to: PowerCAMPUS, PowerFAIDS, and Dynamics.

The ERP is backed up nightly to a back-up server that is also backed up nightly. The data is being backed up but not the entire database structure. OIT will be able to restore the data after the replacement and build of a new database server.

Electronic Mail (E-Mail): The E-mail system is a delivery system for electronic communication and is treated as Institutional Information.
E-Mail is backed up nightly and moved to a Storage Area Network that is backed up weekly to a server in a secondary data center. The mailbox stores are being backed up but not the entire Exchange environment. OIT will be able to restore the data after the replacement and building of a new Exchange server.

File Servers: The servers used to store all non-ERP related information that is vital to the mission of the University.

The File Server is backed up nightly to a server in a secondary data center.

Learning Asset Management Project (LAMP) – The portal that functions as the university’s learning management system.

LAMP is hosted by the Appalachian College Association, a consortium of 36 small, private liberal arts colleges and universities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains across five states (Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia).

LAMP is hosted off-site; therefore, no back-ups are maintained by Lenoir Rhyne University.

ACCESS CONTROLS

- Only authorized users may access, or attempt to access, sensitive information.
- Authorization for access to sensitive data comes from the appropriate Vice President or department head, and is made in conjunction with an authorization form which is found on the login screen to PowerCAMPUS.
- Where access to sensitive data has been authorized, use of such data shall be limited to the purpose required to perform university business.
- Users will respect the confidentiality and privacy of individuals whose records they access, observe ethical restrictions that apply to the information they access, and abide by applicable laws and policies with respect to accessing, using, or disclosing information.
- Notification of a user’s termination or removal of authorized access to electronic sensitive information must be conveyed immediately to the Office of Information Technology (OIT). The Office of Public Safety must be notified to remove physical access to offices containing sensitive information.

DATA TRANSFER OF PERSONALLY IDENTIFIABLE INFORMATION (PII)

- PII should not be transmitted through electronic messaging even to other authorized users unless security methods, such as encryption, are employed.
- PII must not be transferred by any method to persons who are not authorized to access that information. Users must ensure that adequate security measures are in place at each destination when sensitive data is transferred from one location to another.
- PII must not be taken off campus unless the user is authorized to do so, and only if encryption or other approved security precautions have been applied to protect that information.
- Physical protection from theft, loss, or damage must be utilized for mobile devices that can be easily moved such as a PDA, flash drive, thumb drive or laptop.
DATA STORAGE OF PII

- Physical protection must be employed for all devices storing PII. This shall include physical controls that limit physical access and viewing, if open to public view. When not directly in use, office, lab, and suite doors must be locked and any easily transportable devices should be secured in locked cabinets or drawers.

- Users of laptop and other mobile computing devices need to be particularly vigilant and take appropriate steps to ensure the physical security of mobile devices at all times, but particularly when traveling or working away from the University.

- It is strongly recommended that institutional data not be stored on PCs or other systems in offices or laboratories. Institutional data (including word documents, spreadsheets and Access databases) that is created on a PC or similar system should be stored on a networked server managed by OIT.

- Individual desktop machines are not being backed up by OIT.

DATA RETENTION AND DISPOSAL

This will be the responsibility of each Vice President, Department Head or designee to determine for each department, school or college at Lenoir Rhyne University.

MODIFICATION AND NOTIFICATION

This policy may be modified at any time in accordance with existing University practice and policy. Notification of this policy and any modification shall be through established University channels of policy information. Logging on to the University’s network constitutes acceptance of the policies, procedures, and sanctions herein.

APPLICATION AND ENFORCEMENT

This policy applies to all administrative and educational areas of the University. This policy applies to all employees and students of the University. This policy applies to anyone including guests of the university who access the University’s network (both wired and wireless) as well as any university owned computer.

JUDICIAL PROCESS FOR CASES OF ALLEGED MISUSE OF COMPUTING RESOURCES

If there is a preponderance of evidence that intentional or malicious misuse of computing resources has occurred, and if that evidence points to the computing activities or the computer files of an individual, OIT has the obligation to pursue any or all of the following steps to protect the user community:

- Take action to protect the systems and data from damage.

- Refer the matter for processing through the appropriate University judicial system.

- Suspend or restrict the alleged abuser’s computing privileges during the investigation and judicial processing. A user may appeal.

- Inspect the alleged abuser’s files.

- Disciplinary sanctions may include suspension, expulsion, or termination.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Faculty and students are reminded that computer-assisted plagiarism is still plagiarism. Unless specifically authorized by a class instructor, all the following uses of a computer are violations of the University’s guidelines for integrity code and are punishable as acts of plagiarism:

- Copying a computer file that contains another student’s assignment and submitting it as your own.
- Copying a computer file that contains another student’s assignment and using it as a model for your own assignment.
- Working together on an assignment, sharing the computer files or programs involved, and then submitting individual copies of the assignment as your own individual work.
- Knowingly allowing another student to copy or use of one of your computer files and to submit the file, or a modification thereof, as his or her individual work.

DRUG FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES ACT

In 1987, Lenoir-Rhyne University entered into affiliation with the network of colleges and universities committed to the elimination of drug and alcohol abuse. In doing so, the University committed itself to a policy which is consistent with federal, state, and local laws regarding the use of alcohol and illicit or controlled substances. Furthermore, the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1988 and Amendments of 1989 require that institutions of higher education adhere to “standards of conduct that clearly prohibit the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees on its property or as part of any of its activities.” (Federal Register, Vol. 5, N. 59, Page 17385).

The following North Carolina Statutes inform the College’s position on drug and alcohol use:

ALCOHOL: (N STATUTE 18B–302)

1. It shall be unlawful for a person less than 21-years-old to purchase, attempt to purchase, or possess malt beverages, wine, liquor or mixed beverages.
2. It shall be unlawful to sell or give malt beverages, wine, liquor, or mixed beverages to anyone less than 21-years-old.
3. It shall be unlawful for anyone to obtain or attempt to obtain alcoholic beverages by using a fraudulent or altered driver’s license or other ID; also by using driver’s license or other ID issued to another person.

CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES: (N STATUTE 90-95)

1. It is unlawful for any person to manufacture, sell or deliver, or possess with intent to manufacture to sell or deliver, or possess a controlled substance or counterfeit controlled substance.
2. It is unlawful for any person to knowingly use, possess, manufacture, or deliver drug paraphernalia (N Statute 90-113.22, 90-113.23) as defined in N Statute 90-113.21

PENALTIES

Lenoir-Rhyne University takes very seriously the possession, use, or sale of any controlled substance as well as violations of the laws regarding alcoholic beverages. The campus is not a sanctuary that relieves students or its employees of their responsibilities as citizens to abide by local, state and federal laws, nor college regulations, policies, and procedures.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student’s educational records within 45 days of the day Lenoir-Rhyne University receives a written request for access. Students should submit to the Registrar, Provost, head of the academic department, or other appropriate official, written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the university official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. The rights to request an amendment of the student’s education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading. Students may ask the University to amend a record they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write the university official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If Lenoir-Rhyne decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the University will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of their right to a hearing regarding the request of the amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when they are notified of their right to a hearing.

3. The right to consent and to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic, or research or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom the University has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Trustees; a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing their tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill their professional responsibility.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the requirements of FERPA at the following address: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 600 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington DC 20202-4605.

HARASSMENT
Members of the Lenoir-Rhyne University community are entitled to an academic or work environment free not only of discrimination, but also of any unwelcome solicitation or advances.
Lenoir-Rhyne University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment in which all members of the Lenoir-Rhyne University community—students, faculty, staff, and administrators—are treated with respect and dignity, free from verbal, sexual, or physical harassment. Faculty, administrators, staff, and students are responsible for maintaining an educational and working environment that is harmonious with the University’s mission of teaching. Harassment of any kind of any member of the Lenoir-Rhyne University community is illegal and destructive to that harmony, and such misconduct is a violation of university policy. It should be reported promptly so appropriate action may be taken by the university administration.

PHYSICAL ACCESSIBILITY FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES
It is the policy of Lenoir-Rhyne University to provide physical accessibility for people with disabilities whenever it is feasible to do so. In instances where events or services are not accessible because of physical barriers, every reasonable effort will be made to relocate the event or service to an accessible location. Examples of how access may be provided when an event or service is physically inaccessible are:

1. Reassigning a course to an accessible classroom if the original classroom is in an inaccessible location.

2. Providing a first floor residence hall room for a student who is unable to use stairs when stairs are the only means of accessing upper level floors.
3. Scheduling meetings with staff or faculty members whose offices are not physically accessible in a meeting area that is accessible. Accommodations for events and services for accessibility will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Any questions or concerns regarding campus accessibility may be directed to the Coordinator of Disability Services at 828-328-7296.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT

Sexual harassment is a form of unlawful discrimination. Sexual harassment includes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

1. Submission to or rejection of such conduct is used in decisions affecting employment or academic advancement.
2. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment.

Actions that can constitute sexual harassment may include the following:

1. The conditioning of employment benefits or participation in a class based on obtaining sexual favors.
2. Engaging in conduct of a sexual nature which creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive academic or work environment. This can include sexually oriented language and jokes, offensive physical contact, obscene messages and gestures, etc.
3. Punishing or threatening to punish a subordinate for refusal to comply with sexual demands.

Sexual harassment can involve teacher and student, teacher and teacher, student and student, supervisor and employee, co-workers and colleagues, particularly if one of those individuals is in a position of professional judgment over another. Sexual harassment is distinguished from voluntary sexual relationships by nature of advances or comments of a sexual nature being unwanted. The presence of the elements of coercion, threat, or hostility with unwanted sexual advancements clearly indicates harassment. Such behavior constitutes an offense which may lead to disciplinary action by Lenoir-Rhyne.

Individuals who feel they are being subjected to harassment should refer to the procedure detailed below. A prompt, thorough, confidential, and objective investigation will be conducted in the event of a formal complaint. Disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, will be taken if it is determined that sexual harassment has occurred.

This policy shall not be used to bring frivolous or malicious charges against students, employees, or agents of Lenoir-Rhyne. False accusations of sexual harassment can cause serious harm to innocent persons. Appropriate sanctions will be taken against persons who bring frivolous or malicious charges.

PROCEDURE FOR REDRESS OR HARASSMENT GRIEVANCE

Members of the University community, who feel they are being subjected to harassment, including sexual harassment, should attempt to resolve the issue informally with the person involved. If this is not successful, they should discuss the alleged harassment with the supervisor of the harassing person. If this is not successful, they should file a formal written complaint with the dean or vice president over the area of the harassing person. Students should contact the Dean of Students; faculty should contact the Provost; and staff should contact the Vice President for Administration and Finance for assistance.

NONDISCRIMINATION

Lenoir-Rhyne University is committed to providing equal employment and educational opportunities without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, disability or veteran status, unless permitted by law. The University complies with all applicable federal, state and local laws governing nondiscrimination in employment and education. This policy of equal opportunity extends to all aspects of employment, including, but not limited to, recruitment, hiring, training, promotion, transfer, reassignment, demotion, discipline, discharge, performance evaluation, compensation and benefits. In addition, the University adheres to this philosophy in its admissions policies and in the administration of its educational programs and activities.
ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

Each student and faculty member at Lenoir-Rhyne University is expected to exhibit conduct within the dictates of a Christian conscience and do what is right as a matter of choice rather than as a matter of compulsion.

Lenoir-Rhyne University, like every academic institution, has certain standards and policies adopted as guides for the conduct of general activities for both students and faculty members. These standards are outlined in the student and faculty handbooks. The University reserves the right to request the withdrawal of any student who fails in conduct or attitude to meet the regulations and policies adopted by the University.

It is the responsibility of each student to learn and follow the standards, policies, and regulations stated in the university catalog and student handbook. Students are responsible for fulfilling the requirements as outlined in the catalog in effect at the time of their first matriculation, unless their academic process has been interrupted.

The Institution is under the supervision of the Board of Trustees. The academic programs in all schools are governed by the faculty. The student government constitution is largely administered by the students themselves.

THE LENOIR-RHYNE STUDENT HONOR COMMITMENT AND STATEMENT OF ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

All students at Lenoir-Rhyne University are expected to know and agree to accept the following Lenoir-Rhyne University Student Honor Commitment and Statement of Academic Integrity:

A fundamental purpose of a liberal education is its attempt to cultivate in the student a sense of honor and high principles pertaining especially to academics, but extending to all areas of life. An inherent feature of Lenoir-Rhyne University is its commitment to an atmosphere of integrity and ethical conduct. As a student of Lenoir-Rhyne University, I accept as my personal responsibility the vigorous maintenance of honesty, truth, fairness, civility, and concern for others.

My devotion to integrity demands that I will not cheat in academic work and that I adhere to the established and required community code of conduct. I accept the responsibility for upholding the established standards against those who would violate them. And I understand and accept the consequences of infracting upon or assisting others in infracting upon this code. In addition to and beyond the requirements of any code or law, I affirm my own commitment to personal honor and integrity in all matters large and small. Even though the ideal of honor is an abstract one, by implementing this ideal, I join the men and women of Lenoir-Rhyne University in making the concept of honor a reality.

THE ACADEMIC INTEGRITY SYSTEM

All contributors to Lenoir-Rhyne University - students, faculty, staff, and administration - are charged to support and to cultivate the principles established in our honor commitment and statement of academic integrity. The Academic Integrity System promotes an educational community based upon honesty, personal and social responsibility, and honor. Each participant in this community must understand that it is his/her responsibility, individually and collectively, to uphold the values of academic integrity at Lenoir-Rhyne University and that all forms of dishonesty profoundly violate these values.

Lenoir-Rhyne seeks to cultivate continually a learning community in which integrity may flourish. To these ends, the University seeks to define academic dishonesty, establish standards and expectations of action, and to develop and utilize consistent and reasonable processes for adjudication of any violation of their values.
Violations of Academic Integrity

Violations of the Academic Integrity Statement fall under the jurisdiction of the University Judicial System and are subject to the rules and guidelines established in the Student Handbook.

The following offenses constitute academic integrity violations at Lenoir-Rhyne University:

A. Cheating:
   (1) Individual Cheating: To practice or attempt to practice dishonesty or deception in the taking of tests or in the preparation or submission of academic work purporting to be one’s own; to copy or attempt to copy from another person’s test, paper, or other graded work in a course; to use or to provide any notes or other prepared materials that a student is not permitted to consult during a testing period or to bring those materials into the testing area with the intent to use; to submit identical or near-identical papers or course work for credit in more than one course without prior permission of the instructor; to steal, deface, or destroy any research materials or technology that may deprive others of their use; to obstruct or interfere with another student’s academic work; to retain, possess, or circulate previously used exams or other assignments without the instructor’s permission.
   (2) Collusion (action taken by two (2) or more persons together to cheat): To allow another to copy one’s tests, papers, or other graded course work; to provide assistance to others in the preparation of graded course work without the express consent of the instructor; to aid or abet another person in an act of cheating.

B. Lying:
   Committing a forgery or uttering a statement known to be false or dishonest, orally or in writing, for the purpose of, or having the effect of, protecting or improving one’s grades in a course, or one’s academic record, or one’s academic standing; also, to make a statement known to be false or deceitful in a University Judicial proceeding or to protect another person from apprehension or punishment for a violation of academic integrity.

C. Plagiarizing:
   The act of willfully copying a sentence, several sentences, or a significant part of a sentence from any source, including Internet sites, that has been written by someone other than the person submitting the paper, and then neglecting to indicate through the use of quotation marks or blocking that the material has been copied; also, copying from another writer in such a way as to change one or two of the words in the sentence, or to rearrange the order of the wording, or to paraphrase, or to summarize information and then neglect to furnish documentation. Failure to cite sources when appropriate is a form of dishonesty.

D. Impeding an investigation:
   Falsifying information, or attempting to falsify information, or intimidating participants in an academic integrity investigation or hearing.

E. Any other actions that violate student regulations as outlined in The Cub (Student Handbook) or public statutes for the purpose of leading to or supporting an academic integrity violation will come under the jurisdiction of the University Judicial System.

Responsibility for Academic Integrity

The chief responsibility for student academic integrity at Lenoir-Rhyne University rests with the students. Additionally, every faculty member assumes the responsibility for upholding and assisting in administering the honor commitment. To manifest the fullest confidence in the integrity of Lenoir-Rhyne students, it is essential that faculty create an atmosphere of support for the Academic Integrity System. Instructors are expected to give clear directions regarding assignments, to maintain the integrity and security of examinations, to clarify expectations related to collaborative student work and/or any assignments using tutors, and to promote in all class assignments an atmosphere of mutual trust. Every faculty member is responsible for proctoring, or having proctored, quizzes, tests, and examinations. Students may not proctor a quiz, text, or examination for a class of which they are a member.

Students have a responsibility to ensure the integrity of their own work. If cheating, lying, or plagiarism is observed in an academic situation, a student should inform the faculty member, the Dean of Students, or the Office for Academic Affairs.

The faculty member may require that the student write a pledge on all work submitted in the course. If the professor makes no such demand, students may reinforce their commitment to high standards of academic integrity by writing the word PLEDGE and signing the work, or the student may write out a pledge and sign the work. An accepted form for a written pledge is: “I have neither given nor received unauthorized assistance on this work.”

Guide to Judicial Procedures

Confrontation

Any member of the Lenoir-Rhyne University community may confront a violation of the Honor Commitment and Statement of Academic Integrity if s/he believes there is information to support such a report. If a student or staff member believes a violation has occurred, s/he may:

- Inform the faculty member in whose class the alleged violation occurred;
- Urge that the individual confess the violation to the faculty member or other appropriate administrator.
- File an Incident Report Form with the faculty member in whose class the violation occurred or with the Office of the Dean of Students. Forms are available in the Office of the Dean of Students, the Office for Academic Affairs, and the various school administrative offices.

If a faculty member believes a violation of the Integrity Pledge has occurred, s/he should:

- Give the student an Incident Report Form for Academic Integrity Violations as notification that s/he is suspected of a violation and the meet with the student to give her/him an opportunity to accept or deny responsibility.
- At this meeting the faculty member may adjudicate the violation or inform the student of the faculty member’s intent to refer it for adjudication by the Student Conduct Council. Regardless of who adjudicates the incident, all documentation related to the incident including the Incident Report Form copies of the test/paper/project, a narrative of the situation, and other supporting materials should be sent to the Office of the Dean of Students.

A copy of the Incident Report should also be provided to the Office for Academic Affairs. A student’s violation of the Academic Integrity system always must be reported to the Office of the Dean of Students and the Office for Academic Affairs.

Fact-Finding and Adjudication

When faced with a possible violation of academic integrity, the faculty member has two potential approaches in the adjudication of the action. He/she may address the matter directly or may refer the matter to the Student Conduct Council for consideration. Regardless of which approach is taken, unless otherwise noted, all rights and responsibilities outlined in this handbook are applicable.

Faculty Member as Adjudicator

If the faculty member chooses to adjudicate the incident, s/he will follow the procedures listed below:

1. If the student accepts responsibility, the faculty member may determine sanctions and communicate a response (skip to #7 below).
2. If the student denies responsibility, the faculty member will conduct an Inquiry, in which he/she will determine the student’s responsibility and appropriate sanction. At the meeting to report findings from the Inquiry, both the student and the faculty member are permitted to have one other person at the session, who may observe only. (This participation is limited to faculty, staff, and student members of the university community whose names are communicated to the faculty member at least 24 hours prior to the meeting. No representation by attorney or any other outside person is permitted.)
3. During the Inquiry report, all documentation/materials related to the incident will be reviewed. This includes the definitions of academic dishonesty outlined in the Academic Integrity System, tests, papers, correspondence, or other paperwork pertinent to a determination of responsibility.

4. The student may respond to the allegation, address documentation and clarify or add other information for consideration.

5. The faculty member will determine if the student is responsible for the violation. After all information has been discussed, the faculty member may excuse the student for a few minutes in order to determine an appropriate judicial response, or the faculty member may require the student to return for a second meeting at which time the judicial response will be communicated. The faculty member may determine that a student is responsible for conduct when he/she determines that a preponderance of the evidence supports the conclusion that it is “more likely than not” that the student engaged in the misconduct.

6. If the student is found responsible, the faculty member will identify an appropriate sanction, as outlined in the section below.

7. The faculty member will communicate his or her decision verbally and in a follow-up letter that includes a description of the Appeal Process (see below). This letter must be sent within 48 hours of the initial communication of the decision to the student.

8. All documentation (including a copy of all correspondence, a completed Incident Report Form, the faculty member’s summary, copies of assignments, and any other materials used to determine responsibility and response) will be sent to the Office of the Dean of Students to be maintained in the student’s file. A copy of the Incident Report should be provided to the Office for Academic Affairs at the same time.

Student Conduct Council as Adjudicator

If the faculty member decides to refer the incident to the Student Conduct Council (SCC) to adjudicate, it will follow the procedures listed below:

1. Within 48 hours of meeting with the accused, the faculty member will refer the Incident Report Form to the Office of the Dean of Students, who will refer the report to the Chief Judicial Officer. The accused student will be provided a designee from the Judicial Affairs Office to assist and answer any questions about the judicial process. No representation by attorney is permitted.

2. The Judicial Affairs Officer shall furnish a notice of the time and place of the hearing to the parties involved (accused student and the filer of the report) and to the appropriate members of the Court at least four (4) days in advance.

3. Normally, all cases must be heard within ten (10) class days upon return of the Incident Report Form to the accuser by the faculty member. Exceptions to this deadline may be allowed if deemed necessary by the Judicial Affairs Officer.

4. Persons who may attend the inquiry are the filer of the report, the accused student, the faculty member in whose class the incident occurred, others with information pertinent to the incident, SCC members, and other impartial observer(s) at the discretion of the Council. The inquiry will be audiotape recorded for the use in the appeals process, if needed. The Office of the Dean of Students keeps these tapes.

5. Judicial proceedings of the SCC shall be closed to the University community unless an open hearing is specifically requested and agreed upon by both parties involved.

6. The Chair of the Council shall preside and open the inquiry with an explanation of procedures and purpose. He/she shall read the Incident Report Form aloud.

7. Accused, Accuser, and their witnesses will be required to swear or affirm that their testimony will be true and honest before it is presented to the SCC.

8. Both parties shall be given an opportunity to present evidence in the form of materials, oral testimony, papers or witnesses.

9. Members of the Council shall have the opportunity to question those persons appearing before the Council.

10. When there has been sufficient discussion of the case, members of the Council shall meet in private session to consider the case.

11. Once the proceedings have been completed and the judicial body has met for the specific purpose of making a final decision, a recess shall not be called until a decision has been reached.

12. In the Student Conduct Council, a majority decision shall be required for the determination of responsibility. Each member of the Council may determine that a student is responsible for conduct when he/she assesses that a preponderance of the evidence supports the conclusion. A preponderance of the evidence exists when the evidence supports the conclusion that it is “more likely than not” that the student engaged in the misconduct.

13. If an individual is found responsible, a sanction shall be assigned by a majority vote of the Council. The SCC may draw upon the listing of possible sanctions as outlined below. Every attempt shall be made to assign sanctions according to the particular circumstances of each case.

14. After the SCC has reached its decision, the participants previously recessed shall be recalled and shall be informed of the decision and the assigned sanction, if any. If the accused is found responsible, the appeals process will be explained.

15. The absence of the Accused from a hearing shall be considered an admission of responsibility.

16. Details pertaining to SCC hearings and decisions are confidential.

17. If the SCC concludes that a student has been involved in an academic integrity violation, the Office for Academic Affairs and the Office of the Dean of Students must be notified, in writing, of the violation within three (3) days of the actual hearing.

18. If, upon notification and review, it is determined that the person has been previously found responsible for a major violation of academic integrity, along with the sanctions imposed in this particular case, he/she may be expelled from the University at the discretion of the Provost. This decision shall be reported to the student, in writing, no more than one week after the SCC’s decision.

Sanctions

One of the fundamental principles of integrity is the willingness to assume responsibility for inappropriate actions. For this reason, the University may consider with varying degrees of favor one’s willingness to accept voluntarily responsibility for violations of the Academic Integrity code in the determination of sanctions.

The following sanctions may be imposed by the University Judicial System (faculty member of SCC) for violations of academic integrity at Lenoir-Rhyne University:

A. A person who accepts responsibility or is found responsible for a violation of academic integrity in which the circumstances do not merit the imposition of a grade of “F” in a course (e.g., a minor first offense) may receive the penalty of academic integrity probation. He/she may also receive a failing grade on the particular assignment under review, if deemed appropriate by the faculty member of the SCC.

B. A person who accepts responsibility or is found responsible for a major first violation of academic integrity in a course may be dropped from the course with a grade of “F” and may be subject to an additional penalty including suspension or expulsion, depending on the magnitude of the offense.

C. A person who accepts responsibility or is found responsible for a violation of academic integrity in which the circumstances do not permit the imposition of a grade of “F” in a course (e.g., a charge against a student not enrolled in a particular course) may receive a penalty ranging from academic integrity probation to suspension or expulsion, depending on the magnitude of the offense.

D. A person who accepts responsibility or is found responsible for an additional violation of academic integrity after having been found responsible for a previous offense may be expelled from the University at the discretion of the Provost and a grade of “F” shall be entered for any courses in which a violation occurred.
Definition of Sanctions
A. Academic Integrity Probation extends from the time of conviction to graduation. Any further conviction may result in suspension or expulsion.
B. Academic Integrity Suspension is the immediate involuntary withdrawal of a student from the University for a time specified by the University Judicial System. The time must be at least one grading period during the academic year. Notation of this penalty shall be maintained on the student’s permanent academic transcript.
C. Academic Integrity Expulsion is the immediate permanent withdrawal of a student from the University. Notation of this penalty shall be maintained on the student’s permanent academic transcript.

FX Grade
The grade of FX denotes a violation of Lenoir-Rhyne University’s Academic Integrity Code that is egregious enough to warrant the sanction of both failure of the course and notation of the incident on the student’s permanent academic record. This sanction is reserved for only the most serious offenses and would be applied in cases of pre-meditated, significant, and clear violation of the University’s Academic Integrity Code. The FX grade will be treated like an F grade in the student’s grade point average. Any use of the FX grade will be reviewed by the Provost.

An FX grade may be changed to an F grade on the student’s transcript in a subsequent semester before graduation by order of the Provost after the student has met the following requirements:

- The student retakes the course in which the FX was received and successfully completes it with a passing grade; if the course is not offered before the student intends to graduate, the student may request a waiver of this expectation from the Provost.
- The student has no subsequent recorded violations of the Academic Integrity Code.
- The student furnishes the Provost with a written justification requesting the removal of the FX grade.

Any additional academic integrity violations by the student after receiving an FX grade will constitute grounds for immediate and permanent expulsion from the University.

Appeal
If an individual who is found responsible for violations of the academic integrity wishes to make appeal, the appeal form must be completed and filed with the Office of the Dean of Students within seventy-two (72) hours after the date in which the student receives the letter indicating responsibility and sanctions (or 72 hours after receiving notification from the Office for Academic Affairs of suspension or expulsion).

One’s right to seek appeal does not necessarily imply that an appeals hearing will be held. When an Appeal is filed, the basis or bases of the appeal must be indicated. There are four bases for appeal:

- The evidence did not warrant the decision;
- The decision did not warrant the sanction;
- Proper procedures were not followed that may have had a bearing on the decision;
- There was possible bias/prejudice on the part of one or more of the hearing officers that may have had a bearing on the decision.

The Dean of Students will review the validity of the appeals request. In order for an appeal to be considered valid, the student or faculty member must explain how his/her reasons for appealing have the potential to change the original finding by the SCC or by the faculty member who adjudicated the incident. Appeals without warrant will be denied; if there are no grounds under the criteria listed above for the appeal, additional consideration will be denied. If the Dean of Students views the request as possessing potential validity, the appeal shall be forwarded, with all evidentiary materials, to the Provost.

It is not the purpose of the appeals process to rehear fully the proceedings of the original incident. In determining the outcome of the appeal (regarding the decision and/or the sanctions), an appellate body will rely upon a “reasonable person” standard: were the original decisions and/or sanctions imposed by the faculty member or the SCC conclusions that could be reached by a reasonable person, applying appropriate diligence and community standards, and reaching a proper standard of proof (i.e., preponderance of evidence standard)?

During the appeals inquiry, the Provost will review all evidence from the faculty member’s Incident Report Form and documents and/or the materials from the SCC hearing. The appellant will be permitted to present his/her reasons for appeal. The Provost may ask any questions of the appellant he/she believes to be relevant to the appeal.

Upon completion of appeals inquiry, the Provost may select one of the following courses of action:

- Reverse the decision of the SCC or faculty member.
- Uphold the decision but reduce the sanction (if any).
- Uphold the decision but make the sanction (if any) more severe.
- Uphold the decision and leave the sanction (if any) unchanged.

The Provost may not remand the incident to the original decision venue for reconsideration. He/she will report the decision to the student in writing within 48 hours of the determination. The Provost may reveal his/her reasoning for the decision but is not required to do so.

If the student or the faculty member involved believes that grounds for appeal of the Provost’s decision is in order, s/he must put such grounds in written form and deliver the written appeal to the chair of the University Judicial Board within 72 hours of receipt of the decision. All relevant materials from the previous hearing/inquiry of the SCC and/or faculty member shall be forwarded to the chair of the Judicial Review Board.

The chair of the Judicial Review Board shall examine the basis for the appeal and determine its validity. The chair shall decide either to uphold the decision of the Provost or to convene the Judicial Review Board to review the prior decisions. In case of suspensions or expulsions, the Judicial Review Board will automatically convene to review the appeal.

The Judicial Review Board may follow one of the four courses of action:

- Reverse the decision of the Provost.
- Uphold the decision but reduce the sanction (if any).
- Uphold the decision but make the sanction (if any) more severe.
- Uphold the decision and leave the sanction (if any) unchanged.

A student who files an Appeal must receive a final decision within two weeks of the filing date, barring extenuating circumstances. The Chair shall provide to the parties in the appeal a written notification of the decision. The decision of the Judicial Review Board is final.

An appellate (student or faculty member) may withdraw an Appeal at any time prior to the beginning of a scheduled hearing.

ACADEMIC STANDARD REQUIREMENTS

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

In compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Lenoir- Rhyne University regards student records as private. Personally identifiable information and educational records will be released according to FERPA guidelines.

Unless a student requests in writing to the contrary, the University is permitted to release the following types of information without consent: Name, address and telephone number of the student, name and address of the parent(s), date and place of birth, major and degree, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, dates of attendance, honors and awards, and previous educational institutions.

GRADES

Grading in individual courses is the prerogative of the course instructor who will at the beginning of each term notify the students of the grading standards for each course.
At mid-term and at the end of each semester, grade reports containing all information deemed necessary are available for students via myLR online. Academic records may be withheld for failure to satisfy financial or other responsibilities on campus.

Course grades are averaged on a grade point average scale with the following values assigned to each letter grade:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Points per Semester Hour</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.0</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

To compute a grade point average, a student must multiply the credits for the course by point values for each grade received, total and divide that total by the number of hours (graded courses) taken. An average of 4.00 would indicate the student received all A's, 3.00 a B average, 2.00 a C average, 1.00 a D average and below .70 is failing work.

INCOMPLETE GRADES

Students may be given an incomplete grade "I" if, because of sickness or other extreme necessity, some specific portion of their work remains unfinished, provided they are passing the course.

Students receiving a grade of "I" in a fall semester course must make up the deficiency before the following March 15; for an "I" received in a spring semester or Summer Session course, students must make up the deficiency before the following October 15. After these dates, the grade automatically changes to "F". Any grade adjustments resulting from completion of additional coursework must be completed within one year of the original posting of the incomplete grade. After this point the final grade will remain an "F." The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee may require that a student remove an incomplete grade during the summer in order to remain enrolled. If the student receiving the grade of "I" is not enrolled the following semester, the grade will become an "F" after one additional semester. Instructors are not expected to allow students to make up work if the student has been out of school more than one year. The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee’s decisions are based on the academic record at the end of each semester. Incomplete grades are viewed as credits not officially earned, and any academic action stands for the following semester, even if the incomplete grades are completed.

FX GRADE

The grade of FX denotes a violation of Lenoir-Rhyne University’s Academic Integrity Code that is egregious enough to warrant the sanction of both failure of the course and notation of the incident on the student’s permanent academic record. This sanction is reserved for only the most serious offenses and would be applied in cases of premeditated, significant, and clear violation of the University’s Academic Integrity Code. The FX grade will be treated like an F grade in the student's grade point average. Any use of the FX grade will be reviewed by the Provost.
GRADE REPEATS

Students may repeat a course in which they received a grade of less than “C.” Special permission must be secured from the University Registrar to repeat a course in which a grade of “C” or better has been earned. All grades received are recorded on the permanent record, but only the grade received on the last attempt will be used in computing the grade point average. Students may repeat a maximum of 18 credits for grade substitution. If a course is repeated more than once, all repeated attempts would count toward the 18 credits allowed. For students who repeat more than 18 credits, only the first eighteen credits will be considered for grade substitution.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

In order to demonstrate satisfactory academic progress students must meet the following criteria:

- Full-time students must pass at least nine (9) credits each regular semester.
- Full-time students must meet minimum standards for credits earned and GPA as reflected in the following chart.
- Full-time students must not fall below a semester GPA of 2.0 after the fourth semester.
- Part-time students taking more than one course each regular semester must pass one-half of the credits attempted.

Students not meeting standards for Satisfactory Academic Progress are subject to Academic Probation or Academic Suspension.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

The main responsibility for satisfactory academic progress rests with the students. Additionally, the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee enforces criteria for satisfactory academic progress. Faculty will administer grades at the mid-point and end of each academic semester for each student enrolled in a particular course. However, it is the responsibility of the student to ascertain their current academic standing in any class in which they are enrolled.

Student academic records and progress will not be discussed with any other person outside of faculty and staff of Lenoir-Rhyne University, including parents, unless a Student Disclosure Waiver is on file in the Registrar's Office (see Student Disclosure Waiver below).

In addition to University requirements for satisfactory academic progress, some academic programs have additional academic requirements that students must meet in order to continue in these programs. These additional requirements supersede University requirements for continuation in these particular programs. Students not meeting these additional academic requirements may be removed from these particular programs. However, removal from a program does not necessarily mean removal from the University. As long as the University standards for satisfactory academic progress are met, a student may remain enrolled at Lenoir-Rhyne University.

Part-time students are subject to the same cumulative GPA criteria as full-time students in determining Satisfactory Academic Progress and should follow all listed requirements and definitions regarding procedures for Academic Probation and Suspension. However, part-time students are not subject to cumulative hours-earned criteria as reflected in the Satisfactory Academic Progress chart.
ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

ACADEMIC PROBATION AND SUSPENSION

Any student, who fails to meet minimum standards for cumulative GPA, cumulative credits passed, or semester credits passed, is subject to Academic Probation or Academic Suspension.

Lenoir-Rhyne University requires students to have a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 in order to graduate. Lenoir-Rhyne has also established minimum criteria for satisfactory academic progress based on the number of semesters a student has been enrolled, the number of attempted credit hours, and the number of credit hours earned at Lenoir-Rhyne. The criteria can be found in the table above. Any student whose earned credits and cumulative average fail to meet the required criteria may be placed on Academic Probation or Suspension. Full-time students who pass less than nine credits in any semester are subject to Academic Suspension. Part-time students who take more than one course in a semester, and who pass less than one-half of the semester hours attempted, are subject to Academic Suspension.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

Full-time students who are not in compliance with Satisfactory Academic Progress standards listed above are subject to Academic Probation. Students placed on Academic Probation are expected to comply with all terms of Academic Probation. Students placed on Academic Probation will be monitored by the Office of Student Success and Retention and should work closely with this office as well as their Faculty advisor to ensure that they comply with all terms of their probation.

Students on Probation who fail to meet criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress are subject to one additional semester of Academic Probation or Academic Suspension. Determination of continued Academic Probation or Academic Suspension is the responsibility of the Faculty Committee for Admissions and Academic Standing.

Students placed on Academic Probation may not appeal the decision.

ACADEMIC SUSPENSION

Full-time students who fail to meet criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress and/or the terms of their Academic Probation are subject to Academic Suspension. Academic Suspension requires that the student must not be enrolled at Lenoir-Rhyne University for one full Academic semester (not including summer).

Students placed on Academic Suspension may be subject to loss or reduction of Financial Aid (see Satisfactory Academic Progress and Financial Aid).

A full-time student facing Academic Suspension at the conclusion of the spring semester may be allowed to enroll in summer school at Lenoir-Rhyne University. If so, the student will be allowed to enroll in up to nine credits of summer school. If that student meets the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress by the conclusion of the second summer session, the student will be permitted to register for the fall semester but will remain on Academic Probation for the following semester. If the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress are not met but the student shows signs of significant academic improvement, the committee may permit the student to continue for one additional semester on Academic Probation. If the student chooses not to attend summer school the student will be subject to the punitive effects of Academic Suspension. Summer credits, both at Lenoir-Rhyne and outside institutions, must be preapproved by the Registrar’s Office.

A student who wishes to continue study at Lenoir-Rhyne University after a one-semester period of Academic Suspension must notify the Office of Student Success and Retention for readmission criteria and procedures. Continuation of study is allowed only if all conditions of suspension have been met as determined by the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee. A student who wishes to continue study at Lenoir-Rhyne University after a two-semester period of Academic Suspension must apply for re-admission to Lenoir-Rhyne University through the Division of Enrollment Management.

Students continuing study after Academic Suspension will continue on Academic...
Probation until minimum standards under the prescribed Satisfactory Academic Progress Chart are obtained, and are subject to all of the terms of Academic Probation.

EXPULSION

Full-time students who have been on Academic Suspension and are subsequently permitted to continue study but continue to perform below the criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress may be expelled. The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee may expel a student when it becomes mathematically impossible to meet the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress to graduate from Lenoir-Rhyne University and/or the student has attempted more than 24 credit hours more than required for graduation in their program and all repeat hours (18 total) are exhausted.

APPEAL OF ADMISSIONS AND ACADEMIC STANDING COMMITTEE ACTION

The institution recognizes that exceptional circumstances occasionally require consideration. The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee reserves the right to place any student on Academic Probation, Academic Suspension, or Expulsion at the conclusion of any semester. The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee further reserves the right to consider exceptional circumstances in decisions concerning removal of Academic Suspension status. In addition, students must appeal any loss or reduction of Financial Aid due to their Academic status separately from their appeal of Academic Suspension.

Notification concerning the Appeal process will be distributed to the student via their Lenoir-Rhyne email address and their permanent address of record following the decision of the committee to place the student on Academic Suspension. Students should read all available materials carefully.

Students placed on Academic Probation may not appeal the decision.

The details of the appeal process and deadline for submitting appeals of Academic Suspension are indicated in the letter of Academic Suspension sent to the students Lenoir-Rhyne email address and the permanent address of record. Appeals received after the deadline will not be reviewed by the committee. The decision following the appeal process is final.

Before any campus representative may talk to a student’s parent or guardian, the Student Disclosure waiver must be signed by the student and be on file in the Registrar’s Office. The student must sign and date the waiver and send a copy, either by fax (828-328-7368) or mail (Office of the Registrar, Lenoir-Rhyne University, Box 7291, Hickory, NC, 28603) before the deadline for the receipt of appeals. Copies of the Student Disclosure waiver are available in the Registrar’s Office and online. Students must complete the appeals process related to suspension as outlined in the letter of Academic Suspension. Students should keep a copy of all responses regarding the appeal that they submit. Appeals of Academic Suspension must be submitted:

By email: Bracketts@LR.edu
Attention: Director of Student Success and Retention

NOTIFICATION OF COMMITTEE DECISION REGARDING APPEAL OF ACADEMIC SUSPENSION

Students who appeal their Academic Suspension will be notified by email and by mail of the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee’s decision regarding their appeal. Email notification will be sent within 24 hours of the committee meeting and the official letter will be sent within 36 hours of committee meeting. The date for committee appeal decisions is included in the original letter of Academic Suspension.

RESULTS OF APPEALING ACADEMIC SUSPENSION

The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee may either uphold the original suspension or rescind the suspension.
If the original suspension is rescinded, the student may continue as a student at Lenoir-Rhyne on Academic Probation during the following academic semester subject to all terms of Academic Probation (see Academic Probation). Students who have their Academic Suspension rescinded must also register for classes. They will not be allowed to register until they meet with a representative of the Office of Academic Affairs to review the terms of Academic Probation.

If the suspension is upheld, the student must sit out the following academic semester at Lenoir-Rhyne University. A full-time student facing Academic Suspension at the conclusion of the spring semester may be allowed to enroll in summer school at Lenoir-Rhyne University. If so, the student will be allowed to enroll in up to nine credits in summer school. If that student attains the needed GPA by the conclusion of the second session and/or shows signs of significant academic improvement, the student may be permitted to register for fall semester courses at the discretion of the committee. If the necessary GPA and/or significant progress is not obtained, or if the student chooses not to attend summer school at Lenoir-Rhyne University, the student may not attend fall semester. Summer school credits must be pre-approved by the Registrar.

APPLICATION FOR READMISSION FOLLOWING SUSPENSION OR RESCINDING OF ORIGINAL SUSPENSION

A student who wishes to continue study at Lenoir-Rhyne University after a one-semester period of Academic Suspension must notify the Office of Student Success and Retention for readmission criteria and procedures. Continuation of study is allowed only if all conditions of suspension have been met as determined by the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee. A student who wishes to continue study at Lenoir-Rhyne University after a two-semester period of Academic Suspension must apply for re-admission to Lenoir-Rhyne University through the Division of Enrollment Management. Readmission determinations are the responsibility of the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee. Students who are expelled may not apply for re-admission.

While on suspension, students are strongly encouraged to enroll in college-level courses at an accredited institution to show intent for progress to the committee. These courses must be approved by the University Registrar prior to enrollment. Transcripts for work taken during the period of suspension must be included with the Application for Readmission. Approval of transfer work does not guarantee readmission to the University.

Students will be notified whether their applications for readmission have been approved or denied by a representative of the Division of Enrollment Management. If the application for readmission is approved, the student may enroll in classes at Lenoir-Rhyne University on Academic Probation (see Academic Probation above). If the application for readmission is denied, students will not be allowed to enroll in courses for the following semester at Lenoir-Rhyne University.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS AND FINANCIAL AID

Students placed on Academic Probation or Academic Suspension or who otherwise fail to meet the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress and Financial Aid may be subject to a loss or reduction of Financial Aid.

Lenoir-Rhyne must follow Federal Guidelines when awarding financial aid. Full-time students who fail to meet the guidelines listed on the Satisfactory Academic Progress chart may be ineligible to receive federal and/or state financial aid and subject to a 20% reduction in institutional (Lenoir-Rhyne University) aid. Loss of eligibility for both federal and institutional aid will continue until the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress and Financial Aid are met.

A student who loses federal or institutional financial aid may appeal to the Director of Enrollment Services in the Division of Enrollment Management.

Appeals for the loss of federal and/or institutional financial aid must be appealed separately from any appeal of Academic Suspension.
The deadline for appeals will be sent to any student who loses Federal or Institutional financial aid at their permanent address of record along with a detailed description of the appeals process and all necessary documentation.

Any appeal received after the deadline will not be considered by the committee. Any student appealing the loss of Federal or Institutional financial aid should do the following:

Submit a typewritten letter detailing the nature of appeal and any extenuating circumstances that may have hindered the meeting of the Criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress and Financial Aid. Extenuating circumstances must be documented. This documentation should be attached to the appeal letter.

Appeals of Loss of Federal and Institutional Financial Aid must be submitted either:

By email: Eric.Brandon@lr.edu
By fax: 828-328-7039
Attention: Director of Enrollment Services - Financial Aid
By mail: Director of Enrollment Services - Financial Aid
Lenoir-Rhyne University, PO Box 7227, Hickory, NC 28603

ADVISOR

Each student at Lenoir-Rhyne University is assigned an academic faculty advisor from the school of the student’s major. Students who have not yet declared a major will be assigned to an advisor from a special group of faculty. Students are encouraged to seek the counsel of their advisors concerning matters related to their academic program each semester as a part of the registration process. Academic advisors may evaluate students’ situations and, if necessary, refer students to other campus counseling personnel or other resources for specific advice and information.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Students are expected to attend classes and laboratories as specified by the instructor, who will state his or her attendance policy in writing at the beginning of the semester. No allowed number of absences is automatically granted to a student. Ordinarily, a student will not receive credit if 25% of the scheduled class meetings are missed.

Absences can only be excused by the professor of the course. Students absent from classes while representing the University, such as athletic teams or musical groups, are expected to be given the opportunity to complete missed work. Students who know in advance of certain absences should clear those absences and complete any work which will be missed prior to the absence.

The instructor may warn a student who has more absences than seem reasonable. Additional absences by the student may result in a request by the Provost to exclude the student from the class. Unexcused absences may result in the reduction of the student’s grade. Each faculty member has the prerogative of determining whether or not a student may miss the last class meeting before a holiday or the first meeting after a holiday and may effect a reduction in grade or assign additional work to the student who misses those classes.

The student who is absent from an announced quiz or examination, unless excused for cause (participation in recognized college activities, illness, or emergencies), may not be permitted to make up the quiz or examination.

WAITING FOR THE INSTRUCTOR: Students are expected to wait for the course instructor for at least 15 minutes.

CLASSIFICATION

The first-year student becomes a sophomore upon successful completion of two semesters and at least 28 semester hours of credit. The junior has completed four semesters and earned at least 60 semester hours; the senior has completed six semesters and earned at least 92 semester hours.
THE CONVOCATION EXPERIENCE

Lenoir-Rhyne University’s convocation experience is designed to meet the various goals of the institution’s mission through educational opportunities beyond the traditional classroom. As a graduation requirement for all students enrolled full-time in the day program, these diverse experiences promote life-long habits of learning and reinforce Lenoir-Rhyne’s unique mission to develop the whole person, to liberate mind and spirit, to clarify personal faith, to foster physical wholeness, to build a sense of community, and to promote responsible leadership for service in the world.

Students meet convocation requirements through verified attendance at a series of convocation events and/or through verified participation in other experiences approved by Lenoir-Rhyne to meet these requirements. In total, a student must complete nine “experiences” during the academic year. Students are required to attend the President’s opening convocation and the final Honors convocation and to participate in at least seven (7) other experiences among a variety of lectures, fine arts productions, workshops, student activities, and other events. In meeting convocation requirements, these events may not carry any credits toward meeting other academic requisites. These additional experiences must be satisfied by completing at least seven events each year, including at least one experience from five of the following seven categories:

1. Intellectual Development
2. Creative Development/Expression
3. Cultural Development
4. Personal/professional Development
5. Physical Development
6. Spiritual Development
7. Community Service.

If a student misses either of the required opening or final honors convocation, three additional convocation requirements each will be accrued and added to the following year’s requirements. (If a student intends to graduate during the semester or academic year in which the convocations are missed the accrued requirements must be completed before graduation.) Should a student not complete the event choice experiences required, additional convocation requirements will be accrued equal to the number of experiences not completed and will be applied to the proceeding academic year.

If during an academic year a student is full time only one semester, the convocation requirements are the four (4) convocations, chosen from at least three different categories, and either the opening or honors convocation. Absence from the required opening or honors convocation due to illness or other extenuating circumstance must be verified by official documentation and approved by the Office for Academic Affairs.

Convocation dates are provided to students at the beginning of each semester and updated regularly throughout the semester on the University website.

Any additional required academic credit hours toward graduation accrued by a student under the previous convocation system (through Spring 2010) will remain.

COURSE DESIGNATION

Undergraduate courses are numbered at the 100, 200, 300, and 400-level. Graduate courses are numbered 500 and 600-level.

COURSE LOAD

Students must carry at least 12 hours each semester to be considered full-time students. An average of 16 hours per semester is needed to graduate within the normal period. Students enrolling in more than 16 hours as a first-year or more than 18 hours as a Sophomore, Junior or Senior must obtain approval from the Registrar. Forms for requesting overloads are available from the Registrar’s Office. Students must pay an additional fee (the current per-credit-hour rate for part-time students) for each credit hour taken beyond eighteen hours. No student with a GPA below 2.5 will be allowed to take overload hours.
DEAN’S & PRESIDENT’S LIST

DEAN’S LIST
In recognition of high academic achievement, a Dean’s List is announced each semester. The Dean’s List is composed of students with a grade point average of 3.50 to 3.89, provided no grade is below a “C” and the student carried at least 12 hours of letter-graded courses. Students with incomplete grade(s) at the end of the semester are not eligible for the Dean’s List.

PRESIDENT’S LIST
In recognition of highest academic achievement, the President’s List is announced each semester. The President’s List is composed of students with a grade point average of 3.90 or better, provided no grade is below a “C” and provided the student carried at least 12 hours of letter-graded courses. Students with incomplete grade(s) at the end of the semester are not eligible for the President’s List.

GRADUATION
To graduate from Lenoir-Rhyne University, students must complete a minimum of 128 credits with the last 32 earned at Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students transferring from two year institutions must complete a minimum of 64 credits including at least one-half of the major requirements at Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students transferring from a four-year institution must complete a minimum of 12 credits in the major and the last 32 credits at Lenoir-Rhyne University.

All students must earn a major and cumulative grade point average of 2.00 and complete all core and major course requirements. The major grade point average includes courses taken in the major field (except those specifically excluded from counting towards the major) and all courses required for the major even though the courses may be in another field.

One requirement is successful evidence of ENG 131 writing competency standards. Also some programs require students to take a comprehensive assessment examination in their major field of study. This examination will be taken in students’ final semester and will be administered by the programs.

APPLICATION FOR DEGREE FORM
During spring semester of the junior year, the student must complete an application for degree form in the Registrar’s Office or on-line. This form requests information needed to conduct the degree audit and print the diploma. Failure to complete this form could mean a delay in receiving the diploma and omission from graduation exercises.

GRADUATION ATTENDANCE
Degrees will not be granted in absentia except by special authorization of the Provost on behalf of the faculty. Students seeking such authorization must petition the Provost in writing well in advance of the graduation date. Students who complete all requirements for graduation at the end of the fall semester will participate in the December commencement ceremony. Students who complete all degree requirements in the summer term are also invited to participate in the December ceremony. Students who complete all requirements for graduation in the spring semester will participate in the May commencement ceremony. Students who complete all degree requirements in the fall semester, but wish to participate in the May commencement ceremony must inform the Registrar of their intentions early in the fall semester and must register for at least one course at Lenoir-Rhyne University during the spring semester.

GRADUATION HONORS
The graduating senior who earns the highest grade point average receives First Honors; the senior who earns the next highest grade point average receives Second Honors. In each case, the grade point average cannot be lower than 3.40. A senior with a grade point average from 3.40 to 3.59 will graduate cum laude; with a grade-point average from 3.60 to 3.89 will graduate magna cum laude; with a grade point average of 3.90 or more, summa cum laude.
To qualify for graduation with honors, a student must earn a minimum of 64 semester hours in graded courses at Lenoir-Rhyne University.

MAJOR FIELD REQUIREMENTS

Each degree candidate selects a major field of study and completes a minimum of 30 credits in the major with a minimum grade point average of 2.0. Students must declare a major by or during the spring semester of their sophomore year. The specific courses required within each major are listed on the following pages with descriptions of the majors and the courses. Upon approval of the student’s advisor and respective School Chair, course substitutions may be made for major course requirements.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Students may select an academic minor(s) in areas other than the major field. Successful completion of at least 18 credits with a minimum of 2.0 grade point average is required. Transfer students must complete at least six credits in their minor at Lenoir-Rhyne University.

SECOND LENOIR-RHYNE BACCALAUREATE DEGREE

A student with a baccalaureate degree from Lenoir-Rhyne University may receive a second baccalaureate degree provided it is in a different major. The student must meet major requirements as outlined in the catalog in effect at the time of readmission for the second degree. In addition, a minimum of 32 semester hours, beyond the completion for the first degree and major, must be completed in residence at Lenoir-Rhyne University. Upon recommendation of the advisor and approval of the Provost, courses taken during the first degree and not used to satisfy requirements of that degree may be used for the second baccalaureate degree.

INSTITUTIONAL CREDIT

Institutional credit is awarded for MAT 090 and MUS 090, but does not count toward hours earned or the 128 credits required for graduation. Institutional credit is counted toward academic progress, financial aid, grade point average, and NCAA requirements.

REGISTRATION OF COURSES

ADDING, DROPPING, WITHDRAWING

1. Drop/Add Policy

   Students may change their course schedule during the first five calendar days of each term with advisor approval. A course that is dropped during this period will not be listed on the transcript. Students in courses that meet only once per week may change their schedules at any time during the first two weeks of the term. Courses may not be added after the first week of term without instructor approval.

   It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the appropriate paperwork is completed and filed when dropping or adding a course. Appropriate forms may be obtained from the faculty advisor or the Registrar’s Office. Failure to complete the entire drop process could result in the grade of ‘F’ on the official transcript and the student being responsible for tuition and fees.

2. Withdrawal from a Course

   Students may withdraw from courses during the first half of a term or semester with the approval of the advisor and instructor. Withdrawing from courses after the first week of classes (drop/add period) and prior to mid-term will result in grade of ‘W’ on the official transcript. It is important to note that withdrawing from a course after the drop/add period still counts towards a student’s billable hours.

   A student may not withdraw from any course after mid-term except under extenuating circumstances. Withdrawing from a course at this time requires approval of the faculty advisor and the Office of Academic Affairs. If withdrawal after mid-term is approved the instructor will assign a grade of ‘WP’ or ‘WF’ (according to the student’s performance up to the date of official withdrawal) and the grade will be notated on the official transcript. A grade of ‘WP’ has no influence on the students cumulative GPA, however, a grade of ‘WF’ will count the same as an ‘F’ in calculating the student’s GPA. It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that the appropriate paperwork is completed and filed when withdrawing from a course. Appropriate forms may be obtained from the faculty advisor or the Registrar’s Office. Failure to complete the entire withdrawal process could result in the grade of ‘F’ on the official transcript and the student being responsible for full tuition and fees.

A student may not withdraw from a course after the final day of classes.

3. Withdrawal from the University

There are several reasons why a student might need to withdraw from the University; however, it is important that a clear understanding of the process and its consequences occurs before a final decision to leave the University takes place. Students are strongly encouraged to seek guidance from their faculty advisor and/or the Office of Student Success & Retention during the decision-making process. Should the final decision be to officially withdraw from the University, students must complete the appropriate paperwork with the Office of Student Success & Retention. The official date of withdrawal is defined as the date in which the student initiates contact with the Office of Student Success & Retention and/or the date in which said office becomes aware of the withdrawal from another university official.

It is important to realize that there are financial consequences to withdrawing after the drop/add period which will vary based upon the official date of withdrawal. These consequences will be discussed during your exit interview with a representative of the Office of Student Success & Retention. (See Refund and Withdrawal Process below). It is imperative the entire withdrawal process is completed prior to the student’s departure. Failure to complete the process could result in failing grades and responsibility for full tuition and fees for the semester.

In considering withdrawal from the University, be advised of the following:

- A student who withdraws from all courses during the drop/add period (typically the first five days of classes) receives no academic or financial penalties. In this case, the student’s class schedule is completely dropped from the academic record, proof of registration will not appear on the student’s official transcript, and the student is eligible for full refund of any payment made for the semester.
- A student who withdraws from all courses during the first half of a mini-term or semester must have approval from the Office of Student Success & Retention. Withdrawal from courses after the first week (drop/add period) but prior to mid-term will result in a grade of “W” on the official transcript.
- A student may not withdraw from any classes after mid-term except under extenuating circumstances. Withdrawing from courses at this time requires approval of the Office of Student Success & Retention. If withdrawal after mid-term is approved the instructor will assign a grade of ‘WP’ or ‘WF’ (according to the student’s performance up to the date of official withdrawal) and the grade will be notated on the official transcript. A grade of ‘WP’ has no influence on the students cumulative GPA, however, a grade of ‘WF’ will count the same as an ‘F’ in calculating the student’s GPA.
- A student may not withdraw from courses after the final day of classes.

4. Withdrawal Refund Policies

Students who withdraw from courses but remain full-time (12 credit hours or more) will see no change in their financial aid. Students whose enrollment status changes during the drop/add period will have their charges and financial aid adjusted accordingly. Students who drop to three-quarter or half-time after the drop/add period has ended will not experience a reduction in aid unless a corresponding reduction has been made to their charges based on an extraordinary circumstance. However, students should be aware that when determining satisfactory academic progress, the Division of Enrollment Management will factor in the courses from which they withdrew. Federal regulations require us to consider any courses for which financial aid was provided.

For students who withdraw completely, the refund percentage is based on the official withdrawal date (date on which the student initiated withdrawal from the University through the Office of Student Success & Retention).
After a student withdraws from Lenoir-Rhyne, a fair and equitable refund will be calculated according to the University Refund Policy as follows:

For 16 Week Courses:
- 100% During the Drop/Add period (the first week of classes in the semester)
- 85% During second week of classes
- 75% During third week of classes
- 60% During fourth week of classes
- 25% During weeks five through eight
- 0% After eighth week of classes

For 8 Week Courses:
- 100% During the Drop/Add period (the first week of classes in the semester)
- 60% During second week of classes
- 25% During weeks three and four
- 0% After fourth week of classes

Prior to a refund check being issued to a withdrawn student, the University must first determine if any of the refund is due back to the Title IV Financial Aid Programs. According to the Federal Guidelines, the amount of refund due to the financial aid programs must be repaid before a refund check will be made to the student. The University reserves the right to modify the refund policy to comply with federal, state, and other regulatory bodies.

Refunds to Title IV Financial Aid Programs are distributed in the following order:
1. Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan
2. Subsidized Federal Stafford Loan
3. Federal Perkins Loan
4. Federal Parent Loan for undergraduate students (PLUS)
5. Federal Pell Grant
6. Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)
7. Other Federal Aid Programs

AUDITING COURSES
Auditing courses will be permitted only on the presentation of a written request stating the reason for the request; this must be signed by the University Registrar and approved by the instructor. The student will not be given a grade or receive credit for the course. Certain courses involving active student participation (e.g., laboratory courses, physical education activity courses, internships, independent studies) may not be audited.

The student must follow the regular requirements for registration and class attendance. The hours of the audited course will be counted and are subject to the overload rule. Only upperclassmen with a grade point average of 3.00 or better may audit for an overload.

DIRECTED STUDY
Juniors, seniors, and graduate students may take regular Lenoir-Rhyne University courses on an individual basis, but only in instances of extenuating circumstances. Approval of the professor, school chair, and Provost is required. Junior and senior students with a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 and graduate students who have a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 may register for a maximum of one directed study per term and only when it is impossible for them to take the course at the time it is normally offered. Core courses, introductory courses, activity courses, and courses offered every semester may not be taken as a directed study.

Registrations for directed study courses must be completed by the end of the normal drop/add period. Life Long Learning students may not register for a directed study course that is not part of their major.
DUAL ENROLLMENT
Students enrolled at Lenoir-Rhyne University may not take courses at another institution during the fall or spring semesters. Exceptions to this policy must be approved by the University Registrar prior to the beginning of the term. Without prior approval, dually-enrolled courses from other institutions may not be counted to meet Lenoir-Rhyne University requirements. Policies related to maximum course load apply in cases of dual enrollment.

INDEPENDENT STUDY
Juniors, seniors, and graduate students may take (under the guidance of a faculty member) courses designed to explore an area of interest which is not normally taught in the Lenoir-Rhyne curriculum. In order to register for an independent study course, students must have completed at least two courses in the discipline or disciplines represented in the study. In addition, a cumulative GPA of 2.5 for undergraduate and 3.0 for graduate students is required.

SATISFACTORY-UNSATISFACTORY COURSES
Juniors and Seniors are permitted to register for a maximum of one course in each semester on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S/U) basis, with the proviso that such courses may not satisfy requirements in a student’s major or minor, and that no course required in the core curriculum or designated “Honors” can be taken on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis. Courses graded as Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory may count towards elective credit for graduation. The designation “Satisfactory” is awarded only for work equivalent to a grade of “C” or better. No more than 12 semester hours total may be taken on an S/U basis. The University Registrar shall be notified at the time of registration which courses, if any, are being taken on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis. Students who change majors and who find they have already completed courses on an S/U basis which are required in the new major may (1) have the Satisfactory grade converted to a grade of “C”, (2) retake the course for a grade, or (3) at the direction of the program, complete a substitute course.

SUMMER SCHOOL APPROVAL (OFF CAMPUS)
Students considering summer school enrollment at other institutions must request prior approval from the University Registrar to ensure transferability. Approval forms are available in the Registrar’s Office and on-line. Students who wish to use financial aid must speak with the Office of Financial Aid prior to enrollment.

Credit hours for satisfactory completion (grade of “C” or better) of courses taken at other institutions will count toward graduation requirements, however the grades earned will not count towards the Lenoir-Rhyne University cumulative grade point average.

TESTING OUT OF COURSES
CREDIT BY EXAMINATION
Lenoir-Rhyne University recognizes that some entering students may have had:
   a) Classroom course experiences above the secondary level (at a technical institute, armed forces school, etc.) that are equivalent to Lenoir-Rhyne University courses, but for which transfer credit is not feasible, and/or
   b) Secondary school experiences which indicate they possess knowledge and skills equivalent to Lenoir-Rhyne University courses, and/or
   c) Personal learning experiences in areas related to Lenoir-Rhyne University courses.

For these reasons, Lenoir-Rhyne University makes available an opportunity for students to obtain credit for certain courses in its curricular offerings through credit by examination. Certain courses do not lend themselves to credit by examination and, therefore, academic programs, in consultation with the Academic Program Committee, will determine those courses for which the credit by examination option is not available. Generally, credit for internship, directed study, research, field experience, and honors courses is not possible by credit by examination. Also, no physical education activity courses are available for credit by examination. A current, complete list of Lenoir-Rhyne University courses excluded from the credit by examination option will be available in the offices of the Registrar and Provost. This list will be updated periodically.

Students must file an application for credit-by-exam (available at http://registrar.lr.edu/forms pay the $200 fee, and permission must be obtained in advance from the School Chair and the Provost. A minimum 30 day waiting period will exist between the date of application and the administration of the examination. Results from the examination will be reported to the Provost and then to the University Registrar. Applications must be made no later than mid-term of any semester, and no applications will be accepted later than the withdrawal date of the student’s next to last semester. Credit-by-exam in 100-level courses must be completed by the end of the sophomore year or by the end of the first year for transfers. Additionally, the following rules apply:

- No more than 16 hours may be taken in a student’s degree program as credit-by-exam,
- No more than 8 hours in the major may be taken as credit-by-exam,
- No more than 8 hours in any one semester may be taken as credit-by-exam.

Students who demonstrate competencies at a level consistent with that necessary to earn a grade equivalent at least to a “C” in the course(s) shall receive academic credit, but no grade for the course. Credit by exam is evaluated only on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis. No letter grades will be assigned to credit obtained in this manner and, thus, the grade point average will not be affected. A failed exam may not be repeated within the same semester. A student who fails a credit by examination for a specific course may later enroll in that course with no penalty.

Appeals of any credit by examination policies will be heard by the Academic Program Committee.

The existing rules requiring transfer students to complete 12 semester hours in their major and earn the last 32 hours of their course work at Lenoir-Rhyne University will remain in effect.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT

Lenoir-Rhyne University participates fully in the Advanced Placement Program, awarding placement credit for examination scores of 3, 4, or 5. The letter grade of satisfactory will be assigned to accepted advanced placement scores.

The Advanced Placement Program is administered by the Office of the Provost, the Registrar’s Office, and the schools concerned.

Scores of 3 or better on the following Advanced Placement Examinations will be accepted and credit awarded for the specific Lenoir-Rhyne University courses as shown below. Scores must be mailed from the College Board to be acceptable.

student. The program allows its graduates to fulfill requirements for the various international systems of education.

Lenoir-Rhyne University recognizes the value of the International Baccalaureate Diploma Program and the significant achievement of those students who complete the program. The IB Program is administered by the Office of the Provost, the Registrar’s Office, and the Schools concerned. The University awards credit for IB work according to the following policy:

1. Lenoir-Rhyne University will award academic credit for satisfactory IB work for students who have been awarded the IB diploma and for those who have achieved a certificate for successful completion of IB subjects.
2. Academic credit will be awarded for grades of 4 or higher on Higher Level (HL) subjects and for grades of 5 or higher on Subsidiary Level (SL) subjects.
3. A maximum of six credits of Lenoir-Rhyne University course work will be awarded for Higher Level subjects in which grades of 4 or higher are achieved.
4. A maximum of three credits of Lenoir-Rhyne University course work will be awarded in Subsidiary Level subjects in which grades of 5 are achieved. A maximum of six credits will be awarded in SL courses in which a grade of 6 or 7 is achieved.
5. Additional credit may be awarded to students in the area of their extended essay if the student has written a successful essay and has received a notation of 0+, 1+ or 2+. No credit is possible for a student who receives a notation of 1-. Determination of appropriate specific credit is made by the Provost in consultation with the chairperson of the department in the area of the extended essay.
6. A maximum of 30 credits of specific course work (as determined by the Provost in consultation with appropriate School Chair) will be awarded to the student who has qualified for and has been awarded the IB Diploma. Students who failed to achieve the IB Diploma but who have achieved certification in certain IB subjects will have the opportunity to receive academic credit for the subject as determined by the Provost and the appropriate School Chair.

EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION

Many important student learning outcomes desired by Lenoir-Rhyne University are acquired in non-classroom settings. Broadly conceived, experiential education encompasses a wide range of curricular and co-curricular activities which assist students in their personal growth and development, provide opportunities for career exploration, or develop work-related competencies.

Lenoir-Rhyne University recognizes the following basic types of experiential learning opportunities:

Professional: Students serve in assigned responsibilities under the supervision of a professional while receiving appropriate instruction putting theory into practice, developing job-related skills, and synthesizing knowledge, skills, and values. Such areas include, but are not limited to, the fields of education, nursing, psychology, social work, and Christian education.

Career Exploration: Students work in a supervised placement to perform a useful service, to analyze the career possibilities inherent in such tasks, and to develop employment-related skills. The educational institution provides the means for structured reflection, analysis, and self-evaluation; the agency provides an evaluation of the students’ work and career potential.

Service/Personal Learning: Students undertake a program in an on or off-campus setting that is designed to further their personal growth and development. Such experiences include, but are not limited to, field research, outdoor or wilderness education, travel/study, and other areas.

GUIDELINES:

1. The experiential learning activity must be associated with an academic program in a clearly defined and identifiable way and must have the advanced approval of the related academic department.
2. Learning activities must be carefully planned and supervised. Supervision will be provided by a faculty member(s) with competence in the area of the learning activity and/or, when appropriate, by a program-approved, field-based supervisor.

3. The expected goals of the experiential learning opportunity must be clearly stated.

4. Student performance must be carefully evaluated by faculty and other supervisors, and assigned grades shall be noted on official transcripts. Unless they are used to fulfill major requirements, such courses will normally be graded on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis.

5. No more than 12 credit hours in experiential learning may be counted toward the 128 credit hours graduation requirement, except in the case of major programs (e.g., student teaching, nursing) which require more than 12 hours in experiential education.

6. Proposed additions of experiential learning courses to the curriculum must follow the regular process of endorsement by the appropriate academic School, Academic Program Committee, and Faculty Assembly. Within the general rubrics of an approved course, specific learning opportunities may vary; therefore, records of such individual student experiences will be kept on file by the supervising faculty member.

7. No more than one credit hour will be awarded for each 35 hours of approved experiential learning.

8. Credits may not be awarded for experiential learning opportunities that do not have prior institutional evaluation and approval.

9. In the event that a student desires academic credit for a type of experiential learning not related to currently approved experiential learning courses, he/she may undertake the following:
   a. solicit the cooperation and support of a faculty sponsor. Sponsorship reflects a belief in the legitimacy of the proposal and a willingness to supervise and evaluate the experience individually or in cooperation with other sponsors (e.g., campus or non-campus professionals).
   b. acquire necessary forms from the Provost’s Office and outline the goals to be achieved, procedures to be used, extent of activity to be pursued, and method of evaluation to be followed.
   c. submit the forms to the Provost’s Office for transmission to the Academic Program Committee and for its approval at least four (4) weeks prior to the beginning of the learning experience.

10. Field experiences which currently exist as faculty-approved course offerings (e.g., student teaching, nursing) do not require Academic Program Committee approval. Students desiring such experiences follow the normal channels of registration.

11. The preceding guidelines do not apply to traditional laboratory experiences.

NON-CREDIT EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

Lenoir-Rhyne University affirms both the value and necessity of relating classroom and non-classroom learning opportunities in the quest of integrating liberal learning, vocational pursuits, and personal values. The University expects and encourages students to explore a variety of co-curricular activities as a vital aspect of their educational experience; however, students cannot expect that academic credit will be awarded for every aspect of their learning at the University. Lenoir-Rhyne University does not award academic credit for participation in intercollegiate or intramural athletics, cheer leading, various student organizations, and certain co-curricular activities.

The dimension of experiential education occurs in many courses offered by academic schools. Some majors include field experience and/or internships as requirements or elective. Students in consultation with faculty sponsors may devise independent studies with an experiential learning emphasis.
ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREES

Lenoir-Rhyne University grants the undergraduate degrees of Bachelor of Arts (B.A.), Bachelor of Science (B.S.), and Bachelor of Music (B.M.). The undergraduate academic programs at Lenoir-Rhyne University are administered through a series of four Colleges, each representing disciplines with similar backgrounds and directions.

Additionally, there are two programs designed specifically for Life Long Learning students: Liberal Arts (B.A.) and Professional Organizational Development (B.S.).

Graduate degree information is contained in the Graduate School portion of this catalog. The table below lists the four Academic Colleges along with their Dean, the eleven Schools and their Chairs, and the programs they administer.

THE CURRICULUM

Lenoir-Rhyne University operates on a two-semester calendar system. The fall and spring semesters are 16 weeks in length, and each is followed by a formal examination period. During the fall and spring semesters a student may take a maximum of 18 credit hours (16 for First-Year Students) without requesting an overload. The two-term summer session normally allows a student to complete up to 14 credit hours in addition to those earned during the regular academic year.

Classes are scheduled throughout the week, Monday through Friday. A three-credit-hour class is taught in 50 minute segments three times a week or in 75 minute segments twice a week.

Students attending Lenoir-Rhyne University may complete undergraduate degrees in a variety of major areas. Descriptions of the majors and their specific requirements are indicated on the following pages among the academic programs. Upon completion of the stated requirements, the candidate is presented the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Music degree as indicated in the description.

The candidate qualifies for a degree by satisfactorily completing a minimum of 128 semester hours to include all required courses both in the core curriculum and the major/ minor field(s) of study. Certain majors may require completion of more than 128 semester hours for graduation. The complete program includes Core Curriculum requirements, major field requirements, technical requirements, and electives.

Students may also complete, beyond their required major field, a second major or a minor in another field. If a student wishes to complete a second major or a minor in a field that shares similar course requirements with the primary major, that student must successfully complete these common courses and all other requirements for both programs. A minimum of unique credits in the smaller major and/or the additional minor must be equal or greater than two-thirds of that major’s/minor’s standard number of required credit hours. Any exceptions to this policy will be noted in the descriptions of the specific major and/or minor field requirements. Students should refer to the particular program’s section in the catalog to determine if any special exceptions exist to this standard policy.

COMMON LEARNING GOALS

Lenoir-Rhyne University’s Learning Goals rest upon three foundations developed from the University’s Mission Statement:

- Integrated Learning To be a fully developed person, one must know that each of the three broad categories of learning defined in the common learning goals – care and responsibility, knowledge and understanding, and communication and rhetoric – must work together simultaneously.

- World Engagement A full understanding of the world and a spirit of openness will yield a call to service and action as we work in communities at every level.

- Christian Perspective To fulfill our mission as a Christian institution, the University shall foster caring for others, humility, fellowship, a sense of vocation, and faith.

The common learning goals, when implemented across the entire curriculum, will yield a discerning, curious and effective thinker, responsive to the needs of others.
Care and Responsibility
Lenoir-Rhyne graduates will demonstrate a sense of personal integrity and an awareness of their responsibilities as stewards and citizens of the world. Furthermore, they will exhibit a commitment to morality and to lives of service. They will demonstrate:

- care and concern for personal wellbeing;
- care and concern for others;
- care and concern for learning;
- awareness of the world beyond the self in an open and intercultural way;
- rigorous ethical understanding;
- dedication to vocation;
- realization of these goals in action and service.

Knowledge and Understanding
Lenoir-Rhyne graduates will interpret the world, using appropriate tools drawn from relevant bodies of knowledge both to grapple with and to attempt answers to enduring questions. They will:

- engage the knowledge, the modes of inquiry, and the enduring questions of the Liberal Arts and Sciences;
- engage the unknown and solve problems creatively;
- understand the ways in which the various bodies of knowledge connect and overlap;
- understand the limits of these bodies of knowledge.

Communication and Rhetoric
Lenoir-Rhyne graduates will be discerning readers and listeners as well as persuasive writers and speakers, practiced and skillful at grasping and creating meaning. They will:

- read and listen for information, understanding and argument, moving beyond memorization to discernment;
- write and speak informatively and persuasively to different audiences, and make effective use of qualitative and quantitative reasoning, evidence, and exhortation;
- use writing and speaking as tools for understanding and solving problems;
- effectively locate, critically assess, and use information.

THE CORE CURRICULUM
Lenoir-Rhyne University’s core curriculum is an innovative, comprehensive, and flexible introduction to the liberal arts and sciences, and is the common foundation of a Lenoir-Rhyne education. It is designed around ways of knowing the world, big questions both enduring and current, and the growth of a healthy, reflective, and articulate self.

The Core has three parts:
1. The First Year Experience is a topical, year-long course that introduces students to the college-level work, to college social and cultural life, and to the college world view.
2. Foundations focus on essential skills, broader cultural and interpersonal understanding, and a Christian perspective.
3. The Liberal Arts and Sciences (Humanities, Human Society and Behavior, the Natural World, and the Fine Arts) courses are built around ways of knowing, both within and between, the traditional disciplines.

Students take either tradition introductory, or year-long interdisciplinary courses and then a pair of small, intense upper-level seminars. Students complete a Capstone presentation in one of the seminars.

The core curriculum at Lenoir-Rhyne consists of five components:
- The First-Year Experience
- The Foundations courses
- Liberal Arts and Sciences courses (Level 1)
- Liberal Arts and Sciences seminars (Level 2)
- The Core Capstone Project
CORE CURRICULUM REQUIREMENTS: 55-62 HOURS

THE FIRST-YEAR EXPERIENCE*  6 hours
The First-Year Experience consists of two 3-hour courses spanning the first two semesters.
- FYE 191, First-Year Experience I  3 hours
- FYI 192, First-Year Experience II  3 hours

THE FOUNDATIONS COURSES  22-27 hours
Students must complete their Foundations courses in their first 64 credit hours.
- COM 111  3 hours
- CSC 115 or above  1-4 hours
- CSC 050  0 hours
- ENG 131  4 hours
- MAT 113, or 115, or 125, or 129, or 165, or 215  3-4 hours
- REL 100  3 hours

Foreign Language  6 hours
- FRE 110-111
- GER 110-111
- SPA 110-111
- GRE 101-102
- CHN 110-111
- SED 281-282
- HES 100 and 1 activity course, or HES 287, or HES 288  2-3 hours

THE LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES (LEVEL I)  21-23 hours
Students will take 27-29 hours of Liberal Arts and Sciences courses from four categories: Humanities (HUM), Human Society and Behavior (HSB), Natural World (NAT), and Fine Arts (FIN). Courses are taken at two levels (I and II).

LEVEL I – Option I
Humanities (chosen from two different prefixes)  6 hours
- HIS 101
- HIS 102
- ENG 231
- REL 100-200 level (excluding REL 100, 261, 262)
- PHI 100-200 level

Human Society and Behavior (chosen from two different prefixes)  6 hours
- SOC 100
- PSY 100
- ECO 121
- ECO 122
- POL 120
- POL 140

Natural Science (chosen from two different prefixes)  6-8 hours
- Any laboratory in AST, BIO, CHE, EAR, ENV, or PHY; or SCI 110

Fine Arts  3 hours
- Any course in ART, DAN, FIN, MUS, or THR; or ENG 281

LEVEL I – Option II
Students may choose to complete Level I requirements by taking year-long thematic courses in HUM, HSB, NAT, and FIN. These will carry both their traditional designations and the numbers 188 and 189.
THE LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES (LEVEL II)

LEVEL II

At Level II, students take two courses designed around a rigorous exploration of a “Big Question” in a way that pushes disciplinary boundaries. Students must take one course in each category outside of the category containing their major. Students with two majors must select one Level II course in a category not containing either of those majors.

- Humanities
  - HUM 388
  - Human Society and Behavior
  - HSB 388
  - Natural Science
  - NAT 388

Each Humanities course is worth 3 hours.

THE CORE CAPSTONE

As their Core Capstone, students will select one of their Level II culminating projects for public presentation. Although the capstone experience carries no credit hours, it must be completed successfully to fulfill graduation requirements.

*Non-first-year transfer students entering Lenoir-Rhyne University with at least 26 hours of credit will be exempt from the FYE requirement, but will be required to take LRC 100T or LRC 101T, an online course designed specifically for transfer students that will orient and acculturate them to the University. Lifelong Learning students may take LRC 100 or LRC 101T, a non-credit version of LRC 101T.

GLOBAL LEARNING

All students must complete a minimum of two Global Learning (GL) designated courses or experiences, as described below, to fulfill this requirement. Language learning, beyond the core foreign language requirement, which facilitates the ability to communicate in different languages;

- Comparative studies which fosters interdisciplinary, comparative, and cross-cultural learning and research on global issues;
- Discipline-specific cultural studies which familiarize students with diverse world views and cultural knowledge within the context of a particular discipline;
- Study abroad which promotes an experiential understanding by students of similarities and differences in cultural and institutional conditions. A full semester of study abroad could be used to complete the entire Global Learning experience. A short term study abroad experience could be used to fulfill one of the GL requirements.

ACADEMIC SERVICE LEARNING

Additionally, all students must complete an Academic Service Learning project. ASL is an endeavor in which a service experience is integrated into a course curriculum. This is a supplemental service project through which students apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom to focus on problem-solving in the community. Students must address a specific community problem or need, establish contact with a relevant organization, create goals for the project, complete 15 hours of service over the semester, and reflect on and evaluate the experience.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEAF AND HARD-OF-HEARING OR LEARNING DISABLED STUDENTS

Students who are deaf or hard-of-hearing and/or with a diagnosed learning disabled can satisfy the foreign language requirements by completing one of the following:

1. take six credits of American Sign Language, OR
2. take six credits of French, German, or Spanish, OR
3. take six credits of Latin or Greek, OR
4. take six credits, in addition to other core requirements, that pertain to the past and present cultural heritage of other countries, (see the list of approved Cultural Enrichment courses following):

APPROVED LIST OF CULTURAL ENRICHMENT COURSES
Various courses below can satisfy the foreign language core requirement for students who are deaf or hard-of-hearing and/or who have a diagnosed learning disability. The purpose is to expose students to the past and/or present cultural heritage of countries other than the United States in order to partially counteract the limitations that the communications barrier of hearing loss or learning disability may cause. To qualify for the cultural enrichment course option, students must have a documented, specific learning/language based disability in either written or oral processing deficits. Specific documentation must be provided to the Director of Services for Students with Disabilities for consideration. The documentation must be provided on letterhead and identify the specific learning disability provided by a qualified professional (e.g., psychologist, psychiatrist, school psychologist). The Director of Services for Students with Disabilities will review the documentation and a recommendation will be made to the Provost. The Provost determines whether the cultural enrichment options will be allowed on a case-by-case basis. Written notice of the determination will be made within 30 days of the request:

To earn a degree at Lenoir-Rhyne University, students must complete major courses, the Lenoir-Rhyne core courses, and if needed, elective courses to equal a minimum of 128 hours. Some majors require more hours.

AMERICAN STUDIES
American Studies is an interdisciplinary approach to studying American culture and history, challenging students to think about American culture as a whole, rather than from the perspective of a single academic discipline. The combination of courses in the American Studies curriculum fosters critical thinking and writing skills, develops the ability to synthesize information, and encourages a greater understanding of self and society. The American Studies major earns a B.A. degree.

MINORS: A minor in American Studies requires a minimum of 18 hours consisting of HIS 121, 122; POL 120; and three additional courses from the approved list of courses in the American Studies major, at least one of which must be a literature course in English or Spanish.

ART

Students preparing for careers in graphic design may follow the major in Graphic Design. A strong, aesthetically-based curriculum, this major includes coursework in design, applied visual arts, web design, advertising, and an internship in graphic design. Students who choose to do so may add coursework in print media, journalism or other specific areas of focus. The Graphic Design major earns a B.A. degree.

Serving students who seek preparation for a career in visual arts as practicing studio professionals or as a foundation for graduate school, the major in Studio Art provides in-depth study of aesthetic principles and art history, and hands-on studio experiences in drawing, painting, sculpture, photography, printmaking, and electronic media. The Studio Art major earns a B.A. degree.

MAJORS: GRAPHIC DESIGN (BA), STUDIO ART (BA)

MINORS: Visual Arts.

A minor in Visual Arts requires 21 credits consisting of Art 201, 211, 221, 341, 342 and six credits from ART 225, 311, 321 or 383.

HONORS: Students majoring in Graphic Design who are judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Art. To graduate “With Honors in Art,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete six credits of honors courses in the major area, including Art 499.

ENGLISH

The courses offered in the English curriculum are designed to develop students’ abilities to express their thoughts clearly, coherently, and effectively in oral and written form; to familiarize them with English, American, and World literature; to develop their analytical skills, critical judgment, and aesthetic appreciation of quality literature; and to help them achieve deeper personal insight and self-awareness. The English major earns a B.A. degree.

In addition, English, in conjunction with other academic programs, offers a major in American Studies. American Studies is an interdisciplinary approach to studying American culture and history, challenging students to think about American culture as a whole, rather than from the perspective of a single academic discipline. The combination of courses in the American Studies curriculum fosters critical thinking and writing skills, develops the ability to synthesize information, and encourages a greater understanding of self and society. The American Studies major earns a B.A. degree.

MINORS:

A minor in English requires 18 credits, excluding ENG 105 and 131, including ENG 231, 232, and 233. Of the additional 9 credits, no more than three may come from the following: ENG 315, 330, 345, 346, and 347.
A minor in Creative Writing requires a minimum of 18 credits consisting of ENG 231, 232, 281, and 330; and the remaining credits chosen from ENG 330 (which may be taken twice for credit toward the minor), ENG 345, 346, 347, or THR 270.

An English major who elects to complete the minor in Creative Writing may count ENG 270, 271, 370, and/or 371 for both the major and minor. However, the student must complete a minimum of 12 unique credits in the minor.

HONORS: Students majoring in English who are judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in English. To graduate “With Honors in English,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.25, and complete, with a minimum grade of “B,” ENG 498 and 499. In addition, they must pass an oral defense of the thesis. English 498 and 499 count as six credits of electives beyond the major.

MODERN LANGUAGES
The modern language programs in French, German, and Spanish are designed to provide students with appropriate linguistic skills, to develop a knowledge and sympathetic understanding of cultural differences, and to inform them of the civilization, culture, literature, and other social and artistic achievements of the respective countries. The programs are flexible enough to accommodate students seeking a degree in a modern language, a degree in International Business or International Economics, a double major, or simply a minor in a modern language. The French, German, or Spanish major earns a B.A. degree. Two years of study are available in Chinese and Greek.

MINORS: French, German, and Spanish.

A minor in French requires 18 credits consisting of FRE 210, 221, 222, 240, 331 and 332.

A minor in German requires 18 credits consisting of GER 221, 222, 230, 331, 332 and 340.

A minor in Spanish requires 18 credits consisting of SPA 221, 222, 233, 331, 332, and 335.

HONORS: Students majoring in Modern Languages and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in French, German, or Spanish. To graduate “With Honors in French, German, or Spanish,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete nine credits of honors courses in the major, including French, German, or Spanish 499. In addition, they must pass an oral examination and be approved by the faculty. The 499 course does not count toward the major requirements.

STUDY ABROAD: Students are encouraged to study abroad for a semester or an entire year since only total immersion in the language will ensure the desired level of proficiency. The Department of Modern Languages, in conjunction with the Office of International Education and faculty advisors, will make every effort to assist students in their study abroad experience.

MUSIC

The Bachelor of Music in Music Education degree qualifies students to teach music in the public schools with certification (K-12) by the State of North Carolina. This degree is accredited nationally by NCATE and in North Carolina by the NCDPI.

The Bachelor of Arts in Music Performance prepares students with a performing proficiency in organ, piano, voice, or any of the orchestral instruments (brass, winds, strings, percussion). Students preparing for graduate school in music or a professional career in music generally follow the performance major.

The Bachelor of Arts degree in Music is designed for students who want a general aesthetic background in the history, theory, and appreciation of music. This particular program allows students to combine other areas of interest with music such as Theatre, Family Ministries, Religion, or Business. Students who wish to pursue a double major in Music and another discipline should see their Music faculty advisor for information.

Students preparing for careers in church music or who plan to go on to graduate study church music may choose to major in Sacred Music. Performance concentrations will focus on keyboard (organ or piano), voice, or orchestral instrument.

Regular attendance at university-sponsored music events is required for all music majors and minors. (See the Music Student Handbook on the Music Program intranet for details.)

ENTRANCE AUDITIONS: An entrance audition is required for acceptance into the program in order to pursue a major or minor. Several of the music ensembles also require auditions.

MINORS: Music, Sacred Music

A minor in Music requires a minimum of 22 credits consisting of MUS 090 (or proof of proficiency through an examination), 103, 104, 111, 201, 202, 254 or 255 and seven credits of applied music—lower division. An entrance audition is required for applied music study at the lower division.

A minor in Sacred Music requires 21 credits consisting of MUS 270, 272, 273, 370, 471, 472, four credits of A Cappella Choir, and five credits chosen from the following: DAN 204, MUS 271, 371, 420, one credit of Handbell Ensemble, applied music-lower division, PHI 217, and REL 301. Sacred music minors must participate in four semesters of Chapel Choir, two semesters of Campus Ministry, and Sacred Music Workshops as offered.

CONCENTRATION: Sacred Music

Note: This is not the same program as the Sacred Music major.

The concentration in Sacred Music requires a minimum of 40 credits consisting of MUS 090 or proficiency, 111 (MUS 200 may be substituted), 270, 272, 273, 370, 371, 420, 470, 471, 472, and six credits from the following: MUS 103, 104, 254, 255, 271, 301, 372, REL 261, 262, 330 and, either Keyboard track (eight credits of applied music-lower division, MUS 214, six credits of A Cappella Choir, and two credits of Handbell Ensemble), Voice track (seven credits of applied music-lower division, MUS 105, 106, six credits of A Cappella Choir, and two credits of Handbell Ensemble), or Instrumental track (six credits of applied music-lower division, MUS 105, 106, 214, three credits of A Cappella Choir, one credit of Handbell Ensemble, and four credits of Concert Band). Sacred music concentrations must participate in six semesters of Chapel Choir, two semesters of Campus Ministry, and Sacred Music Workshops as offered.

HONORS: Music majors may elect to pursue honors work with the approval of the music faculty. To graduate “With Honors in Music,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and a GPA of 3.5 in the honors courses. In addition, they must complete eight credits in honors work in the major area including MUS 499 and five credits of music honors courses.

THEATRE

Grounded in the liberal arts tradition and tailored to fit a student’s individual needs, the Theatre program at Lenoir-Rhyne University is intensive and rewarding. Students pursue course work in dramatic theory, history, and literature as well as various studio courses in all phases of production work (performance, stage technology, design, directing, and management). Supplementing class work is a rigorous production program involving mainstage shows, studio series productions, and touring programs.

Full-time faculty instruct and produce for the stage. Visiting artists and practicing professionals teach during limited residencies and workshops. Internship programs with regional theatres, career counseling and job placement, study abroad, and honors are available. The Theatre major earns a B.A. degree.

MINOR: A minor in Theatre requires 20 credits consisting of THR 110, 220, 260, 265, and 450, and ENG 370. In addition, certain production responsibilities must be met through THR 280 Theatre Production (2 credit minimum).

HONORS: Students majoring in Theatre who are judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Theatre. To graduate “With Honors in Theatre”, students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete twelve credits of honors courses in the major area, including THR 499.

To earn a degree at Lenoir-Rhyne University, students must complete major courses, the Lenoir-Rhyne core courses, and if needed, elective courses to equal a minimum of 128 hours. Some majors require more hours.

HISTORY
The History program seeks to provide a well-balanced and intellectually challenging major, flexible enough to meet the needs of students seeking a broad liberal arts background, a teaching career, admission to graduate or professional school, or work in the areas of applied or public history. With its focus on critical thinking and communication skills, History contributes to the liberal arts curriculum and intellectual engagement by appropriate participation in the Core Curriculum, and serves those students taking history courses as electives, as a minor area, or in conjunction with other majors. The History major earns a B.A. degree.

In addition, History in conjunction with other academic programs, supports majors in American Studies and Politics and International Relations.

MINORS: A minor in History requires 18 credits consisting of HIS 121, 122, 230, and nine credits of History electives (above 102), only three credits of which are allowed in United States History.

A minor in Africana Studies requires 18 credits consisting of HIS 203, 305, and ENG 403; and three courses from the following: ECO 424; HCS 250; HIS 230, 321; POL 324; SOC 345; or HUM/HSB 388 or other Special Topics courses that address the African diaspora and multi-culturalism (must be approved by the Chair of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences).

HONORS: Students may be invited by the full-time History faculty to undertake a Senior Honors Thesis. Upon successful completion of the thesis, along with HIS 498 and 499, a student will graduate “with honors in History.” Normally in order to be considered, students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2 or above, and a minimum major GPA of 3.5 or above. The faculty may invite a student to undertake Honors who has not met the GPA requirement, and likewise may not invite every student who has done so. HIS 498 may count as a History elective and HIS 499 counts as three credits beyond the major requirements.

PHILOSOPHY

Courses in Philosophy seek to enrich students’ appreciation of the history of philosophical reflection and to guide their comprehension and critical evaluation of current issues and trends. The Philosophy major provides a sound foundation for further study in Philosophy, the Social Sciences, Law, Theology, and related fields. The Philosophy major earns a B.A. degree.

MINORS: Philosophy, Values and Professional Ethics.

A minor in Philosophy requires 18 credits consisting of at least six credits from PHI 298, 299, 300. No more than three of the 18 credits may be cross-listed from another major.

A minor in Values and Professional Ethics requires 18 credits consisting of PHI 116, 216, 217, 251, 318, and one course from BUS 380, COM 320, CSC 210, ECO 221, HCS 250, HIS 425, MAT 400, POD 363, POL 450, REL 340, SOC 307.

HONORS: Students majoring in Philosophy and judged qualified by the Philosophy faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Philosophy. To graduate “With Honors in Philosophy,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete nine hours of honors courses in the major, including PHI 499.

SPECIAL FEATURES: Students who major in two areas offered by Religious Studies and Philosophy may count only six credits from courses used to fulfill the requirements of the first major to fulfill the total credit requirement of the second major. A similar limitation applies to the student who elects both a major and minor offered by Religious Studies and Philosophy, except that in such instances only three credits of duplicate course credit may be applied.

PSYCHOLOGY

The Psychology major provides preparation for graduate study and entry into human services fields. Advisement is available for students who wish to pursue careers in research, mental health, ministry, rehabilitation, personnel work, and agency counseling. The faculty is concerned with relating modern psychology to the Christian faith and, in true liberal arts... fashion, puts these two into creative tension so that the student can learn from both. The Psychology major earns a B.A. degree.

MINORS: Art Therapy, Psychology

A minor in Psychology requires a minimum of eighteen credits consisting of Psychology 100 and fifteen credits of Psychology electives.

HONORS: Students majoring in Psychology may elect to pursue honors work in Psychology. To graduate “With Honors in Psychology,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.3 and complete Psychology 498 and 499, including defense of a thesis, The honors courses may count as part of the forty-four credits needed for the major.

REligious Studies

Courses in Religious Studies are designed to help individuals clarify their religious convictions and life goals, as well as to provide preparation for persons who anticipate further study. The Religious Studies major earns a B.A. degree.

MiNORS: A minor in Religious Studies-History and Thought requires eighteen credits consisting of at least one course in biblical studies (REL 101, 102, 235, 264) and at least three courses from the history and thought sequence (REL 310, 320, 330, 340). Religion 100 and 400 do not count toward the minor.

A minor in Religious Studies - Youth and Family Development requires twenty-one credits consisting of REL 102, 261, 262, 330, 361 or 362, and one of the following: REL 101, 235, 264, 310, 320, 340, or 450.

HONORS: Students majoring in Religious Studies and judged qualified by the Religion faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Religion. To graduate “With Honors in Religious Studies,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete nine credits of honors courses in Religious Studies, including REL 499. In addition, they must be nominated for honors by the Religion faculty.

SPECIAL FEATURES:
1. Students who major in two areas offered by the Religion and Philosophy programs may count only six credits from courses used to fulfill the requirements of the first major to fulfill the total credit requirement of the second major.
2. A similar limitation applies to the student who elects both a major and minor offered by Religion and Philosophy programs, except that in such instances only three credits of duplicate course credit may be applied.
3. Students in the Religious History & Thought track may only earn up to six (6) credits in field work courses (REL 351, 352, 361, and 362). Students in the Family Development and Outdoor & Religious Development tracks may earn up to twelve (12) credits in field work course work.

BIOLOGY
The Biology major acquaints students with information and methods used in a variety of biological areas, as well as selected areas of Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics. The Biology B.S. degree is designed for students who are interested in continuing their studies in graduate, medical, dental or other professional schools and requires both undergraduate research and physics. The B.A. graduate should be prepared to seek a variety of scientific and health-related employment opportunities. In addition, Biology in conjunction with other academic programs, offers a dual-degree program in Pre-Forestry and Pre-Environmental Management.

MINOR: A minor in Biology requires twenty-one credits consisting of Biology 105, 106, 200, and twelve credits of advanced Biology courses (excluding Biology 110, 220, 281, 282 and 471-473).

HONORS: Students majoring in Biology judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, pursue honors work in Biology. To graduate "With Honors in Biology," students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a minimum major GPA of 3.2. They must complete Biology 390 and 391 in the junior year and Biology 490 and 491 in the senior year with a minimum grade of “B” in each course. In addition, they must present the research at a seminar before the Biology faculty. Biology 390, 391, 490, and 491 may count for Biology 400 and one Biology elective for the B.S. degree.

Students must complete 96 credits at Lenoir-Rhyne to be eligible for acceptance into a Medical Technology program. Seniors must take a one-year course of study in medical technology at one of the schools with which Lenoir-Rhyne has a working relationship, or any other accredited school of medical technology upon approval of the Lenoir-Rhyne Academic Program Committee. Lenoir-Rhyne has a 3+1 affiliation with Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center in Winston-Salem. Lenoir-Rhyne will accept a maximum of 32 credits toward the baccalaureate degree from the clinical year of study. Participation in and completion of the pre-clinical Lenoir-Rhyne program requirement.
Rhyne program does not guarantee acceptance into the 12 month Medical Technology program at an affiliated hospital. Depending on the program, graduation may occur either in the spring or summer of the senior year. Prior to graduation, students must take a comprehensive assessment examination. Students meeting the Medical Technology requirements who also have a BS degree may apply to Carolinas Medical Center in Charlotte, NC with whom Lenoir-Rhyne has a 4+1 affiliation agreement.

PRE-MEDICAL SCIENCE

The Pre-Medical Science major gives students an understanding of selected areas of Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics. This major meets the undergraduate course requirements of most medical, dental, and some other health profession schools, including Physician Assistant Schools. A Pre-Medical Science major earns a B.S. degree.

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE AND POLICY

The interdisciplinary Environmental Science and Policy major is designed to promote student understanding about environmental issues and to enable students to make meaningful contributions toward the management of the world's natural resources. The major focuses on conservation education through course work in natural and social sciences with emphasis on student research, case-study, and project-based learning. Internships and study abroad field and research experiences are strongly encouraged. The Environmental Science and Policy major offers two tracks: science and policy. The Environmental Science and Policy major earns a B.S. degree.

MINOR: A minor in Environmental Science and Policy requires twenty to twenty-two credits consisting of BIO 310; ECO 262; ENV 120, 231, 325; and one course from: BIO 110 or 106, 237; CHE 110 or 103; EAR 210; ECO 322, 424; ENV 210, 215; POL 222, 250, 351; SOC 345 or 370.

If, in combination, core, technical, and program requirements do not generate at least 128 hours, additional credits must be completed to achieve 128 hours. These classes may be general electives, or a student may complete a minor or additional major.

PRE-FORESTRY AND PRE-ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT:
A dual-degree program with Duke University’s Nicholas School of the Environment.
Students spend three years at Lenoir-Rhyne and two years at Duke. After completing 128 credits (104 Lenoir-Rhyne and 24 Duke hours), a baccalaureate degree is awarded by Lenoir-Rhyne University. After two years at Duke the M.F. or M.E.M. degree is awarded by Duke.

CHEMISTRY

The courses in the chemistry curriculum are designed to provide individuals with creative and analytical insight into the involvement of chemistry in the world. The major also provides the opportunity to enter graduate school as well as to become a part of the largest scientific profession in the United States. The Chemistry major earns either a B.A. or B.S. degree.

MINOR: A minor in Chemistry requires twenty-one credits consisting of CHE 103, 103L, 104, 104L, 201, 201L, 202, 202L, 210, and one credit above 210.

HONORS: Students majoring in Chemistry and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Chemistry. To graduate “With Honors in Chemistry,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a minimum major GPA of 3.5, with no Chemistry grade lower than “B.” They must complete CHE 499, six credits from CHE 401H, 402H, 498, and a written comprehensive examination.

PHYSICS AND EARTH SCIENCE

Physics and Earth Science offers courses in three areas: Astronomy, Earth Science, and Physics. Physics and Earth Science provides for a special emphasis in Astronomy and provides a strong undergraduate concentration of courses in this field for students planning to pursue graduate work in Astronomy. The Physics major earns a B.S. degree.

MAJOR: PHYSICS.
MINORS: Astronomy, Earth Science and Physics.

A minor in Astronomy requires eighteen credits consisting of Astronomy 100, 200, and ten credits of special topics (380) in Astronomy.

A minor in Earth Science requires eighteen credits consisting of Earth Science 110, 202, 210, 220, 240 and 380.

A minor in Physics requires twenty credits consisting of Physics 211, 212, 213, 301 and 302.

HONORS: Students majoring in Physics and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Physics. To graduate “With Honors in Physics,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, complete nine hours of honors work (PHY 303H, 304H, 490), and submit an honors thesis.

General Elective Credits (if needed)

TOTAL CREDIT HOURS (minimum) 128#

* On occasion, technical and/or program requirements may also meet specific core curriculum requirements. Please confer with your program advisor to determine which courses, if any, may be counted accordingly.

All Bachelors programs at Lenoir-Rhyne require at least 128 credit hours. If, in combination, core, technical, and program requirements do not generate at least 128 hours, additional credits must be completed to achieve 128 hours. These classes may be general electives, or a student may complete a minor or additional major.
PRE-ENGINEERING

Students enrolled at Lenoir-Rhyne University who wish to prepare for a career in engineering may, upon successful completion of the following approved three-year program, transfer to North Carolina A&T State University, North Carolina State University, UNC-Charlotte, or Clemson University, to complete requirements for a bachelor’s degree in engineering. Students must complete at least 96 hours at Lenoir-Rhyne.

Upon successful completion and acceptance of at least 32 additional hours in the engineering program at NC A&T, NCSU, UNC-C, or Clemson, students may apply for a bachelor’s degree from Lenoir-Rhyne University in Pre-Engineering if the additional hours total 128 hours or more and include Lenoir-Rhyne University’s Core Curriculum requirements. Students who choose this option should work closely with an advisor in the Lenoir-Rhyne Physics program.

Students who wish to transfer from Lenoir-Rhyne University who have not met the total credit hours requirement or fulfilled all core requirements may not receive a degree from Lenoir-Rhyne University. For degree requirements beyond the three-year pre-engineering program offered at Lenoir-Rhyne, students should consult with the receiving university program. Completion of the three-year program at Lenoir-Rhyne does not guarantee admission to the universities listed as a part of this dual degree arrangement.

LIFELONG LEARNING PROGRAM

While all majors are available for Lifelong Learning students who are able to complete traditionally scheduled courses, two programs are offered especially for the adult Lifelong Learning Student, Liberal Studies and Business Administration Professional Organizational Development. The Liberal Studies major is for adults who need to complete their undergraduate degree with flexibility in curriculum and scheduling. The Business Administration Professional Organizational Development major is for those adults who would like a general business degree and/or those who may wish to pursue a M.B.A. degree after receiving the B.S. See the information on the Lifelong Learning Program in the Admissions part of this catalog for detailed criteria about the Lifelong Learning program.

LIBERAL STUDIES

Available only to Lifelong Learning students, the Liberal Studies major helps students complete their undergraduate degree by focusing on a broad background in the liberal arts. The program is unique to Lenoir-Rhyne in that the student will complete, in addition to the Lenoir-Rhyne core, a series of seminars especially related to the University's common learning goals. The major emphasizes breadth of exposure to the many areas of the liberal arts and liberal learning. It also includes an experiential/service learning component in which the adult learner participates in an approved community activity. The Liberal Studies major earns a B.A. degree.

Students must complete at least 12 additional hours at the 300-level or above. The individually developed program provides the adult learner with flexibility to explore intellectual issues from an interdisciplinary perspective. In order that students have depth as well as breadth, students must complete at least 12 additional hours at the 300-level or above. Also, students are strongly encouraged to take at least three courses in addition to the core in an approved area of emphasis.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Available only to Lifelong Learning students, the Business Administration Professional Organizational Development major is designed to provide adult learners with a general business degree and/or prepare them for completion of an MBA degree at Lenoir-Rhyne. The major recognizes the value of significant life experiences of adult students their motivation; and delicate balance of work, education, and family expectations. The POD hybrid classes are offered on Monday evenings only and are designed so that students may take four courses each semester; however, other courses to fulfill the core may require other class arrangements.

Students who successfully meet the degree requirements which includes the Lenoir-Rhyne core courses with an overall grade point average of 2.75 and a grade point average of 3.0 in the course work for the major and who receive letters of recommendation from major faculty upon completion of the undergraduate degree, will be accepted directly into the University’s Master of Business Administration program with normal application protocols waived. Thus, Lifelong Learning students who graduate with the Business Administration Professional Organizational Development major will not have to take the prerequisite standardized entrance exam or pay application fees for admission to the MBA program at Lenoir-Rhyne. The Business Administration Professional Organizational Development major earns a B.S. degree.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HUMAN SERVICES

Dr. Hank Weddington, Dean

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Dr. Monica Campbell, Chair

FACULTY:
Associate Professors Monica Campbell, Kim Matthews, Terri Barrett, Janet Painter, Hank Weddington
Assistant Professors Summer Carrol, David Temple
Instructor Jayme Linton

MAJORS: Elementary Education (BA), Middle School Education (BA)
For Secondary Education Teacher Programs, see Majors

To earn a degree at Lenoir-Rhyne University, students must complete major courses, the Lenoir-Rhyne core courses, and if needed, elective courses equal a minimum of 128 hours. Some majors require more hours.

We believe that Lenoir-Rhyne University education graduates are reflective practitioners who are aware of factors affecting student learning and who recognize and value individual needs in planning instruction and creating a learning community. The unit has designed a heavily field-based program which prepares students at both the initial and advanced levels to develop knowledge of self, content knowledge, knowledge of human development, awareness of “schooling,” and strategies used with students and clients. The undergraduate Education major earns a B.A. degree.

The programs in teacher education and school counseling at Lenoir-Rhyne University are approved by the North Carolina State Board of Education and The National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

MAJORS: ELEMENTARY EDUCATION AND MIDDLE SCHOOL EDUCATION.

TEACHER LICENSURE may be added to the following undergraduate liberal arts majors:

HONORS: Students majoring in Education and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Education. To graduate “With Honors in Education,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a minimum major GPA of 3.2. They must complete Education 499 and honors work in Education 430, 431, or 432 and 440, 441, or 442. In addition, they must orally defend a thesis or project and submit a video of exemplary student teaching experiences. Secondary or K-12 majors must meet honors guidelines in their respective major and Education Honors guidelines to receive Honors in Education.

CONCURRENT ENROLLMENT: INTERNSHIPS AND FIELD EXPERIENCE
The School of Education recommends that students not enroll concurrently in more than two courses with field experience or internship components, with the exception of the senior year, when students are enrolled in their methods courses and student teaching. During the senior year, students should be prepared to spend time in their assigned schools completing field-based assignments in the fall semester on a part-time basis and on a full-time basis during the spring semester.

Special requests for exceptions to program requirements must be submitted in writing to the Chair of the School of Education for review by faculty. Such requests should be submitted during early registration for the semester in advance of the exception being requested.

UNDERGRADUATE TEACHER EDUCATION CANDIDATES
Student curriculum check sheets with individual program goals are available in the Office of the Registrar or the School of Education.

MISSION STATEMENT
The College of Education and Human Services believes that it should:
- Maintain an environment in which faculty and staff members have a primary focus on the success of their students;
- Provide an open and constructive academic environment in which staff and faculty work together to support students as they explore the professions of the College to find the vocation that elicits their passion;
- Assure that students are liberally educated in a way that enriches their lives and reinforces the students’ ability to make connections across disciplines;
- Deliver programs that represent a coordinated and intentional sequence of learning experiences that emphasize the connection between valid theory and the best practice of their chosen field;
- Enable students to become competent, reflective practitioners who are responsive to the challenges and opportunities of a changing world and community through emphases in course work and settings;
- Promote social justice;
- Enable our students to be leaders in their practice and serve their profession through professional organization activity appropriate to the roles they accept;
- Rely on the institutional values and Christian foundation of Lenoir-Rhyne University to bring clarity through faith to issues of integrity, fairness, and caring in ethical practice.

CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK
Professional Education candidates studying for practice in public schools prepare to leadership in 21st century schools by becoming reflective practitioners who intentionally engage in transformative cycles of learning about themselves, their content, their students and the world.

Reflective practitioners actively consider the impacts of their actions both in the process of teaching/counseling and afterward to provide future direction. Students at Lenoir-Rhyne learn to consider the technical and practical nature of teaching/ counseling, as well as the ethical and moral implications of teaching/ counseling. Graduates of Lenoir-Rhyne University’s education programs are expected to demonstrate critical thinking and reflection on their practice by the compilation of a portfolio during their course work. The portfolio serves not only as a tool to facilitate reflection, but also to synthesize reconstruction of “self-as-practitioner” as a means toward continued professional development beyond the training experience. It is the intent of the Education program at Lenoir-Rhyne to enable students to analyze and think critically in order to go beyond the institutional limitations which perpetuate “schooling,” to recognize and find positive challenges in dilemmas, and to find unique, professionally sound ways to solve those dilemmas. Reflective practitioners from Lenoir-Rhyne will become more aware of themselves as practitioners (e.g., in the classroom or counseling setting) and perceive that alternatives or changes are possible. This awareness requires a sense of reflective self-renewal as practitioners continually evolve in the process of self-directed growth and critical consciousness. The outcome will be empowerment, intentionally, and leadership in assuming a greater role and responsibility in the direction of classroom and school affairs. Teachers and school counselors can participate in developing partnerships with students, families, administrators, and communities in developing educational policy within both the content and consequences of reflective thinking.

ADMISSION TO TEACHER EDUCATION

Admission to Lenoir-Rhyne University does not guarantee admissions to the Teacher Education Program, and all Teacher Education Program requirements are subject to change as directed by the state and national accrediting agencies. Consult with the Director of Teacher Education to determine the current admission requirements. Students desiring entrance into teacher education should apply and be accepted for admission before the end of their sophomore year. A student who has not met all criteria for admission to teacher education before the end of their sophomore year, may not enroll in 300 or 400-level Education/Special Education courses. Criteria for entrance include the following:

1. Passing scores on Praxis I Tests (176 Reading, 173 Writing, 173 Math). These tests should be passed prior to the end of the sophomore year at Lenoir-Rhyne.
2. Students with SAT scores at or above 500 in Reading, 500 in Writing, and 500 in Math or ACT scores at or above 21 on Reading, 21 on Writing, 21 on Math, 21 on Science or EOC proficiency in science may waive the Praxis I requirement with score verification.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.6 by the end of the sophomore year. Junior transfer students must earn a minimum cumulative GPA in their first semester at Lenoir-Rhyne.
4. A completed online application for admission to Teacher Education, which includes two dispositional evaluation forms completed by faculty members selected by the student. Application deadlines are December 1, May 1, and August 1. (For transfer students, the completed application must be filed before the end of their first semester at Lenoir-Rhyne).
5. Successful completion of at least one 200-level Education course.
6. Completion of a 3 to 5 minute presentation, speaking extemporaneously on a common “how to” topic for the purpose of the evaluation of the applicant’s ability to clearly communicate orally using standard written English and to articulate thoughts into organized, coherent ideas quickly.
7. Approval of the Teacher Education Council.

ADMISSION TO STUDENT TEACHING

At least two semesters before a student expects to student teach, Teacher Education candidates apply for student teaching. This process is likely to begin at the end of student’s first semester of the junior year. Admission to student teaching requires:

1. 2.6 cumulative grade point average;
2. successful interview with a panel of educators;
3. completion of a certified background check within the past year;
4. completion of the primary courses required for licensure with a grade no lower than “C-”;
5. Initial development of key electronic evidences on TaskStream;
6. Conduct check with the Dean of Students Office.

Education majors complete all remaining teaching specialty courses prior to beginning student teaching. Admission to student teaching is granted by the Teacher Education Council. Student Teaching occurs in the spring semester and involves a full 15 week commitment. Students also spend part of the fall semester in their internship placement(s).

A student who does not pass Student Teaching must follow the approval process before being allowed to repeat Student Teaching. The process requires:
1. A written request for readmission to the School of the Education along with a professional development plan.
2. A recommendation from the School Chair, the Director of Teacher Education, and/or specialty area Program Coordinator for those who wish to attempt student teaching in the semester immediately following their first attempt.
3. Formal appeal before the Teacher Education Council which will review the progress of the student and make the decision.

LICENSURE FOR UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE-SEEKING STUDENTS

To be recommended to the Public Schools of North Carolina for teacher licensure, a student must successfully complete an approved program as outlined in the catalog and graduate from Lenoir-Rhyne. Specific program requirements are listed with each major. Additionally, the student must pass any testing and/or evidence requirements as outlined by the state of North Carolina and/or the School of Education, complete student teaching with a minimum grade of a “C-”, and have a positive recommendation from the North Carolina education agency in which student teaching or interning was completed. All Praxis score requirements specified herein are subject to revision by the School of Education as mandated by the state of North Carolina. Courses in content methodology, exceptionalities, and literacy must be taken through state approved accredited Teacher Education programs.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (K-6)

The major is intended to prepare teachers of children in grades K-6 and is blended with preparation to address special needs students using the general curriculum. The requirements provide breadth in the liberal arts, and extensive study in the professional discipline of education, including many field experiences with children. Methods classes, plus an intensive internship, are taken in the fall of the senior year prior to student teaching during the spring of the senior year.

SCHOOL OF COUNSELING AND HUMAN SERVICES

See the graduate portion of the catalog for information on Counseling programs

HUMAN AND COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Human and Community Service major provides graduates with knowledge, skills, and experiences to prepare them for working in human service professions. Students are educated to work with individuals, small groups (such as families), individuals needing help in other groups (work organizations, for example), and with community organizations to accomplish more structural or systemic (social, economic, political, recreational, etc.) goals. The Human and Community Service major earns a B.A. degree. Internships require daytime availability.

MINOR: A minor in Human and Community Service requires eighteen credits including Human and Community Service 220, 320; four courses from HCS 250, 304, 318, 457, SOC 200, or PSY 332.

MAJOR: Nursing (BS) – Prelicensure and Gateway for RNs

The purpose of Lenoir-Rhyne University’s baccalaureate program in nursing is the education of nursing leaders who influence the quality of health care through the promotion of health and management of illness in a global society. This program offers a course of professional study that builds upon the liberal arts and positions graduates for personal and professional success all within the context of a Christian caring perspective. Students are taught specific cognitive, affective, psychomotor and technological skills to enable them to work in collaboration with other members of the health care team and improve the quality of health care through the use of information technology, critical thinking and research. The program facilitates development of nurses who demonstrate caring and respect for all, show a commitment to continuing professional growth, pursue the development of evidence for practice and act with integrity and professionalism at all times. Graduates, prepared in professional care roles, are able to pursue graduate study. The Nursing major earns a Bachelor of Science degree.

HONORS:  Students majoring in Nursing and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, pursue honors work in Nursing. To graduate with “Honors in Nursing,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.25, and complete NUR 498 and 499.

ACCREDITATION: The Lenoir-Rhyne University baccalaureate nursing program is approved by the North Carolina Board of Nursing [Box 2129, Raleigh, NC 27602-2129, (919) 782-3211], and accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, One Dupont Circle NW, Suite 530, Washington, DC, 20036, (202) 887-6791.

ADMISSIONS POLICIES:
Admission to Pre-Nursing

Students who apply to Lenoir-Rhyne University and express an interest in the Nursing major will be admitted to pre-nursing. Students are admitted without regard to race, color, natural origin, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, or veterans status.
Prelicensure Baccalaureate (BSN) Program

Admission to the Nursing major is a competitive process and students in pre-nursing are not guaranteed admission to the major. Students apply for admission to the major during the spring semester of the sophomore year. Students who are accepted matriculate into the major in the fall semester of the junior year. Factors that will be considered in the admission decision include:

- The overall cumulative GPA of all courses taken toward the degree;
- The cumulative GPA on courses taken from the nursing prerequisite list-BIO 220, 281, 282; CHE 101 or 103; HES 288; MAT 115 or 215; NUR 231, 235; PSY 100, 320; SOC 100; NAT 388 or SCI 300 or their equivalents;
- The total number of hours completed toward the major;
- The number of prerequisite hours completed;
- The number of hours completed at Lenoir-Rhyne;
- The score on the ATI TEAS V exam;
- Individual grades on specific prerequisite courses listed above.

Students at Lenoir-Rhyne

Students who are enrolled at Lenoir-Rhyne University and wish to be considered for admission to the Nursing major should complete an application for admission to the major by March 1. Application forms are available on the School of Nursing home page at www.lr.edu/nur.

To be eligible to apply for admission to the major a student must have:
- Submitted an ATI TEAS V exam score at or above the Proficient Level by March 1;
- Submitted to have on file with the School of Nursing a satisfactory health appraisal;
- Submitted evidence of training and registration as a Nurse Aide I in North Carolina or another state;
- Completed or be able to complete a minimum of 60 semester hours in the pre-nursing curriculum before fall semester of the junior year;
- Earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 by the end of the fall semester before the application is made;
- Completed at least 5 prerequisite course with grades of C- or higher including BIO 281 and one other science course;
- Earned a cumulative Nursing GPA of 2.75 by the end of fall semester;
- Completed or be enrolled in NUR 231 and 235;

Progression Policies

In order to assure safe practitioners, the Nursing faculty requires that students adhere to the following Universal Progression Rules:
- A student can enroll in a course with a nursing prefix (NUR) only when prerequisites for that course are completed with a grade of C- or better;
- A student must earn a minimum grade of 78 or higher in each required course with a nursing prefix in order to complete the program;
- A student who receives a grade below 78 in a nursing course must successfully complete that course before enrolling in other nursing courses at the next level or in other nursing courses for which the failed course is a prerequisite;
- A student who receives less than C- in NUR 231 or 235 must receive permission to repeat the courses. Students should seek advice from their advisor and address requests to the Academic Standards committee in writing;
• A student who receives a grade of D+, D, D- or F in a required course with a nursing prefix is automatically disqualified from continuing in the program. The student cannot enroll in subsequent nursing courses until initiating readmission procedures and receiving official notice of readmission;
• A student who receives grades of D+, D, D- or F in more than one required course with a nursing prefix is dismissed from the program and is not eligible to apply for readmission for at least three years. No more than one required course with a nursing prefix may be repeated for a better grade;
• A student must function safely within the clinical area at all times in order to continue in the program. The faculty reserves the right to deny progression and/or permanently dismiss a student who demonstrates behaviors that conflict with safety essential to nursing practice at any time in the curriculum;
• A student must submit an annual health update by Registration Day each fall semester on the semester entering or returning to the program. Before being allowed in the clinical area, the student must provide evidence of immunizations as well as satisfactory physical and emotional health. The faculty reserves the right to dismiss a student who presents physical or emotional problems that do not respond to appropriate treatment or counseling within a reasonable time;
• A student must be current in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) and Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) Bloodborne Pathogens Standards for each clinical course. The CPR update is required every two years. An annual update is required to maintain current status of OSHA standards;
• A student must meet all individual agency requirements before engaging in clinical activities. These requirements include criminal background checks, drug screening, and Tb screening (completed annually).

GATEWAY PROGRAM
A student seeking admission into the Gateway Nursing Program at Lenoir-Rhyne is advised to seek official transfer credit for courses completed at other colleges and universities. Students should contact the Gateway Director or Chair of the School of Nursing for guidance on the transferability of courses. Gateway students can enroll in general college courses and nursing prerequisites at the University at any time individual course prerequisites have been met and they have been accepted by the University. The Academic Standards Committee of the School of Nursing reviews transcripts to assure placement at the appropriate level.

To be eligible to apply for admission to the Gateway Nursing Program, students must have:
• A current unrestricted License as a Registered Nurse or be able to complete licensure before enrollment in NUR 300;
• Completed or be able to complete a minimum of 56 semester hours in the pre-nursing curriculum before enrollment in NUR 300;
• Earned a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 by the end of the semester before the application is made;
• Completed at least 5 Prerequisite courses with grades of C- or higher; and
• Complete a criminal background check from an approved vendor.

General Elective Credits (if needed)

TOTAL CREDIT HOURS (minimum) 128#

* On occasion, technical and/or program requirements may also meet specific core curriculum requirements. Please confer with your program advisor to determine which courses, if any, may be counted accordingly.

All Bachelors programs at Lenoir-Rhyne require at least 128 credit hours. If, in combination, core, technical, and program requirements do not generate at least 128 hours, additional credits must be completed to achieve 128 hours. These classes may be general electives, or a student may complete a minor or additional major.

HEALTH AND IMMUNIZATION: North Carolina law requires that all students applying for admission to the Pre-nursing major have a physical examination regardless of residential status. or course load. This examination must include certification for ability to participate in clinical activities. The Lenoir-Rhyne Student Health Form is used by the School of Nursing as documentation of this exam and is available on the Lenoir-Rhyne website under Student Health.

The School of Nursing uses CDC guidelines, North Carolina immunization law, and agency requirements in determining necessary immunizations for nursing students. As agencies and guidelines change students may be required to update their immunizations to be allowed in clinical sites. Students who are unable to complete a clinical course or who miss clinical experiences due to lack of immunizations will be treated in the same manner as students who are unable to complete courses or who miss for other reasons. See the School of Nursing Student Handbook for details or contact the School of Nursing at 828.328.7281 for more information.

CPR: CPR certification is required before participation in the clinical portion of nursing courses at the beginning of the Junior Year. See the Student Handbook for description of CPR and fees.

FEES: A laboratory fee is charged for clinical and laboratory courses. These fees partially cover expenses unique to nursing such as standardized testing, lab supplies, crosses, and ceremonies. Please refer to the fee section of the catalog for a partial listing of fees.

TRANSPORTATION: Students must provide their own transportation for clinical courses.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION K-12

The Health and Physical Education K-12 major is designed for the student pursuing a career in teaching and coaching in public schools. The major stresses field experiences through methods courses, adapted physical education opportunities, and educational internships. The curriculum provides a balance of activities grouped under the psychomotor, cognitive, and affective domains. These activities include sequential progression, performance objectives, and prescribed evaluation procedures. Students enrolled in Health and Physical Education K-12 licensure program must successfully complete all parts of Praxis I before taking any EDU or HES 300 level courses. A Health and Physical Education K-12 major earns a B.A. degree.

OBJECTIVES:

1. To develop and refine students' personal skills capabilities in a wide range of activities.
2. To utilize various teaching methodologies to create personalized learning opportunities.
3. To plan innovative learning experiences in the psychomotor, cognitive, and affective domains.
4. To understand the mechanical principles of movement and the effects of exercise and other health related factors on the human body.
5. To demonstrate patterns of positive social behavior and interpersonal relationships in all forms of competitive activity.
6. To serve as positive models epitomizing personal health and fitness.
7. To evidence professional commitment through membership and involvement in local, state, and national physical education organizations and continuous professional study.

ATHLETIC TRAINING
The Master of Science in Athletic Training is designed as an entry-level degree for persons entering the field of athletic training. The degree is designed to prepare individuals for positions as athletic trainers in a variety of employment settings. The program uses an integrative curriculum for the development of strong clinical skills and decision-making.

Admission Guidelines for Athletic Training
There are several curricular programs for students interested in athletic training at Lenoir-Rhyne:

Primary Track-Five Year Option:
The primary track is a freshman entry track with 3 years of study in the pre-professional phase and 2 years in the professional phase of the program. After the fourth year students will earn an undergraduate degree after the fifth year students will earn a master of Science in Athletic Training. Students in the track must meet the Graduate School Admission criteria prior to enrolling in the professional phase of the Master of Science in Athletic Training program. A five-year option is not available with this undergraduate degree. Undergraduate options for the primary track include:
- Sports Management (BA) – Pre AT Track
- Community Health (BS) – Pre AT Track
- Health and Exercise Science (BS) – Pre AT Track
- Health and Physical Education (BA) – Students must complete the undergraduate degree prior to enrolling in the professional phase of the Master of Science in Athletic Training program. A five-year option is not available with this undergraduate degree. Refer to http://hes.lr.edu for a look at the five year plans for each major.

Professional Track (traditional Graduate Track):
- A student who possesses a baccalaureate degree can apply directly into the professional phase of the graduate program. They must meet Graduate Admissions criteria and have the appropriate prerequisite course work.
- Professional Track (Traditional Graduate Track)

MISSION: The mission of the Charles M. Snipes School of Business is to provide current and practical knowledge that will prepare students for a successful business career. Based on a solid foundation in the liberal arts, the Charles M. Snipes School of Business fosters creative, critical thinking while promoting interpersonal and team skills needed in a diverse and global work environment. The Charles M. Snipes School of Business incorporates the use of state-of-the-art technology while encouraging students to make ethical decisions. Members of the faculty offer dedicated instruction and advisement at both the undergraduate and graduate levels of study.

The Business core curriculum of the Charles M. Snipes School of Business programs provides a broad range of exposure in the basics of business operations and education. Enhancement and flexibility are provided by having degree plans utilizing the basic core combined with courses designed to give the student a specialized knowledge of a functional area. The business functional areas are Accounting, Marketing, Management, and Finance. In addition, The Charles M. Snipes School of Business, in conjunction with other academic programs, offers a major in International Business to give the student additional latitude in preparing for a career. Each major in the Charles M. Snipes School of Business earns a B.A. degree, with the exception of the POD, which earns a B.S.

The Charles M. Snipes School of Business programs are accredited by the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs.
DOUBLE MAJOR: For a double major within the Charles M. Snipes School of Business, completion of an additional 15 credits (minimum) beyond the requirements for the first major is required. The additional courses will come from the major requirements and elective courses prescribed for the second major. Approval to major in more than one area must be obtained from the faculty advisor.

MINOR: A minor in Business requires nineteen credits consisting of Accounting 231, Business 340, 344, 360 (prerequisite ECO 121 or 122), three credits of electives (300-level or above) from the Charles M. Snipes School of Business course offerings, and CSC 175.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

The program for the International Business major is structured uniquely to include substantial course work in Business, Economics, and a modern foreign language. Majors must combine the business skill with the language skill. The requirements are intensive and demanding. Career possibilities are numerous and expanding, and a growing number of businesses have foreign affiliations providing opportunities in manufacturing, marketing, and finance. The International Business major earns a B.A. degree. Course requirements for the International Business major are as follows:

MANAGEMENT

A Management major has several opportunities. The major has a liberal arts core as a basis for career-long leadership and provides courses in management theory for opportunities for advancement in a management career, and gives the students background courses in all areas of business. INTERNSHIP/CO-OP PROGRAM:

Accounting or Business 461, 462, 465, 466 and 470 are programs of experiential learning which provide on-site work experience with a particular business for a fifteen-week semester. The programs are planned, developed, monitored and evaluated cooperatively by the business firm and The Charles M. Snipes School of Business.

Students engaged in any three credit hour internship (ACC or BUS 461 or 462) will devote ten hours each week to the work experience. This is the equivalent to one course taken as part of the normal academic load.

Students engaged in the six credit hour block (ACC or BUS 465 or 466) will devote twenty hours each week to the work experience while taking no more than nine additional credits on campus, the combination of which will comprise the total academic load for one semester. Students engaged in the twelve credit hour block (ACC or BUS 470) will devote forty hours each week to the work experience which will normally comprise the total academic load for one semester. If scheduling permits, three additional credits may be taken on campus.

Students are qualified to participate in a Business internship if they have earned a 2.5 GPA in their major and have a cumulative 2.5 GPA. In addition, the following courses must have been successfully completed: ACC 231; CSC 175; BUS 300, 340, 344, and 360.

Students are qualified to participate in an Accounting internship if they have earned a 3.25 GPA in their major with a cumulative 2.5 GPA. In addition, the following courses must have been successfully completed: ACC 231, 331, 332; CSC 175; BUS 300, 340, 344, and 360.

Successful completion of each internship includes submission of a bi-weekly log report, mid-term interview with the supervising instructor, mid-term and end of the semester evaluations by the job supervisor, and an oral and written presentation to The Charles M. Snipes Business faculty.
ECONOMICS

Courses in Economics are intended to provide the student with a basic understanding of economic structures and processes including economic growth and productivity, unemployment and inflation, taxation and public expenditure, supply and demand, international trade and finance, labor-management cooperation and competition, etc. The Economics major earns a B.A. degree.

MINOR: A minor in Economics requires eighteen credits consisting of Economics 121, 122, 323, 324 and six credits of Economics electives.

HONORS: Students majoring in Economics and judged qualified by the Economics faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Economics. To graduate "With Honors in Economics," a student must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete Economics 498 and 499. An oral presentation of the honors paper or a synopsis of the honors project is required. Normally the student in the honors program will have completed Economics 121, 122, 323, 324 and 325.

COLLEGE OF PROFESSIONAL AND MATHEMATICAL STUDIES

Professor Mary Lesser, Interim Dean

DONALD AND HELEN SCHORT SCHOOL OF MATHEMATICS AND COMPUTING SCIENCES

Dr. Thierry Zell, Chair

FACULTY:
Professors Douglas Burkholder
Associate Professors Bjarne Berg, Thierry Zell
Assistant Professor Timothy Goldberg, Razvan Mezei, Kristy Van Hornweder

MAJORS: INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY (BA), COMPUTER SCIENCE (BA), MATHEMATICS (BA/BS)

COMPUTING SCIENCES
The Computer Science major is designed to provide students with a scientific foundation in the study of computers and their uses. A major in Computer Science prepares students for graduate study or for positions in business, industry or education. The required core of CS courses provides a balance between the development of science and mathematical applications and the necessary theoretical fundamentals for the study of algorithms, programming, and the design of computer systems. Electives allow the student to concentrate in one of several areas including web design and programming, object-oriented and event-driven programming, project management, and algorithm analysis. The Computer Science major earns a B.A. degree.

The Information Technology major prepares students to meet the technology needs of business, government, healthcare, schools, and other kinds of organizations. Its emphasis is on the technology itself more than on the information it conveys. The IT graduate will possess a combination of theoretical knowledge and practical expertise to handle the information technology infrastructure needs of an organization, including selecting and installing hardware and software, customizing, and maintaining applications, and managing networks. The Information Technology major earns a B.A. degree.

MAJORS: COMPUTER SCIENCE, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY.

MINORS: Applied Computer Science, Theoretical Computer Science, and Information Technology.

A minor in Applied Computer Science requires twenty-three credits consisting of Computer Science 120, 141, 212, 241, 280, 312, and one CSC elective, and Mathematics 165.

A minor in Theoretical Computer Science requires twenty-six credits consisting of Computer Science 120, 150, 212, 250, 280, 312, and Mathematics 124 and 165.
A minor in Information Technology requires twenty-two or twenty-four credits consisting of Computer Science 120, 141, 175, 210, 241; and either Computer Science 220, 320 and 420 or Computer Science 138, 163, and 421 or Computer Science 291, 292, and 491.

Enterprise Resource Planning Certificate: CSC 291, 292, 390 and one course from the following CSC 334, 350, 380, or 400.

HONORS: Students majoring in Computer Science or Information Technology who are judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Computer Science or Information Technology. To graduate “With Honors is Computer Science or Information Technology” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and a minimum major GPA of 3.2. In addition, they must complete twelve credits of honors work in the relevant program (Computer Science or Information Technology), including an acceptable senior project, complete an original thesis to be submitted for approval of the faculty, and pass an oral defense of the research.

MATHEMATICS

The courses in Mathematics are designed to convey to students the logical structure of mathematics and prepare students to apply mathematical models to various areas of problem solving and analysis. A major or minor in Mathematics prepares students for positions in business, industry, or education or for entry into graduate programs.

MAJOR: MATHEMATICS

MINORS: Mathematics, Actuarial Science

A minor in Mathematics requires twenty-two credits consisting of Mathematics 124, 165, 166, and three MAT electives (nine to eleven credits) numbered above 200.

A minor in Actuarial Science consists of twenty-five credits: MAT 165, 166, 215, 265, 450, 430, and 431.

A minor in Mathematics for Scientific Computing requires 25 to 27 credits consisting of MAT 165, 166, 265, 270, 280 and a two-semester sequence in a programming language.

A minor in Mathematics for Middle Grades Education requires 22 credits including MAT 124, 165, 215, 240, 255, 280, 400.

HONORS:

Students majoring in Mathematics and judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in Mathematics. To graduate “With Honors in Mathematics,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete nine credits of honors course work in Mathematics, including MAT 498 and 499. In addition, they must complete an original thesis to be submitted for approval of the faculty, and pass an oral defense of their research.

MAJOR TRACKS:

In order to help students prepare for a variety of career options, Mathematics major has three tracks:

- Actuarial Science—prepares students to enter the actuarial profession. Students will be prepared to take the first two actuarial exams (P, and FM). The major, which leads to a B.S. degree, requires fifty-two credits, of which thirty-seven are in Mathematics.
- Teacher Education—prepares students to teach Mathematics at the secondary school level, requires seventy-nine credits, of which forty-three are in Mathematics, and leads to a B.A. degree.
- Theoretical—prepares students for graduate school, requires a minimum of fifty-three credits, and leads to a B.S. degree.

* On occasion, technical and/or program requirements may also meet specific core curriculum requirements. Please confer with your program advisor to determine which courses, if any, may be counted accordingly.

All Bachelors programs at Lenoir-Rhyne require at least 128 credit hours. If, in combination, core, technical, and program requirements do not generate at least 128 hours, additional credits must be completed to achieve 128 hours. These classes may be general electives, or a student may complete a minor or additional major.
COLLEGE OF PROFESSIONAL AND MATHEMATICAL STUDIES

Professor Mary Lesser, Interim Dean

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION

Dr. Lisa Harris, Chair

JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION FACULTY:
Professor William Richter
Associate Professor Lisa Harris
Assistant Professor Jeffrey Delbert
Instructor Cade Hamilton

MAJORS: BROADCAST AND ELECTRONIC MEDIA (BA), CONVERGING AND INTERACTIVE MEDIA (BA), MULTIMEDIA JOURNALISM (BA), PUBLIC RELATIONS (BA) COMMUNICATION

Students completing one of the majors in the School of Journalism and Mass Communication are provided with the broad background necessary for successful entry into the field of communication.

A common core of courses gives majors an understanding of both the history of the field and the ethical responsibilities of professional communication in our society. These foundation courses also provide specific skills in writing, speaking, broadcasting, and group communication.

In addition to the core communication courses required of all majors, students are given the opportunity to choose a specialized major that is best suited to their interests and career goals. These include: Public Relations, Converging and Interactive Media, Broadcast and Electronic Media, and Multimedia Journalism.

Internships and courses in the majors provide practical, professional experience in these areas. Each major in the School of Journalism and Mass Communication listed above earns a B.A. degree.

MINOR: A minor in Communication requires eighteen credits consisting of Communication 120, 142, 209, 320, 350 and three credits of Communication electives (excluding 455).

HONORS: Students majoring in Journalism and Mass Communication who are judged qualified by the faculty may, upon invitation, elect to pursue honors work in the program. To graduate “With Honors in Journalism and Mass Communication,” students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0, a minimum major GPA of 3.2, and complete twelve credits of honors courses in the major area, including COM 499.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

ACCOUNTING

ACC 231. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES.
The purpose and nature of accounting, preparation of financial statements, accounting cycle for service and merchandising enterprises, internal control, accounting for corporations and analysis/interpretations of financial statements. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

ACC 330. MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING.
Prerequisites: ACC 231
A basic understanding of the interpretation and uses of accounting data in planning and controlling business activities of cost behavior. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

ACC 331. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES—INTERMEDIATE I.
Prerequisites: ACC 231
Emphasis on accounting theory and conceptual framework, financial statement structure and terminology, continuing emphasis on current accounting standards, problems, and the changing nature of contemporary principles and practices. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

ACC 332. INCOME TAX ACCOUNTING.
A comprehensive look at the application of the income tax regulations and laws as they apply to individuals. Additionally, tax principles, tax planning, tax shelters, tax practice and procedures, and tax research will be examined. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

ACC 334. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES—INTERMEDIATE II.
Prerequisite: ACC 331
A continuation of Intermediate I, with sustained emphasis on accounting theory and concepts. Special areas of emphasis include corporate capital, statement of changes in financial position, earnings per share, statement analysis and interpretation, impact of price-level change, revenue recognition, leases and pensions. Three credits. (Spring)

ACC 431. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES—ADVANCED.
Prerequisite: ACC 331, (ACC 334 suggested).
Continued emphasis on the theoretical framework of accounting. Application of concepts and procedures to special areas and activities including partnership accounting, variants of revenue recognition, extended coverage of business combinations and corporate consolidations, fiduciary and budgetary accounting. Three credits. (Fall)

ACC 432. COST ACCOUNTING.
Prerequisites: ACC 331.
Concepts of managerial responsibility for planning, control, and decision-making through the application of techniques of cost data accumulation, allocation, distribution, and reporting; job order, process, and standard cost systems are also examined. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

ACC 433. AUDITING.
Prerequisites: ACC 331, (334 Suggested).
Conceptual approach to the professional and technical aspects of the auditing discipline, emphasizing attainment of audit objectives through application of auditing principles, standards, procedures, and internal control features. Three credits. (Fall, Summer)
ACC 434. CPA PROBLEMS AND REVIEW.
Prerequisite: ACC 334.
Review and preparation for the CPA examination. Three credits. (Fall)

ACC 461, 462. INTERNSHIP IN ACCOUNTING.
Ten on-site work hours per week for one semester. Three credits. (On demand)

ACC 465, 466. INTERNSHIP IN ACCOUNTING.
Twenty on-site work hours per week for one semester. Six credits each. (On demand)

ACC 470. CO-OP PROGRAM IN ACCOUNTING.
Forty on-site work hours per week for one semester. Twelve credits. (On demand)

AMERICAN STUDIES

AMS 400. AMERICAN STUDIES SENIOR PROJECT.
Independent study and research, culminating in the writing and presentation of a major interdisciplinary critical project. Directed by a member of the faculty in the student's primary area of interest, with a committee from other areas. Three credits. (On demand)

ART

ART 200. ART APPRECIATION.
A study of the fundamentals of visual design, the materials and techniques by which they are made, and the principal forms of art developed by cultures both ancient and modern. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

ART 201. DESIGN I.
An examination of the principles, theories, and concepts of color and design and their application to two and three dimensional design. There will be formal exercises which are aimed at assisting the students in the development of sensitivity to color, composition, and form-making. Studio course. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

ART 205. PHOTOGRAPHY.
A basic introduction to the equipment, materials, and techniques for producing good photographic prints, as well as the aesthetic concepts related to the art of photography. Three credits. (Fall)

ART 206. SCULPTURE.
Introduction to three-dimensional materials, techniques, and additive and subtractive sculptural processes. Three credits. (Even Fall)

ART 211. DRAWING I.
Basic visual concepts and materials traditionally associated with the art of drawing. Three credits. (Fall)

ART 217. PHILOSOPHY OF ART.
An analysis of the principles involved in the description, interpretation, and evaluation of the arts and the relation of aesthetics to other aspects of philosophy. Three credits. Cross-listed with Philosophy 217. (Even Fall)
ART 221. PAINTING I.
Beginning course designed to introduce the student to basic materials and painting techniques, including, watercolors, acrylics, and oils. Emphasis on expressive effect and the emotional nature and impact of the art work. Three credits. (Fall)

ART 223. GRAPHIC REPRODUCTION TECHNIQUES.
Prerequisites: ART 201, 211.
Introduction to the art of printmaking, including project work in linocut, woodcut, drypoint, etching, engraving, silk-screen, and combined media. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

ART 225. CERAMICS.
Introduction to the art of hand-building and wheel throwing, glazing, decorating, kiln construction, and firing techniques. Three credits. (Spring)

ART 301. DESIGN II.
Prerequisite: ART 201.
Further development of concepts related to the organization of visual elements in two and three dimensional designs. Three credits. (Even Spring)

ART 311. DRAWING II.
Beginning studio course in the fundamentals of drawing the human figure. It will cover basic topics such as the structure of the human body, general proportions, and basic expressive considerations. Three credits. (Spring)

ART 321. PAINTING II.
Prerequisites: ART 211, 221.
This course gives the student an opportunity for an in-depth exploration of new and novel ways of pictorial expression that incorporates unconventional techniques and materials. It explores a variety of media and subjects, including but not limited to the figure. Three credits. (Spring)

ART 341. HISTORY OF ART I.
Prerequisite: HIS 101.
A survey of art from the Paleolithic Period through the Gothic. Three credits. (Fall)

ART 342. HISTORY OF ART II.
Prerequisite: HIS 102.
A survey of the principal forms of art created from the Gothic through the Modern and Contemporary eras. Three credits. (Spring)

ART 371. PAINTING III.
Prerequisites: ART 211, 221, 311, 321.
This course emphasizes the development of personal modes of expression in form and content. This course serves as a vehicle in the creation of a series of artwork ready for gallery representation and portfolio presentation. Three credits. (Even Spring)

ART 381, 382, 383, 384. SELECTED TOPICS IN ART.
Selected topics in studio art. One, two, three, or four credits. (On demand)

ART 400. SENIOR PORTFOLIO.
The completion of a body of work that reflects on a particular creative problem in studio art or a thesis in art history or aesthetics. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

ART 421. DESIGN III.
Prerequisites: ART 201, ART 205, ART 301.
This course will involve a wide range of design problems with an emphasis on conceptual and technical elements as resolved with the use of digital imagery and computer technology. Students will study aspects of color psychology and explore digital color management as related to the impact of electronic color on design and illustration. Three credits. (Even Fall)

ART 441. HISTORY OF ART III.
Prerequisites: ART 341, 342, HIS 101, 102.
This course provides a survey of the Avant-Garde movements of the late nineteenth and early to mid-twentieth centuries, artistic manifestos, utopias, and the search for individuality. Three credits. (On demand)

ART 451. INTERNSHIP IN GRAPHIC DESIGN.
This course will enable students to gain practical experience in a professional work setting, assisting them to build their portfolio and providing the opportunity to gain valuable job references to be used with prospective employers, thus enhancing their marketability and job readiness. Three credits. Cross-listed with CSC 451. (Fall, Spring)

ART 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Intensive study or presentation of a particular visual art or education-related area, culminating in an honors thesis or project, approved and directed by an art faculty member and evaluated by a faculty committee. This area may be an in-depth review and interpretation of art literature or history, or a public presentation displaying advanced study and application of particular artistic techniques in a single medium or multiple media. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

ASTRONOMY

AST 100. DESCRIPTIVE ASTRONOMY.
Practical astronomy (time, motions, and positions), members of the solar system, stellar types and populations, galaxies, and cosmology. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

AST 110. CONCEPTS OF ASTRONOMY.
An introduction to the science of astronomy, including study of the solar system stellar types, populations and stellar evolution, galaxies, and cosmology. Laboratory exercises will be concerned with positions and motions of celestial objects. One or two evening observation sessions will be required. Two lecture hours and two laboratory hours per week. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

AST 200. ASTROPHYSICS.
Prerequisites: AST 100, PHY 122 or 203, MAT 166.
Content and outlook of modern astronomy and astrophysics. The solar system, stars, galaxies, and the universe. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

AST 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Selected topics from observational and theoretical areas of astronomy. One, two, three, or four credits. (On demand)

BIOLOGY

BIO 105. PRINCIPLES OF BIOLOGY.
Must be taken by all biological majors. The course emphasizes major biological concepts ranging from the molecular to the ecosystem level. The following principles are covered: basic chemical and physical laws, energy dynamics, genetics, ecology, evolution, cell structure and function, growth and development. Laboratory exercises and experiments demonstrate analytical and descriptive approaches to biology and involve the collection, organization, and interpretation of various types of biological data. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 106. PRINCIPLES OF BIOLOGY.
Continuation of BIO 105. Must be taken by all biological majors. The course emphasizes major biological concepts ranging from the molecular to the ecosystem levels. The following principles are covered: basic chemical and physical laws, energy dynamics, genetics, ecology, evolution, cell structure and function, growth and development. Laboratory exercises and experiments demonstrate analytical and descriptive approaches to biology and involve the collection, organization, and interpretation of various types of biological data. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring)

BIO 110. CONCEPTS OF BIOLOGY.
A course designed for non-majors involving a study of the basic biological concepts common to living organisms. Particular consideration given to the physical and chemical laws governing life, cell structure and function and basic principles of genetics, photosynthesis, cellular respiration, reproduction, and evolutionary theory. Two lecture hours and two laboratory hours per week. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BIO 200. BIOLOGY SEMINAR.
Prerequisite: BIO 110 or BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
A seminar designed to expand the student’s exposure to current scientific research. Researchers from nearby institutions will present seminars on various topics of biology. Students also will be required to present a one-half hour seminar and to critique one or more of the seminars given by an outside speaker. Each biology major is required to complete one credit. Course may be taken up to four times for a total of four credits. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 201. HEALTH CAREERS INTERNSHIP.
Prerequisite: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
A minimum of five hours per week at Frye Regional Medical Center or Catawba Regional Medical Center including experience in each of the following areas: diagnostic (lab, x-ray, cardiac), general nursing care, operating room, rehabilitation, patient's point of view. Cannot be counted as credit toward a biology major. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 202. ADVANCED HEALTH CAREERS INTERNSHIP.
Prerequisite: BIO 201 or permission of instructor.
A minimum of five hours per week at Frye Regional Medical Center or Catawba Regional Medical Center, including either additional experience in one selected area covered in Health Careers Internship or experience in one of the following centers: heart, neuroscience, rehabilitation, orthopedic, or others by arrangement. Cannot be counted as credit toward a biology major. Course may be taken up to four times for a total of four credits. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 203. VERTEBRATE ZOOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
An investigation of various evolutionary adaptations and radiations among vertebrates with emphasis on comparison of form and structure as it relates to function. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 212. BACTERIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 and one year of college chemistry or permission of the instructor.
The morphology, physiology, development and genetics of bacteria. Identification, isolation and cultivation using standard laboratory procedures. Three lecture hours and four laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring, Summer)

BIO 220. MICROBIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 281 or introductory biology lab course.
A course designed for nursing students to explore the basic biology of microorganisms (bacteria, viruses, rickettsiae, protozoa and helminths). Included are: infectious diseases, host-pathogen relationships, and the immune response. Three lecture hours and two laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BIO 230. INVERTEBRATE ZOOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
Taxonomy, morphology, physiology, ecology, and evolution of the major phyla of invertebrate animals, including the insects. Living specimens are utilized where possible and field studies are encouraged. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

BIO 237. BIODIVERSITY.
Prerequisite: BIO 110 or 106.
An examination of the variety and variability of life on earth and the interrelationships in ecosystems. The course will look at complex relationships between living and non-living aspects of the natural world. Topics include climatology and habitat diversity, taxonomic diversity, evolution and speciation, limiting factors, the impact of invasive species and requirements for biological conservation. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 240. CELL BIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
This course provides in-depth consideration of the close correlation between the structural and chemical basis of cellular organization and function. Emphasis is given to cellular components, cellular ultra-structure, cytological techniques, major cellular processes, and regulation of cellular structure and function. Current literature is utilized to emphasize recent research findings. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 245. PLANT ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
A course designed to introduce the biological science major to plant life through the study of evolution, life histories, anatomy, and physiology. Special emphasis will be placed upon the anatomy and physiology of the flowering plants. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring)

BIO 250. HISTOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
A study of cells, tissues and their organization in living organisms. Laboratory work will include histological techniques. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

BIO 260. NATURAL HISTORY AND FIELD BIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
An investigation of selected groups of organisms, especially the vertebrates, as found in their natural habitats, including life cycles, adaptations, interactions with other organisms and evolutionary relationships. Field techniques of investigation will be emphasized. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Spring)

BIO 270. SYSTEMATIC BOTANY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
Identification and classification of native plants, especially seed-bearing plants; observation and collection of specimen plants on organized field trips. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Fall)

BIO 281. HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.
Prerequisite: Prior laboratory course in biology or chemistry.
Introductory survey course in human anatomy and physiology. Major topics covered include cellular structure and function, skeletal, muscle, nervous, special senses, and endocrine systems. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. NOTE: Biology, pre-medical, medical technology, pre-forestry and biology teacher education majors may enroll in this course for elective credit only (i.e., credits will not count toward biology major). However, if both BIO 281 and BIO 282 are completed, four hours of credit can count toward the major. (Fall, Summer)

BIO 282. HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.
Prerequisite: BIO 281 or permission of the instructor.
Continuation of BIO 281. A study of respiratory, circulatory, digestive, excretory, and reproductive systems. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. NOTE: Biology, pre-medical, medical technology, pre-forestry, and biology teacher education majors may enroll in this course for elective credit only (i.e., credits will not count toward biology major). However, if both BIO 281 and BIO 282 are completed, four hours of credit can count toward the major. (Spring, Summer)

BIO 305. GENETICS.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
Fundamental principles of heredity and variation in organisms. Additional emphasis is placed on recent developments in molecular, viral, and microbial genetics. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring)

BIO 310. GENERAL ECOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
General principles relating to the dynamics of both aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems. Special emphasis on energy flow, mineral cycling, trophic organization, population dynamics, and Community development. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 320. ANIMAL PHYSIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
Introduction to basic animal physiological mechanisms. The relationship of form and function will be discussed with special emphasis upon events at the cellular and molecular levels. Major organ systems will be covered in lecture and selected events in each system studied in laboratory sessions. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring)

BIO 331. IMMUNOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106, CHE 104, 104L.
Introduction to immunology and the immune response. Emphasis upon the induction and expression of cellular and humoral immunity by investigation of antigen and antibody structure, cellular interactions of the reticuloendothelial system, and a brief survey of immunopathology, including autoimmunity, allergic reactions and tumor immunology. Readings of classic papers and current literature in immunology research will be required. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

BIO 360. DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
An investigation of the morphological, biochemical, and genetic aspects of development and differentiation of living systems. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

BIO 381, 382, 383, & 384. SPECIAL TOPICS IN BIOLOGY.
Prerequisites: BIO 105, 106 or permission of the instructor.
A course designed to provide an opportunity for an in-depth study of selected topics within the field of biological sciences. Topics may include the following: comparative animal physiology, parasitology, plant physiology, radiation biology, origin of life, cytogenetics, animal behavior, and nutrition. Topics and credit will be announced each time the course is offered. Course may be repeated with different topics. One to four credits. (On demand)

BIO 390, 391. HONORS TUTORIAL.
These courses will be taken by students invited to participate in the Biology Honors program during successive semesters of the junior year. Courses consist of conferences, seminars, readings, and assigned writings intended to develop critical perspectives on modern biological problems and to provide a breadth and sense of historical continuity in biological thought. One credit. (390 Fall, 391 Spring)

BIO 400. RESEARCH PROBLEMS.
Prerequisite: Sixteen credits of Biology or permission of the instructor.
A one semester research course open to all biology majors and required of all students seeking a B.S. degree in biology. Students will be expected to be involved in experimental design and laboratory research which will culminate in a written and oral presentation. Four credits. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 401. LAB INTERNSHIP.
Students will assist in and help set up, teach and take down introductory biology laboratories for one semester (approximately 10 labs, two hours each). They will develop a lesson and present it. They will learn to develop materials lists, to place orders for materials and will learn preparation techniques. May be repeated for credit. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 410. RECOMBINANT BIOTECHNOLOGY LABORATORY.

BIO 420. LITERATURE RESEARCH IN BIOLOGY.
Prerequisite: Sixteen credits of Biology or permission of the instructor.
A one semester literature research course open to all Biology majors - required of all students seeking a B.A. degree in Biology. Students will be expected to do a literature research project on a current topic in biology, which will culminate in written and oral presentations. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BIO 471, 472, & 473. BIOLOGY INTERNSHIP.
Field and/or laboratory experiences in the area of biological science such as a science museum, veterinarian practice, environmental laboratory or other approved activity. Does not count as credit toward the biology major. Three hours of activity per week is required for each credit. One to three credits. (On demand)

BIO 495. COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION IN BIOLOGY.
A comprehensive exam is required of all Biology, Medical Technology, Pre-Environmental Management, Pre-Forestry, and Pre-Med majors. Zero credit.

BIO 498, 499. SENIOR HONORS INVESTIGATION.
Prerequisites: BIO 390, 391.
These courses will be taken by Biology Honors students during successive semesters of the senior year. Independent research on a biological subject of interest to the student will be conducted under the guidance of a biology faculty member and a departmental committee. Upon completion of the research project, the student must prepare a written report of the investigation and pass an oral examination on the project administered by the departmental committee. May be used in place of BIO 400 as a major requirement. Three credits. (490 Fall, 491 Spring)

BUSINESS

BUS 100. INTRODUCTION TO BUSINESS.
A fundamental survey course designed to familiarize students with a broad overview of the relationships that exist among an organization’s management, marketing, finance, production, and accounting functions. Open to first-years or any other student who has not yet completed a course in accounting or management. Business 100 will not satisfy any business major curriculum requirement. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 300. BUSINESS COMMUNICATIONS.
Prerequisites: ENG 231, CSC 175 Recommended.
The development of communication skills in a variety of business situations including business correspondence, business reports, research methodology, small group communication, oral presentations, and the employment process. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 320. MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS.
Prerequisite: CSC 175.
A basic understanding of the principles related to management information systems and the impact of management information systems in the business environment. Emphasis is on decision making, the need for information, and the use of computer systems as a provider of the information. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 340. BUSINESS MANAGEMENT.
An analysis of underlying theory and principles of business organization and management, including administrative methods and practices required for organizing, planning, directing, and controlling a business enterprise. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BUS 341. INVESTMENTS.
Prerequisite: ACC 231.
An examination of the principles underlying sound investment; a study of investment objectives, alternatives, risk, and the various investment media. Three credits. (Spring)

BUS 342. PERSONAL FINANCE.
This course focuses on the mind-set, tools, and techniques of managing money and the principles that middle class people could use to create wealth. Three credits.

BUS 344. BUSINESS FINANCE.
Prerequisites: ACC 231.
A study of the financial area from the standpoint of the business corporation. Consideration of both internal financial management and external relationships with money and capital markets, financial planning, sources of funds, classes and types of securities, and valuation of business. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BUS 345. HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT.
Prerequisite: BUS 340.
Concepts, principles, and practices in human resource management in business and industry. Emphasis is given to the role of the human resource administrator, the systematic use of scientific technique, and the impact of the human relations involved in the development of a sound personnel program. Three credits. (Fall)

BUS 346. BUSINESS STATISTICS.
Prerequisite: MAT 126 or 165.
Business and economic statistics, nature of statistics, statistical descriptions, statistical inference, time series, and variables. Cross-listed with ECO 346. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 349. MANAGING THE SMALL BUSINESS.
Prerequisites: ACC 231, 330, BUS 340, 360.
An emphasis on the aspects of management which are uniquely important to small business. Designed to develop an understanding of the environments within which small business survives, to provide an appropriate balance of business function and managerial function, and to translate managerial concepts and principles into practical application to the small business setting. Three credits. (Fall)

BUS 360. MARKETING.
Prerequisites: ECO 121 or 122.
A comprehensive survey covering marketing environment, consumer behavior, marketing planning, marketing mix, and the international market. Half of the semester is devoted to the marketing mix of product, place, price, and promotion. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)
BUS 363. INTEGRATED MARKETING COMMUNICATIONS.
A study of modern methods to promote products, services, ideas and experiences with particular attention to the integration of the multiple promotional tools and media to create a focused and consistent message. Three credits.

BUS 366. SPORT MARKETING.
Prerequisite: Bus 360.
An examination of the issues of sport marketing, with special consideration given to market scanning, market analysis, and sponsoring planning in sports. All sport levels will be addressed, with special attention given to the collegiate and professional levels, including conference marketing campaign and promotions of the IOC, MLB, NHL, NBA, NFL, and NASCAR. Three credits. (Fall)

BUS 370. BUSINESS LAW I.
Principles of law which govern the daily conduct of business. The topics covered are contracts, sales contracts and commercial paper. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BUS 372. BUSINESS LAW II.
Topics covered include agency, bailments, carriers, partnerships, corporations, unfair competition, bankruptcy, secured transactions, property, trusts, mortgages, insurance, and wills. Three credits. (Spring, Summer)

BUS 380. BUSINESS ETHICS AND SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.
An examination of the ethical issues involved in business decision-making, the regulation of business, the responsibilities of business in dealing with human rights, the environment, and the consumer. Strategies for putting corporate responsibility into practice. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BUS 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS IN BUSINESS.
Prerequisite: Varies depending on topic.
Special investigation of selected areas of business not covered in other business courses. One, two, three, or four credits. (On demand)

BUS 439. ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR.
Prerequisite: BUS 340.
This course provides the student with a basic understanding of the fundamentals related to the application of human behavior principles in many types of organizations. Topics to be discussed include motivation, group dynamics, leadership, followership, and the manager as a change agent. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 440. PRODUCTION AND OPERATIONS MANAGEMENT.
Prerequisites: BUS 340, 346.
The course seeks to develop skills needed by business managers to effectively coordinate the production and operations process. Such topics as product design, process planning, facility layout, and quality control will be introduced. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

BUS 442. INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS.
Prerequisites: ACC 231, 330, BUS 340, 360, 344.
An introduction into the complex process of global business activities with special consideration given to environmental interactions, social/cultural constraints, political/ legal issues, economic differences, accounting/financial problems, and marketing/management techniques. Three credits. (Spring)

BUS 450. BUSINESS POLICY.
Prerequisites: Senior status and BUS 340, 344, 360, or permission of the instructor.
This is a capstone course which seeks to present the skills necessary to evaluate business firms in their efforts to achieve objectives and establish effective operating practices. The course is most effective if taken near the conclusion of the major program. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

BUS 451. MARKETING MANAGEMENT.
Prerequisites: BUS 340, 346, 360.
This course seeks to develop skills in analyzing complex marketing situations in dynamic business environments and devising the proper business strategies for guiding firms in such situations. Students analyze marketing objectives, programs, strategies, and decisions. Case studies and a business simulation (computer game) may be employed. Three credits. (Spring)

BUS 452. MARKETING RESEARCH.
Prerequisites: BUS 340, 346, 360.
A study of the research techniques used in marketing to make meaningful business decisions. Such topics as causal design, attitude measurement, data collection, and data analysis will be covered. Three credits. (Fall)

BUS 461, 462. INTERNSHIP IN BUSINESS.
Ten on-site work hours per week for one semester. Three credits. (On demand)

BUS 465, 466. INTERNSHIP IN BUSINESS.
Twenty on-site work hours per week for one semester. Six credits each. (On demand)

BUS 470. CO-OP PROGRAM IN BUSINESS.
Forty on-site work hours per week for one semester. Twelve credits. (On demand)

BUS 499. HONORS SEMINAR.
Honors seminar on individual research topic. Three credits

CHEMISTRY

CHE 101. FUNDAMENTALS OF GENERAL AND INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.
A study of principles, laws, and theories which are basic to understanding chemical changes. Topics include atomic structure, periodic table, chemical bonding, nomenclature of compounds, solutions, acids and bases, chemical reactions and equilibrium, chemical kinetics, electrochemistry, nuclear chemistry, and properties of important metallic and nonmetallic elements and their compounds. Four credits. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. (Fall)

CHE 103. GENERAL CHEMISTRY AND QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS.
Co-requisite: CHE 103L.
Fundamental principles and theories of chemistry and chemical calculations. Three lecture hours per week. Three credits. (Fall, Summer)

CHE 103L. GENERAL CHEMISTRY AND QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS LABORATORY.
Co-requisite: CHE 103.
Three general chemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit. (Fall, Summer)

CHE 104. GENERAL CHEMISTRY AND QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS.
Co-requisite: CHE 104L.
A continuation of 103, descriptive inorganic chemistry; fundamentals of qualitative analysis.
Three lecture hours per week. Three credits. (Spring, Summer)

CHE 104L. GENERAL CHEMISTRY AND QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS LABORATORY.
Co-requisite: CHE 104.
Three general chemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit. (Spring, Summer)

CHE 201. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisites: CHE 104, 104L; Co-requisite: CHE 201L.
Nomenclature, stereochemistry, preparation, and reactions of organic compounds, with consideration of basic principles and reactions. Three lecture hours per week. Three credits. (Fall)

CHE 201L. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY.
Co-requisite: CHE 201
Three organic chemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit. (Fall)

CHE 202. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisites: CHE 201, 201L; Co-requisite: CHE 202L.
A continuation of CHE 201, molecular and structural analysis; reaction types, reaction mechanisms, and organic synthesis. Three lecture hours per week. Three credits. (Spring)

CHE 202L. ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY.
Three organic chemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit. (Spring)

CHE 210. QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS.
Prerequisites: CHE 104, 104L.
A study of analytical theories and methods, including basic techniques in unit operations.
Treatment of analytical data, gravimetric, volumetric, and some colorimetric instrumental analysis. Two lecture hours and six laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

CHE 303. PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisites: CHE 104, 104L, MAT 165.
A study of the states of matter, chemical thermodynamics, chemical dynamics, surface phenomena, quantum theory, and atomic and molecular structure. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Even Fall)

CHE 304. PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisite: CHE 303.
A continuation of CHE 303. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Spring)

CHE 310L. INTRODUCTORY BIOCHEMISTRY LABORATORY.
Co-requisite: CHE 310.
Three biochemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit. (Spring)
CHE 320. INSTRUMENTAL CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
Prerequisite: CHE 210.
Chemical analysis with various optical methods, including the use of UV, IR and AA spectrophotometers, various electrochemical methods, radioactivity analysis, ion exchange, and gas and liquid chromatography. Two lecture hours and six laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

CHE 350. MOLECULAR MODELING AND COMPUTATIONAL CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisite: CHE 202.
This course provides an introduction to computational chemistry techniques including molecular dynamics, semi-empirical, and abinitio electronic structure theory. This introduction will illustrate the techniques and applications of chemical computation in the various chemical disciplines, with most emphasis on biologically important molecules. An integral part of the course is hands on experience with current computational chemistry tools. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits.

CHE 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Selected topics in the fields of analytical, inorganic, organic, physical chemistry, polymer chemistry or radiation chemistry, and other scientifically related topics. A seminar style course. By permission of the instructor. One to four credits. (On demand)

CHE 400. JUNIOR SEMINAR.
This course exposes students to scientific research presentations by other students as well as outside researchers in various fields. Through this course students can gain a better understanding of how to design and present scientific research. One credit.

CHE 401. ADVANCED ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.
An advanced continuation of the CHE 201/202 sequence. Topics include: modern and advanced organic reactions and structural analysis, elucidation of reaction mechanisms, and modern multistep organic synthesis. Three credits.

CHE 402. ADVANCED INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.
Prerequisites: CHE 104, 104L.
Atomic structure, chemical bonding, and molecular structure of inorganic compounds and their relationships to the periodic table and chemical properties. Special emphasis on coordination chemistry and elucidation of structure and bonding in compounds. Laboratory: inorganic synthesis emphasizing preparatory techniques. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

CHE 411. BIOCHEMISTRY I.
Prerequisites: CHE 202 and 202L.
A study of the protein structure and function, enzyme kinetics, nucleic acids and DNA technology, carbohydrates, and lipids, as well as biological membranes, transport, and signaling. Three credits.

CHE 412. BIOCHEMISTRY II.
Prerequisite: CHE 411.
A continuation of CHE 411. This course is a study of bioenergetics and biochemical reaction pathways, biosynthesis and metabolism. Three credits.
CHE 412L. BIOCHEMISTRY LABORATORY.
Co-requisite CHE 412.
Three biochemistry laboratory hours per week. One credit.

CHE 460. INTERNSHIP IN CHEMISTRY.
Application of chemical principles during a supervised internship in a chemical research laboratory or workplace. Involves a minimum of ten on-site work hours per week or an equivalent time in summer. May be repeated, but only three credit hours may be taken as credit toward the chemistry major. By permission of the Chemistry Department. Three credits. (On demand)

CHE 470. SENIOR REVIEW.
An assessment of the four principal subject areas of chemistry: inorganic, analytical, organic and physical chemistry. The course also involves demonstration of proficiency in four major instruments. One credit. (Spring)

CHE 480, 481, & 482. RESEARCH PROBLEMS IN CHEMISTRY.
Open to seniors and qualified juniors in chemistry or related fields. Arrangements to be made by the department. One to three credits. (On demand)

CHE 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Open to those students invited to participate in the Chemistry Honors Program. Selected topics in the field of analytical, inorganic, organic, physical chemistry, polymer chemistry or radiation chemistry, and other scientific topics. A seminar style course. Two credits. (On demand)

CHE 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Open to those students invited to participate in the Chemistry Honors Program. Arrangements to be made by the department. Three credits. (On demand)

CHINESE

CHI 110. INTENSIVE INTRODUCTORY CHINESE I.
An intensive course designed to develop cultural awareness and understanding in addition to basic proficiency in the following areas: listening, speaking, and recognizing writing. A variety of activities and materials are used to promote communicative competence and confidence, and to make students’ experience with language and culture enjoyable. Three credits. (Fall)

CHI 111. INTENSIVE INTRODUCTORY CHINESE II.
Prerequisite: CHI 110 or permission of the instructor.
A continuation of CHI 110 using the same approach and format. Three credits. (Spring)

CHI 221. CHINESE CONVERSATION AND BEGINNING READING AND WRITING I.
Prerequisite: CHI 111.
This course is designed to continue communication skills as well as introduction to Chinese reading and writing. Three credits. (Fall)

CHI 222. CHINESE CONVERSATION AND BEGINNING READING AND WRITING II.
Prerequisite: CHI 221.
A continuation of CHI 221 using the same approach and format. Three credits. (Spring)
CLASSICS

NOTE: These courses are provided only with adequate enrollment demand and are not offered on a regular basis.

CLA 210. CLASSICAL MYTHOLOGY.
This course is an introduction to the myths of Greek and Roman literature and their ancient and modern visual representations. The focus will be on story elements and patterns, genealogy, pronunciation, Mediterranean geography, specialized features of analysis and composition, and developments in informed study and interpretation. Three credits.

CLA 331. GREEK LIFE AND THOUGHT.
A study of the development of Greek civilization. Focuses on the character and ideals of the Greeks as expressed in the arts and sciences, and in social, political, and cultural institutions. Three credits.

CLA 332. ROMAN LIFE AND THOUGHT.
A study of the development of Roman civilization. Focuses on the character and ideals of the Romans as expressed in the arts and sciences, and in social, political, and cultural institutions. Three credits.

COMMUNICATION

COM 111. INTRODUCTION TO PUBLIC SPEAKING.
An introduction to public speaking. Required for all LR students except Communication majors who are required to take COM 142. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

COM 120. COMMUNICATION APPRECIATION.
(Must be taken in the first semester after declaring the Communication major.)
Survey course in the history, forms, practices, and influences of the mass media today. Emphasis is on the role of mass communication in developing the political, social, and economic fabrics of a democratic society. Some analysis of the social and legal responsibilities of the media. Three credits.

COM 142. PUBLIC SPEAKING FOR PROFESSIONALS.
An introduction to public speaking, emphasizing speaking in a professional environment. Students will learn how best to write and deliver speeches in a wide variety of settings, including group discussions, oral reporting persuasive speaking, sales pitches, and others. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

COM 150/151. DEBATE TEAM.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
The Debate Team is open to all students of the University for credit or non-credit. Members of the Debate Team meet for a minimum of two hours weekly for one credit. Requirements for students selecting non-credit are the same. Members of the Debate Team are required to participate each semester unless excused by the coach. May be repeated for credit up to four credits. Zero or one credit. (Fall, Spring)
COM 209. MEDIA WRITING I.
Prerequisite: ENG 131.
This course emphasizes journalistic writing techniques including editorial, news, sports and features. Students will build a solid portfolio of work to show perspective employers. The class will give students practical experience in writing and reporting for print, online and convergent media. Student work is intended for print and online publication in the campus newspaper, The Rhynean. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

COM 215. FIELD AND STUDIO PRODUCTION.
An introduction to the basic aspects of all video productions, including the production of commercials, public service announcements and dramatic scenes. The class will give students practical experience with the basics of shooting and editing for the electronic media, audio production, production crew operation, and basic operation of studio/remote equipment. Student work is intended for distribution on the LRTV News Show, The Hibernation Station.  Three credits. (Fall)

COM 220. INTRODUCTION TO DEBATE AND ARGUMENT.
An introduction to the art of debate and argumentation. Emphasis will be on the ability to analyze, criticize, and advocate ideas to understand the relationship of language to logic. Three credits.

COM 230. ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION.
An exploration of theories of organizational communication that relate to internal and external communication flow, group process, team building, and conflict management. Three credits. (Fall)

COM 240. WEB DESIGN AND PRODUCTION.
Pre-requisite: COM 209.
Course must be completed by the end of the second year within the major.
This course familiarizes students with web authorizing, publishing, and maintenance. Students initially design and create personal Web portfolios using text, graphics, and multimedia. Students also learn the basics of maintaining and improving an exciting Web site, as well as techniques to establish links between specific content and organizational and client needs in a Web-based environment. Lectures are used for presentation of material, discussion of Web publications, and demonstration of equipment, while workshop sessions are used for preliminary projects and development of student Web sites. Three credits.

COM 305. PRACTICUM.
Required for all Communication majors.
Prerequisite: COM 120 and the successful completion of entry level course in the major – COM 209 (Journalism), 215 (Broadcast), COM 240 (Converging) or COM 340 (Public Relations).
On-campus field experience within appropriate medium, including campus newspaper, video, online, or public relations outlets. Schedule of the experience will be established by the faculty member and the field-based supervisor. The faculty regularly checks the student’s progress through evaluations and review of the student’s log. Students are required to work 50 hours and submit a final paper. May be repeated once for credit. Two credits. (Fall, Spring)

COM 317. WRITING FOR THE DIGITAL MEDIA.
Prerequisites: COM 209 and 215.
A course focusing on the different formats and styles employed in the writing and scripting of a variety of digital media outlets. Students will develop skills to write scripts for television and radio commercials, public service announcements, news, drama, non-broadcast training videos, documentaries, and interactive multi-media. Three credits.

COM 320. MEDIA LAW.

Prerequisites: COM 120, 209, and one other 200-level COM course or permission of the instructor.

Study of the laws affecting the communications industry in traditional print and electronic publishing, broadcasting, and other new media. Court interpretations of laws, and actions of local, state and federal regulatory agencies are explored. Topics include freedom of the press, copyright, fairness doctrine, political communication, and libel. Three credits. (Spring)

COM 329. FEATURE WRITING.

Prerequisites: COM 120 and 209.

Feature reporting has become a major part of journalistic practice. This type of reporting more closely examines the how and why of a story by focusing on interest rather than timeliness or newsworthiness. Feature reporting includes news features, profiles, and human-interest stories for newspapers and magazines. Three credits. (Spring Only-Even Years)

COM 335. VIDEO DIRECTING.

Prerequisite: COM 215.

A laboratory class that examines the role of the director in the video process. Special emphasis is placed on studying the various techniques of film and television directors and working with actors and crew members. Three credits. (Spring Only-Even Years)

COM 340. PUBLICITY AND PUBLIC RELATIONS.

Prerequisites: COM 120 and 209.

Discussion and practice in the creation and placement of publicity in non-profit and for profit environments. Best practices for institutional, commercial, and social organizations will be explored including preparation of materials for the print and electronic media. Includes “real world” service learning component. Three credits. (Fall Only)

COM 342. ARGUMENTATION AND ADVOCACY.

Prerequisite: COM 142.

This course provides students with an advanced experience in public address by developing the skills necessary to participate in the deliberate process of policymaking and providing the tools to advocate effectively on matters of personal importance. Specifically, the course develops students’ speaking, debate, and speech-writing skills. Three credits. (Spring)

COM 350. MEDIA WRITING II.

Prerequisite: COM 209 and ENG 131 or permission of the School Chair.

This course emphasizes journalistic writing techniques including editorial, news, sports, and features. Students will build a solid portfolio of work to show perspective employers. The class will give students practical experience in writing and reporting for print, online, and convergent media. Student work is intended for print and online publication in the campus newspaper, The Rhynean. Three credits. (Spring)

COM 370. EDITING AND DESIGN.

Prerequisites: COM 240.

Advanced skills in newspaper, magazine and on-line editing, layout, and design are emphasized. Students will work with all aspects of the printed page, including graphics, use of white space, logo design and photographs. Four credits. (Fall)
COM 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
This course focuses on a single, broad contemporary topic of interest in the communication fields. Course content varies from semester to semester and can be repeated. Topics to be considered will be announced in advance. One, two, three, or four credits.

COM 405. STRATEGIC WRITING.
Prerequisite: COM 209, 340 and 350.
An intensive writing course focused on the area of public relations and media techniques. Areas covered will include writing for mass media, corporate newsletters, crisis communication, and other promotional pieces. Three credits. (Spring)

COM 410. ADVANCED VIDEO PRODUCTION.
Prerequisite: COM 215 and 335.
An exploration of the various formats of broadcast and non-broadcast video production. Special emphasis will be placed on the role of the producer and the importance of preproduction planning as well as producing video for interactive and web-based delivery. Lecture-laboratory course. Three credits. (Spring Only-Odd Years)

COM 415. TELEVISION PERFORMANCE TECHNIQUE.
Prerequisite: COM 120 and 142.
An introductory course in the effective use of the body and voice for television performing. Emphasis on development of style and personality as it relates to various television performance roles. Three credits.

COM 425. RESEARCH METHODS.
Prerequisites: MAT 115 and senior standing within the Communication Program. This course is taken the final fall before graduation. Course is directly tied to the COM 460-Senior Seminar Capstone course taken the final spring semester before graduation.
An introduction to communication research methods, this course will focus on research design, data collection and analysis, measurement, sampling, interviews and focus groups. This course will also consider the social and ethical issues of communication research and introduce students to the theories that are the basis for such research. Quantitative, qualitative, and cultural studies research approaches will be considered. Three credits. (Fall Only)

COM 440. ADVANCED REPORTING.
Prerequisite: COM 209 and 305 or permission of the School Chair.
This course emphasizes examination and exploration of in-depth, research-oriented reporting. Students will learn to use a variety of research sources including personal interviews, databases, government documents, and traditional library sources. Students will learn the requirements of investigative reporting and public service journalism. Students will build a solid portfolio of work to show perspective employers. Students will research, gather, and write news for print and online publication in the campus newspaper, The Rhynean. Three credits. (Spring Only-Odd Years)
COM 455. INTERNSHIP.
Required for all Communication majors.
Prerequisite: COM 120, 142, 209 and the successful completion of upper level course in the major – COM 350 (Journalism), 335 or 410 (Broadcast), COM 370 (Converging) or COM 340 (Public Relations)
Applied skills experience in the professional field (off-campus) communication environment supervised by the faculty. Schedule of the experience will be established by the faculty member and the field-based supervisor. The faculty regularly checks the student’s progress through evaluations and review of the student’s log. Students are required to work 150 hours and complete a final paper. May be repeated once for credit. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

COM 460. SENIOR SEMINAR.
Prerequisites: All required courses in the major exclusive of COM 455 and senior standing within the Communication Program. This course is taken the final spring semester before graduation.
This capstone course, required of all Communication majors in their final spring semester, examines the current state of today’s media, including but not limited to issues such as management, the symbolic relationships that exist between the media and society, and the ethics involved in the industry. Students will call upon knowledge gained in previous Communication courses to undertake a project or research paper, with instructor approval. The culminating results will be presented at the end of the semester in both written and oral presentations. Three credits. (Spring Only)

COM 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS OR PROJECT.
Prerequisites: Open to students pursuing departmental honors within the Communication Program.
Intensive study or presentation in a particular mass medium or related area, culminating in an honors thesis or project, approved and directed by a communication faculty member and evaluated by a faculty committee. This area may be an in-depth review and interpretation of literature in mass media issues and/or history or a project incorporating advanced study and application of particular professional techniques in a single medium or multiple media. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

COMPUTING SCIENCES

CSC 050. COMPUTING COMPETENCIES EVALUATION.
This course will evaluate competency in word processing, basic spreadsheet use, and presentation software that is expected of all LR students. Evaluation will be via an on-line exam. Required of all Lenoir-Rhyne University students. 0 credits. (On-line Fall, Spring)

CSC 060. COMPUTING COMPETENCIES INSTRUCTION.
Required for all students who do not pass the CSC 050 computer competency exam. Teaches basic competency in word processing, basic spreadsheet use, and presentation software that is expected of all LR students. This course does not count toward core or graduation requirements. Graded satisfactory/unsatisfactory. One credit. (Spring)

CSC 115. PERSPECTIVES ON TECHNOLOGY.
This course covers the relationships between the individual, society, and technologies. It will include such topics as the legal, moral, and ethical ramifications of technology use including security, privacy, health concerns, web use, and intellectual property. Students will write a paper on a selected topic from the course and present it to the class. One credit. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

CSC 120. SURVEY OF COMPUTING.
This course is designed as the first course for all computer science and information technology majors. The course presents an overview of the major computing topics to include number systems, computer organization, problem-solving techniques, operating systems, and algorithm development. Two credits. (Fall)

CSC 138. APPLIED C++ PROGRAMMING.
An introduction to programming using the C++ language. Applications to the sciences and system programming will be stressed. Three credits. (Even Spring)

CSC 141. PROGRAMMING FUNDAMENTALS WITH JAVA.
An introduction to basic problem solving algorithm development and programming techniques using the Java programming language. When completed students will be able to write serious programs for real-world problems. Three credits. (Fall)

CSC 150. COMPUTER SCIENCE I.
Prerequisite: CSC 141 with a grade of “C” or better.
A rigorous introduction to a disciplined approach to fundamental programming constructs, fundamental data structures, algorithm and problem-solving development. It lays the foundation of the discipline of computer science. Includes a combination of lectures and laboratory work. Four credits. (Spring)

CSC 163. EVENT-DRIVEN PROGRAMMING.
An introduction to event-driven programming from an object-oriented viewpoint using VisualBASIC.NET. It provides students with the knowledge and skills to develop applications in VisualBASIC.NET for the .NET platform. The course focuses on user interfaces, program structure, language syntax, and implementation details for interfacing with databases. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

CSC 175. INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY.
This course provides literacy in computers and information systems. It will supply knowledge of productivity software packages, computer systems hardware, and computer systems software. As an introductory computer course it is designed to provide a brief study of computer applications. The course enables students to improve their skills through effective and efficient use of packaged software. The emphasis is on productivity concepts and how to achieve them through functions and features in computer software. Topics will include knowledge work productivity concepts; software functionality to support personal and group productivity; developing a solution using database software; refining and extending individual and group information management. Lecture and laboratory. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

CSC 210. ETHICAL ISSUES IN INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY.
This course provides a seminar environment to discuss the ethical issues for computing science disciplines in a structure that addresses current ethical issues within traditional ethical thought. It uses current case studies to stimulate discussion. The social context of computing will be explored as well as professional and ethical responsibilities. Risks and liabilities of computer-based systems will be explored. Computer crime and privacy issues will be discussed. Students will be expected to weigh these issues and develop guidelines for professionals in the field. Three credits. (Fall)
CSC 212. COMPUTER ARCHITECTURE.
Prerequisite: CSC 150 with a grade of “C” or better.
This course is an introduction to assembly-level machine organization and the machine-level representation of data. Topics include memory organization and architecture, multiprocessing and alternative architectures. Three credits. (Even Fall)

CSC 220. WEB AND NET-CENTRIC DESIGN.
This course will introduce design concepts for creating sites on the World Wide Web. Students will review technologies currently used to support web-based applications and build web applications. Students will develop their web pages using HTML, web page design tools, and design guidelines. Three credits. (Spring)

CSC 241. ADVANCED JAVA PROGRAMMING.
Prerequisite: CSC 141 with a grade of “C” or better.
A continuation of CSC 141. Further techniques in JAVA programming will be studied, including advanced file manipulation, fundamental techniques of graphic systems, data structures, object-oriented programming, threads, exceptions, and generics, as well as an introduction to development environments. Three credits. (Spring)

CSC 250. COMPUTER SCIENCE II.
Prerequisite: CSC 150 with a grade of “C” or better.
A continuation of a disciplined programming approach. Students will learn data abstraction and implementation using linked lists, stacks, queues, graphs, and trees. They will perform algorithmic analysis on problems that use recursion, searching (including hashing), and sorting techniques. Four credits. (Fall)

CSC 260. ANALYSIS OF ALGORITHMS.
Prerequisites: MAT 124 with a grade of “C” or better and one computer programming language course.
This course is a rigorous introduction to the design and analysis of algorithms. Included are discussion of classic problems (e.g., sorting, traveling, salesman problems), classic algorithm design strategies (e.g., divide-and-conquer, greedy approaches), and classic algorithms and data structures (e.g., hash tables, Dijkstra’s algorithm) as well as algorithm complexity, and issues of tractability such as “NP-Completeness.” Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 280. PRINCIPLES OF PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES.
Prerequisites: CSC 250.
Formal study of programming languages and their features. Language design and implementation issues are compared and contrasted with an emphasis on familiar and/or important high-level languages such as FORTRAN, BASIC, COBOL, Pascal, Modula-2, Java, Ada, C/C++, LISP, Scheme, Python, and Prolog. Topics include assembly language programming, language translation systems, type systems and structures, control structures, subprograms, generics, exception handling and concurrency, as well as a comparison of the imperative, functional, logic, and object-oriented language paradigms. Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 291. INTRODUCTION TO ERP SYSTEMS.
This is a course that focuses on the concepts of enterprise resource planning systems and gives an overview of the SAP R/3 landscape including sales and distribution (SD), materials management (MM) and finance and costs (FI-CO). Students will examine the system components of these areas and also be exposed to the core architecture behind the R/3 system. As part of the class, students are expected to complete one term paper; they will also complete a team project consisting of configuring parts of a sales subject (billing, orders or deliveries) based on provided business requirements. Upon completing the class, students will have obtained hands-on experience in SAP R/3 and basic knowledge on how ERP systems work in a large organization. Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 292. NETWEAVER AND DECISION SUPPORT SYSTEMS.
This is a course that focuses on the decision support architecture of SAP NetWeaver. The course will examine each of the components of NetWeaver in a cursory manner and focus most of the time on the SAP Business Information Warehouse component of the tool set. The participants will complete a team project in building standard operational data stores (ODS), infocubes, data extracts, web based queries and web templates for reporting. Upon completing the course students will have hands-on knowledge of the SAP NetWeaver tool set as well as fundamental knowledge of enterprise data warehouses, decision models, reporting systems and web based delivery tools in the ERP area. Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 312. OPERATING SYSTEMS.
Prerequisite: CSC 150 with a grade of "C-" or better and CSC 212.
The fundamental principles of Operating Systems will be discusses and implemented, including concurrency, scheduling algorithms, memory management, device management, and file systems. Students develop a simulated Operating System. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

CSC 320. CLIENT-SIDE WEB PROGRAMMING.
Prerequisites: CSC 220 and any programming language.
This course will introduce client-side programming techniques for the World Wide Web. Topics will include JavaScript, Java applets, and Dynamic HTML. Development of a web site will be required. Two credits. (Even Fall)

CSC 334. COMPUTER NETWORKS.
Prerequisite: CSC 150 or 175.
This course covers the major topics of network architectures, network communication and network configuration. Topics include the ISO 7-layer reference model in general and its instantiation in TCP/IP, UDP, internetworking and routing, ATM networks, network topologies, satellite communication, physical network capabilities and limitations, cabling options and connections, GSM and cell networks, as well as digital and analog signal transformations. Students are also expected to complete a research paper and present findings in class. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

CSC 350. DATABASE MANAGEMENT.
Prerequisites: CSC 150 or 175.
An introduction to database concepts. The course will study information models and systems, primarily database systems. Data representation, physical schema, and subschema will be explored. Hierarchical, network, and relational and object-oriented models will be evaluated. The relational models and object-oriented models will be explored in depth. Distributed computing, transaction processing, and query languages will be discussed. Students will implement a database using 4GL and will follow rigorous software engineering techniques. Strong software project management techniques will be followed. The system will include both external and internal documentation requirements. A large team project is required. Four credits. (Even Fall)
CSC 380. INFORMATION AND DECISION SUPPORT SYSTEMS.
Prerequisites: CSC 350.
Introduces students to basic concepts and techniques on a range of issues in computer science, including database systems, artificial intelligence, human-computer interaction, and multimedia system. Topics include knowledge representation, natural language understanding, foundations of human-computer interaction, fundamental issues in intelligent systems, search and constraint satisfaction, information models and systems, dimensional databases, dimensional data modeling, managed query environments (MQE), on-line analytical processing (OLAP), dashboards, scorecards, and business intelligence algorithms. Students will develop a complete BI application as team projects. CASE tools are used extensively. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

CSC 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing in Computer Sciences.
A topics course in Computer Science. Topics may be chosen from compiler design, intensive programming, non-procedural languages, ethics, technical writing, etc. May be repeated with a different topic. One, two, three, or four credits. (On demand)

CSC 400. SYSTEMS ANALYSIS AND SOFTWARE ENGINEERING.
Prerequisites: CSC 150, 250, and Senior Standing.
Presents software engineering techniques as they relate to development of a software product. Students will be introduced to the software design process, software tools and environments, software processes, and software evolution. Teams will work to design a set of requirements and specifications for a “real-world” project. Strong project management skills will be expected. Database systems and modeling of these systems will be practiced. The foundations of human-computer interaction will be discussed in depth. Such topics as software life cycle, requirements analysis, software plan, and documentation techniques will be discussed. Students will learn a CASE tool. A large team project will be required. Four credits. (Odd Fall)

CSC 420. SERVER-SIDE WEB PROGRAMMING.
Prerequisites: CSC 220, CSC 320, and any programming language course.
This course will introduce server-side programming techniques for the World Wide Web. The course will explore technologies currently used to support web-based applications from the server side including database access. Topics will include VBScript, CGI, ASP, Dynamic HTML, XML, and database access. Development of a web site will be required. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

CSC 434. COMPUTER SECURITY AND NETWORKING.
Prerequisite: CSC 250 or CSC 241.
This course will cover the major topics of fundamentals of computer and network security, including basic cryptographic techniques and their applications to computer security. Topics will include public-key and public-key cryptography, authentication, key management, digital signatures, network management issues, use of passwords access control mechanisms, firewalls, quality of service issues, and information risk management processes and procedures, as well as virus scans, bot networks, Trojan viruses, security algorithms, DOS attacks and recent developments and challenges in securing information and access. Three credits. (Even Fall)

CSC 441. OBJECT-ORIENTED PROGRAMMING.
Prerequisites: CSC 141 and 241 or CSC 150 and 250, with “C” or better grades.
Presents a study of object-oriented programming paradigm. Object-oriented languages to be discussed will include Java, Smalltalk, C++, and Ada 2005. Several programming projects will be required. Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 450. INTERNSHIP IN COMPUTER SCIENCE.

Prerequisite: Open to Computer Science and Information Technology majors only.

Requires 150 on-site work hours per semester. May be repeated up to eight credits. Course is graded satisfactory/unsatisfactory. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

CSC 460. CAPSTONE PROJECT.

Prerequisites: CSC 400 with a grade of “C” or better and senior standing.

Students will implement a professional level software product independently in groups. A Graphical User Interface will be built. Software Project Management will be continued. Validation and verification techniques will be explored and implemented. Professional and ethical responsibilities will be discussed. The primary work of the students is in the implementation of a software product and the process that occurs with customers. Students must provide a User’s Guide, Technical Manual, and a working software system for the product. Three credits. (Even Spring)

CSC 491. PROJECT MANAGEMENT.

This is a concept course for future project managers and data architects who want to be involved in the management, development, or implementation of ERP solutions. The course covers the fundamental development methodology of SAP-ASAP, extreme programming (XP), Rapid Application development (RAD), and Joint Application Design (JAD). The course focuses particularly on the project management approaches of SAP and the development approaches and the best-of-breed system architectures of ERP implementation at actual company sites (case studies). Students are expected to complete a self-selected case study for examining the lessons learned from a large implementation of an ERP system. Upon completing the course, students will have obtained the core skills for working as a team lead on a large ERP implementation, or as the project manager of mid-sized ERP projects. Three credits. (On demand)

CSC 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.

Students will develop an approved proposal for their honors thesis, with supporting literature review. Two credits. (On demand)

CSC 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.

Written thesis on original work in the Computing Sciences. It must be defended orally before a panel of faculty. Four credits. (On demand)

DANCE

DAN 101. RECREATIONAL DANCE.

Techniques and theory in ethnic, social, line dance, and country and western dance. One credit. (On demand)

DAN 102. BEGINNING BALLET AND MODERN DANCE.

An introduction to the skills and techniques of ballet and modern dance. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 103. BEGINNING TAP AND JAZZ.
Prerequisite: DAN 102 or permission of the Instructor.
A continuation of skill and technique development in ballet and modern dance featuring intensified barre work. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 104. INTERMEDIATE BALLET AND MODERN DANCE.
Prerequisite: DAN 102 or permission of the Instructor.
A continuation of skill and technique development in ballet and modern dance featuring intensified barre work. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 105. INTERMEDIATE TAP AND JAZZ.
Prerequisite: DAN 102 or permission of the Instructor.
A continuation of skill and technique development in tap and jazz with emphasis on intensity of patterns and choreography. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 106. ADVANCED BALLET.
An in-depth study of the techniques of ballet that move the student from the intermediate skill level to a more advanced skill level. Special emphasis will be placed on pointe. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 107. ADVANCED MODERN DANCE.
An in-depth study of the techniques of modern dance that move the student from the intermediate skill level to a more advanced skill level. Special emphasis will be placed on style and composition. Two credits. (On demand)

DAN 133. BEGINNING BALLROOM DANCE.
One credit.

DAN 134. INTERMEDIATE BALLROOM DANCE.
One credit.

DAN 135. IRISH DANCING.
One credit.

DAN 201. DANCE METHODS.
Methods, materials and techniques of teaching dance education K-12. One credit. (On demand)

DAN 202. CREATIVE DANCE FOR CHILDREN.
Prerequisite: DAN 201 or permission of the Instructor.
An introduction to the creative ideas in children and the expression of these ideas through movement and dance. Emphasis is placed on working with students in a school setting. Three credits. (On demand)

DAN 203. CHOREOGRAPHY.
Prerequisites: DAN 106, 107 or permission of the Instructor.
An introduction to the theories and techniques of dance composition. Three credits. (On demand)

DAN 204. DANCE APPRECIATION.
An analysis of the development of dance through the ages with special emphasis on the relationship of dance to other art forms. Three credits. (On demand)
EARTH SCIENCE

EAR 110. PHYSICAL GEOLOGY.
An introduction to the science of physical geology, including the study of earth materials (minerals and rocks), the forces which act on and within the earth, the major types of land forms found on the earth, structural geology, and the theory of plate tectonics. Two lecture hours and two laboratory hours per week. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

EAR 202. HISTORICAL GEOLOGY.
Physical and biological history of the earth, geological eras, geologic and structural maps. Three lecture hours and two hours laboratory per week. Four credits. (On demand)

EAR 210. CLIMATOLOGY AND METEOROLOGY.
Prerequisite: A physical science course at the 100 level.
An introduction to the study of the dynamics of the earth’s atmosphere, including the basic factors governing weather and climate. Topics include atmospheric structure, weather variable, energy flow in the atmosphere, dynamics of gas laws, clouds and precipitation, mid-latitude fronts, severe weather, climate zones, and changing climates. Three credits. (On Demand)

EAR 220. MINERALS AND ROCKS.
Atoms, crystals, chemical and physical aspects of minerals; classification of minerals, igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic processes and the classification of rocks. Mining and quarrying. Three lecture hours and two hour laboratory per week. Four credits. (On demand)

EAR 240. MAP CONSTRUCTION AND READING.
Prerequisites: EAR 110, 202.
Map projections, coordinates and azimuths; scales and measurements; map symbols; relief and profile orientation; aerial photographs. Three credits. (On Demand)

EAR 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Selected topics from physical geology, historical geology, meteorology, etc. One, two, three, or four credits. (On demand)

ECONOMICS

ECO 121. PRINCIPLES OF ECONOMICS, MACROECONOMICS.
A study in the foundations of economic analysis, national income accounting, economic growth and the public sector, with emphasis on macroeconomics. Three credits. (Fall, Summer)

ECO 122. PRINCIPLES OF ECONOMICS, MICROECONOMICS.
A study of markets, the price system and allocation of resources, distribution of income, international economy, and perspectives on economic change, with emphasis on microeconomics. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

ECO 221. HISTORY OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT.
Origin, development, and meaning of current problems and conflicts in economic theory; mercantilist, classical and neoclassical economics to Keynesian and post-Keynesian economics; modern economic thinking and practice. Three credits. (Fall)

ECO 262. ECONOMICS OF THE ENVIRONMENT.
Prerequisite: ECO 122.
An introduction to the use of economic analysis to explain the underlying causes of environmental and resource conservation problems. Policy options for the allocation of renewable and exhaustible resources, response to pollution, and toxic substance control and pursuit of sustainable development will be introduced. Three credits. (Fall)

ECO 270. ECONOMICS OF SPORTS.
This course applies microeconomic analysis to the business of sport. Topics covered include Profit maximization and sports franchises, antitrust, public finance, costs and benefits of a franchise to a city, labor markets/labor relations, and amateur athletics. Three credits.

ECO 321. LABOR PROBLEMS.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122.
Problems inherent in labor's attempts to adjust to modern industrialization; origin, development, structure and objectives of labor organization; relationships of labor to the process of production and to society; relationships of the long-run group interest. Three credits. (E-Fall)

ECO 322. GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122.
How business and economic life are influenced and directed by governmental policy and decision; constitutional provision; antitrust laws, public utility regulations conservation of natural resources, tariffs and subsidies; public-private, institutional- individual conflicts of interest and responsibility. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

ECO 323. INTERMEDIATE PRICE ANALYSIS.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122.
Resource allocation under various forms of market organization; theory of consumer behavior; theory of the firm; prices of the factors of production. Three credits. (Fall)

ECO 324. INTERMEDIATE MACRO-ECONOMIC THEORY.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122.
An intensive examination of factors determining the national income. The economic and social effects of the level, composition, and distribution of national income will be studied with reference to theories of economic welfare and to public policy. Three credits. (Spring)

ECO 325. MONEY AND BANKING.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122.
Monetary theory; structure and effects of commercial banking and central banking systems; scope, instruments, and impact of monetary and fiscal policy. Three credits. (Fall)

ECO 346. ECONOMIC STATISTICS.
Prerequisite: MAT 126 or 165.
Economic and business statistics; nature of statistics, statistical description, statistical inference, time series, and variables. Three credits. Cross listed with Business 346. (On demand)

ECO 355. WOMEN AND THE ECONOMY.
This course uses basic microeconomic concepts to examine the enormous changes in women's lives in recent decades. Topics covered include later marriage, decline in fertility, weakened link between marriage and fertility, increased labor force participation, and the gender gap in earnings. Public policies related to these issues will be examined. Three credits.
ECO 360. INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATION.
This course is an extensive examination of the structure of industries in the United States and how that structure affects industry conduct and economic performance. The course will focus on government attempts to alter the structure, conduct and performance of industries through enactment and enforcement of legislation such as the antitrust laws. Three credits.

ECO 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122 and permission of instructor.
A study of topics in economics not covered in other courses, such as economics geography, industrial organization, and transportation economics. May be repeated each time the topic changes. One, two, three, or four credits. (Spring)

ECO 421. INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS.
Pre-requisite: ECO 323.
A study of international trade, monetary policies and arrangements; foreign exchange; the theory of international trade and price relationships; and capital movements and influences. Three credits.

ECO 423. PUBLIC FINANCE.
A survey of the theories and practices of governmental taxing, spending, borrowing, including intergovernmental relationships and administrative practices and problems. Three credits. (Spring)

ECO 424. CONTEMPORARY PROBLEMS OF THE DEVELOPING AREAS.
Theories of economic development. Special attention given to population-resources ratios, industrial and agricultural balance, dynamic sectorial imbalances, problems of capital formation, foreign trade, and the possible roles of government, business, labor, foreign aid, and multinational organizations in promoting development. Three credits. (Even Spring)

ECO 446. ECONOMETRICS.
Prerequisites: ECO 121, 122, MAT 126 or higher.
An introduction to basic econometric techniques with an emphasis on applications. Three credits. (On demand)

ECO 451. INTERNSHIP IN ECONOMICS.
Prerequisite: Department invitation.
Minimum of ten on-site work hours per week for one semester with an agency or office of local, state or national government, a profit or non-profit institution, or a political interest group. Three credits. May be repeated once. (On demand)

ECO 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Prerequisite: Department invitation.
Includes conferences with instructors, readings in journals, and knowledge of new literature in the field. Three credits. (On demand)

ECO 495. COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION IN ECONOMICS.
A required comprehensive examination for all Economics majors. Zero credit.

ECO 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Prerequisite: Department invitation.
Independent study and research. Honors paper or project directed by a member of the department. Oral presentation of the paper. Three credits. (On demand)

EDUCATION

EDU 207. CHILDREN'S LITERATURE.
Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
A study of children's literature as a basis for the selection and production of literacy or story material for children in grades K-6. Examination of the field of children's literature and related curriculum to discover, select and implement literacy reading which satisfies educational requirements. Three credits.

EDU 210. THEORIES AND PRINCIPLES OF SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION.
Prerequisite: Experience in second language learning. Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
Introduction to the major approaches and methods in TESL; learner strategies and speech styles, key issues in research, sociocultural and personality factors which affect second language learning. Laboratory required. Three credits.

EDU 211. INTRODUCTION TO APPROACHES & METHODS IN TESL (K-12).
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
Introduction to the major 20th century trends in language teaching; approaches and methods for teaching the skills of listening, conversation, reading, and writing; classroom management and materials. Laboratory required. Three credits.

EDU 212. LINGUISTICS.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor
Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
Overview of how language evolves and how it works. The learner will understand ways in which speakers achieve linguistic competence and methods linguists use to analyze language. Three credits.

EDU 216. ADAPTATIONS, ACCOMMODATIONS, & DIFFERENTIATION.
Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
Co-requisite: EDU 216L.
This course is a study of decision-making processes involved in adapting, accommodating and differentiating instruction to facilitate the learning of children from middle childhood through adolescence. Three credits.

EDU 216L. FIELD WORK FOR ADAPTATIONS, ACCOMMODATIONS, & DIFFERENTIATION.
Minimum grade of "C-" required for education majors.
Co-requisite: EDU 216.
Experiential study of decision-making processes involved in adapting, accommodating, and differentiating instruction. One credit.

EDU 217. INTEGRATED ARTS FOR THE ELEMENTARY
Designed to give an overview of current theory and practice of an integrated arts curriculum for elementary classroom teaching. Subject matter will include teaching with, about, in, and through the arts. Students will explore elements of the visual and performing arts, and incorporate these elements into exercises and lessons appropriate for the elementary classroom. Three credits.

EDU 219. CULTURE, LITERACY, AND LEARNING.
This course explores the cultural aspects and literacy needs of school-aged English Language Learners (ELL), and examines research-based practices for instructing ELL learners. One credit.

EDU 220. CHILD AND ADOLESCENT DEVELOPMENT.
Study of theories, research, and current understanding of child development emphasizing conception through early childhood and addressing through adolescence. Physical development, perceptual and neurological development, cognition, social and emotional development both typical and atypical is considered in contexts of family, peers, and education, and community. Three credits.

EDU 225. PRACTICUM IN ELL SHELTERED INSTRUCTION.
This course provides students with a research-based effective model (Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol) for intermediate language learners at all levels of K-12. Student will design and implement a lesson for a target population in one of the local school systems. One credit.

EDU 239. LITERATURE FOR ADOLESCENTS.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
A study of literature and library media appropriate for the adolescent reader in terms of lifestyle, needs, and aspirations. (No prerequisite; intended for prospective middle school as well as high school teachers.) Three credits.

EDU 241. CURRICULUM, INSTRUCTION & ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN.
Minimum grade of “c-“ required for education majors.
Co-requisite: EDU 241L.
This course is designed to explore contemporary models of curriculum and teaching with particular attention to motivation and environmental design as applied to the learning of children from birth to grade 12. Fieldwork applications are required. Three credits.

EDU 241L. FIELD WORK LAB -- CURRICULUM, INSTRUCTION & ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
Co-requisite: EDU 241.
Experiential exploration of contemporary models of curriculum and teaching with particular attention to motivation and environmental design. One credit.

EDU 245. PHONICS AND WRITING.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
Use of phonics and basic word analysis skills in reading instruction. Purposes, limitations, and concrete practices of phonics instruction. In-depth study of word attack and word analysis skills. Students will work through various types of writing as well as the writing process. Three credits.

EDU 262. EARLY CHILDHOOD CURRICULUM AND ENVIRONMENTS.
Study and design of a variety of environments to facilitate appropriate learning for the young child. Study and plan for routines of a well-balanced day. Observing, planning, and implementing activities for infants, toddlers, preschoolers, and kindergartners. Preparing sequenced and integrated lessons and units while balancing resources for teaching. Three credits.

EDU 264. FAMILY DIVERSITY AND PARTNERSHIPS.
Addresses best practices, strategies, and values supporting collaborative partnerships between families and professionals. Requires application of knowledge regarding family functioning, family diversity, cultural contexts, and processes of planning and implementing for constructive intervention. Attendance at IEP, IFSP, ICC, and transition meetings. Three credits.

EDU 266. SPEECH, LANGUAGE, AND EMERGING LITERACY.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
A critical review of theories and practices related to speech and language development. Emphasis will be given to the practical stages of language development, languages and dialectical differences, language acquisition, speech disorders, and the fostering of language development. Language profiles with infant/toddler and preschool/kindergarten children required. Three credits.

EDU 274. GLOBAL EDUCATION.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
This course involves the study of global perspectives on teaching and learning through application of knowledge and skills required for 21st century teaching and learning including geographic, civic, financial, entrepreneurial, health, global, and ICT (Information, Communication and Technology) understandings. Two credits.

EDU 279. ASSESSMENT, RESEARCH, AND DATA-DRIVEN DECISION MAKING.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
This course involves the study of instructional assessment, educational research, and considerations for decision-making based on educational data. Two credits.

ENROLLMENT IN COURSES NUMBERED 300 OR ABOVE REQUIRES ADMISSION TO TEACHER EDUCATION

EDU 302. SEMINAR IN TEACHING ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE.
Prerequisites: EDU 210, 211, 212, 213, 214.
Minimum grade of “C-“ required for education majors.
Current issues related to ESL curriculum, methodologies, pedagogy; observation of ESL learners at K-12 and adult levels; supervised teaching and post-instruction of discussions. Two credits.

EDU 307. CHILDREN & ADOLESCENT LITERATURE.
This course presents new and outstanding titles in literature for children and adolescents in grades kindergarten through eight. Topics include authors and illustrators, principles of selection, evaluation, and integration of literature, fiction and non-fiction in a variety of formats to enrich classroom activities and recreational and lifelong reading. Three credits.

EDU 312. FOUNDATIONS OF READING (PRIMARY).
Study of effective theories and principles for teaching reading in the five big ideas of the reading process to students in grades K-2 — phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension — and to apply the most effective instructional plans, methods and resources in their practice. Focuses on diagnostic methods for assessing reading progress in individuals and groups and ideas for differentiating instruction for diverse learners. Three credits.
EDU 321. FOUNDATIONS OF MATH (PRIMARY).
An in-depth study of concepts and skills taught in K-2 math courses. Traditional, innovative, and reflective approaches to teaching math will be examined. Three credits.

EDU 322. FOUNDATIONS OF READING (INTERMEDIATE).
Study of effective theories and principles for teaching reading in the five big ideas of the reading process to students in grades 3-6 — phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension — and to apply the most effective instructional plans, methods and resources in their practice. Focuses on diagnostic methods for assessing reading progress in individuals and groups and ideas for differentiating instruction for diverse learners. Three credits.

EDU 328L. FOUNDATIONS OF READING LAB.
Provides opportunities for the application of information taught in the Foundations of Reading courses. Focuses on assessments, data-driven decisions, remediation plans, effective instruction, and progress monitoring. Field placement course. One credit.

EDU 331. FOUNDATIONS OF MATH (INTERMEDIATE).
An in-depth study of concepts and skills taught in grades 3-6 math courses. Traditional, innovative, and reflective approaches to teaching math will be examined. Three credits.

EDU 338L. FOUNDATIONS OF MATH LAB.
Provides opportunities for the application of information taught in the Foundations of Math courses. Focuses on assessments, data-driven decisions, remediation plans, effective instruction, and progress monitoring. Field placement course. One credit.

EDU 309. ADVANCED METHODS IN TESL.
Advanced studies in communicative language teaching for English Language learners with special attention given to strategies-based instruction, development of cognitive academic language proficiency, materials assessment and modifications for language learners, cultural considerations for language teaching and language learning in K-12. Three credits.

EDU 313. ISSUES IN TEACHING ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Minimum grade of “C-” required for education majors.
Overview of the historical and legal background of issues related to learning situations in the K-12 classroom. Survey of instructional materials and resources as well as ESL curriculum issues relevant to public schools. Two credits.

EDU 314. EVALUATION & TESTING IN ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE EDUCATION.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Minimum grade of “C-” required for education majors.
Introduction to the theories and issues related to assessing and evaluating learners in ESL and EFL education programs. Strategies and techniques are covered. Laboratory required. Two credits.

EDU 355. GENERAL PLANNING AND METHODS IN SECONDARY/K-12 EDUCATION.
Prerequisite: EDU 241 or permission of the instructor.
Teacher candidates will engage in systematic study of lesson structure and methods that are proven effective in teaching students of the 21st century. The importance of communication linking the school, home, and community will be stressed. Techniques to integrate specific subjects to the real world of 21st century content will be addressed. Three credits.

EDU 358. CURRICULUM INTEGRATION & MIDDLE GRADES PHILOSOPHY.
Minimum grade of “C-” required for all education majors and licensure seeking students.
Examination and application of the concepts, principles, theories, research, and organizational components underlying and emerging from the philosophical foundations of the developmentally responsive middle level programs and schools. Three credits.

EDU 363. BIRTH-KINDERGARTEN ASSESSMENT.
Practice interpreting standardized evaluations and placement data, observation of preschool screening, and assessment of an infant/toddler and preschool/ kindergarten child required. Observation narratives, anecdotal notes, authentic assessment, curriculum based assessment, parent interview, and assessment of family concerns. Three credits.

EDU 365. THE YOUNG EXCEPTIONAL CHILD.
Minimum grade of “C-” required for education majors.
Research into the field of early childhood and special education to study in depth the current developments and problems concerning typically/atypically developing children including appropriate programs, assessment, and team collaborations. Experience in programs with the very young child with disabilities in various settings required. Three credits.

EDU 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.

HISTORY

HIS 011. HISTORY ESSAY I.
This is a non-credit essay which students must take upon declaring the History major.

HIS 042. HISTORY ESSAY II.
This is a non-credit essay which student must take in their final semester at LR.

HIS 101. WORLD CIVILIZATIONS I: THE EMERGENCE OF GLOBAL SOCIETY TO 1500.
A survey of the development of human civilization, focusing on their convergence in a nascent global community by approximately 1500. This survey explores the independent emergence and development of various civilizations, with an emphasis on societies of Africa, Europe, the Middle East, South Asia, and East Asia. The class investigates local classical traditions in religion and governance, medieval transformations that created today’s major regional cultures, and the emergence of global community though the Silk Roads. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

HIS 102. WORLD CIVILIZATIONS II: ASSEMBLING A GLOBALIZED COMMUNITY FROM 1500.
A survey of the development of our current globalized society. This survey explores the convergence of the world’s major societies (the Americas, Africa, Europe, the Middle East, South Asia and East Asia) to their present configuration. This course stresses how the contingent events during “the rise of Europe” in the First (1500-1750) and Second (1850-1950) Ages of Imperialism have created the infrastructure of the present-day global community. Special attention is given to the exchanges that have created our interdependent globalized society, while exploring the uneven and sometimes one-sided nature of these exchanges for most non-Western societies. HIS 101 is strongly recommended, but is not a pre-requisite for this course. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

HIS 121. U. S. HISTORY TO 1865.
This course is a survey of American institutional development beginning in the period of colonization to 1865. This course will focus on interrelated trends in economics, politics, religion, education, and American culture. Topics will include Pre-Columbian native cultures, British colonial policy, slavery, the American Revolution, the Constitution, growth of democracy, Westward expansion, sectionalism, and the Civil War. Three credits. (Fall)

HIS 122. U. S. HISTORY SINCE 1865.

Three credits. (Spring)
HIS 205. INTRODUCTION TO EAST ASIAN HISTORY.
An introduction to East Asian Civilization, this course outlines the emergence of the classical cultural and political traditions of China, Japan, and Korea, and the changes wrought by modernization in the region. Special emphasis is given to highlighting the commonalities which define the East Asia experience, and placing the region in a larger global context. Three credits. (Spring)

HIS 206. INTRODUCTION TO WESTERN EUROPEAN HISTORY.
An introductory course to the some of the central themes in the history of Western Europe since 1600, including domesticity, Empire, political and industrial “revolution”, and more. Three credits. (Spring)

HIS 208. THE MODERN DEVELOPING WORLD.
This course will introduce students to the history of the modern developing world since about 1600. Topics will include the Atlantic World, colonialism, post-colonialism, global economics, religion, war, and social justice. The regional emphasis will alternate between Africa and Latin America. Three credits. (Fall)

HIS 225. HISTORIOGRAPHY.
Historiography is the study of the writing of history. First and foremost it is the history of history (of how professional historians have written, and write, on a given topic). This course explores the major schools of historical thought and poses questions about the nature of sources, bias and perspective, and construction of an archive. Students are expected to show historiographical command of a narrow topic in their specialization and produce an annotated bibliography. Three credits.

HIS 248. NORTH CAROLINA.
This course will trace the history of North Carolina, beginning with Native American settlement and European colonization, and continuing through to the development, during the 20th Century, of a varied, rich, and as some historians have called it profound particularism. This course will focus on North Carolina’s cultural and geo-social complexity and its regional identities. Three credits. (Fall)

HIS 230. A GLOBAL HISTORY OF THE 20TH CENTURY.
A survey course designed to examine “the long Twentieth Century” (1850-2005) with the goal of outlining the origins of the present-day world. The emphasis of the course will be on the twin forces of industrialization and colonization in shaping globalization. Global in perspective, this course explores how these forces were experienced differently in Europe, Africa, the Middle East, Asia, and the Americas. Three credits.

HIS 266. ARCHAEOLOGY AND PUBLIC HISTORY.
This course will introduce students to the science and methodology of archaeology; its potential and limitations, as well as to the methods and approaches of Public History, and to the best use of public documents, genealogies, cemeteries, archival databases, etc. in exploring the past. This course will have a service or engaged learning component. Three credits.

HIS 302. SEMINAR IN WESTERN EUROPEAN HISTORY.
An intensive examination of formative ideas, institutions, and events in Western Europe (especially Britain) since 1600, focusing especially on the social consequences of industrial and imperial rise and decline. The course may be repeated for credit on different topics with permission of the instructor. Three credits. (Fall)
HIS 304. SEMINAR IN EAST ASIAN HISTORY.
This course will examine at the seminar level various topical areas of East Asian history. This seminar will focus on developing a close command of original source material or a detailed examination of the historiography of a theme in East Asia. The primary goal of this class is to expose students to the methodologies that undergird the field of East Asian history. This course may be repeated for credit on different topics with permission of the instructor. Three credits. (Fall)

HIS 305. SEMINAR IN AFRICAN HISTORY.
This course is a focused exploration of various topical areas of African history. Emphasis will vary from year to year. Topics include religion and politics of post-colonial Africa; images and imaginings of the African continent; and war, peace and social justice. The course may be repeated for credit on different topics with permission of the instructor. Three credits.

HIS 321. SEMINAR IN US HISTORY.
This course uses interdisciplinary methods including film, music, literature, and material culture to examine various topics in the history of American culture. Emphasis will vary from year to year. Sample topics include race and culture in post-1965 America; immigration and ethnic history; African-American history; and the history of women in the United States. Three credits. (Spring)

HIS 325. MODES OF NARRATIVE.
Beyond simple story telling, narratives are important keys to understanding human behavior, both past and present. Who is silent, who speaks, what is said or unsaid, and how the narrative is constructed can tell us much about the events and environments that influence many cultures in history and modern-day societies. This course is designed to explore the variety of forms, structures, and objectives of narratives through the analysis of primary source materials (e.g., documents, artifacts, oral history, etc.). Students will examine the theoretical underpinnings of modes of narrative as a means of applying such methods to interdisciplinary research. For History majors, participation in this course includes satisfactory completion of a required internship arranged by the instructor. Three credits.

HIS 380. DIRECTED READING AND RESEARCH.
For students desiring work on topics of special individual interest. Three credits.

HIS 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
This course will examine, on a selective topics basis, various historical problems of interest to faculty and students. One, two, three, or four credits.

HIS 425. PHILOSOPHY OF HISTORY.
This course will consider the philosophical and methodological challenges of historical knowledge, past and present, with particular attention to the importance of the Liberal Arts for history. Attention will be given to problems of the notion of objectivity, rhetoric, the archive, and narrative. As the Capstone for History majors, this course will culminate in a significant research essay. Cross-listed with PHI 301. Three credits.

HIS 450. INTERNSHIP OR FIELD EXPERIENCE IN HISTORY.

Concepts and theories relating to community change, empowerment and organizing will be the focus of readings and discussions. The course curriculum and experiential opportunities will provide a connecting link between the classroom and the local community. Community research methods, including community profiling, will be examined as tools that are used to obtain community data. The students will be involved in service learning placements in community agencies to gain hands-on experience in and exposure to community services and issues. Students will be required to attend various community meetings and events. Three credits.

HCS 320. APPLICATIONS OF HUMAN AND COMMUNITY SERVICE.
Prerequisite: HSC 220.
This second course will focus attention on specific skills and issues of concern for the human and community service professional including oral and written communication skills, legal and ethical issues, organizational administration, leadership, group interaction, and administrative and legislative process. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

HCS 381, 382, 383. SPECIAL TOPICS.
This course will cover selected topics in Human and Community Service. One, two or three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

HCS 457. INTERNSHIP IN HUMAN AND COMMUNITY SERVICE.
Prerequisite: HCS 320.
Field work in some area of specialization in a school, business, social, mental health, or criminal justice setting. One class period per week dealing with professional and ethical concerns will also be required. Internships require daytime availability. Four credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)
HUMAN SOCIETY AND BEHAVIOR

HSB 188-189. HUMAN SOCIETY AND BEHAVIOR LEVEL ONE.
These topical or thematic courses, designed around the ways-of-knowing and the big questions central to the Social and Behavioral Sciences, satisfy level one Human Society and Behavior requirements in the core curriculum. May be designed as one-semester courses or as a year-long sequence. As topics will vary, this course may be repeated for credit. Three credits.

HSB 388. HUMAN SOCIETY AND BEHAVIOR LEVEL TWO.
This topical or thematic advanced seminar is designed to satisfy the level two human society and behavior requirement in the core curriculum. Course will include Service/Engaged/Experiential Learning (SEE) and intensive writing (WRI) components, as well as a culminating project designed to demonstrate mastery of the course material. Students must select one of their level two culminating projects to satisfy the Core Curriculum Capstone experience. Topics will vary, and this course may be repeated for credits. Three credits.

HUMANITIES

HUM 188-189. HUMANITIES LEVEL ONE.
These topical or thematic courses, designed around the ways-of-knowing and the big questions central to the Humanities, satisfy level one Humanities requirements in the core curriculum. May be designed as one-semester courses or as a year-long sequence. As topics will vary, this course may be repeated for credits. Three credits.

HUM 388. HUMANITIES LEVEL TWO.
This topical or thematic advanced seminar is designed to satisfy the level two humanities requirement in the core curriculum. Course will include Service/Engaged/Experiential Learning (SEE) and intensive writing (WRI) components, as well as a culminating project designed to demonstrate mastery of the course material. Students must select one of their level two culminating projects to satisfy the Core Curriculum Capstone experience. Topics will vary, and this course may be repeated for credits. Three credits.

LATIN

NOTE: These courses are provided only with adequate enrollment demand and are not offered on a regular basis.

LAT 101 & 102. ELEMENTARY LATIN.
Classical Latin. Essentials of vocabulary and grammar. Precept, recitation-discussion format. Skills built through reading and translation in a continuous story line developed around imagined daily lives in Southern Italy in the First Century B.C. Cultural presentation through captioned cartoons and background essays. Emphasis upon enhanced understanding of English through word building and language analysis. Meets five days per week. Three credits each.

LAT 201 & 202. INTERMEDIATE LATIN.
Expansion upon, and refinement of, fundamentals already acquired. Study of increasingly complex sentence patterning. Consideration of distinctive features in effective and dramatic narrative expression. Story line continuation in Rome and Athens. Topical information and idiom analysis as above. Meets five days per week. Three credits each.
LAT 311. ADVANCED READINGS I.
Prerequisites: LAT 201, 202.
A narrative panorama of Rome at the end of the Republic, and the docudrama of a famed and interesting person who lived through exciting times, even through the interplay of historical and fictional characters. Engrossment in morphology, syntax, phonology, semantics, and etymology. Continuing introduction of background material. Three credits.

LAT 312. ADVANCED READINGS II.
Prerequisite: LAT 311.
The “Quintus” of first-semester Latin becomes the Horace of Roman literature. Groomed by the dynasts of the emerging empire, he composes personal lyrical and satirical poetry while the Augustan revolution swirls on about him. Prose paraphrase smoothes the way before the challenges of formal verse.

LENOIR-RHYNE COURSES

LRC 100T, 101T. TRANSFER ORIENTATION SEMINAR.
Must be completed by all new transfer students who enroll at LR with 26 or more transfer hours. This course is an online orientation course for transfer students to familiarize them with Lenoir-Rhyne University. Students may choose to take the zero credit course (which incurs a $125 fee) or the one credit course. Zero to one credit. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

LRC 210. ACADEMIC SEMESTER ABROAD.
An orientation for students preparing to spend an academic semester abroad. Overview of issues related to study, travel, health, safety, living, laws, customs, and cross-cultural adjustment skills. Required of all students in the semester prior to departure. One Credit. (Fall, Spring)

LRC 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
In-depth study of a selected topic of interest. One to four credits.

LRC 410. SENIOR SEMINAR.
This course is available to juniors and seniors and is designed to assist students in preparing for the transition into the world of work or professional school. The course will be conducted in a seminar format and will make use of a number of resource persons. Topics to be considered include a consideration of work as a vocation (calling), resume preparation, searching and interviewing for a job, coping with the work environment, selection of and application to graduate/professional school, and lifestyles after college. Students also will be asked to participate in an assessment of their college experience. One credit.

LRC 471-476. TRAVEL/STUDY EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING.
Directed travel and study in designated field location including evaluation of experiential learning. Open to all students with permission of the instructor. May be repeated up to three times with different content. One to six credits.

LRC 480. INDEPENDENT STUDY.
A project related to student’s area of concentration. Three credits.

LIBERAL STUDIES

LBS 401. COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT.
This course encourages students in liberal studies to intentionally engage in a meaningful community-based/service learning experience (outside of their professional background) which is reflected in a web portfolio. Three credits.

LBS 402. SELF AND COMMUNITY SEMINARS.
Designed to focus specifically upon this learning goal of care and responsibility. Through a focused seminar, liberal studies students will demonstrate a sense of personal integrity and an awareness of their responsibilities as stewards and citizens of the world. Furthermore, they will exhibit a commitment to morality and to lives of service. Topical courses will emphasize care and concern for personal wellbeing, others, and learning; awareness of the world beyond the self in an open and intercultural way; rigorous ethical understanding, dedication to vocation, and the realization of these in action and service. Three credits.

LBS 403. THE ENDURING QUESTIONS SEMINARS.
Designed to focus upon the learning goal of knowledge and understanding. Through focused seminars, liberal studies students will interpret the world, using appropriate tools drawn from relevant bodies of knowledge both to grapple with and to attempt answers to enduring questions. These topical seminars will explore the knowledge, modes of inquiry, and enduring questions of the Liberal Arts and Sciences, engage the unknown and creative problem solving, understand the ways in which various bodies of knowledge connect and overlap, and understand the limits of these bodies of knowledge. Three credits.

LBS 404. COMMUNICATION AND RHETORIC SEMINARS.
Designed to focus upon the learning goal of communication and rhetoric. Through focused seminars, liberal studies students will learn to be discerning readers and listeners as well as persuasive writers and speakers. These topical seminars will require students to read and listen to information, understanding and argument beyond memorization to discernment, write and speak informatively and persuasively to different audiences, use writing and speaking as tools for understanding and solving problems, and effectively locate, critically assess, and use information. Three credits.

LBS 499. LIBERAL STUDIES CAPSTONE SEMINAR.
Prerequisite: LBS 401
This capstone seminar provides an opportunity for integrating learning through the development of an approved culminating project and web portfolio. Three credits.

MATHEMATICS

Enrollment in a Mathematics course as a first-year is determined by the SAT scores. Students wishing to take a course higher than that recommended by their SAT score may request to sit for a challenge exam.

MAT 090. INTERMEDIATE ALGEBRA.
This course establishes a foundation in algebraic concepts and problem solving, with emphasis on applications. Topics include signed numbers, exponents, orders of operation, simplifying expressions, solving linear equations and inequalities, graphing, formulas, polynomials, factoring, rational expressions, rational, radical and quadratic functions, variations, complex numbers, and elements of geometry. Upon completion, students should be able to apply these concepts in problem solving using appropriate technology. Students must complete MAT 090 by the end of the fall semester of their sophomore year. Three institutional credits.
This course does not count toward core or graduation requirements, but the grade and quality points will be included in the student's cumulative GPA. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 105. COLLEGE ALGEBRA.
Equations and inequalities; polynomial, rational, exponential and logarithmic functions; graphing; systems of equations and inequalities. Upon completion students should be able to apply these concepts in problem solving and analysis. Course does not fulfill Lenoir-Rhyne core math credit. Three hours. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 113. EXCURSIONS IN MATHEMATICS.
A study of the philosophy, nature, significance and use of mathematics from early times to the present. Topics may include the use of graph theory to solve optimization problems in management science; conflict resolution using fair division; mathematical analysis of voting systems; applications of geometry to the size and shape of objects and to calculating inaccessible distances; geometric growth and decay; non-Euclidean geometry; number systems; logic; and probability and statistics. Three credits. (Spring)

MAT 115. ELEMENTARY STATISTICS.
Prerequisite: Either a Math SAT score of at least 500 points (or the equivalent), satisfactory completion (C– or better) of MAT 090 or MAT 105, or passing the challenge test for Elementary Statistics.
An introduction to some of the basic concepts and procedures common to many applications of statistics. Topics include descriptive statistics, a brief study of probability, distributions of selected discrete and continuous random variables, confidence intervals, hypothesis testing, correlation, and regression. This course is designed to meet the needs of all liberal arts students. A student may not receive credit for MAT 115 after successful completion of MAT 215. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 124. DISCRETE MATHEMATICS I.
An introduction to discrete mathematics. Topics will include propositional logic, sets, Boolean algebra, counting and basic probability, mathematics induction, functions and relations, basics of graphs and trees, and an introduction to predicate logic. Three credits. (Spring)

MAT 125. FINITE MATHEMATICS.
Prerequisite: Either a Math SAT score of at least 500 points (or the equivalent), satisfactory completion (C– or better) of MAT 090 or MAT 105, or passing the challenge test for Finite Mathematics.
A one-semester course which studies systems of linear equations, matrices, linear programming, and mathematics of finance, and offers applications to problems of modern society and business. (Not applicable as mathematics credit toward majors in chemistry, mathematics, or physics.) Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 126. APPLIED CALCULUS.
Prerequisite: MAT 115 or 125 with a grade of “C-“ or better or permission of the instructor.
An introductory course in the differential and integral calculus of polynomial, exponential, and logarithm functions. Emphasis is placed on application of the techniques of calculus (Not applicable as mathematics credit toward majors in chemistry, mathematics, or physics). Three credits. (Spring)

MAT 129. PRE-CALCULUS MATHEMATICS.
Prerequisite: Either a Math SAT score of at least 500 points (or the equivalent), satisfactory completion (C– or better) of MAT 090 or MAT 105, or passing the challenge test for Pre-Calculus Mathematics.

A study of selected topics from algebra and trigonometry including equations and inequalities of the first and second degree, linear and quadratic functions, systems of linear equations, the Fundamental Theorem of Algebra, exponential and logarithmic functions, right triangle trigonometry, trigonometric functions of real numbers, trigonometric identities, and trigonometric equations. Four credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 165. CALCULUS I.
Prerequisite: Either a Math SAT score of at least 540 points (or the equivalent) and a knowledge of Trigonometry, satisfactory completion (C– or better) of MAT 129, or passing the challenge test for Calculus.

A study of the calculus of elementary real-valued functions. Topics studied will include the limit concept, the derivative, and the integral. This course is designed to meet the needs of all liberal arts students. Four credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 166. CALCULUS II.
Prerequisite: MAT 165 with a grade of “C-“ or better or permission of instructor.

A continuation of MAT 165, which emphasizes techniques of integration, applications of the integral, inverse functions, sequences and series (including tests for convergence and power series). Four credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 215. APPLIED STATISTICS.
Prerequisite: Either a Math SAT score of at least 500 points (or the equivalent), satisfactory completion (C– or better) of MAT 090 or MAT 105 or MAT 115, or passing the challenge test for Applied Statistics.

This course places an emphasis on core statistical methods needed to analyze and interpret statistical findings, research and everyday problems in academia, business and society. This is achieved through solving a set of problems and discussing the appropriate statistical methods for various types of data and different experiments. Students will also learn how to use computer based analysis tools to help solve these problems and visualize the results. Topics include normal probabilities, multiple regression, analysis of variance, non-parametric statistics, and an introduction to clustering, as well as their appropriate tests. A student may not receive credit for MAT 115 after successful completion of MAT 215. Four credits. (Fall, Spring)

MAT 220. INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL REASONING.
Prerequisite: MAT 124 and 165 with a grade of “C-“ or better or permission of instructor.

A course designed to help a student make the transition from calculus to abstract mathematics. Students learn some logic and get experience with traditional language and standard proof methods in mathematics. Three credits. (Fall)

MAT 224. DISCRETE MATHEMATICS II.
Prerequisites: MAT 124 and MAT 220 with grades of “C-“ or better.

A continuation of Discrete Mathematics I, with more emphasis on proof. Topics include recursion, recurrence relations, computational complexity, finite-state automata, and more in-depth study of graphs and trees, including algorithms and predicate logic. This course is required for the Theoretical Track in Mathematics and is highly recommended for the BA degree in Computer Science, particularly for those planning on graduate study. Three credits. (Spring)

MAT 240. COLLEGE GEOMETRY.
Prerequisite: MAT 129 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of instructor.
A study of topics in finite geometry postulational systems and their properties, geometric transformations, non-Euclidean geometry, plane projective geometry, constructions, and polygons. Three credits. (Even Fall)

MAT 255. ORAL EXPOSITION OF MATHEMATICS.
Pre-requisites: MAT 124 and 165.
Students in this course will choose a mathematical topic to study and develop an hour-long oral presentation suitable for either middle or high school students. The presentations will be given in an area middle or high school setting. Two credits. (Fall)

MATH 260. ANALYSIS OF ALGORITHMS.
Prerequisites: MAT 124 with a grade of “C-“ or better and successful completion of one computer programming language course.
This course is a rigorous introduction to the design and analysis of algorithms. Included are discussions of classic problems (e.g., sorting, traveling, salesman problems), classic algorithm design strategies (e.g., divide-and-conquer, greedy approaches), and classic algorithms and data structures (e.g., hash tables, Dijkstra’s algorithm) as well as algorithm complexity and issues of tractability, such as “NP-Completeness.” Three credits. (On Demand)

MAT 265. CALCULUS III.
Prerequisite: MAT 166 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of instructor.
This course will cover the following topics: conic sections, vectors, vector-valued functions, and differential and integral calculus of multivariable functions.
Four credits. (Fall)

MAT 270. DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS.
Prerequisite: MAT 166 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of instructor.
A course designed to explore a variety of techniques in determining exact and approximate solutions to certain ordinary differential equations and systems of ordinary differential equations with special attention given to numerical methods using the computer. Four credits. (Spring)

MAT 280. LINEAR ALGEBRA.
Prerequisites: MAT 166 with a grade of “C-“ or better and one of the following: MAT 124, 220, or 265; or permission of instructor.
A one semester course which examines the basic concepts of linear algebra. These include vector spaces over the real numbers, linear transformations (functions), the determinant function, eigenvalues, and eigenvectors. Three credits. (Spring)

MAT 290/291. MATHEMATICS PEER TUTORING.
This course provides the student with practical experience in teaching mathematics. The student will spend a minimum of three hours per week in the Lenoir-Rhyne Learning Commons Math Lab working with students needing help in mathematics. The help may be realized either in a one-on-one tutorial environment or in small groups. The course may be repeated up to three times for credit, but not more than once in any semester. Zero to one credit. (On Demand)

MAT 300. THEORY OF NUMBERS.
Prerequisite: MAT 220 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of the instructor.
A course covering some of the widely known theorems, conjectures, unsolved problems, and proofs of number theory. Topics covered will include divisibility, prime numbers, congruencies, diophantine equations, and arithmetic functions. Three credits. (Odd Fall)
MAT 345. ADVANCED ANALYSIS.
Prerequisite: MAT 220 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of the instructor.
A study of fundamental concepts of analysis including the topology of Euclidean Space, functions of bounded variation, sequences of functions, integration, and Fourier series. Three credits. (Even Spring)

MAT 370. ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I.
Prerequisites: MAT 280 with a grade of “C-” or better, and MAT 220 with a grade of “C-” or better, or permission of instructor.
A one semester course which concentrates on the concept of algebraic structures (with groups as primary emphasis), properties of the integers, induction, the division algorithm, greatest common divisors, and equivalence classes. Three credits. (Even Fall)

MAT 371. ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II.
Prerequisite: MAT 370 with a grade of “C-” or better or permission of instructor
This course is an extension of MAT 370 and is designed for senior mathematics majors who expect to do graduate work. Topics include rings, fields, polynomials, and an introduction to Galois theory. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

MAT 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
This course permits the study of selected areas of mathematics not offered on a regular basis. Topics might include such subjects as vector analysis, complex analysis, topology, etc. One, two, three, or four credits. (Offered on demand)

MAT 390. RESEARCH SEMINAR.
Pre-requisite: Registration by permission of instructor.
An exploration of a wide variety of topics suitable for undergraduate research in Mathematics. Students will read articles and give oral presentations, as well as learn how to communicate mathematics in writing. Students will be trained in the use of professional mathematical typesetting software. Each student will select a senior research topic and advisor. Two credits. (Spring)

MAT 400. HISTORY AND PHILOSOPHY OF MATHEMATICS.
Prerequisite: Nine hours of Mathematics at or above 165 with a grade of “C-” or better.
A study of the development of mathematics from its earliest known introduction to the present time. Emphasis is placed on relationship between mathematical and political events, as well as the development and spread of mathematical concepts and techniques. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

MAT 430 PROBABILITY 1: DISCRETE DISTRIBUTIONS
An overview of discrete probability theory. Topics include: Axiomatic approach to probability; Elementary methods in combinatorics; Inclusion-Exclusion; Independence; Conditional Probability; Discrete Random Variables; Expectation, variance, and higher moments; Generating Functions; Standard Distributions: uniform, binomial, geometric, negative binomial, hypergeometric, Poisson; Joint distributions; covariance; Introduction to Markov chains. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

MAT 431 PROBABILITY 2: CONTINUOUS DISTRIBUTIONS
An overview of calculus-based probability theory. Topics include: Axioms of probability theory; Continuous random variables: PDF and CDF; Expectation and variance; Uniform, exponential, Weibull and Gamma distributions; The normal distribution; The central limit theorem; Student and chi^2 distributions; Multidimensional densities; multivariate normals; Conditional distributions; conditional expectation; covariance; Law of total variance. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

MAT 450. FINANCIAL MATHEMATICS.
Prerequisites: MAT 165 and either MAT 115 or MAT 215.
This course is a mathematical treatment of some fundamental concepts of financial mathematics and their application to basic risk management. Topics include valuing investments, capital budgeting, valuing contingent cash flows, yield curves, spot rates, forward rates, short sales, Macaulay duration, modified duration, convexity, and immunization, financial derivatives, and their use in risk management. Provides preparation for the FM Actuarial Exam. Three credits. (On demand)

MAT 490. SENIOR RESEARCH.
Independent research on a mathematical subject of interest to the student under the guidance of a Mathematics faculty member. Upon completion of the research, the student must submit a written report and make an oral presentation on the research. Two credit. (Registration by permission of instructor only)

MAT 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Independent original research on the student’s honors thesis topic under the direction of a Mathematics faculty member. Two credits. (On demand)

MAT 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
A continuation of MAT 498 culminating in the submission of a written thesis on original work in Mathematics. The student will present the thesis orally before students and faculty. Two credits. (On demand)

MUSIC

MUS 090. MUSIC FUNDAMENTALS.
A study in the rudiments of music theory which includes clef reading, major and minor scales, key signatures, intervals, chords, and an introduction to aural identification of the rudiments. It is designed for all entering first-year students majoring in music and for music minors. Computerized drill and programmed testing in music rudiments are utilized. Students with a background in music rudiments may attempt a proficiency exam for this course. This course does not count toward graduation credits, but the grade and quality points will be included in the students cumulative GPA. Two credits. (Fall)

MUS 103. HARMONY AND ANALYSIS I.
Prerequisite: MUS 090 or proficiency.
A thorough study of compositional devices and their relevance to style in music from the Renaissance to the present. Harmonic analysis, formal analysis, common practice period part-writing, and basic compositional structures are addressed. Three credits. (Spring)

MUS 104. AURAL SKILLS I.
Prerequisite: MUS 090 or proficiency.
Systematic training, including computer assisted instruction, in sight singing and in the aural techniques of music for one to four voices; development of thinking musically; meeting difficulties in pitch and rhythm. One credit. (Spring)

MUS 105. KEYBOARD HARMONY I.
Designed to provide keyboard experience in the formation of intervals, chords, and scales and their application to simple melodies and harmonies. This course prepares the student to meet teacher education competencies in piano proficiency and for the piano proficiency exam. This course is eligible for credit by examination. One credit. (Spring)

MUS 106. KEYBOARD HARMONY II.
Continuation of Music 105. This course is eligible for credit by examination. One credit. (Fall)

MUS 109. CO-CURRICULAR PERFORMANCE PRACTICUM.
An experiential based application of the craft of music performance. Students will attend live performance, participate in workshops and clinics in their field of study to reflect on music performance and gain practical experience in the craft. Course is repeatable. 0 credit. (Fall and Spring)

MUS 111. INTRODUCTION TO MUSIC LITERATURE.
An introduction to the basic elements of music and to musical forms and terminology. Special emphasis on knowledge of the literature of music. Designed to provide background essential to professional study. Two credits. (Fall)

MUS 120. APPLIED MUSIC PREPARATORY DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to two lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Preparatory Division Applied Music does not fulfill the requirements for the music major or for the music minor. Preparatory Division students are not required to perform student recitals or final jury exams. Zero credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 121. APPLIED MUSIC PREPARATORY DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to two lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Preparatory Division Applied Music does not fulfill the requirements for the music major or for the music minor. Preparatory Division students are not required to perform student recitals or final jury exams. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 122. APPLIED MUSIC PREPARATORY DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to two lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Preparatory Division Applied Music does not fulfill the requirements for the music major or for the music minor. Preparatory Division students are not required to perform student recitals or final jury exams. Two credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 130. APPLIED MUSIC—LOWER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final
MUS 131. APPLIED MUSIC—LOWER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). An entry audition is required for lower division applied music lessons. Zero credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 132. APPLIED MUSIC—LOWER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One of three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). An entry audition is required for lower division applied music lessons. Two credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 133. APPLIED MUSIC—LOWER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One of three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). An entry audition is required for lower division applied music lessons. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 150. ENSEMBLES.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Concert band, choir, jazz ensemble, pep band, brass ensemble, percussion ensembles, handbell ensembles, orchestra, pit orchestra, and various other performing ensembles are offered (some ensembles by audition) to all students of the College with or without credit. Ensembles meet for a minimum of two hours weekly for one credit hour. Requirements for students electing non-credit are the same as for students electing credit. Students who are instrumental principals and majors are required to participate each semester in the Concert Band unless excused by the director. Vocal principals and majors are required to participate each semester in the A Cappella Choir unless excused by the director. Zero credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 151. ENSEMBLES.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Concert band, choir, jazz ensemble, pep band, brass ensemble, percussion ensembles, handbell ensembles, orchestra, pit orchestra, and various other performing ensembles are offered (some ensembles by audition) to all students of the College with or without credit. Ensembles meet for a minimum of two hours weekly for one credit hour. Requirements for students electing non-credit are the same as for students electing credit. Students who are instrumental principals and majors are required to participate each semester in the Concert Band unless excused by the director. Vocal principals and majors are required to participate each semester in the A Cappella Choir unless excused by the director. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 200. MUSIC APPRECIATION.
Fundamentals essential to the introduction and development of musical thought and judgment; aesthetic significance and other values; principal forms and historical movements; interpretation of current musical efforts. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 201. HARMONY AND ANALYSIS II.
Prerequisite: MUS 103 or proficiency exam.
Continuation of Music 103. Three credits. (Fall)

MUS 202. AURAL SKILLS II.
Prerequisite: MUS 104 or proficiency exam.
Continuation of Music 104. One credit. (Fall)

MUS 203. HARMONY AND ANALYSIS III.
Prerequisite: MUS 201 or proficiency exam.
Continuation of Music 201. Three credits. (Spring)

MUS 204. AURAL SKILLS III.
Prerequisite: MUS 202 or proficiency.
Continuation of Music 202. One credit. (Spring)

MUS 210. BRASS TECHNIQUES.
The brass methods class is designed to provide a working knowledge of all the brass instruments of the standard band instrumentation for teaching purposes. Two class hours per week. One credit. (Even Fall)

MUS 211. PERCUSSION TECHNIQUES.
The percussion class is designed to provide a working knowledge of all major percussion instruments of the standard band instrumentation for teaching purposes. Two class hours per week. One credit. (Odd Fall)

MUS 212. STRING TECHNIQUES.
To provide a working knowledge of the string instruments for teaching purposes. Two class hours per week. One credit. (Even Spring)

MUS 213. WOODWIND TECHNIQUES.
To provide for teaching purposes a working knowledge of the basic single and double reed instruments and flute. Two class hours per week. One credit. (Odd Spring)

MUS 214. VOCAL TECHNIQUES.
Vocal methods is designed to provide a working knowledge of the voice and basic vocal pedagogy. This class emphasizes the study of voice production and basic principles of singing as well as work with voices. Two class hours per week. One credit. (Fall)

MUS 254. MUSIC HISTORY AND LITERATURE I.
Prerequisites: One year of theory, MUS 111 or 200, or permission of the instructor.
A historical survey of music history and literature from the beginning of civilization to the present time. Three credits. (Fall)

MUS 255. MUSIC HISTORY AND LITERATURE II.
Prerequisites: One year of theory, MUS 111 or 200, or permission of the instructor.
A continuation of MUS 254. A historical survey of music history and literature from the beginning of civilization to the present time. Three credits. (Spring)

MUS 270. WORSHIP.
A study of the theology and practice of Christian worship, beginning with its Jewish roots. Emphasis will be given to the historic development of liturgy, including a comparison of current orders of worship. Other topics to be covered are the church year, worship planning, musical settings of the liturgy, worship space and acoustics, and a theological framework for the use of music in worship. Three credits. Cross-listed with Religion 270. (Even Fall)

MUS 271. DEVELOPMENT OF CHILDREN’S CHOIRS.
A study of the theoretical and practical development of children’s voices, dealing with vocal production, literature, choral techniques, and the practical details of organizing and managing a church or community chorus. Two credits. (Even Fall)

MUS 272. HYMNODY.
A survey of the hymnody of the Western Church, from its historical roots in Hebrew and Greek hymns to the present. The course will include a study of Gregorian chant, Reformation hymns, Genevan and English Psalters, Evangelical and Anglican hymns, early American and Gospel hymns, African-American spirituals, and contemporary hymnody. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

MUS 273. CHANTING.
A study of plainsong and its place in worship today. Students will sing liturgical examples from various systems of chant (i.e., Gregorian, Anglican, Gelineau), as well as prepare intoned material from contemporary worship orders. This course will deal with basic elements of vocal production and projection on a group level. The role of the cantor will be highlighted. One credit. (Odd Spring)

MUS 301. ORCHESTRATION.
Prerequisite: Two years of theory or permission of instructor.
Instrumentation of orchestra and band; scoring music for instrumental groups. Two credits. (Spring)

MUS 302. ADVANCED FORM AND ANALYTICAL TECHNIQUE.
Prerequisite: Two years of theory or permission of instructor.
The development of techniques of analysis of music. Two credits. (On demand)

MUS 303. COUNTERPOINT.
Prerequisite: Two years of theory.
Techniques of contrapuntal composition; analysis of polyphonic compositions of the 16th, 18th, and 20th centuries. Two credits. (On demand)

MUS 330. APPLIED MUSIC—UPPER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ, and orchestral instruments (brass, woodwinds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). Successful completion of a sophomore level “Upper Divisional” jury is required for registration in upper division applied music. Zero credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 331. APPLIED MUSIC—UPPER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ and orchestral instruments (brass, wood-winds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). Successful completion of a sophomore level “Upper Divisional” jury is required for registration in upper division applied music. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 332. APPLIED MUSIC—UPPER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ and orchestral instruments (brass, wood-winds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). Successful completion of a sophomore level “Upper Divisional” jury is required for registration in upper division applied music. Two credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 333. APPLIED MUSIC—UPPER DIVISION.
Private instruction in voice, piano, organ and orchestral instruments (brass, wood-winds, percussion, and strings). One to three lessons per week with a minimum of one hour of practice per day for each one-half hour private lesson. Applied music students are required to perform in a student recital once each semester and are required to submit a final jury exam (end of semester performance). Successful completion of a sophomore level “Upper Divisional” jury is required for registration in upper division applied music. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 370. HISTORY OF SACRED MUSIC.
Prerequisite: Music 111 or 200 or permission of the instructor.
A survey of music composed for worship and/or inspired by faith over the centuries. Special emphasis will be placed on the sacred music of various Christian traditions, from Gregorian Chant to the growing African scene. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

MUS 372. SERVICE PLAYING.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
A lab course focusing on the various elements of service playing: hymn and anthem accompaniments, conducting from the keyboard, liturgical playing, modulations and reharmonizations, and registration. One credit. (Odd Fall)

MUS 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Seminar and/or projects in selected topics related to music theory, music history, music composition, music performance, and music pedagogy. One, two, three, or four credits. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 397. JUNIOR RECITAL.
Junior level half or full recital. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 401. COMPOSITION.
Prerequisites: MUS 303 or permission of the instructor.
Original writing to illustrate the different forms and styles of music. Two credits. (On demand)

MUS 420. CHORAL CONDUCTING AND LITERATURE.
A study of the art of choral conducting: coordination of hand technique, breath control, sound control, diction, phrasing, and dynamics. Discussion of the organization and development of choral groups with research or choral methods and materials. Teacher Education competencies in choral conducting and graded literature are addressed. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

MUS 421. INSTRUMENTAL CONDUCTING AND LITERATURE.
The emphasis of study will be on baton and rehearsal techniques, score reading and knowledge of various instrumental group voicing. Teacher Education competencies in instrumental conducting and graded literature are addressed. Three credits. (Even Spring)

MUS 422. ELEMENTARY AND INTERMEDIATE CLASSROOM MUSIC METHODS.
Survey of the organization, administration, and supervision of early childhood and intermediate music programs; emphasis on Orff-Schulwerk and Kodaly systems of music education and the development of teaching skills. Two credits. (Odd Fall)

MUS 423. CHORAL MUSIC METHODS.
Acquisition of the skills and dispositions of the professional music educator in the choral performance classroom, aligned with the teaching standards of the profession. These skills include the methods and materials, rehearsal techniques and teaching strategies, and curriculum development for the successful teaching and administration of a choral program. Two credits. (Even Fall)

MUS 424. INSTRUMENTAL METHODS.
Acquisition of the skills and dispositions of the professional music educator in the instrumental classroom, aligned with the teaching standards of the profession. These skills include the methods and materials, rehearsal techniques and teaching strategies, and curriculum development for the successful teaching and administration of an instrumental program. Two credits. (Even Fall)

MUS 454. PERIOD STUDY IN MUSIC HISTORY.
Prerequisites: MUS 245, 255.
This course is an analysis of the history and literature of a selected era or body of repertoire. May be repeated once for credit. Two credits. (Spring)

MUS 470. FIELD WORK IN SACRED MUSIC.
Prerequisite: At least two semesters of the sacred music sequence.
An experiential component of the sacred music program. The sacred music student will participate in a church music program for a minimum of three hours per week for a full semester. A student will be placed under staff supervision in a local church setting. Students already employed as parish musicians may fulfill field work requirements at their place of employment. Observation will be made by the Music Department faculty. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 471. SACRED MUSIC PROJECT.
Prerequisite: At least three semesters of the sacred music sequence.
A summation project for the sacred music student. The student will plan, prepare, and lead a public worship service on or off campus. Involvement may include the performance or direction of choral and/or instrumental music and the necessary liturgical propers. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 472. CRITICAL ISSUES IN CHURCH MUSIC.
Prerequisite: Music 370 or permission of the instructor.
An overview of practical and difficult issues facing the church musician today, including a discussion of contemporary and traditional services, prerecorded and live worship music, appropriate instruments for accompanying worship, the call and ministry of a church musician, church staff relationships, the politics of music-making, guidelines for part-time and full-time employment, and networking. Two credits. (Even Spring)

MUS 497. SENIOR RECITAL.
Senior level half or full recital. One credit. (Fall, Spring)

MUS 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS OR PROJECT.
Intensive study and research culminating in an honors thesis or project. The selection of the topic or project is subject to approval by the music faculty. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

NATURAL WORLD

NAT 188-189. NATURAL WORLD LEVEL ONE.
These laboratory courses, designed around the ways-of-knowing and the big questions central to the Natural and/or Physical Sciences, satisfy level one Natural World requirements in the core curriculum. May be designed as one-semester courses or as a year-long sequence. As topics will vary, this course may be repeated for credit. Three or four credits.

NAT 388. NATURAL WORLD LEVEL TWO.
This topical or thematic advanced seminar is designed to satisfy the level two natural world requirement in the core curriculum. Course will include Service/Engaged/Experiential Learning (SEE) and intensive writing (WRI) components, as well as a culminating project designed to demonstrate mastery of the course material. Students must select one of their level two culminating projects to satisfy the Core Curriculum Capstone experience. Topics will vary, and this course may be repeated for credits. Three or four credits.

NURSING

NUR 202. ASSESSMENT OF HEALTH STATUS.
Gateway.
Prerequisite: Progression into the Gateway Program (RN-BSN status).
This course focuses on the development of health assessment skills, including health history, use of assessment tools, normal physical and physiological findings, and common alterations. Three credits. (Summer)

NUR 231. INTRODUCTION TO PROFESSIONAL NURSING.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisite: BIO 281 and cumulative GPA of 2.75.
Prerequisite or Concurrent: BIO 282.
Students are introduced to the conceptual basis for the provision of professional nursing care. Concepts explored include: professional nursing, health and wellness, culture, teaching/learning, safety, and self-concepts. Aspects of ethnicity, cultural diversity, values, spirituality, as well as legalities, are studies within the context of professional advocacy, accountability, and responsibility. Three credits. (Spring sophomore year, Summer on demand)

NUR 235. HEALTH ASSESSMENT.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisite: BIO 281 and cumulative GPA of 2.75.
Prerequisite or Concurrent: BIO 282.
Students are introduced to the process of assessing normal adult health status. This course focuses on the development of physical assessment skills and interviewing skills in assessing and recognizing normal health status of the individual. Theoretical content includes health history, assessment tools, and normal findings. Concepts introduced in this course will include therapeutic communication, cultural competence, and health promotion and maintenance. Students are expected to utilize knowledge from previous courses. Three credits. (Spring sophomore year, Summer on demand)

NUR 240. STRATEGIES FOR SUCCESS.
Prelicensure.
This course focuses on the study habits, learning styles, and test taking techniques of each individual student. These skills are necessary skills to become and remain successful in the nursing curriculum. Nursing exams are created to reflect the types of questions seen on the NCLEX® (National Council Licensure Exam). With this in mind, this course will provide students with test-taking skills necessary to take and pass the NCLEX®-style exams. This course is required for any student that scores below the Proficient Level on the ATI-TEAS test. One credit. (Fall, Spring on Demand)

NUR 300. TRANSITION TO PROFESSIONAL NURSING.
Gateway.
Prerequisite: Progression into the Gateway Program (RN-BSN status).
This introductory bridge course for RN-BSN students primarily focuses on areas not traditionally emphasized in ADN and Diploma curricula. It emphasizes the development of self within the professional dimension as well as nursing theories, processes for caring, and professional role socialization. Three credits. (Fall)

NUR 309. TRANSITIONAL FOUNDATIONAL CLINICAL PRACTICUM
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 231, 235
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 315, 318
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 315 or 318 or students needing a clinical course related to the management of foundational health and disease processes. Students care for adult clients dealing with pain, surgery, mobility, infection and cancer. Pharmacological management is also a focus of the course. Three credits. (Fall)

NUR 315. PHARMACOLOGY IN NURSING.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Admission to the Nursing Program, NUR 231, 235, BIO 220, CHE 101 or higher.
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 318, 323, 324, HES 288.
This course emphasizes basic concepts of pharmacology as it relates to nursing, as well as drug categories that affect particular body systems. Essential knowledge of pharmacology is emphasized within exemplars of various pathologic conditions. Three credits. (Fall)

NUR 318. CONCEPTS OF HEALTH AND DISEASE MANAGEMENT.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Admission to the Nursing Program. NUR 231, 235, BIO 220, CHE 101 or higher.
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 315, 323, 324, HES 288.
Building on previous knowledge, this course introduces the students to biophysical concepts of pain management, acid-base balance, fluid and electrolyte balance, infection, cellular regulation, mobility, skin integrity, sensory perception, and stress adaptation. Students are introduced to the psychosocial concept of self within the context of acute illness. Concepts related to the core nursing knowledge of global health are also discussed. Specific concepts related to health care systems, quality care, health care regulation, professional communication and diversity are explored. Exemplars are used to illustrate each of the major concepts. Through use of the nursing process, the biophysical and psychosocial concepts are emphasized in the context of a human caring approach. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability for nursing judgments, quality of client care, and professional behavior in a classroom. Three credits. (Fall junior year)

NUR 319. TRANSITIONAL EMERGING FAMILY CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Admission to the Nursing program, NUR 315, 318.
Concurrent: NUR 323.
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 323 or students needing a clinical course related to the emerging family. This course includes opportunities for application of the theoretical knowledge of families experiencing all phases of child bearing. Two credits. (Fall)

NUR 323. CONCEPTS OF THE EMERGING FAMILY.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Admission to the Nursing Program, NUR 231, 235, BIO 220.
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 315, 318, 319 or 324, HES 288, SOC 100.
Building on previous knowledge, this course introduces the students to biophysical concepts of pain management, sexual function, reproduction, genetics, fluid and electrolyte balance, infection, nutrition, metabolism, oxygenation, perfusion, skin integrity, sleep/rest, and thermal regulation. Also emphasized are the psychosocial concepts of stress adaptation, mood and affect, violence and addictions, concept of self, and relationships within families. Students are introduced to health promotion and maintenance, concepts of risk/surveillance, and environmental safety. Concepts related to the core nursing knowledge of global health are also discussed. Specific concepts related to health care systems, quality care, health care regulation, professional communication, and diversity are explored. Exemplars are used to illustrate each of the major concepts. Through use of the nursing process, the biophysical and psychosocial concepts are emphasized in the context of a human caring approach. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability for nursing judgments, quality of client care, and professional behavior in a variety of settings.
Three credits. (Fall junior year)

NUR 324. FOUNDATIONAL CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Admission to Nursing Program, NUR 231, 235, BIO 220, CHE 101 or higher.
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 315, 318, 323 and HES 288.
Building on knowledge learned in previous or concurrent nursing courses, students apply concepts of health and disease management in a variety of settings. Students will care for adult clients dealing with surgical issues, chronic pain, alterations in acid/base metabolism, cellular regulation, infection, and fluid and electrolytes. Students will care for clients experiencing normal and complicated prenatal, intrapartum, and post partum periods. Students will also care for newborns. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability and responsibility for nursing judgments, quality of care, and professional behavior in a variety of settings. Four credits. (Fall junior year)

NUR 329. TRANSITIONAL INTERMEDIATE CLINICAL PRACTICUM I.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 318, 324 or 309.
Concurrent: NUR 345.
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 345 or for students needing a clinical course related to biophysical illness in adults. Students focus on the promotion and restoration of biophysical health along with the prevention of biophysical illness. A more complex study of the concepts of protection, safety, and regulation is conducted. Two credits. (Spring)

NUR 335. EXPLORATION OF THE DIVERSE FACES OF HEALTHCARE.
This course explores the health care needs and resources available to diverse groups with a special emphasis on health care in selected populations. The selected population may vary from semester to semester but possible groups could include immigrant Native American and African Americans. This course includes activities in the local community to provide contact with diverse populations and immersion experiences. Two credits. (Fall and Spring)

NUR 339. TRANSITIONAL DEVELOPING FAMILY CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 323, 324, or 319.
Concurrent: NUR 359.
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 359 or for transfer students needing a clinical course related to the developing family. Students care for pediatric clients and their families. One credit. (Spring)

NUR 345. CONCEPTS OF BIOPHYSICAL ILLNESS I.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 318, 324, HES 288.
Prerequisites or Concurrent: NUR 356, 359, 367 or 329.
Building on previous knowledge and the human caring approach, this course continues to prepare the student to focus on prevention, promotion, and restoration of biophysical health of adults. Concepts of immunity, oxygenation, and perfusion will be introduced as new concepts focusing on specific exemplars under each category. Concepts of mobility, pain, fluid and electrolyte balance, elimination, nutrition, and metabolism will be continued focusing on specific exemplars under each category. Students will use the nursing process as a means of critical thinking to address nursing care of clients. Students will be held accountable for nursing judgments and quality of client care identified through selected exemplars. Three credits. (Spring junior year)

NUR 349. TRANSITIONAL AGING FAMILY CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 318, 324 or 309.
Concurrent: NUR 356.
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 356 or for students needing a clinical course related to the aging family. Students care for elderly clients and their families. One credit. (Spring)

NUR 356. CONCEPTS OF HEALTH AND ILLNESS IN THE AGING FAMILY.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 323, 324 or 309, HES 288.
Prerequisite or Concurrent: NUR 359, 367 or 349.
The course introduces the aging family with an emphasis on health promotion in relation to loss and grief, rest and sleep, sexuality, nutrition, elimination, and client safety. The effects of biophysiological and psychosocial changes in elderly and their families are studied. Also discussed is the management of selected common illnesses related to altered cognition, oxygenation, mobility, sensory perception, and pain in aged individuals. Assessment of family communication patterns and decision-making is introduced. Aging family issues such as end of life care, care giving, institutionalization, housing, environmental safety, retirement and grand-parenting are explored. Three credits. (Spring junior year)

NUR 359. CONCEPTS OF HEALTH AND ILLNESS IN THE DEVELOPING FAMILY.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 318, 323, 324 or 319, HES 288, PSY 320.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 345, 356, 367 or 339.
Theoretical application of concepts related to nursing care of children and their families is emphasized. The course includes exploration of psychosocial and biological growth and development issues across the lifespan as it applies to the management of illnesses in the infant, child and adolescent population. Three credits. (Spring junior year)

NUR 367. INTERMEDIATE CLINICAL PRACTICUM I.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 315, 318, 323, 324, HES 288.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 345, 356, 359.
Building on previous knowledge and the human caring approach, this course continues to prepare the student to focus on prevention, promotion, and restoration of biophysical health of clients across the lifespan in a variety of clinical settings. Students will use the nursing process as a means of critical thinking and provide care for clients identified in a number of clinical sites such as acute care medical, acute care pediatrics, long term care, and a number of community clinical site rotations. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability for nursing judgments, quality of client care, and professional behavior in a variety of clinical settings. Four credits. (Spring junior year)

NUR 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
In-depth study of selected topic in nursing. May be class and/or clinical. One credit each to a maximum of six credits. (Subject to School Chair’s approval). (Fall, Spring)

NUR 419. TRANSITIONAL INTERMEDIATE CLINICAL PRACTICUM II.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300 Level Prelicensure Courses.
Concurrent: NUR 425.
This course is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 425 or for students needing a clinical course related to critical care. Emphasis is on concepts related to multi-system failure and complex problems related to oxygenation, perfusion and neural regulation. Two credits. (Fall)

NUR 425. CONCEPTS OF BIOPHYSICAL ILLNESS II.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300 Level Prelicensure Courses.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 467 or 419.
Building on previous knowledge and the human caring approach, this course continues to prepare the student to focus on prevention, promotion, and restoration of biophysical health of adults. The following concepts will focus on specific exemplars under each category: tissue integrity; infection; immunity; sensory-perception; mobility; pain; fluid and electrolyte balance; acid-base balance; metabolism; intra-cranial regulation; oxygenation; perfusion; thermal regulation and stress and adaptation. Students will use the nursing process as a means of critical thinking to address nursing care of clients. Students will be held accountable for nursing judgments and quality of client care identified through selected exemplars. Three credits. (Fall senior year)

NUR 429. TRANSITIONAL PSYCHOSOCIAL CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300 Level Prelicensure Courses or by permission of Chair, School of Nursing.
Concurrent: NUR 436.
This is a concurrent clinical course for students repeating NUR 436 or for students needing a clinical course related to psychosocial illness. Emphasis is on the higher level of professional judgments and use of advanced therapeutic communication skills for clients with psychosocial illnesses. Students will have experiences with clients with both acute and chronic psychosocial illnesses. One credit. (Fall)

NUR 435. ANALYTICAL METHODS FOR EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 231, 235, 324.
Prerequisites or concurrent: MAT 115 or 215, NUR 300 (Gateway) or by permission of the instructor.
The course examines the research process as it relates to the practice of nursing. It provides a foundation for critiquing research studies as a basis for applying evidence to nursing practice. Three credits. (Fall senior year or summer by permission)

NUR 436. CONCEPTS OF PSYCHOSOCIAL ILLNESS.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300 Level Prelicensure Courses, or permission of Chair, School of Nursing.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 467 or 429.
The course addresses the theoretical application of concepts related to nursing care of individuals experiencing psychosocial distress and mental illness. Special emphasis is given to the usage of therapeutic communication skills. Students shall use a conceptual approach to explore issues related to mental illness as well as health promotion of mental and emotional wellness. Three credits. (Fall senior year)

NUR 455. HEALTH PROMOTION WITH POPULATIONS AND FAMILIES.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 300 (Gateway); NUR 425, 436, 467 (Prelicensure.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 456, 487 (Prelicensure), NUR 477 (Gateway).
The course discusses health promotion issues for populations and families. The course stresses the importance of the role of the nurse as a collaborator within the interdisciplinary health care team. The study of epidemiology assists students in understanding concepts such as risk and causality that form the basis for improving health care for populations. The application of concepts to community situations such as health care financing, communicable... disease, health disparities, and disaster planning are discussed. Concepts are also applied to the family as a focus of care. Three credits. (Spring senior year)

NUR 456. CONCEPTS OF LEADERSHIP IN NURSING.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 202, 300 (Gateway); NUR 425, 435, 436, 467 (Prelicensure).
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 455, 487 (Prelicensure); NUR 477 (Gateway)
This course expands the theoretical base for the multidimensional professional leadership role. The focus is on integration of nursing concepts, management principles, and collaboration with health care professionals directed toward improvement of the health care system and management of client care. It emphasizes nursing theory, modalities of care delivery, decision-making and critical thinking, and the impact of ethical, legal, political, and economic issues in the delivery of health care. Three credits. (Spring senior year)

NUR 467. INTERMEDIATE CLINICAL PRACTICUM II.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300 Level Prelicensure Course.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 425, 436.
Building on previous knowledge and the human caring approach, this course continues to prepare the student to focus on prevention, promotion, and restoration of biophysical health of adults. Nursing care of clients is delivered in a variety of complex health care settings. Clinical may include inpatient care units such as ICU, ER, Telemetry, and Psychiatric/Behavioral Health or in outpatient settings such as home visits. Emphasis is on the use of higher levels of professional judgments, critical thinking, and therapeutic communication in a variety of complex situations. Four credits. (Fall senior year)

NUR 471, 472 & 473. INDEPENDENT STUDY.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisite: Acceptance into the nursing major.
Individual learning contract developed and completed under faculty direction. One to three credits (Subject to School Chair’s approval). (Fall, Spring)

NUR 477. APPLIED HEALTH CARE.
Gateway.
Prerequisite: NUR 202, 300, 435.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 455, 456.
The course provides a culminating experience in which the RN to BSN student synthesizes nursing knowledge with management and leadership roles in selected settings. The student uses knowledge from nursing and liberal arts as a basis for collaboration, participation, and promotion of change in the health care system while adhering to ethical and legal standards. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability for nursing judgments, quality of client care, and professional behavior. Four credits. (Spring senior year)

NUR 487. ADVANCED CLINICAL PRACTICUM.
Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: NUR 425,435, 436, 467.
Prerequisites or concurrent: NUR 455 and 456.
Building on knowledge learned in previous courses and knowledge learned in concurrent nursing courses, students are engaged in an intense clinical experience in selected settings in order to promote transition into practice and development of leadership skills. As a part of the capstone course, students also have additional clinical experiences in order to explore the delivery of health care in a home environment and various community settings. Students are also engaged in the planning and implementation of health promotion projects within a community. Students are expected to demonstrate accountability and responsibility for nursing judgments, quality of care, and professional behavior in a variety of settings. Six credits. (Spring senior year)

NUR 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisite: Eligibility for honors, NUR 435.
Seminar course that guides the student in development of a nursing research study. The student delineates a research problem, conducts a review of literature, and develops a research proposal. The evolution of work is guided by faculty and shared with fellow students in supportive seminars, enabling the student to clarify problems and progress in development of the research study. Three credits. (Fall)

NUR 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Gateway/Prelicensure.
Prerequisites: Eligibility for honors, NUR 498.
This course of guided study enables the student to implement the research proposal developed in NUR 498. The student completes data collection, data analysis, evaluation and written phase of the proposed research plan. The study is communicated via oral presentation to health care peers and professionals. Three credits. (Spring)

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

OCC 403. OCCUPATION AND WELLNESS I.
Introduces the philosophy and core-assumptions of occupational therapy and occupational science. This first of two discipline-based courses addresses the subjective and contextual dimensions of occupation and elements of the occupational-design process. The course requires 100 hours of community service learning. Three credits. (Fall)

OCC 413. OCCUPATION AND WELLNESS II.
The second of two discipline-based courses focuses on the therapeutic power of occupation in the well population. Emphasis is on occupational programs for differing populations, engagement in the community, and presentation of an occupation-based program. This course requires 100 hours of community service learning. Three credits. (Spring)

PHILOSOPHY

PHI 101. LOGIC.
An introduction to the fundamental forms of logical reasoning. Introduction to modern logic. Three credits.

PHI 102. PHILOSOPHY OF HUMAN NATURE.

These may include the existence and nature of God, authority in religion, freedom and determinism, the problem of evil, immortality, religious epistemology, and religious language. Three credits.

PHI 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS IN PHILOSOPHY.
Prerequisite: PHI 101 or 102 or permission of the instructor.
One, two, three, or four credits.

PHI 403. DIRECTED READING AND RESEARCH.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
For philosophy majors desiring work on topics of special individual interest. Three credits.

PHI 410. ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE.
Prerequisite: A CSC course higher than 115 or MAT 200 or PHI 101 or permission of the instructor.
Introduces students to the basic concepts and techniques of artificial intelligence and intelligent systems. Topics include knowledge representation, natural language understanding, logical theorem proving search strategies and control, as well as introduction to artificial intelligence programming using LISP and/or Prolog. Four credits.

PHI 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.

PHYSICS

PHY 100. ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY.
Introduction to engineering for pre-engineering students. A description of the various fields of engineering is provided. In addition, students are introduced to various mathematical and laboratory techniques useful in engineering, including measurement theory, graphing skills, design, computer aided design. One credit. (On Demand)

PHY 110. CONCEPTS OF PHYSICS.
An introduction to the science of physics, including the study of the history of science and technology: mechanics, heat, electricity, magnetism, optics, atomic structure, and nuclear physics. Energy: types, sources, uses, prospects and the impact of technology on culture and future trends. Two lecture hours and a two laboratory hours per week. Three credits. (Fall)

PHY 115. ENERGY, TECHNOLOGY, AND MAN.
A one semester introduction to physics, primarily intended for the student (such as a pre-engineering major) who did not have a high school physics course. Topics include mechanics, heat, sound, electricity, magnetism, optics, atomic physics, and nuclear physics. Three lecture hours and two laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

PHY 121. GENERAL PHYSICS.
An introduction to mechanics, heat, and sound. Designed for students who are required to take a course in physics, but who do not intend to take calculus. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall, Summer)

PHY 122. GENERAL PHYSICS.
An introduction to electricity, magnetism, optics, atomic and nuclear science. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring, Summer)

PHY 211. ANALYTICAL PHYSICS I.
Prerequisite or co-requisite: MAT 165.
A calculus based study of mechanics, sound, and heat. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Fall)

PHY 212. ANALYTICAL PHYSICS II.
Prerequisite: PHY 211.
Prerequisite or co-requisite: MAT 165.
A calculus based study of electricity, magnetism, optics, and selected topics in modern physics. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Spring)

PHY 214. MODERN PHYSICS.
Prerequisite: PHY 212.
An overview and examination of selected topics in modern physics (relativity, quantum mechanics, etc.). Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Fall)

PHY 301. CLASSICAL MECHANICS.
Prerequisites: PHY 211, MAT 270.
Statics, motions of particles and rigid bodies, vibratory motion, gravitation, Lagrangian and Hamiltonian formulations, perturbation techniques. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Spring)

PHY 302. ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM.
Prerequisites: PHY 212, MAT 270.
Electric potential and electrostatic fields, solutions of Laplace’s and Poisson’s equations, properties of dielectrics and capacitors, electrostatic energy, current, magnetic fields and energy, magnetic properties of materials, electromagnetic induction, Maxwell’s field equations with applications. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Fall)

PHY 303. THERMODYNAMICS AND KINETIC THEORY.
Prerequisites: PHY 212, MAT 270.
Thermal properties, temperature scales and heat; properties of gases, entropy, first and second law; applications. Kinetic theory, Maxwell distribution, statistical mechanics. Three credits. (Even Spring)

PHY 304. QUANTUM MECHANICS.
Development of quantum theory. Applications of Schroedinger theory to simple systems; hydrogen atom, hydrogen, molecular ion. Formal Quantum theory, perturbations, applications. Three credits. (Even Spring)

PHY 315. SCIENTIFIC INSTRUMENTATION.
Prerequisite: PHY 121-122 or PHY 212.
An introduction to the uses of amplifiers, filters, transducers, and properties of digital data acquisition will be explored. The use of electronic sensors and transducers will be examined in the last section of the course with emphasis on the students major interest. Three lecture hours and three laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (On demand)

PHY 320. OPTICS.
Prerequisite: PHY 212 or permission of the instructor.
Properties of light; reflection, refraction, diffraction. Thin lenses, mirrors, and thick lenses, with applications to optical instruments. Interference and diffraction of light with their applications. Modern optics: lasers, fiber optics, lightwave communication. Two lecture hours and five laboratory hours per week. Four credits. (Odd Spring)

PHY 322. MATHEMATICAL METHODS OF PHYSICS.
Prerequisites: MAT 270, PHY 211, 212.
Review of ordinary differential equations, an introduction to partial differential equations, the vector calculus, vector spaces and matrices, complex variables, and the theory of special functions. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

PHY 381, 382, 383, 384. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
Selected topics chosen from relativity, solid state physics, atomic and nuclear physics, etc. One, two, three, or four credits.

PHY 401. THEORETICAL MECHANICS II.
Prerequisite: PHY 301.
Continuation of PHY 301, advanced use of Lagrangian Functions, Hamiltonian function; Keplers Laws; rigid body dynamics and other advanced concepts. Three credits. (Even Fall)

PHY 402. ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM II.
Prerequisite or co-requisite: PHY 302 or PHY 322.
A continuation of PHY 302, this course will introduce special relativity to Maxwell's equations and solutions of wave equations with applications to wave guides and antenna theory as well as the frequency dependence of material media. Three credits. (On demand)

PHY 471. LAB VIEW.
Prerequisites: Eight credits of physics or chemistry and permission of the instructor.
A one semester course required of all students seeking the B.S. degree in Physics. The software interface known as LabVIEW will be covered as well as other appropriate laboratory related skills. One credit. (Spring)

PHY 472 & 473. RESEARCH PHYSICS.
Selected research project for seniors. Two to three credits.

PHY 499. HONORS THESIS.
Honors seminar on individual research topic. Three credits.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

POL 120. AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.
A study of the American political system, institutions, processes and problems of national Government, the development of the federal system, the nature of the political process, and political behavior in the U. S. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

POL 140. COMPARATIVE POLITICS.
A comparative study of global political regimes, institutions, economic systems, societies, and cultures. A focus on the internal politics of nation states. Three credits. (Spring)

POL 210. INTRODUCTION TO POLITICAL ANALYSIS.
A review of major works in political thought (including Plato, Aristotle, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Locke, Marx, Mill, etc.) and a survey of the major empirical approaches used in the discipline. Three credits. (Fall)

POL 215. STATISTICS FOR POLITICAL AND SOCIAL RESEARCH.
This course focuses on methods of political and social research, with an emphasis on quantitative analysis. Topics covered include research design, descriptive statistics, hypothesis testing, correlation and regression. Cross-listed with SOC 215. Three credits.

POL 222. STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
Analysis of the structures, functions, and purposes of state and local governments; processes and problems of regional and local politics; comparison of different types of state and local systems and their handling of various political issues. Three credits. (Spring)

POL 230. INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.
An analysis of nation states and other international actors as they interact on the global stage. Topics covered include international security, political economy, human rights, and the environment. Three credits. (Every other Fall)

POL 250. PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION.
Prerequisite: POL 120.
The administrative process in public bureaucracies including its structural and institutional characteristics, behavioral patterns, and policy outputs. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

POL 310. RESEARCH AND WRITING IN POLITICAL SCIENCE.
Prerequisite: Junior standing.
An integrated review of the discipline, including a major research effort. The course will include a survey of the professional journals, reference works, professional associations and their service, post-graduate and employment opportunities. Three credits. (Spring)

POL 323. CONSTITUTIONAL LAW I: DEVELOPMENT OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
A study of the federal court system and judicial process. The emphasis is on Supreme Court decision making in the areas of judicial review, separation of powers, the balancing of national and state powers, and the commerce clause. Three credits. (Odd Fall)

POL 324. CONSTITUTIONAL LAW II: CIVIL RIGHTS AND CIVIL LIBERTIES.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
A study of Supreme Court decision making as pertains to the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment. Areas covered include due process, the administration of justice, freedom of expression and religion, and equal protection of racial, sexual, political, and economic groups. Three credits. (Odd Spring)

POL 331. AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or 130 or permission of the instructor.
The decision-making structures and processes as they relate to the making and implementation of foreign policy. This will be primarily a case and issue oriented course. Three credits.

POL 332. INTERNATIONAL LAW AND ORGANIZATION.
Prerequisite: POL 130 or permission of the instructor.
Examination of the nature, sources and effectiveness of international law. Review of significant cases in such areas as law of the seas, laws of war, recognition and legal subjects, etc. Also, the course will cover international organizations (purposes, structure and effectiveness) in attempting to bring order to the anarchy of international politics. Three credits.
POL 333. INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND SECURITY.
Prerequisite: POL130 or permission of the instructor.
A comparative examination of theories of international conflict. A focus on the origins of war and the actions of states to provide for their own security. Three credits.

POL 351. PUBLIC POLICY.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
The decision-making structures and processes as they relate to the making and implementation of domestic policy. Includes a survey of decision-making theories and some approaches to policy analysis. Three credits. (Even Spring)

POL 410. SELECTED TOPICS IN POLITICAL ANALYSIS.
Prerequisite: POL 210 or permission of the instructor.
Detailed examination of selected topics in political analysis including normative and empirical areas of the discipline. Topics will include political violence, utopian societies and futurism, values in applied politics, behavioral models in politics, etc. This course may be taken more than once on different topics. Three credits.

POL 412. RATIONAL CHOICE THEORY.
Prerequisite: POL 210 or permission of the instructor.
This course focuses on the application of deductive reasoning to explain rational behavior in politics. It draws on “public choice” literature including game theory, Condorcet’s paradox, and Arrow’s theorem. Three credits.

POL 419. ETHICAL ISSUES AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS/LUTHERAN COLLEGE WASHINGTON SEMESTER.
Three courses, POL 419, 429 and 459 comprise the Lutheran College Washington Semester offered in Washington D.C. This seminar examines ethical questions that arise within, and as a consequence of, the operation of the American political process. It focuses on the institutional characteristics of government and how its operation affects such values as community, individual responsibility, equity, and economic growth. A field work component which involves the visitation of selected governmental and quasi-governmental affairs is included in the course. Four credits. (Even Fall)

POL 420. SELECTED TOPICS IN AMERICAN POLITICS.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
In-depth treatment of such institutions and processes as: (a) the presidency, (b) the congress and the legislative process, (c) political parties and pressure groups, (d) intergovernmental relations, etc. This course may be taken more than once on different topics. Three credits. (Fall)

POL 421. NORTH CAROLINA STUDENT LEGISLATURE.
This is an experiential learning course in which the student participates in a mock North Carolina General Assembly. The student researches public policy issues and submits legislation at statewide meetings attended by student delegations from across the state. The purpose of the course is to familiarize the student with the formation and adoption of state laws. The student is required to attend weekly on-campus meetings and 3 or 4 statewide meetings per semester. May be repeated for up to four credits. One credit.

POL 423. POLITICAL PARTIES AND THE ELECTORAL PROCESS.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
A study of the development of the two party system in the United States. The course focuses on party structures and procedures as they impact the expression of political references. Emphasis is given to the process of voting, campaign finance laws, and the Electoral College. Three credits.

POL 427. CONGRESS AND THE POLICYMAKING PROCESS.
Prerequisite: POL 120 or permission of the instructor.
A study of the legislative process in the United States, focusing on Congressional procedures and the unique role of Congress in American politics. Emphasis is placed on the use of case studies to reveal the relevance of Congress to the policy making process. Three credits.

POL 429. SPECIAL TOPICS/LUTHERAN COLLEGE WASHINGTON SEMESTER.
This course is a component of the Lutheran College Washington Semester offered in Washington D.C. This seminar examines the development of public policy with special emphasis on the formulation and implementation of policy. The seminar focuses in detail on a particular policy topic or problem. For example, special topics may include civil rights, housing, education, health care, and defense policy. A field work component, which involves the visitation of selected governmental or quasi-governmental affairs, is included in the course. Students may receive credit for a special topics course in another discipline upon approval of the Registrar and the School Chair of that discipline. Four credits. (Even Fall)

POL 430. SELECTED TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL POLITICS.
Prerequisite: POL 130 or permission of the instructor.
Detailed examination of topics such as arms control and conflict management, big power politics and world order, theory and analysis of international politics, etc. This course may be taken more than once on different topics. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

POL 431. UN: STRUCTURE AND FUNCTION.
Study of the structure and function of the UN, including current problems and crises. We will cover the drafting of resolutions, bloc diplomacy, and rules of procedure. Open to all students. Selection as a delegate to the New York simulation will be competitive. May be repeated once. Three credits. (Spring)

POL 433. POLITICS OF VIOLENCE, TERRORISM, AND WAR.
Prerequisite: POL 130 or permission of the instructor.
This seminar covers extensively the nature and causes of political violence, the nature and uses of terrorism, and how both relate to war. Three credits.

POL 440. SELECTED TOPICS IN COMPARATIVE POLITICS.
Prerequisite: POL 240 or permission of the instructor.
In-depth treatment of regional politics, political ideologies, political development, etc. This course may be taken more than once on different topics. Three credits.

POL 444. POLITICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION.
Prerequisite: POL 240 or permission of the instructor.
The historical development and growth, the policy processes and current policies, and the institutions and actors in the European Union are covered in this course. Also, covered is the role of the EU as a major player in world politics. Three credits.

POL 450. SELECTED TOPICS IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND POLICY ANALYSIS.
Prerequisite: POL 250 or 351 or 352 or permission of the instructor.
Detailed examination of topics such as models in policy analysis, national security policy, administering social programs, politics of health care, etc. This course may be taken more than once on different topics. Three credits. (Fall)

POL 451. INTERNSHIP IN ECONOMICS, POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION.
Prerequisite: Department invitation.
Minimum of ten on-site work hours per week for one semester with an agency or office of local, state or national government, a profit or non-profit institution or political interest group. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

POL 459. LUTHERAN COLLEGE WASHINGTON SEMESTER INTERNSHIP.
This course is a component of the Lutheran College Washington Semester offered in Washington D.C. In conjunction with the Lutheran College Washington Semester, the student is required to work a total of 300 hours in a governmental or quasi-governmental organization. The student may work in a federal agency, congressional office, political interest group, government think tank, etc. The student’s grade will be based on an evaluation report submitted by the onsite supervisor and a paper written in conjunction with a faculty member at Lenoir-Rhyne College. Students may receive credit for an internship course in another discipline upon approval of the Registrar and the School Chair of that discipline. Eight credits. (On demand)

POL 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Prerequisite: Must be an honors candidate with senior standing.
Designed to augment the student’s formal course work and provide an opportunity to conduct in-depth investigations into areas of special interest. Specific readings will be determined in consultation with the faculty advisor. Three credits.

POL 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Prerequisites: POL 498 and invitation of the department.
Semester-long research project on the subject of the student’s choice, with approval of the faculty advisor. Results of this research must be submitted in duplicate at least two weeks before graduation for honors nominations by the departmental faculty. Three credits.

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

POD 321. ECONOMIC FOUNDATIONS FOR ORGANIZATIONS.
A survey of the foundations of economic analysis. Emphasis will be on markets, the price system and the allocation of resources. Both macroeconomic and microeconomic perspectives will be considered. Three credits.

POD 325. ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR PRINCIPLES.
The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the main ideas and concepts of organizational behavior, and to provide them with a basic understanding of current theories, principles, and practices concerning its management. Three credits.

POD 341. ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES.
Accelerated survey of basic concepts underlying accounting in profit-oriented firms: data measurement, summarization and reporting practices as a background for use of accounting information; content of published financial statements; and uses of accounting for management decisions in product costing, budgeting, and operations. Three credits.
POD 345. ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS.
Instruction in all types of communication required to function effectively as a leader in a variety of business situations. Communication fundamentals, business English, correspondence, written reports, employment communications, and other special communication applications will be emphasized. Three credits.

POD 363. LEADERSHIP FOUNDATIONS IN ORGANIZATIONS.
Presents the foundation for a study of leadership as a process in organizations. Attention is given to the historical evolution of leadership, as well as individual, situational, transactional and transformational approaches. Three credits.

POD 366. FINANCE FOUNDATIONS IN ORGANIZATIONS.
To understand the tasks that a Chief Financial Officer (CFO) must perform including raising capital in equity and debt markets, managing assets and preparing capital budgets and understanding the role taxes and interest play when making financial decisions. Three credits.

POD 393. ETHICAL AND LEGAL PRINCIPLES IN ORGANIZATIONS.
This course will explore the legal and ethical ramifications of business decision making. It will introduce the Biblical applications in decision making from a socially responsible organization perspective and from a legally-astute business perspective. Three credits.

POD 396. ORGANIZATION CHANGE AND DEVELOPMENT.
Today’s global economy is fast-paced, competitive and complex. Organizations of all sizes need to embrace change to survive and succeed. This course familiarizes students with the challenges, burdens, and techniques associated with implementing change within organizations. Three credits.

POD 411. RESEARCH SKILLS FOR ORGANIZATION MANAGERS.
This course introduces students to the role of research, systematic assessment, and evaluation to identify and solve organization problems. The primary focus is on the practical application of research methods to improving organizational programs, services, policies, and performance. Three credits.

POD 415. ORGANIZATIONAL LEADERSHIP AND THEORIES.
Through reviews of books, activities, and films, students will have an opportunity to apply the ideas and ideals from several philosophies in developing and expanding their own views of leadership. Students will compare, contrast, and apply the foundations they develop to current and future leadership concepts. Three credits.

POD 431. MARKETING PRINCIPLES.
A comprehensive overview of the Marketing function with emphasis on the procedures and techniques to identify and measure the needs and wants of consumers, to determine which targets the business can serve, to decide on the appropriate offerings to serve these markets, and to determine the optimal methods of pricing, promoting, and distributing the firm’s offerings. The focus will be the development of analytical marketing tools and techniques and their utilization in case analysis and decision making in marketing. Three credits.

POD 435. GLOBAL ORGANIZATIONAL APPLICATIONS - ONLINE.
The primary objective of this course is to develop a fundamental understanding of the management of an enterprise engaged in international business. This includes understanding how the competitive position of a firm is devised based on analyzing the industry structure, country-based sources of advantage and distinctive competencies of the firm. It involves a survey of the organization and management of international business stressing the effects of international cultural, economic, and legal factors on the management function integrating strategy, finance, operations, marketing, and human resource management. Three credits.

POD 453. ORGANIZATIONAL INFORMATION SYSTEMS.
OIS covers theory and practice for design and use of information systems in organizations and analyzes information needs of management and the use of information systems to solve problems and meet opportunities. The use of information systems to gain a competitive advantage is also studied. Project work includes use of the following applications: relational database, spreadsheet, word processing and presentation software. Three credits.

POD 456. HUMAN RESOURCE PRINCIPLES.
This course is an overview of human resource management (HRM) providing the student with an understanding of the intersection of HRM, business policy, and competitive strategy. Students will be introduced to the core competencies needed to successfully manage human capital using a legal, ethical and socially responsible perspective. Three credits.

POD 474. PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONAL STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT.
This capstone experience will incorporate approaches found in all common professional components of global business applications including management, marketing, accounting, finance, economics, statistics, information systems, as well as many other areas that are relative to effective decision applications. Senior-level and must meet foundation prerequisites. Three credits.

POD 476. CONTEMPORARY LEADERSHIP APPLICATIONS - ONLINE.
This leadership course builds contemporary knowledge of leadership by explaining the scope and depth of the student’s knowledge of leadership theories, by providing practice in basic leadership skills, and by developing the student’s appreciation of preferred styles in various organizations within the global business arena. Three credits.

PSYCHOLOGY

PSY 100. INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGY.
An introduction to the basic areas of psychology with emphasis on understanding human experience and the application of empirical methods to human behavior. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

PSY 201. SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisite: PSY 100 or SOC 100.
A study of the theories and methods of the field of social psychology. Topics include: interpersonal communication, social cognition, obedience, conformity, aggression, helping the self, stereotyping and prejudice. Three credits. Cross-listed with SOC 201. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

PSY 225. EVOLUTIONARY PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
This course investigates how evolutionary principles shape body and mind. In the same way that physiological systems (e.g., cardiovascular, respiratory, immune) can be described as products of natural selection, psychological systems (e.g., language, memory, emotions) can be described as mental adaptations acquired by the same processes. Three credits.
PSY 237. PSYCHOLOGICAL SCIENCE.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
Thus course is designed to give students insight into the ways in which psychological methods have been utilized in the various disciplines within the field. Such as, this course will provide an overview of the marriage between psychological content and research method, with a focus on providing a broad understanding of the field of psychological science. Requirements may include an individual or group project on a particular discipline of interest. Three credits.

PSY 251. STATISTICAL METHODS IN PSYCHOLOGY
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
This course focuses on the theoretical and practical implications of primary descriptive and inferential analyses for the purpose of scientific research. Goals of the course are twofold: to provide students with 1) core knowledge in the foundations of descriptive and inferential techniques (e.g., ability to calculate and interpret a t-test for independent means) and 2) experience with using statistical software (i.e., SPSS) to analyze data sets. Students will gain valuable skills in data analysis that constitutes a key piece of the psychological research process. Three credits.

PSY 253. PERSONALITY.
Prerequisites: PSY 100.
Introduction to major and historical theories of personality. Emphasis is given to the research within the psychology of personality. Students receive the opportunity to integrate the personality perspectives into a global theory of personality. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

PSY 275. ADOLESCENCE.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
In depth exploration of the adolescent period of life, with a focus on understanding the complex processes shaping youth development. This course examines prominent theoretical frameworks focusing on physical maturation, cognitive growth, and socio-emotional well-being. Special attention will also be given to application including relevant educational and public policy that impact youth. Three credits.

PSY 320. LIFESPAN DEVELOPMENT.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
The study of human psychological development across the lifespan from prenatal development to death. Major developmental theories focusing on physical, cognitive, social, and emotional development are discusses, with special consideration given to the bidirectional influences inherent in a developmental psychobiological systems framework. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

PSY 325. BRAIN AND MIND.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
This course explores the intimate relationship of neural and mental processes. Special emphasis is given to the structure and function of the brain, how our understanding of the world is an “active construction” of neural processes, and the physical and philosophical issues associated with how brain activity is associated with mental life. Three credits.

PSY 328. HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
Application of psychological principles and techniques to the fields of health and medicine. The critical role of emotional, behavioral, cognitive, and social factors in health will be emphasized. Includes coverage of topics in physiological psychology including the structure and function of bodily systems (nervous, immune, endocrine) and the relationship between mind and body. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

PSY 332. ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisites: PSY 100.
Introduction to the study of abnormal behavior within the discipline of psychology. Emphasis is places upon the history of understanding of abnormal behavior and the various perspectives that explain its causes and its treatment. Students will have a basic understanding of current clinical research and diagnostic methodology. Students will have the opportunity for in-depth research into specific topics within the field. Three credits. (Fall, Spring, Summer)

PSY 340. PSYCHOLOGICAL SCIENCE.
Prerequisites: MAT 215, PSY 220, and Junior Standing.
An exploration of the many ways of doing research in experimental psychology with special focus upon research design and experimental methodology. Topics include: Thinking and problem solving, human factors, social influence, and environmental psychology. Students will develop, run, and write up a research project. Theoretical and ethical concerns will be a constant part of the course. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

PSY 351. RESEARCH METHODS I: NON-EXPERIMENTAL METHODS.
Prerequisites: PSY 100 and 251.
The focus of this course is on the variety of non-experimental research methods (e.g., survey research and observational methods) and statistical techniques used by psychological researchers. Topics include descriptive and qualitative methods and analyses. Requirements include the completion of an original research proposal. Three credits.

PSY 374. DRUGS AND BEHAVIOR.
A course designed to survey the latest information on drug use and its effects on society as well as on the individual. Three credits.

PSY 381, 382, 383. SPECIAL TOPICS.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
The study of a special topic or issue in psychology not covered in depth in other courses. A research paper is required. May be repeated each time the topic changes. One, two, or three credits.

PSY 420. PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSESSMENT.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
This course provides students with knowledge and application of standardized procedures for psychological assessment. Assessment principles will be examined, in addition to the variety of psychological constructs that are studies via standardized methods, including intelligence, language, and personality. Three credits.

PSY 427. CONSCIOUSNESS.
Prerequisites: PSY 100 and Junior or Senior standing.
This course is designed to deepen students’ understanding of how neural and mental processes contribute to consciousness, the very “feeling” of being alive. Special emphasis is given to the physical and philosophical issues associated with the most baffling problem in the sciences of psychology and neurology: the conscious experience. Three credits.

PSY 434. COUNSELING THEORIES.
Prerequisite: PSY 253 or 332.
An in-depth exploration of basic theories and techniques of psychological counseling. Special attention is given to varieties of counseling, basic issues in the field, and ethical concerns. Three credits. (Fall, Spring)

PSY 444. COGNITIVE PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisites: PSY 100.
The focus of this course is on the ways in which people process, represent, retain, and think about information. A core foundation in cognitive theory and research will include the examination of various cognitive processes, including attention, perception, memory, language, reasoning, and metacognition. Three credits. (Fall)

PSY 451. RESEARCH METHODS II: EXPERIMENTAL METHODS.
Prerequisites: PSY 237, 351, and Senior standing.
This course is designed as a capstone experience for all psychology majors. Students will utilize knowledge gained throughout their comprehensive coursework to develop and carry out an original experimental investigation. Completion of the empirical study will culminate in the production of a research manuscript using APA-style. Three credits.

PSY 458. INTERNSHIP IN PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisites: Permission of the instructor.
Field work in some area of specialization in a school, business, social, mental health, or criminal justice setting. One class period dealing with professional and ethical concerns will also be required. Internships require daytime availability. Three credits.

PSY 465. HISTORY AND SYSTEMS IN PSYCHOLOGY.
Prerequisite: PSY 100.
The focus of this course is on the history of psychological inquiry and major movements in the field. Consideration is given to the core philosophical roots of understanding the mind and behavior, in addition to the historical evolution of psychology as a science. Three credits.

PSY 481, 482, and 483. INDEPENDENT STUDY.
Prerequisites: PSY 100.
A study project related to the student’s particular interest in a given area culminating in a research paper. One to Three credits.

PSY 498. SENIOR HONORS RESEARCH.
Prerequisites: PSY 220 and departmental approval.
Independent study in which the student proposes, designs, and carries out a research project that deals with a problem area in psychology. This course includes conferences with instructor, familiarity with journal literature, and a complete write-up and presentation of the research in publication form at a conference. Three credits.

PSY 499. SENIOR HONORS THESIS.
Prerequisite: PSY 498.
A continuation of PSY 498 in which the student continues work on a research project in the area of psychology. Three credits.
RELIGION

REL 100. THE CHRISTIAN FAITH.
An introduction to the meaning of Christian faith, its Biblical ground, including consideration of issues in Biblical interpretation, and basic theological dimensions. Three credits.

REL 101. THE HEBREW BIBLE.
The sacred literature from ancient Israel (Hebrew Bible/Old Testament) considered from a range of historical and literary perspectives. Three credits.

REL 102. THE NEW TESTAMENT.
The gospels, epistles, and other writings of the New Testament considered from a range of historical and literary perspectives. Three credits.

REL 235. ADVANCED BIBLICAL STUDIES.
Prerequisite: REL 101 or 102 or permission of the instructor.
An examination of current methodological assumptions in Biblical exegesis with student application of methods to text. Three credits.

REL 261. SPIRITUALITY AND THE RELIGIOUS DEVELOPMENT OF CHILDREN.
Pre-requisite: REL 100.
A study of moral and religious development in society as well as practice in the methods used by school, home, and church in moral development and clarifying religious convictions. Emphasis is placed on family and children. Three credits.

REL 262. SPIRITUALITY AND THE RELIGIOUS DEVELOPMENT OF ADOLESCENTS AND ADULTS.
Pre-requisite: REL 100.
A study of religious development in adolescence and adulthood. Emphasis is placed on counseling persons of these age groups to clarify religious convictions. Methods and materials in religious development are also utilized. Three credits.

REL 264. THE LIFE AND TEACHINGS OF JESUS.
Exploration of historical background, the question of the historical Jesus, the Sermon on the Mount and Parables of Jesus. Three credits.

REL 272. AMERICAN RELIGION.
A study emphasizing the impact of American life and culture on religion; uniquely American features in Christianity and Judaism; religious movements of American origin-Christian Science, Mormonism, Jehovah's Witnesses, minor sects. Three credits.

REL 273. INTRODUCTION TO WORLD RELIGIONS.
An introduction to the academic study of world religions and religious philosophies with special attention to Judaism, Islam, Hinduism, and Buddhism as well as theories of religion. Three credits.

REL 307. SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION.
Prerequisite: SOC 100 or permission of instructor.
Theories of the origin of religion; ways in which society, culture, personality, and religion interact; organized religion in America. Three credits.
REL 310. EARLY CHRISTIAN THOUGHT.
